Union, Nebr.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor were visiting and looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth on last Thursday, they driving over to the county seat in their car.

Miss Margaret Niday, who has been employed in Omaha for some time, was a visitor in Union and a guest of her parents, J. C. Niday, for the week end last week.

Mrs. E. H. Riggs of Brewster, who is a sister of Mrs. Jennie Frans and L. F. Fitch of Union, has been visiting with them and other relatives and friends for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lynn moved during the latter portion of last week to their country home at Kamp Hill care and with their friends are having great sport and great success fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Marks were over to Plattsmouth on last Thursday, where they were visiting with friends and at the same time looking after some business matters for a short time.

The Rev. W. A. Taylor was over to Murray on last Tuesday, where he went to officiate at the funeral of the late Fred Hollenberg, who passed away at the farm home on last Sunday night.

Mrs. Katie Smith, who makes her home in Omaha, was a visitor for a short time on last Sunday in Union, stopping off here between trains for a short visit at the home of Mont Robb and daughter, Miss Augusta.

R. E. Davis, living a short distance south of Union, has just had his home completely remodeled and a new porch built thereto. Joe Bauer, who is one of the very best of carpenters, did the work and has added much to the home.

H. M. Griffin has partitioned off a portion of the space at the blacksmith shop, which Mrs. Griffin will use as a cream testing laboratory and at the same time will take care of a stock of feeds as well. See their ad in another column.

H. M. Griffin sold his trailer which he recently made, the same being purchased by Ray Bramble. Mr. Griffin expects to make another one soon, this one for W. B. Banning, which he will use for the hauling of the next apple crop.

Joe Banning, who has been able to sit up a portion of the time of late, but has not been so he can get out and around, but is hoping to in a few days. Joe has been kept to his bed for a long time and his many friends are hoping that he may soon be out and at it again.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Greene were over to Omaha on last Sunday, where they went to visit their niece, Miss Florence Bartlett, who has been sick for a number of weeks at the Clarkson hospital at that place, and who they found to be improved that she was able to sit up for a time.

The city of Union to keep the streets of the city in the best condition, commensurate with the keeping of the costs on the streets as low as possible, placed three more cars of gravel on the streets, which with what has been placed on before makes the streets in fair condition.

Some one on last Sunday left a Buick car of the coupe type parked on the streets of Union, and which remained there until Tuesday with no owner. Those who examined the car said that the front axle was sprung, but just why the vehicle was left there has been a puzzle to many.

Mr. Harry O. Rice announced that the Men-o-N-C., which gave such a fine entertainment in Union some time since would give another at Nebraska City on this (Thursday) evening and extended an invitation to all who cared to come and enjoy the entertainment, which will be given in Memorial hall.

hauled to the farm of Mr. Jesse Dyars for his use. This will make a good place for the chicks and will be formerly located in Union, extract four teeth for her, and he did a very fine piece of work. Mr. A. L. Becker who has a close friend in the dental business in the Otoe county seat, had three extracted and will later have some more taken out and some new ones installed.

Harry O. Rice, of the firm of Sargent & Rice, wholesale grocers, of Nebraska City, was a visitor in Union last Tuesday, being a guest of R. D. Stine at the dinner of the Union Business Men's club and made a very worth-while address, the import of which was that to get the best service one should trade with the home-owned stores and give the fellow next to you an opportunity to succeed in business and not trade with the chain stores whose interests are at some distant place and thus do something for one's own home town and not that of some far distant place which would never do anything for the customer. His address was well received. He also complimented the members of the Methodist church society, who had prepared such a wonderful meal as the dinner which they served. He also paid a very fine compliment to the members of the Union Business Men's club for their fine organization.

Make Good Display
The Home Economics class of the Union High school made a display of the work done by the members of the class while engaged in their regular studies at the school, the displays being exhibited at the post office and at the store of Rihm and Greene, and which goes with the campaign for better homes.

Goos to Hospital
Phil F. Rihm, senior member of the firm of Rihm and Greene, who has not been enjoying the best of health for some time past, went to Omaha, where he entered the Immanuel hospital and will remain for a week or more for observation and a clinic, with the end in view of improving his health.

WEeping WATER

Charles H. Gibson was a visitor at Lincoln on last Tuesday, called there to look after some business matters.

Ross Dennis was looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth for a short time on last Saturday evening, returning home on Sunday.

Edgar Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cole has been elected as teacher of the seventh and eighth grade of the Greenwood schools and also coach of their basketball team.

Fred Linville has been assisting the carpenter and builder A. E. Stock with the work in his line which has been crowding this gentleman during the last few weeks.

Eugene Roddy, the rural carrier of the mail from Union accompanied by his father J. B. Roddy were looking after some business matters in Weeping Water for a short time on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Shickley of Lincoln were guests of the week end at the home of the parents of Mrs. Shickley, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Teegarden of Weeping Water, when all enjoyed the visit very much.

Peter H. Miller and son, Pete were enjoying a good auto ride and a fine visit at the home of James Miller of Plattsmouth on last Sunday, James Miller being son of Peter H. Miller, and is employed at the Burlington shops of Plattsmouth.

Lee Browne and Theodore Davis, the latter a candidate for sheriff on the republican ticket from Weeping Water precinct, and also Frank Hunt were all over to Plattsmouth on last Monday looking after some business matters for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood were feeling quite badly last Monday, and from the nature of their sickness it would seem that they must have eaten something of a poisonous nature. They, however, were both feeling better the following day.

The ladies of Weeping Water have on now a campaign for better homes and have asked the different merchants to work in conjunction with the ladies in making special demonstrations and sales for certain lines which will cover all lines of the home thus illustrating as well by example as by precept the theme which they are putting over for better homes.

Henry Snell departed on Wednesday of this week for Stirling where he goes to invoice the elevator property which he is soon to depart from Weeping Water to take charge of. He will return with the family to Stirling. He has rented his home to Dr. Stockhart, who is coming to Weeping Water from Otoe to locate. This makes two new enterprises for Weeping Water, the other being the clothing store.

Pool Halls and Slot Machines.
It is stated that the city council of Union in the past, looking to the betterment of the city in the future, passed two ordinances, one forbidding the carrying on a pool hall within the city limits, the other prohibiting the operation of a slot machine within the actual corporate limits of the city. The questions have both come up for action and just what will be done is not known until the council shall have said, and that is being waited for now.

Mrs. Atteberry Doing Nicely.
Mrs. Charles Atteberry who was taken to the hospital something over two weeks since, has been resting along nicely following her operation for appendicitis and is showing very marked progress towards recovery at this time. It is the intention to have the patient return to her home this Thursday, and she will surely be pleased to return to her home, as well as her host of friends.

Injures His Arm Badly.
While attempting to crank his car, Jack Lindsay, who has just returned from taking a short course in agriculture, had the misfortune to have the car kick, with the result that the arm of Jack was very badly injured, the bone fractured and the tendon torn at the elbow as well. He has been suffering much with the injury since it occurred on last Tuesday morning.

MAY BREAK RECORDS
Weather permitting, the second annual Cass County Track and Field meet will again be sponsored by Plattsmouth high school Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the baseball park. Coach Rothert has received entry lists from a half dozen towns of the county and a good meet is anticipated. The results made in the meet last year stand as records and these should prove interesting to track fans. Some of them should be broken Friday.

Have Fine Scout Troop.
A Boy Scout troop consisting of some fourteen members and with more to join, is in good working order in Weeping Water, and are headed by Scoutmaster Rev. Ralph Pickham and S. Ray Smith as Assistant Scoutmaster. They are doing good work and have as their counsel, E. J. Meier, Dr. A. O. Sprecht, O. E. Powers, Rev. Ralph Kickham and S. Ray Smith.

Rids the Blacksmith Shop.
Someone needing to work very badly, broke the window of the blacksmith shop of N. L. Grubbs and appropriated the major portion of the S wrenches, leaving this gentleman in a bad fix to look after the work which he is pressed with at this time. They also took a set of cultivator shovels, which they left over on a hill and which was recovered by Mr. Grubbs the following day. It is not so often that people break into work.

Visiting in Milwaukee.
A letter from W. Earl Towle who departed a short time since accompanied by Mrs. Towle for a trip extending over a number of months, was received by his friend Spencer J. Marshall, telling of Mr. and Mrs. Towle having had a very pleasant trip to Milwaukee, and enjoying a visit there at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunn, being formerly Mrs. Margaret Towle, and also finding the Colonel feeling fine. They will visit there for some time and make a trip to California before they shall return.

Enjoyed Family Supper.
The Congregational church held one of their excellent meetings on last Monday evening when they had as their guests two noted missionaries, Mr. Warner and wife of New York City who have plenty of this world's wealth and are paying their expenses, and traveling as missionaries, met with the membership of the church in this their pleasant gathering. The Congregation of the Avoca was also guest of the Weeping Water church as was Rev. Elyhlers of the first church of Lincoln.

Will Institute Clothing Store.
Weeping Water is to have another business enterprise, and which is fine for the community was in need of a business in this line. Elmer Johnson who formerly was located in Weeping Water with a stock of clothing is to open again in the Philpot building next to the Dowler Brothers garage, and is getting the room in shape for the opening which will occur shortly.

Improving Home.
R. C. Fry has been having some improvements made at his home in Weeping Water in the way of some hard floors laid and other important improvements. E. A. Stock the carpenter and builder, assisted by Fred Linville have been doing the work. They are also being assisted by George Brown. They have just completed the home of Fred Garrison, who is making an almost new home from the old house.

Lawson Conrad Receives Term for 3rd Offense
Changes Plea to Guilty in District Court for Liquor Violation—6 to 18 Months

From Wednesday's Daily—
This morning in the district court, Lawson Conrad, of Weeping Water, was given a sentence from six to eighteen months under the law, for the third offense against the prohibition law of the state.

The prisoner will be taken to Lincoln as soon as possible to start on the serving of the sentence.

ENTERTAIN AT DINNER
On Easter Sunday Mrs. N. C. De LeDernier of near Union, entertained in honor of the birthday of her husband. At noon a delicious dinner was served to which every one did ample justice. The rest of the day was spent in conversation and taking pictures. Those present besides the host and hostess were: Mr. and Mrs. R. H. DeLes Dernier, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pratt, Richard and Marion of Elmwood; Mrs. Pratt of Syracuse, New York; Mrs. Linnie DeLes Dernier, Wayne and Rosa of Havelock; Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Fowler, Arthur and Virginia of Milford; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Monk and son Jimmy, of Lincoln; Mrs. Eugenia DeLes Dernier, Ray and Rene of Murray; Mr. and Mrs. John Doeschot of Pirth; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Armstrong and son Gerald and Margaret DeLes Dernier of Nebraska City; Pearl DeLes Dernier of Lincoln; Ruth Marshall and son Jimmie and Laurene Applegate of Union.

NEED FOR HOUSEKEEPING ROOMS
The last few days has brought a very large demand here for rooms that would be suitable for light housekeeping. The workers on the paving contracts south of this city coming here with their families and desiring to locate for the time that the paving work will be under way. The first comers have lined up the larger part of the rooms of private available and the task of finding any suitable places is now a real problem to the men and women who are arriving here in increasing numbers. While the supply of rooms for sleeping purposes is ample in the hotels and also a large number of private homes, there is a marked shortage of light housekeeping rooms.

Better Homes Programs in 6500 Communities

Movement to Bring More Attractiveness to the Home of the Nation Gets Under Way.

Washington, D. C.—The Secretary of the Interior, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, in his radio address last night announcing Better Homes Week stated that "active home building helps to maintain employment and good business as well as to enable us to live in Better Homes." He further called attention to the fact that more than 6,500 communities, averaging more than two for every county in the United States, were engaged this week in demonstrating the many ways in which homes of every type can be improved, and sanitary, wholesome and attractive conditions of home life could be made available to all.

Dr. Wilbur is president of Better Homes in America and his talk marked the launching of the ninth nationwide observance of Better Homes Week.

"One of the chief concerns of many of the 28 or 29 million families in the United States is to have a good home. No doubt in this radio address there are some who are fully satisfied but nevertheless I hope that you all may be interested in knowing something of what the more than 6,500 local better homes committees throughout the country are planning to do during Better Homes Week, which starts today. Although there are more Better Homes committees in some regions than in others, there are on an average two for each of the 3,073 counties, with about five hundred to spare. The activities are not confined to cities and towns, nor even to populous rural districts, but extend into thinly settled areas.

"Many who are accustomed to conveniences which are termed 'roots' of the house, only dimly appreciate the burden of carrying water by hand, of tending oil lamps, or trying to keep warm in winter without modern heating equipment, or the hardships of living in an isolated spot where there is no telephone nor even a near neighbor. They do not stop to realize that millions of families are still without many or all of the every day conveniences to which they themselves are accustomed.

"Everyone of us who honestly sets about improving his own house, or who starts to buy or build a house, soon realizes that it would take a lifetime to become competent to make the best possible decisions in regard to every feature in the house. By the time we master the last features, we may find that what we had learned about the first phases had become out of date. Since this is a practical world, we have to get ahead with what knowledge and experience we can acquire in a comparatively short time.

"That is just where Better Homes in America comes into the picture. The whole movement is built around the local Better Homes Committee, of which more than 6,500 have been organized and are carrying out Better Homes Week programs in their local communities this year.

"The Better Homes committees are instructed to get away as far as possible from the type of so called 'model home' which is fitted out the way most of us would like to have it if we did not count the cost.

"The Better Homes committees start out by fixing a limit of expenditures within the range of a family of small income, and then see if they can build, furnish and equip a house to the best of their ability within the limit set. By working together in a group, the committee members, who are often specialists in particular fields, such as interior decorating, furniture, kitchen arrangement, labor saving appliances, floor coverings and so on, are able to do a better job than any one person could reasonably be expected to do in a relatively short time. There is the universal testimony that a visit to a good demonstration house has a value to most people that is far beyond what they could gain from reading or listening to lectures for a much greater time.

"Great credit is due the local committees for the steady improvement in demonstration houses from year to year. They seem to profit from their own experience and obtain better and better results for what they spend each year as they undertake the task again.

"The committees have shown remarkable resourcefulness in meeting local conditions. Negro cabin demonstrations in some southern communities have cost only a few hundred dollars each and have been equipped with furniture made from scrap materials by students in wood-working classes.

"Better Homes in America relies wholly on volunteer local committees for carrying out its activities, and they in turn rely on volunteer assistance from local business men, civic associations, religious groups, and educational authorities as well as the local officials.

"At the other end, the movement is sponsored by more than a score of agencies such as the Child Health Association and various organizations representing business and professional groups, civic associations and the like, as well as several of the government departments. All of these have an interest in one or more phases of the home.

"The small central staff of Better Homes in America in Washington, D. C., serves as a clearing house for information and assistance between these national agencies and the local committees. It thus occupies a key position of service to the biggest occupation in the country, that of homemaking, which has been accredited for the first time as a type of employment in the census that has just been taken."
