

Union Department

Prepared Exclusively for The Journal.

Fred Lindsay from near Weeping Water was a visitor at Union last Saturday night and was looking after some business matters.

The Union filling station has erected a very pretty sign calling attention to the station against the wall of the Ira Clarke restaurant and which makes a very fine sign.

W. H. Mark was a visitor in Omaha on last Monday driving over to the big town in his car going to consult a specialist regarding his health only to find that the doctor had gone on his vacation.

Little Deede and Punk Nickles, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nickles of Ponca, Oklahoma who are visiting at Uncle Frank Bauers are at this time having a siege with the whooping cough but are getting along nicely.

R. D. Stine has a new sign embellishing his store front, which sure looks good and new and neat, and we are sure that Mr. Stine also has goods within and a determination to treat every one the very best who comes to visit his place of business.

County Commissioner C. F. Harris and son, Stirling, were over to Lincoln on last Monday where they went to have a clinic given to Stirling who has not been in the best of health for some time and as they were desiring to know his condition and ailments they thought best to have the clinic, and will return the latter portion of this week for a decisive answer.

Ira Clarke, chairman of the publicity committee of the Old Settlers Association, was out in Otoe county early this week posting advertising telling of the picnic which is to occur on Friday and Saturday, August 22nd and 23rd, and for which great preparations have been made. Be sure and be at the picnic which is the 42nd since the organization and since the first picnic was held here.

Albert A. Stock who some sixteen years ago worked for J. L. Niday on the farm but who has been away since arrived in Union on last Tuesday from their home in Texas, accompanied by Mrs. Stock and accompanied by Mrs. Stock and George Martin. Mr. Stock says that their corn is ripe, has been gathered and a portion of it marketed before he started north which was a few days since.

Ray Cross and family of Arriba, Colorado, arrived in Union a few days Union a few days ago driving and will visit here for some time remaining until after the Old Settlers picnic which occurs next week. Speaking of the crops in either section of the country, Ray said that they were good and that they had not suffered from dry hot weather and that everything is now looking nice there.

Joseph Wood of Carpenter, Indiana, a cousin of W. H. Mark who it will be remembered visited here some three years ago at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark, died last week of heart disease, and at the time a telegram was sent to Mr. and Mrs. Mark announcing the death, but as they were both in poor health at the time, it was not possible for them to attend the funeral. Many people of Union and vicinity will recall Mr. Wood and his visits here.

E. B. Chapman, who is the candidate on the democratic ticket for the position of County Commissioner for the Second district was a visitor in Plattsmouth one day last week and while there called at the Journal office and visited with the force there for a time, impressing them of his special fitness for the position for which he aspires. Mr. Chapman has been a life long democrat, and an excellent citizen of Liberty, and we are sure that should he be elected he will make one of the very best commissioners the county has ever had.

last Saturday night a very fine series of plays was gladly received by the people of Union, though on account of the intense heat and other things the attendance was not as large as was desired and not enough to make the guarantors come out safe.

Just what will be done about having a chautauqua again is in doubt but the matter will soon be settled and all will know. No contract has as yet been made. A wind one evening bent the center pole and collapsed the tent, creating a flurry but not harming anyone.

Will Institute Golf Course.

This will be a miniature and will be on the Becker lots between the Fitzpatrick cafe and the empty building on the corner. The course is being built by Messrs Joseph Bauer and Florence H. McCarthy. They are working on the materials which is to be used and will endeavor to have it ready for playing in a short time. It will be under the shade of the trees and will be made one of the very best and most attractive. There will not be the opportunity to perfect the course as they desire this fall but with the returning of spring they will beautify the place and make it indeed an ideal spot.

Music For Picnic.

The arrangements have been completed for the supplying of music for the Old Settlers Picnic the coming week. The Nehawka band which is a large organization and one which dispenses excellent music has been secured for the first day and will furnish the music for the celebrants on Friday August 22nd. The Louisville band will also be on hand the last day, Saturday, and provide the music for that day, August 23rd, and can cope with any music written or otherwise. Be there and hear both these bands for they are good.

Received Injury in Fall.

While Mrs. James S. Pittman was attempting to enter their auto, when returning home from visiting the chautauqua on last Saturday evening her foot slipped and she was thrown forward towards the door and her side struck the running board of the car, and it is feared that one or more of her ribs were fractured. She has suffered a good deal since the accident.

Have Pleasant Evening.

Miss Leona Giles gave a very pleasant entertainment in the shape of a miniature golf party at Nebraska City on last Monday evening and had as her guests from Union, Misses Nora Banning, Dorothy and Louise Foster and Jane Robb. A merry time was had by the young ladies.

States Urged to Bear Brunt Against Crime

Police Chiefs Hear Cities Not Equipped to Tackle Problem Adequately

Duluth, Minn. — Municipalities cannot function alone in successfully combating criminals, Donald S. Leonard, Detroit, a lieutenant of the Michigan state police, told delegates to the thirty-seventh annual convention of the police chiefs here on Aug. 5.

The state, and the state alone, should be the main unit around which the law-enforcement machinery should be constructed, he held. The difficulties of the smaller cities, he said, to equip themselves for law enforcement and combating crime, and even the larger city's difficulties in this field, are criterions of the need of state police.

Miss Sarah V. Dunn, Harrison, N. J., attorney, only woman to address the 400 police chiefs of two nations, declared that the influx of women into professional and business life, even though they be mothers, is a great factor in contributing to juvenile delinquency. She said that when women neglect their homes and children to pursue a business career, they are endangering the welfare of their children, because the proper influence in their upbringing is lacking.

Reliable and accurate criminal statistics will never be provided to central agencies without the assistance of individual police departments, according to a paper prepared by Bruce Smith, director of the National Institute of Public Administration, New York City, and read in his absence by Capt. John A. Lyddy of Bridgeport, Conn., assistant secretary of the association.

Mr. Smith, in his paper, said: "The real responsibility rests with the police, because they can never be more accurate than each department's record. It is up to each police department to make the records of the crime uniform."

As far back as 1871, his paper said, when the first police conference in this country was held, the work of gathering uniform statistics was begun, but because of varying classifications of crime in different states and lapses the work has just really begun to bear results during the last six or seven years. His paper urged that departments keep accurate, written records of all police work and supply copies to the National Committee on Crime Statistics of the Police Chiefs Association to aid in gathering the proper and authentic statistics demanded.

OXFORD STORE LOSES $400 IN MERCHANDISE

Oxford, Aug. 11.—The J. H. Nissen Sons store was robbed here Sunday night of 20 suits, 50 pairs of ladies' hosiery, two dresses and 12 dozen neckties. The haul was valued at nearly $400.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

Copied for this Department furnished by County Agent

Jesse Livingston of Weeping Water and Lilly Danielson of North Platte will represent Nebraska 4-H club work at the International 4-H Leaders Training School in Massachusetts in September. It was announced at the Agricultural College in Lincoln Friday morning.

The school lasts two weeks from Sept. 7 to 20. All expenses of the delegates are taken care of by Horace A. Moses, manufacturer and philanthropist of Mittineague, Mass. Delegates will attend this year from 35 states and 6 provinces of Canada. The school is held in connection with the Eastern States Exposition.

Mr. Livingston and Miss Danielson were chosen on the records of club membership and leadership they turned in to the office of the extension service. Competition was open to former or present club members between 18 and 24 years of age who showed evidences of outstanding leadership. Candidates from many counties turned in their records.

Mr. Livingston is 20 years old and has been in club work continuously since 1924. In the 11 club projects he has taken he has been state corn champion once; third, second and first in crops judging contests at the state fair in three successive years. The best farm club member of his county once, winner of first place in the junior ten acre corn yield contest once and outstanding exhibitor of products and demonstrations several times at county and state fair. Most of his eleven projects have been production projects which have given him a total net profit of $1092.14. He has been the leader of 3 corn clubs in addition to his work as a club member. He is now a sophomore in the college of agriculture.

Entries for poultry and all other 4-H Club work must be in the Farm Bureau office by Thursday, August 21st.

Demonstration Try-Out.

Demonstration teams from the 4-H Home Economic Clubs of Cass county will meet at the Congregational church, Weeping Water, Monday, Aug. 18th at 1 p. m. to compete for the chair of representation at the county state fair. The county has the privilege of sending a team for each project.

At 3 p. m. Monday, August 18th, all clothing club members, interested in competing for the chance to represent the county as style girl are to meet at the Congregational church, Weeping Water.

The costume of each contestant will consist of a dress made in her club project, with shoes, hose and accessories chosen by her. A statement of the kind of dress and the cost is required from each contestant.

Song Contest.

Not less than five nor more than 15 4-H members may represent the county in the song contest at state fair. A piano will be available. Other instruments may be used. Each county group will sing three songs, two to be selected from Dreaming, Plowing, and Health Song.

All members interested in trying out should meet at the Farm Bureau office Thursday, August 21st at 1:30 p. m.)

Know Your Weeds.

One of the newer features at the state fair, for 4-H folk is the weed and weed seed identification contest. Thirty specimens of common weeds and their seeds will be exhibited for identification. All weeds in the contest are described in the Nebraska Weeds Bulletin No. 101. Any members interested in entering may have special help in preparing for the contest if they will send their names in to the Farm Bureau office.

Trench Silo for Emergency Use.

A trench silo offers about the only chance for winter feed on some Nebraska farms where the corn is too far gone to make a crop. The most satisfactory dimensions for the trench are eight feet deep by ten feet wide by as long as necessary to hold the tonnage available. Since the silage is fed off the end of the pile, the farmer should figure on how much stock he will winter on it and dig the trench narrow and shallow enough to prevent spoilage. For example 6 milk cows and 10 stock cows will eat about 440 pounds per day and use the silage from an eight by ten foot trench without spoilage.

A trench of this size will hold about a ton of packed silage per foot of length. A fence should be built around the top of the trench and the silage packed in to the top of the fence. When the silage settles it will be about level with the ground. Clay soils will stand up fairly well for one season but some crumbling of the walls is bound to occur, the following is added. No permanent floor or cover is necessary for a temporary trench. The silage may be covered with straw to prevent spoilage. Extension circular 713, available at offices of county agents and the agricultural college in Lincoln gives many more details about the construction, filling and use of trench silos and silage.

APPEAL FILED BY CABMEN

Attorney General Sorensen, Railway Commissioner Curtis and other members of the commission, State Sheriff Condit and County Attorney Beal of Douglas county are defendants in an appeal filed in the supreme court Monday affecting the constitutionality of H. R. 206 and resolution 110 adopted by the railway commission.

The appellants are Peter H. Peterson plaintiff, and the Independent Cab Drivers Association, the latter intervenor in a suit filed in the district court of Douglas county challenging the constitutionality of the law and order of the railway commission relative to enforcement of the law defining taxicabs and requiring the filing of either a "liability insurance policy or a surety bond with an approved surety company as surety or negotiable and salable securities."

On May 12 the district court issued a decree finding the law and the order of the railway commission, insofar as they pertain to drive-it-yourself cars, to be unconstitutional. As to automobiles used as common carriers the decree finds the law and order valid and the remaining portion of the law enforceable and valid if valid. The railway commission as defendants denied that liability insurance is prohibitive or that the commission's order or the law are discriminatory in favor of large operators of taxicabs and against small owners.

DROUTH HITS MEAT PRICES

Chicago—E. W. Sheets of Washington, chief of animal husbandry, United States department of agriculture, said Monday that the drouth has put so much livestock on the market that the American dollar buys more meat now than at any time in the last twelve years.

In making the statement Sheets was summing up the first day's findings of the annual conference of twenty-five state agricultural experimental stations, the United States department of agriculture, the American Institute of Meat Packers and the National Livestock Meat board.

Sheets declared that the price of meat to retail trade is coming down. He said that the farmer is getting 36 per cent less for his meat this year than last. For 35 cents today the housewife can get a steak for which she paid 55 cents last year, he said.

The last strong hold against lowering meat prices is the restaurants, he said, but predicted that shortly they, too, would cut their charges on meats. In Sheet's opinion, however, the lowered price of meats is only temporary.

ORD CROP OUTLOOK GOOD

Ord—In answer to Secretary Hyde's inquiry about local drouth conditions, County Agent Dale replied Monday that recent rains gave Valley county prospects for 80 per cent of a corn crop. Dale said the small grain and forage crops were near normal. Conditions as a whole here are near normal and corn needs but little rain now to assure a crop. Mr. Dale said there is enough feed to carry through the winter.

RELATES HAVING GENERAL CARRY A PACK FOR HIM

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 12.—A world war runner who ordered Major General Douglas MacArthur to carry his pack for him related the incident today to fellow officers in the Iowa national guard.

And what's more, Captain Marion Whitmore says, General MacArthur, newly appointed chief of staff of the United States army, carried the pack.

Captain Whitmore was a runner with the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth infantry and one day he received orders carrying him some distance down the line.

"Bring along my pack there," he shouted over his shoulder to what he thought was a private, and they set out.

Three miles down the line, Hunter Whitmore turned to get something from his pack. Holding out the pack to him was General MacArthur, then commanding the Eighty-fourth brigade.

OCEAN DIVER-AIRPLANE CONVERSATION ON AIR

New York, Aug. 11.—A coast-to-coast rebroadcast of a two-way conversation between a diver on the bottom of the sea and women fliers in planes high in the air, is to be attempted Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock (Omaha time), the National Broadcasting company announced tonight.

The origin of the broadcast will be the Pacific Ocean, four miles off the coast of Venice, Cal. The diver is Captain A. D. Henderson while nearly a dozen women fliers in radio-equipped planes plan to join in the conversation.
