

Nehawka Department!

Prepared in the Interests of the People of Nehawka and Surrounding Vicinity Especially for the Journal Readers.

S. J. Roush loaded at the farmer elevator on last Monday morning, a car of corn to be shipped to the east.

W. O. Troop with his hired help were putting up hay on last Monday, and getting it out of the way for the cultivating of corn which is pressing very badly.

J. J. Pollard and the good wife hitched up the faithful car and departed for Peru where they visited for the day on last Sunday at the home of a sister of Mr. Pollard's.

A. D. Mordoch was out with his scythe cutting grass last Monday in front of the school building and along the streets thus improving the appearance of the streets and city.

The brooder house of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fleischman accidentally caught on fire last Sunday evening but they were able to extinguish it before any material damage was done.

John G. Wunderlich and the good wife were over to south of Avoca on last Sunday where they were visiting for the day at the home of their friends, Frank Goodrod and family.

The crew who have been spreading gravel on the county roads near Nehawka completed their work on last Monday and departed for other fields where they will engage at the same work.

Herbert L. Kuntz and family accompanied by Thomas E. Fulton and wife were over to the home of John N. Larsh for the day on last Sunday where they picnicked and also tried their luck at fishing.

John Opp and the family were over to Ashland on last Saturday afternoon where they were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Lida, who she had been visiting at the home of C. C. Chapman, her uncle.

Otto Wohlfarth of Plattsmouth and salesman for the Plattsmouth Motor Co., was a visitor in Nehawka for a short time on last Monday where he was looking after some business matters for his company.

Mrs. Fred Drucker and daughter, Miss Dorothy, were over to Plattsmouth on last Saturday, they going over to play at the Miss Olive Gass musical recital. They were accompanied also by Miss Lois Troop, who is also a pupil of Miss Gass.

All are happy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murray, north of Nehawka, where the stork on last Saturday brought this happy couple a very fine young girl for their very own. Mrs. Robert Shantz is caring for the mother and daughter.

Alfred Anderson and family of Omaha were visiting in Nehawka, for a short time on last Saturday evening calling on Mrs. Anderson, mother of Mrs. Albertina Ost, they enjoyed the stay here very much and Mrs. Ost was pleased to have them come.

Dr. Beulah Harold, formerly Miss Beulah Rhoden, but who is a famous surgeon located in New York, was visiting in Nehawka from her home and was attending memorial services at Mt. Pleasant cemetery and caring for the graves of her parents who sleep there.

The state order of the Daughters of the American Revolution presented the Nehawka library a set of reference books which will be available for all members of the library, but only for reference as the books like others will not be allowed to be taken from the building.

Nelson Berger has arranged to build a new house where the former one stood, and has already constructed the foundation which he is allowing to ripen before the beginning of the superstructure. The building is to be eight rooms and the size of the former building and modern to the last word in every respect. He has secured J. A. Scotten to construct the building which makes certain that the work will be well done.

H. H. Henningson of Kansas City was a visitor in Nehawka on last Monday and addressed a mass meeting at the auditorium on the matter of water works, showing the benefit and also to approximate cost of a system which would supply the water to Nehawka, as a tentative survey has been made and the cost figured. An election was to follow the following day to determine whether or not there would be voted bonds for the installation of the proposed plant. The result of the election will appear elsewhere in this issue.

Mrs. Rutlege Doing Nicely.
Mrs. Glen Rutlege who was taken to the hospital at Lincoln on last week, and where she underwent an operation preparatory for one to follow is reported as getting along nicely and which is very pleasing to her and her many friends. It is hoped that she will be able to return in as short a time as possible, entirely well again.

Murray Gets New Station.
The Phillips bulk station which has been operating out of Plattsmouth with L. L. McCarthy as its manager, and who have had the Rock Creek oil station for the past year, have with the termination of their lease, turned the station over to the Sinclair interests, and have leased the old livery stable property, which they are transforming into an up-to-date filling station. On Monday of this week they had installed the pumps and tanks, and on Tuesday were bringing the clearing away of the dirt for the foundation of the office and oil house. There will be a culvert placed along the roadway and grading done which will be graveled and extensively lighted and which will when completed make a nicely appointed and up-to-date filling station. Murray should be pleased that they are to have such an addition to the business portion of the town. George W. Rhoden who is an experienced station man will have charge of the station and this will add another family to the hustling city.

Hold Excellent Meeting.
The Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church held a very worthwhile and profitable meeting on Wednesday of this week at the church parlors, the hostesses being Mrs. W. F. Moore and two daughters, Mrs. A. T. Hanson and Miss Margaret Moore, and Mrs. Charles Creamer, who served excellent eats and made the ladies most comfortable while the program was furnished by Mrs. Myra McDonald and was a study of Porto Rico and Jamaica.

WOMAN, 92, IN FIST PLANE RIDE
Los Angeles, June 8.—Flying at the age of 92 years is "great sport," in the opinion of Mrs. A. M. Gilmore, who took her first flight at Grand Central air terminal Sunday.

"I wasn't a bit afraid and enjoyed it every minute," she added, when the plane, piloted by Ace Bragunier, taxied to a halt after the flight.

Asked if she was surprised at the speed of the airplane, the aged woman replied that she thought the pilot went awfully slow on account of her age. She had actually flown at a rate of 100 miles an hour.

BOME SLAYING JURY DISCHARGED IN EAST
Rockville, Md., June 7.—Unable to agree after more than 17 hours deliberation the jury which for five days heard testimony in the trial of Leroy Brady, Washington automobile mechanic, charged with the New Year's day bomb murder of his sister-in-law and two sisters, was discharged late Saturday.

U. S. SKYSCRAPERS INVADE EUROPE
Vienna, June 7.—American skyscrapers are invading central European cities. Until lately the construction of buildings over six floors high was not permitted in central European states. Austria, Hungary and Czech-Slovakia, however, have almost simultaneously abolished the skyscraper prohibitions, and Jugo-Slavia is expected to follow the example.

The Vienna municipality has already begun with the construction of an 11-story high apartment house, while the municipal committee of Budapest has just given permission for the erection of a 12-story building. The introduction of the skyscrapers in Prague, Belgrade and Zagreb is almost imminent.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN
From Wednesday's Daily—Yesterday at the home of Mrs. Max Fitzmeyer in honor of her daughter, Louise, a number of school friends gathered to help celebrate her thirtieth birthday. Games and a delicious lunch helped to make the evening pass quickly. After which all departed wishing Miss Louise many more pleasant anniversaries. Louise received many attractive gifts. Those present were: Grace Welch, Mary Lindeman, Marjorie Lindeman, Betty Bull, Herbert Minor, Billy and Bobby Jensen, Fred Kenney, Leonard Rakow, William Fitzmeyer and the guest of honor, Miss Louise.

Diphenyl Makes a Play for Heat Championship

Lightweight Candidate at Sixty-Five Pounds Equals Steam Pressure of 1000

Detroit, Mich.—A rival for steam heat, diphenyl, the world's newest commercial substance, was introduced to the American Institute of Chemical Engineers here June 5. Diphenyl—pronounced dy-fen-ill—is a synthetic chemical, something that probably never existed anywhere in nature, but better than water for one purpose. This property scientifically named "heat transfer" was described by Prof. W. L. Badger of the University of Michigan.

Heat transfer is the thing that steam does when it warms the radiator and through it the air in the room. Diphenyl carries great heat without the dangerous, explosive pressure of steam. At 700 degrees the new chemical has only about 65 pounds pressure compared with about 1000 pounds for steam.

Diphenyl is not at present a substitute for steam heat, but it foreshadows the sort of stuff likely some day to make it easier to pipe heat into the house from a central station much as water now is piped. Professor Badger revealed some of the peculiarities encountered in using diphenyl in the manufacture of a plastic. For one thing, it can leak out of joints impervious to steam and water.

The automobile is responsible for diphenyl. About two years ago an oil refiner wanted it to substitute for steam in a gasoline-making process. He could not buy any. There was just one pound in the United States, costing $40. Theodore Swann, a young chemical manufacturer of Birmingham, Ala., undertook to develop the stuff commercially and now makes it at 30 cents a pound wholesale.

Strangely enough diphenyl is made from explosive benzene. By heat two hydrogen atoms are forced out of two benzene molecules, which thereupon unite to form the new substance, a yellowish, white solid. It melts at about 155 degrees Fahrenheit.

It already has given promise of being a worthy child of benzene, which is one of the most widely used chemicals. From diphenyl already have been made amber-colored resins, black pitches and gray crystalline solids. It has been used in making varnish, insulation, flame proofing and water proofing.

UNIVERSITY ON NEW LINES
Newark—The United States is to have a university without a football team, without a glee club, without any fraternities, without any proms, without any "college activities" except study. Announcement was made Saturday of an initiative movement of $5,000,000 by Louis Bamberger, retired merchant, and his sister, Mrs. Felix Fuld, for establishment of an institution where teaches and post graduate students may conduct intellectual exploration unturbed by the "charms and diversions" usually associated with college life.

There will be no undergraduate body, the professors will divide their time between teaching and carrying on research in their respective fields, and the students will pursue advanced learning in pure science and high scholarship.

Dr. Abraham Flexner, former director of the division of medical education of the general education board of New York City, is to be the first director of the institute, which will be situated in Newark or its vicinity.

Jim Reed is Back in Political Spotlight

Friends of Former Missouri Senator See in His Speech a Possible Bid for Presidency.

St. Louis—Political leaders throughout the country Sunday speculated on whether "Jim" Reed had returned actively to the political arena. In Missouri democratic leaders appeared unanimous in the opinion that Reed would campaign for the presidential nomination in 1932 Reed was a candidate "to the end of the road" he worked it at the Houston convention, but the boom for Alfred E. Smith had gained such headway that the fiery Missourian was unable to head it off.

Reed, in his first important speech made since his retirement from the senate two years ago, addressed a large crowd at a statewide rally at Sedalia Saturday night, and many close observers believed the reaction would determine whether the former senator would set the white house as his goal. They talked "Jim" Reed for president openly at the rally, and party leaders regarded it as significant that Reed did nothing to discourage it.

From the same platform Reed later stood upon to assail the last three republican administrations, business monopoly prohibition, the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, the Anglo-American naval agreement and "prostitution" of the federal reserve system in stock "gambling." John T. Barker, city counselor of Kansas City, former attorney general of Missouri and long a personal and political friend of the ex-senator, said it was "not beyond the real of possibility" that Reed would be nominated and elected president.

When Reed's turn came to speak, he said nothing about Barker's statement.

Tom Pendergast of Kansas City, long a powerful democratic leader in Missouri, said he felt certain Reed would "have a chance" in 1932.

Reed took what many thought was a shot at the tariff stand of the democratic party in 1928, saying "even a national convention seduced by the hope of temporary victory into the approval of false doctrines and makeshift expedients, cannot permanently destroy or change the fundamentals which are the soul of the democratic party."

"Political jugglers," he called those responsible for the "false doctrines and makeshift expedients," but refrained from mentioning names.

Always a vigorous opponent of national prohibition, Reed indicated, observers were convinced, that he was opposed as ever to the law and that should be campaign for the nomination, he would make prohibition one of the leading issues.—State Journal.

ALEXANDER'S TOMB SOUGHT IN EGYPT
Cairo, June 7.—The antiquities department of Egypt has been authorized by the government to search for the grave of Alexander the Great at the mosque of Nebi Daniel. On giving its permission to proceed with the search, the authorities conditioned that should the body be found under no circumstances must it be touched.

Alexander the Great died in Babylon on June 29, 323 B. C., at the age of 33, having contracted a malignant disease. Nine years previous to his death, he founded the city of Alexandria. About 50 years ago excavators discovered a sarcophagus, which is accepted to be that of Alexander the Great. The discovery was made at Sidon in Syria. In the sarcophagus was found a strange liquid in which was preserved the body of a man in perfect condition. Through careless handling the fluid was spilled and the body shriveled and turned into dust.

Excavators at the time were of the opinion that the body was that of one of Alexander's favorite generals.

HOOPER PARTY QUITS CAMP
Orange, Va.—President Hoover and his week end guests at the Rapidan river fishing camp started back for Washington Sunday afternoon after a heavy downpour had cut down their usual outdoor activities. A Sunday school session occupied the party at the camp during the morning hours, a deserver of the guests took short hikes on the mountain slopes that surround Mr. Hoover's Virginia retreat. Mrs. Hoover, convalescing from an injury to her back, remained at the camp, heeding the advice of Captain Boone, the white house physician, who thinks she will recover faster away from social responsibilities and distractions.

Washington—President Hoover, accompanied by his fifteen guests, arrived at the white house late Sunday from his Virginia camp.

WALES UNVEILS FOCH STATUE IN LONDON
London, June 5.—The prince of Wales Thursday unveiled a statue outside Victoria station erected by the British people to the memory of the late Marshal Ferdinand Foch, generalissimo of the allied forces in France during the latter part of the world war.

Oil in a Can is Like a Race Horse in a Stall

Lubricating Oil in a bottle or a can may look fine—so may a race horse in a stall. But put the horse on a track, make him run a half mile and he may prove all looks and nothing else. The same is true of Motor Oil!

Looks, Color and Extravagant Claims Mean Nothing at All

It is the test of actual performance that shows up poor horse—and poor oil. Mona Motor Oil does not break down under the most intense heat. Try a Crank case full.
