A certain young man who was in the habit of trying his luck at drawing, tried a draw at Bridgeman's restaurant and succeeded in getting a very pretty Easter egg, which he greatly prizes. During the time he spent in waiting some one switched the egg, and when he got home he found he had a blind bat. Not of the kind which go about in the night, but a small red brick bat.

Vanderburg Funeral

What comfort have we to give to soothe the heart to which has come that grief which makes it pain to live, and darkens every path, and seems the end of all our dreams. Oh, friends of ours, be brave and know that never will she suffer so.

Together we have prayed that she might longer stay with her carers to fill the day with happiness. But, oh, what bargain could there be; what pledge or promise could we make to save ourselves the present ache and keep her here? Ten years? Ah, no! 'Twould hurt us then to let her go.

There is no time that we could set for parting. We who must remain are never ready for such pain.

Ever our prayer would be: "Not yet, not yet, dear God, another day with us let our beloved stay."

We must believe when falls the blow that wisely God has willed it so. God has her in his keeping now. Angels attend her through the day. Never her feet shall go astray. Never shall anguish line her brow. Never a bitter thought shall find harsh lodgment in her gentle mind. Safe from the hurt of time and pain.

35th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schiefert were pleasantly surprised by many of their relatives and friends on Friday evening, April 18th, the occasion being in honor of their 35th wedding anniversary. Friends from Omaha and Lincoln, as well as from the surrounding country were there in numbers to extend to Mr. and Mrs. Schiefert their well wishes for this and many more happy anniversaries in the future.

Rev. Hartmann of the Louisville Lutheran church in his pleasing manner gave a brief talk which was enjoyed by all. The evening was spent in music and various other forms of entertainment.

Refreshments of brick ice cream, cake, sandwiches, pickles and coffee were served, the color scheme of pink and white being carried out in the refreshments as well as in the decorations of the home.

Many beautiful pieces of table linen, luncheon sets and tablecloths, as well as silver, were received by this worthy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Schiefert will be leaving their nice country home in the near future, to be residents of Manly, where they have purchased a modern house for their home in the future.

At the wee small hours, the guests departed, again wishing their friends many more of these happy occasions.

Some Mountains of the Bible

VI—GILBOA

The tragic end of the first king of Israel stands as a warning for all time to those who do not put their trust in God. This man, Saul, who was chosen of God, anointed by Samuel, a giant in stature, had a good beginning. God was on his side, Samuel was for him and the people adored him. But these conditions soon changed. After a reign of two years, we find him a changed man. In his first war with the Philistines he showed his impatience by not waiting for Samuel to inquire of the Lord, but assumed the office of priest and offered a burnt sacrifice.

By this time Samuel came and saw what had happened. For this act of disobedience he pronounced against Saul by Samuel in these words: "Thou hast done foolishly, thou hast not kept the Lord's command. . . Thy kingdom shall not continue, the Lord hath sought him a man after his own heart."

From this time on he grew worse as the years passed. He became more and more suspicious, distrustful, melancholy, vengeful, unstable—possessed of an evil spirit. God-forsaken, he sought counsel from a witch. He broke out in wild, ungovernable acts of zeal and superstition, and then became more than ever a prey to his evil savage disposition. But his cup was full, the end drew near. After 40 years of rule and misrule, his arch enemies, the Philistines, came prepared for a decisive war. Saul met them in the plains of Jezreel, and the battle went against him. He and his three sons and his men with him, fled to Mount Gilboa, but were overtaken and slain. Saul, mortally wounded, did not want to fall into the hands of his enemies, so he chose another way out and committed suicide.

David's lament over the death of his father-in-law Saul was heart-rending: "Ye mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew neither let there be rain upon you, nor fields of offering, for there the shield of the mighty is vilely cast and nay, the shield of Saul, as though he had not been anointed with oil."

Disobedience was the cause of Saul's fall. Every one that will reject God's mercy will find his Gilboa, the end in despair—a tragedy.

SPLENDID PROGRAMS

With the school year drawing rapidly to a close, the last convocation program has been presented with the exception of a special Senior's Day program. These programs have been under the direction of the Student Council and have been a weekly feature. The result has been a wide variety of programs that have been both entertaining and instructive. The student body is deeply indebted to the sponsors of these organizations for the work which they have done in making these programs possible. These sponsors are: Seniors, Miss Florence Heighley; Juniors, Mr. Carl Cunningham; Sophomores, Mr. Gerald Kvasnicka; Freshmen, Mr. Russell Reeder; Home Economics Club, Miss Treasa Haley; Glee Clubs, Miss Ruth Yindary; Orchestra, Mr. B. Nebraska Pioneer Lady Goes to Last Rest

Mrs. Alice Amelia Vandenburg of Murdock Passed Away at Home in That Community.

Alice Amelia Sanford was born at North Broadalbin, N. Y., April 2, 1849 and departed this life at her home near Murdock, Nebraska, April 19, 1930, having reached the age of 81 years and seventeen days. She was united in marriage to George E. Vandenburg, January 1, 1866. Three years later Mr. Vandenburg and Mr. George Buell came west and took a homestead two miles south of Murdock. The following fall Mrs. Vandenburg also came west to share with her husband the hardships of those early pioneer days. She was the oldest of five children. One brother, Charles Sanford of Gouvernville, N. D., became a minister. Mrs. Mary Lecher of Troy, N. Y. survive her. One brother and one sister having preceded her to death. Mr. Vandenburg's death occurred February 26, 1922.

She leaves three children, Ed Vandenburg of Lincoln, Mrs. Arthur M. Jones of Weeping Water, Mrs. Leroy B. Gorthey of Murdock, four grandchildren and one great grandchild and a host of friends to mourn her departure.

Mrs. Vandenburg joined the Methodist church in the early days when the services were being held in the Center school house one mile north of her home. Later she was a member of the Wabash M. E. church and then of the Murdock M. E. church until that congregation was transferred to Elmwood in 1920 when she became a member of the M. E. church in Elmwood. She was a consistent Christian, a faithful wife, a devoted mother and a loyal friend and neighbor. Due to her extraordinary will power and courage she was up almost to the very last, retaining her mental faculties and her sweet, hopeful disposition. She will be greatly missed by her loved ones and her friends. Besides a host of friends, members of the Order of Eastern Star of Weeping Water attended the funeral, also Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Richards of Lincoln, they being old settlers in the same neighborhood.

The funeral services were held at the home, conducted by Rev. Klein, pastor of the Elmwood M. E. church, assisted by Rev. Knapp of Murdock.

The pall bearers were Oscar Zink, Ira McCroory, Frank Buell, Clarence Ohm, Fred Buell and Ferd Rieckman, close friends and neighbors of the deceased. Burial was in the Wabash cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express to our many friends and neighbors, our sincere appreciation of their sympathy and assistance to us during the sickness and death of our dear mother and grandmother. Also for the many beautiful floral remembrances.—Edward Vandenburg, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Gorthey and Children, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jones and Son.

ABNORMAL MILK

In the spring dairymen are often annoyed by abnormal milk. Milk that is flavored from weeds or wild onion grass. In such cases it is advisable to bring the cows in from the pasture, three or four hours before milking. Weed flavors tend to disappear when a force of about 150, receiving $15,000 to $20,000 in wages, "puts up" in a modern plant of twenty-four cans each of sweet corn. Due to the shortness of the operating season of four to six weeks immense activity is witnessed at the plant. The factory operates day and night because corn matures so rapidly it must be packed at just the proper time to conserve its goodness.

The cans packed in the Blair plant are purchased by jobbers all over the western half of the United States and many of them find their way to tables in Alaska, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands, and the mess halls of the United States army and navy in the four corners of the world.

The waste product of this plant is not wasted at all but husks, cobs and trimmed corn are shredded and cured in a huge silo pit to be sold to fatten cattle and hogs in the vicinity of Blair.

The canning company furnishes its own specially selected seed to contract growers, who get from four to five and a half tons of sweet corn to the acre, yielding gross returns of $40 to $55 per acre.

The Otoe Food Products company produces annually about 15,000,000 cans of vegetables and fruits. Their products include sweet corn, tomatoes, pumpkin, peas, beans, kraut, hominy pork and beans, spinach and cherries. This company has plants at Nebraska City, Nebr., and Hamburg, Iowa. The vegetable and fruits for the pack are grown in the fertile soil of the Missouri river bottom.

During the summer or vegetable packing season the company employs 450 people and during the winter canning season the force is about 85 people.

The acreage required to grow the fruits and vegetables for the canning operations is immense, divided as follows: sweet corn 4500 acres, tomatoes 250 acres, pumpkin 200 acres, spinach 75 acres, green beans 25 acres.

A comparatively new product is red sour pitted cherries which is proving a popular canned fruit. Thirty thousand young cherry trees of the Montmorency and Richmond varieties are supplying the cherries and more trees are being set out this spring.

INDUSTRIAL OWNER—SHIP WIDESPREAD

One of the most striking factors in the development of the telephone in this country has been the wide distribution of ownership.

At the end of 1929 there was one telephone for every six persons in the United States and ownership of the industry was distributed among about 500,000 persons, or one for every 40 instruments.

Nowhere else in the world has customer and employe ownership of great industries been developed as in this country. We are approaching a time when every person will have a direct interest in the companies he patronizes or works for.

From Saturday's Dairy—J. Herman Rauth of near Manly was here today and brought in six coyote scalps which were turned over to County Clerk George R. Tracy-Brown's orchestra—the deluxe band that went to Pittsburgh last year, from Omaha, and has climbed to a place of fame in the musical world as well as becoming an exclusive Columbia recording band—is coming to Plattsmouth.

This announcement is made by the American Legion, who have booked them on an off-night while en route to open their summer playing engagement at the Casino, Lake Okoboji, which is Iowa's most fashionable ball-room. Their date here is Tuesday night, May 6th.

This is the orchestra that played for the opening dance in the Legion building nearly three years ago, and which was attended by more than 300 couples. At that time an outstanding dance band of the middle west, they drew dancers here from a great distance. Since then they have climbed to higher rungs in the ladder of success, being now an exclusive Columbia recording orchestra with a record of 18 months in the ball room of the largest hotel in Pittsburgh.

Three years ago, this famous orchestra then known as Tracy-Brown's Oklahomans played the Casino season at Okoboji, first coming to Omaha at the close of the lake season, and for more than a year were popular favorites in the Nebraska metropolises. Then came the big opportunity that took them east. First they made a special recording trip to Chicago to play two numbers. These brought demands for more and offers of engagements at fashionable hotels and watering places throughout the east and resulted in their leaving Omaha and locating in Pittsburgh, where they expect to return at the close of the Iowa lake season.

They are playing less than half a dozen engagements while en route to the Iowa lakes, and but for the fact that they played here to such a big crowd in the fall of 1927, it would have been impossible to get them here at all, as their dates include such towns as Lincoln, Sioux City, Sioux Falls and Mitchell, S. Dak.

The Legion announces that the admission charge to this dance will be $1.25 per couple, 25c for all extra ladies and 50c for spectators.

NEBR. CANNED FRUITS AND VEGETABLES GAINING FAME

That part of the great outside world that enjoys the delights of the table is gaining a new idea of the quality of Nebraska soil and sunshine from the labels on cans containing Nebraska commercially packed fruits and vegetables. These containers of quality and goodness may be found in many states, especially those of the western seaboard. And they are carrying not only foods of high nutritional value, but messages that speak convincingly of the unfolding versatility of Nebraska soil.

Two canning plants of eastern Nebraska are operated on a large scale. The Blair Canning Company has a large plant devoted exclusively to canning one product, sweet corn. A plant valued at $150,000 is a place of immense activity during the canning season when a force of about 150, receiving $15,000 to $20,000 in wages, "puts up" in a modern plant of twenty-four cans each of sweet corn.
