Federal Aid Money Let Go to Help Tide Over Effect of Drouth

Washington—Moving swiftly with its drouth relief program, the government Saturday allocated $121,875,000 in federal aid road money to the various states. This was done to permit the states hit by the drouth to know the amount of federal funds which will be paid to them after July 1 for highway or highway drouth funds. This will enable them to advance the money for emergency employment in anticipation of federal aid.

Secretary Hyde, who announced the allocation, said the membership of the national organization to work with the states would be announced soon, and that questionnaires had been sent to 50,000 crop reporters over the country asking for crop and livestock conditions of the stricken communities. Even before the conference at the white house Thursday, governors who came here in response to the call of President Hoover, urged that the federal highway funds be made immediately available to provide emergency employment. President Hoover instructed the agriculture secretary to take any necessary action and that followed Saturday.

Apportionment to States.

Ordinarily, the money would not have been allocated until Jan. 1, 1931. The sum advanced will be matched dollar for dollar by state funds. The apportionment included: Alabama, $2,615,434; Arizona, $1,768,023; Arkansas, $2,174,786; California, $4,181,212; Colorado, $2,315,948; Connecticut, $792,359; Delaware, $609,375; Florida, $1,543,232; Georgia, $3,316,029; Hawaii, $609,375; Idaho, $1,554,594; Illinois, $5,150,396; Indiana, $3,172,253; Iowa, $3,330,593; Kansas, $3,397,874; Kentucky, $2,356,367; Louisiana, $1,745,445; Maine, $1,121,860; Maryland, $1,051,714; Massachusetts, $1,813,916; Michigan, $3,652,393; Minnesota, $3,497,306; Mississippi, $2,209,509; Missouri, $3,957,287; Montana, $2,580,405; Nebraska, $2,644,726; Nevada, $1,598,987; New Hampshire, $609,375; New Jersey, $1,565,749; New Mexico, $1,984,363; New York, $6,002,475; North Carolina, $2,871,722; North Dakota, $2,001,841; Ohio, $4,584,440; Oklahoma, $2,922,569; Oregon, $1,997,565; Pennsylvania, $5,597,738; Rhode Island, $609,375; South Carolina, $1,769,848; South Dakota, $2,054,077; Tennessee, $2,687,123; Texas, $7,620,239; Utah, $1,416,493; Vermont, $609,375; Virginia, $2,379,788; Washington, $1,949,222; West Virginia, $1,324,680; Wisconsin, $3,975,234; Wyoming, $1,568,607.

Local Credit Corporations.

An indication that the government favors the formation of local credit corporations to operate thru intermediate credit banks was seen in a statement by the agriculture secretary that such a plan would not only help the farmers, but might prove profitable. When President Hoover away at his camp, Secretary Hyde was virtually in charge of the drouth relief program.

Rain and rain in prospect in many dry states and reports to the department of agriculture that there was little evidence of forced marketing of livestock were encouraging news Saturday in a situation that has been largely a succession of gloomy reports. Agriculture department economists after a survey of eighteen leading livestock markets said that in many instances stockmen were holding back cattle, sheep and hogs that might otherwise go to market if prices were more favorable.

Receipts of cattle at public markets in July were 13 percent smaller than in July, 1929, and 17 percent below the five year average. Receipts of calves were about the same as in July last year and 2.5 percent smaller than the five year average. Receipts of hogs in July were about 12 percent less than in July a year ago and for the first seven months of the year federal inspected slaughter of hogs was 7.5 percent smaller than in the same period last year. Sheep and lamb marketing thus far this year has been much larger than average because in recent years sheep production has expanded greatly, the department said.

The agriculture department also said that the dry weather had not seriously affected the retail price of fresh produce in New York, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh or Philadelphia.

States To Match Government.

With knowledge at hand of the amount to be received from the federal government next year, states can now advance the amount to be received from the government together with the state money to match the federal apportionment.

A deduction of 2 1/2 percent in the total appropriation of $125,000,000 was made to take care of the administrative expenses, leaving the $121,875,000 which was allocated. Some of the states hard hit by the drouth still have portions of this year's apportionment remaining in the federal fund. This money would be immediately to the states upon approval of highway projects by the department.

For the fourteen states listed in their order by Secretary Hyde as having been damaged most by the drouth, the following balances of federal funds for this year remained as of July 31: West Virginia, $391,874; Montana, $3,004,098; Kentucky, $1,115,709; Arkansas, $1,359,142; Virginia, $573,299; Missouri, $701,743; Oklahoma, $1,150,500; Ohio, $91,459; North Dakota, $1,180,507; Tennessee, $1,206,111; South Dakota, $1,004,479; Wyoming, $1,413,707; Indiana, $2,095,918; and Illinois, $3,569,793. Other drouth states: Kansas, $1,934,282; Nebraska, $2,180,257; Maryland, $5,543.

In addition to communicating with the governors of other western states Secretary Hyde said communications had been addressed to the Bankers' association in the states, to learn whether thru purchase of co-operatively financing the livestock would be taken out to feed.

The object, the secretary explained, is to keep the livestock from flooding the market at this time and permit it to be held until next year.
