WEEPING WATER

The Dowler Brothers sold a very fine little car to Fred Flemming in the shape of a new six coupe.

Frank E. Cook of near Alvo was a visitor in Weeping Water and was looking after the farm which Mrs. Cook has here.

Charles V. Wallack and Ed Lauritzen have been selected as the jurymen for the federal court at Lincoln and are there worrying over great legal problems.

John S. Williams, the bakery man of Weeping Water and a good one at that, was called to Bonesteel, South Dakota, to look after some business matters early this week.

Mr. C. H. Fidler, who took his accepted a position with the C. H. Gibson grocery of Weeping Water and has gone to work with a vim that spells success with this enterprising firm.

Mrs. George Ellis gave a pinocle stag party at their home in honor of her husband and sure they played good pinocle but they were all, very delightful refreshments were served as well.

Tom Dee of Lincoln was a visitor with his friends the family of W. H. Ash of Weeping Water last week and enjoyed a very fine visit, as well as contributing to the good time which the Ash family also enjoyed.

The Misses Dorothy and Helen Gorder who have been teaching at Ogallala for the past year, concluded their school last week and returned to their home here. They were pleased to get home as were also the parents.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Marshall and their niece Miss Doris, drove out to Denver and the number of other places of interest the last of the week and will expect to be home again in a short time, after they have finished their visit.

Searl S. Davis was a visitor in Weeping Water on last Tuesday, looking after some business matters and also visiting with friends. His brother, Troy Davis, took Searl in his car and delivered him safely at Plattsmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hoffman entertained on last Sunday and had as their guests for the day and an excellent dinner, Thomas Yates and wife and their son, Leonard, and Mr. and Mrs. Creighton Sack, the latter a sister of Mrs. Hoffman. They all enjoyed the visit very much.

Mrs. Carl Day was hostess on last Monday to a number of her friends at a bridge party where an excellent time was had, and again on Wednesday afternoon entertained another party of friends. At both the gatherings there were six tables and a wonderful time was enjoyed at both gatherings.

Messrs. E. C. Giberson and L. D. Critchfield of Lincoln and Bethany were looking after some business matters and also were visiting with their many friends here. Don ventured the information that the state had purchased some high-powered airplanes which will be used to carry seed to the statue of the sower which is perched on the pinnacle of the new capitol building. We are not saying that this is a fact, but it is just what Don Critchfield said.

Pioneer Dies Saturday.
Albert Silas Winchell of Weeping Water who has resided in this city and vicinity for many years, passed away at his late home in Weeping Water on last Saturday with hardening of the arteries, at the age of 63 years, he being born October 8th, 1867. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Stella Winchell. The remains were taken to Webster City, Iowa, where the interment was made on last Monday.

CAPONE RETALIATION SCHEME
Miami, Fla.—Al Capone's scheme to retaliate for a municipally engineered plan to drive him from the community as an undesirable, met difficulties here Tuesday. Justice of the Peace Warren L. Newcomb dismissed charges of conspiracy against Mayor C. H. Reeder, City Commissioner John Knight and Director of Public Safety S. D. McCreary.

Warrants charging the three officials with conspiracy falsely to accuse Sapon of violating a city ordinance were sworn out Saturday by Vincent Giblin, Capone's attorney. They were withdrawn Tuesday in favor of others which were similar to the first group but which mentioned May 13 as the date on which the alleged conspiracy occurred.

The case was dismissed by Justice Newcomb on motion of City Attorney John W. Watson, Jr., the justice

AOWAKIYA CAMPFIRE NOTES

On Saturday, May 24th, a group of girls helped the American Legion to sell poppies and in all we sold 120 poppies.

On Tuesday, May 27th, we held our regular campfire meeting at the home of our guardian, Mrs. R. Beverage, 1214 Pearl street. The secretary was absent so we had to omit the roll call and the reading of the minutes so as several of the girls had their head bands to work on we had a hand craft meeting.

Dean Marshall Victim of Accidental Shooting

Former Resident of Weeping Water and Banker in Otoe County Is Found Dead in Garage.

The body of Dean Marshall, 39, former cashier of the Bank of Douglas, and well known in Cass county, was found in his garage at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, with a wound in his chest.

After an examination by Sheriff Carl Ryder and County Attorney George H. Heinke it was announced that the shooting was accidental. No inquest was held.

The evidence showed that Mr. Marshall was removing articles from the rear of his automobile, among them a .22 calibre rifle, preparatory to a trip to Lincoln. It is believed he took out the rifle, which he carried in his car to shoot rabbits, muzzles first, and that it discharged into his heart.

When the body was found by his father, William Marshall, who was working next door in his garden, his body was partly inside the automobile. A pipe he had been smoking was inside the car.

None heard the discharge of the rifle. The elder Marshall investigated when he saw the doors of the garage standing open.

It was learned from members of the family that Mr. Marshall arose shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday morning. He was in good spirits Friday evening and retired late after listening to the radio.

Mr. Marshall was born in Weeping Water June 6, 1891. He attended the public schools there and in 1919 removed to Douglas with his parents. Prior to the time he became cashier of the Douglas bank he worked for the First National and the Bank of Syracuse.

He was married to Ruby Pohlman, Syracuse, who survives with two children, Irene and Ella Josephine. Other survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall; two brothers, Spencer J. of Weeping Water and Dr. J. B. of Lincoln; and two sisters, Mrs. L. W. Rybin, Lead, S. D., and Mrs. Gene W. Bader of Fremont.

Mr. Marshall was a member of the Masonic lodge and the Lutheran church.

The funeral of the late Dean Marshall was held from the church at Auburn and the interment made at the Wyuka cemetery at Lincoln, the services being held in the morning and the interment made the same afternoon. Spencer J. Marshall and family were down to attend the funeral as well as many of his former friends in this community.

holding that Capone's lawyer had not cited time, place or particulars of the alleged conspiracy. Former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, owner of the Miami Daily News, was named in the first conspiracy warrants but was not named in those drawn Tuesday. He is at his Dayton, O., home.

REAL ACCIDENT PREVENTION NEEDED
The automobile accident record continues its upward trend. So important has this problem become that Lincoln petitioners recently called another conference to consider means for reducing fatalities.

One thing, at least, is clear—the methods of the past have failed. Compulsory insurance, heralded as the long-awaited panacea, has not decreased accidents. Traffic laws in most states are outmoded or are inadequately enforced. Traffic congestion on streets and highways grows steadily more severe.

An authority on safety says that the most important single step is the licensing law for drivers. Thousands of automobiles are being operated by incompetent or reckless persons, all of whom are potential killers and destroyers of property.

Defective cars, turning in the middle of the road, cutting in, passing on curves, failure to give turning signals, etc., are leading causes of accidents. Every state should have a driver's license law and a modernized, rigidly enforced traffic code.

Fishermen Desire Relief from State Law

Local Men Join Protest to Governor Weaver on Law That Checks Their Opportunities.

Bearing petitions asking for relief from the present law which prohibits fishing in the Missouri river, members of the Missouri River Fishermen's Protective association called on Governor Weaver Monday morning.

The governor told them he agreed with their opinion that Nebraska and Iowa should have uniform laws governing fishing. The Nebraska law, which was recently upheld by the federal supreme court, forces them to set their nets and seines on the Iowa side of the river, entailing much time and expense, the fishermen claim. Governor Weaver also indicated that he might make a statement on the matter at a later date.

He reminded the petitioners that since the regulations were law, it was up to the state to enforce them. The legislature must change the law if it is unfair.

Among the association members who called on the executive were: Joe Blazek, Omaha; Sam Roberts and J. Z. Roberts, Brownville; W. H. Eidege, Omaha; John Richardson and George Barr, Plattsmouth; and W. H. Miller of Blair, secretary of the association.

They declared their organization is composed of approximately 1,200 members, of which 400 are active fishermen who make all or part of their living at fishing. Their biggest market, they explained, is for carp and other scale fish, which are sold at the Hebrew markets in Omaha. These buyers don't have so much demand, they said, for catfish, which are scaleless.

Enforcement of the new law has cut off the income of many of the old river fishermen, Secretary Miller said. He believes that seining has little effect on angling for sport. The belief that nets are stretched across the mouth of the Platte near Plattsmouth, preventing the migration of fish into the smaller streams at spawning time, also was scouted by the fishermen, who said their nets would be washed away if placed in such a position where the current is swift.

A license to seine in Iowa costs $40 for each person, Miller explained, besides the additional expense of going across the river each day to "run" the nets. He lives at Blair and it costs him $1 to make the round trip over the highway bridge. River conditions are not always right for making the trip by boat. Besides, there is always the possibility that landowners along the river banks won't let the fishermen onto their land to reach the fishing grounds, he said.

The members brought with them to Lincoln petitions signed by several thousand persons, they said, including many business men and sportsmen.

PHILATHEA CLASS MEETS

From Wednesday's Daily—The Philathea class of the Methodist Sunday school held a very delightful meeting last evening at the home of their president, Mrs. W. A. Wells, on North Sixth street, with a very large number of the members of the class in attendance.

The program was in charge of Mrs. E. G. Shellenbarger and a very interesting evening of music was enjoyed. Misses Martha Gorder, Margaret Shellenbarger and Madge Garnett forming a vocal trio that gave a number of selections while Miss Shellenbarger was heard in a vocal solo of much charm and beauty.

Joseph A. Capwell presented several readings in her usual charming manner and little Miss Velma Wells was heard in a fine piano number.

At an appropriate hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. H. B. Perry, Mrs. J. R. Jahrig and Mrs. Shellenbarger.

University Co-Ed Drowns at South Bend

Miss Jean Laverty of Omaha, Victim of Accident in San Pit Lake at 4:30 Sunday.

Miss Jean Laverty, 21, of Omaha, a co-ed at Nebraska university, was drowned at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in a sand pit lake near South Bend, Neb., when a motorboat in which she was riding capsized in 80 feet of water. Three other persons in the motorboat managed to cling to the overturned bulk until rescued.

Miss Laverty was one of the Laverty twins, Cora and Jean, who five years ago doubled in the leading roles of a South High school class play. She is the daughter of Richard M. Laverty, 4304 South Omaha commission man and former president of the Live Stock Exchange.

Miss Laverty, together with her sister, Mrs. Guilford Darst of Ashland, Miss Ethel Martin, and Dr. E. E. Clark, also of Ashland, were in a motorboat belonging to Dr. Clark when it capsized.

The other three were able to reach the boat after the upset, but Miss Jean failed to reach the craft and went down. Efforts to reach her were unsuccessful.

Had Been on Picnic.
The four in the boat and others were said to have been on a picnic with others from Ashland. They were on land belonging to the Western Sand Gravel company of South Bend.

According to Mrs. Darst, a high wind had kicked up large waves on the lake, one of which unexpectedly struck the motorboat broadside and overturned it. The boat was about in the center of the lake at the time.

Mrs. Darst said that she and Dr. Clark went to the aid of Miss Martin, who is a poor swimmer.

Miss Laverty, who was an expert swimmer, bobbed to the surface after the upset and began to swim easily, her sister said. But apparently she had been dazed by a blow for she swam away from the overturned boat.

"After getting Miss Martin to the boat I looked for my sister and saw her go down suddenly," Mrs. Darst said. "I swam to the spot where she went down but failed to find any trace of her."

"When she first started to swim I thought she was striking out for shore. She never made any call for help."

Aid Slow in Coming.
Other boatmen, who were fishing on the lake, failed to grasp the situation in Ashland schools next year.

Volunteers dragged the lake and dove into the cold water for nearly four hours before the body was recovered. It was taken to Ashland.

Miss Laverty had been chosen a few days ago to teach home economics in Ashland schools next year.

Miss Laverty was to have been graduated from the university next week. Two weeks ago she spent the week-end at home but did not return this week because of the pressure of college work. She was an expert swimmer.

Her twin sister, Cora, was graduated from the university a year ago and has been teaching school at Mead, Neb.

Miss Laverty was a room mate of Miss Martha Gorder while at the University of Nebraska and the death of the friend has been a great shock to the Plattsmouth friend. Miss Gorder had been invited to be one of the ill fated picnic party Sunday but was unable to go.

STUDY CLUB MEETS

The Lewiston Study club met at the home of Mrs. Victor Wehrbein, Thursday, May 22, 1930, with Mrs. Elmer White neck as assistant hostess.

The meeting opened by singing the Nebraska Slogan song followed by Salute to Flag and the Lord's prayer.

Roll call was answered with members presenting pictures of the Nebraska state capitol building. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Report of committees was heard and some bills presented to the secretary.

The song of the month "The Plough Song" was discussed and the Mother song from the last Club Woman sang by members.

As guests Mrs. Allan Vernon and Mrs. W. O. Troop were present.

The study hour was led by Mrs. John Hendricks, the topic being "Nebraska State Capitol."

Much material had been secured from the University of Nebraska making the discussion very interesting and enlightening.

Plans for the last meeting in June were discussed, and meeting adjourned to meet at Cedar Crest Cottage, June 26, 1930.

Receipts From Fishing and Hunting Permits Show Popularity—Ponds Being Built

Fishing and hunting is becoming more popular in Nebraska. At least more people are purchasing permits, and dollars aren't generally forked over to the state unless something is expected in return.

An audit of the records of the state game and parks commission, records, which has just been completed by State Accountant C. A. Sommer, shows that 7,099 more licenses were purchased in 1928 than in the previous year. The total number of permits taken out last year was 170,240 as compared with 163,355 in 1928. These permits netted the state a dollar each.

Other permits for trapping and raising game birds and fur bearing animals brought the total receipts up to $197,204. Another $653 worth of permits was sold but the money has not yet been collected. Some of this is due from persons authorized to sell permits but more than $400 of the amount is tied up in failed banks.

Sold Fish for $6,321.
In addition to the sale of permits, the commission derived $6,321.29 from the sale of course fish which were seized from lakes and streams and another $5,136 from the sale of confiscated guns, nets and traps from parks the sale of a small tract of land near Fremont, and damages assessed against game law violators for taking fish or game out of season. This latter source yielded $1,881.

The 1929 legislature appropriated $350,000 for game propagation and conservation, salaries, and the purchase and maintenance of lakes, and $37,000 for the maintenance of the state parks, all of which comes out of the receipts of the commission from its various sources.

The audit as of April 30 shows that the expenditures of the first ten months of the first year were
