

MURDOCK ITEMS

L. Neitzel and wife spent Sunday afternoon with the Hitchcock family at Havelock.

Henry C. Backemeier was delivering wheat to the Farmers Elevator in Murdock on last Wednesday afternoon.

Louis Schmidt and Fred Deikman were installing a culvert on a cross street in Murdock on last Wednesday afternoon.

John W. Kruger was assisting in the work at the lumber yard, as Harold Tool has been kept pretty busy with the rush of work.

The pilgrims visited Elmwood on last Sunday evening and enjoyed the musical program in the M. E. church, which was a real treat to a full house.

Teddy Carnes, of Greenwood, was a visitor in Murdock on last Wednesday afternoon, looking after some business matters and visiting with his many friends.

Among those who were called to Plattsmouth to testify in the Rager case were H. A. Tool, Wm. Heier, August Ruge, Henry Carsten, A. E. Lake and a number of others. A. E. Lake and A. H. Ward was a business visitor in Omaha for the day on last Monday, where he was transacting business for the U. S. Oil company, of which he is the representative here.

Sheriff Bert Reed was a visitor in Murdock on last Wednesday afternoon, serving subpoenas for the celebrated Rager case, which was on trial in the district court on last Thursday.

J. Cramer, formerly of Burchard, has opened a cream station in the room where the cream station was located on the east side of Main street and south of the warehouse of A. J. Tool.

Gust Stock shelled and delivered corn to the Murdock elevator on last Tuesday, getting the job out of the way of the spring and summer work, which will be pressing very strongly in a short time.

Albert Willis, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Murdock on last Monday, calling to look after some business matters and also with somewhat of a view of making this his home if things could be declared summer.

Mrs. Vila Maha and daughter, Elizabeth Ann, of Lincoln, were guests at the home of the former's father, John Ostbloom and daughters for the day last Sunday and on their return were accompanied by Marie Ostbloom.

S. P. Lies was a visitor in Omaha for a short time on last Sunday, where he went to visit with his cousin, Matt Spader, of that place, who is at the Methodist hospital, where he recently underwent an operation.

John Eppings was busy for a number of days during the past week, while the roads were good, taking advantage of the time when he had his truck work up by overhauling his road truck and putting it in good condition.

Charles Slekjost and son, Louis, of Emtis, who have been visiting in Murdock and vicinity for the past ten days and who were guests at the home of Henry Bornemeier and family, while here departed for their home in the west on last Tuesday morning, after having enjoyed a very pleasant visit.

Visited Louisville
The pilgrims went to Louisville for the morning services last Sunday, where they received a hearty welcome. Mr. Neitzel was privileged to teach the adult class and also selected to lead the Sunday school in prayer.

Lecture on India
The lecture on "India," by Rev. P. Kaufeld was declared to have been one of the best addresses ever delivered here. The speaker held his audience in wrapt attention for two hours, while he pictured in vivid colors the home life of the Indian, interwoven with humor that brought smiles on the faces of his hearers. He showed that the life of a missionary in that caste ridden country is not an enviable one.

Only 8 degrees north of the equator, the heat is very oppressive. The language is difficult to learn, but the speaker had it mastered in his eight years' sojourn there. He gave some proof of it; and, of course, the audience understood it all. But, he said, the time and labor expended were worth the cost in results achieved. The only regret of the Mission board is that means and men are lacking to carry on to greater success.

"Everyone felt well repaid for go-

IV—GOLGATHA

Matthew 27:33. We refrain from rehearsing the story that led up to the crucifixion of Jesus, but invite you to go with us the Via Dolorosa to Golgotha. After Pilate gave sentence to crucify Jesus, the Roman soldiers took him and scourged him. His hands were tied down to his feet, bending his back after stripping him of his garments. How many stripes? We do not know; but we know that his back was lacerated and bleeding (through these stripes we are healed). Next, a crown of thorns was put on his head and with a reed the soldiers smote his head, driving the thorns deep into his flesh; they spat into his face, mocked him, bowed the knee and worshipped him in mimicry. He was giving over to their will.

At last the procession is ready; the cross is put upon his shoulder, the two thieves are also ready and a great crowd has gathered. Finally the centurion gives the word and they go. The pitiful sight of the bleeding Christ caused the women to weep. The burden of the cross weighs heavy and then we see Simon, of Cyrene, who was a stranger in Jerusalem, and who from curiosity had joined the procession, pressed into service an unwilling cross bearer, to carry the cross of Jesus. Jesus did not break down under the weight of the cross, as is often preached and taught.

Finally Golgotha is reached—the end of the Via Dolorosa. The hole for the cross is prepared. Jesus is stripped of all his garments, naked, and thus he is placed upon the cross, his arms outstretched, the nails driven through his hands and feet, the cross raised and dropped roughly into the hole in the ground.

There hangs the Savior of mankind, the people standing about and beholding him. He despised the shame and the humiliation. At last he felt his triumph and a great howl goes up. The 2,000 that got a shower-bath in the lake of Galilee, driven out by Christ, feel revenged. Other demons join in the orgie of a celebration—the only celebration that hell ever had. This was their hour, but darkness came and remained for a long time.

Seven times, the sweetest voice man ever heard rings out from his throne (the cross). Only once, as in the three hours of darkness, he had his jubilee. Jesus feels lonely: "My God, my God! Why hast thou forsaken me?"

All his followers have fled. He treads the wine-press alone. But the darkness passes and the Father's face beams upon the Son. Father, into thy hand I commit my spirit. He was obedient unto death.

Where are the men? The disciples who all professed loyalty to him? All were in hiding, even leaving their garments and fleeing naked for their lives. Only the women had the courage to stay to the end. Shame on the men.

From the cross of Calvary goes out a radiance that draws men to the Christ. Here peace was made between God and man. Jesus paid it all; redeemed, how I love to proclaim it; there is the fountain filled with blood, down from Immanuel's veins. Yes, God so loved the world.

Let us now go to Golgotha and kneel at the foot of the cross and in

Untermeyer Given Fee of $1,000,000 in Fox Film Case

Paid at Rate of $11,111.11 a Day for Three Months' Litigation

New York, April 11.—Samuel Untermeyer's fee as William Fox's lawyer in the Fox film case was one million dollars, it was learned today. He entered the case early in January, and it came to a virtual end on Monday when Mr. Fox sold his control of the Fox Film corporation and the Fox Theaters corporation to Harley L. Clarke of Chicago for somewhat more than 18 million dollars.

Thus Mr. Untermeyer's one million dollars is for three months of work. He received compensation at the rate of four million dollars a year, or $11,111.11 a day.

He received 775 thousand dollars for putting through the Boston and Utah copper merger, and he was proud enough of that to place it in his biography in "Who's Who in America."

The Fox case ended with both sides claiming victory, but with Halsey, Stuart & Co., whom Mr. Fox bitterly opposed, at the head of the syndicate to refinance the companies. It has been reported that part of the peace terms was that the companies should take care of the lawyers.

This would be a formidable item even aside from Mr. Untermeyer's fee, as some of the most expensive lawyers in the United States were involved in the tangle of litigation which arose out of Mr. Fox's financial troubles.

Part of Mr. Untermeyer's fee was a 100 thousand dollar retainer, which he is said to have received before he looked at a single paper in the case.—World-Herald.

SUFFERS SEVERE LOSS

On Saturday evening a fire destroyed the barn on the Perry Cook place, northwest of town, farmed by George Frisbee, together with five head of horses, a colt, five head of milk cows, hay and harness. The family had gone to bed and Milo Frisbee noticed reflections of fire in his room between the hours of eleven and twelve, and looked out of the window saw that the barn was on fire and the flames were consuming the entire barn. By the time the family had gotten to the barn it was impossible to render any assistance in releasing the stock and everything was soon a complete loss.

The neighbors soon arrived and also the Alvo Fire Truck and did good work in saving adjoining buildings.

Mr. Frisbee had no insurance upon his livestock and equipment which is a complete loss. It was indeed a horrible sight to see the burned and roasted bodies of the stock that perished in the flames. One horse which managed to get out, had its ears burned off and eyes burned out and its shoulders badly burned, so it had to be killed. On Sunday a large trench was made and the burned and charred remains of the livestock was buried. It is not known how the fire originated.

Immediately a subscription list was started by friends and a goodly sum of money was raised to help Mr. Frisbee get started again. This was a very worthy cause and while George will not nearly receive the value of his loss, but it will be a great help.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.
