Firestone Tires Stand Hard Test

Eleventh Consecutive Victory chalked Up at Indianapolis Speedway for "Firestones"

Akron, Ohio, Aug. 20.—When Billy Arnold, the boy winner of the last automobile racing classic at Indianapolis Motor Speedway, came into the home stretch, he knew that his chances of being first to the checkered flag lay with his tires.

When Harry Hartz, famous driver himself and owner of the car, who had given young Billy the chance to ride, saw his protegee leading the field for mile after mile and head into the last few rounds, he knew that victory or defeat rested with the tires' ability to stand up under the cruelest strain a tire will ever have to undergo.

Five after mile on the hot, rough brick track, Arnold depended upon his Firestone tires and they came through.

It was the 11th consecutive victory for Firestone tires at the famous track, according to Mr. Petring, Firestone dealer in Plattsmouth.

"All of the prominent racing drivers demand Firestone Heavy Duty Gum-Dipped Balloons, because these tires never fail in a race," Mr. Petring said. "These drivers will not take chances with their 'rubber' while going at speeds of 100 miles an hour or more."

"There are a multitude of reasons for this. Every fiber in the tire—millions of them—are coated and cushioned with pure rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process."

"The Firestone Patented Gum-Dipped Double Cord Breaker means two extra strong plies in the tire setting the Firestone Tire apart as an 'all-cord tire.'"

"Another great feature in this tire is its 32% more rubber in the tread. This means deeper grooves and means for the motorist that he has 50% more non-skid wear in his tires before the tread is worn smooth."

"You may never drive a racing car or try for speed records," Mr. Petring said, "but every day your life is dependent upon your tires. The modern automobile has a higher speed than ever before in history and unless this speed can be transmitted through the tires with safety it is useless."

ELECTED SUPERVISOR

Miss Frances Fields, who was for two years music supervisor of the Plattsmouth high school, has just been elected as supervisor of music at Nebraska City, her home city. Miss Fields succeeds Miss Cornelia Rankin, who resigned her position to accept a much more lucrative position in the schools of Louisville, Kentucky.

Miss Fields was very successful in her work here, leaving here to take up special studies and later teaching in the Cornell college in Iowa and Albion college at Albion, Idaho.

The many friends here will be much pleased that she has taken the position at Nebraska City as it will allow her to be at home for the teaching year.

The case has been very severe and it is possible that a third operation may be necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wooster, the parents, have been at the hospital since Saturday evening with the lad and his condition is considered very grave.

You've Heard About It

This new luxurious Pile Cloth Overcoat we are showing for FALL 1930

There's a story to this coat—it's this—two years ago the cloth wizards brought out a new fabric made of an imported fur-like hair. . . . It was soft and dense as a muskrat fur, but very much lighter in weight. . . . It sold for $85.00 and was—and is—very popular among the plutocrats who could afford such a coat.

Last winter our buying organization—the Allied Clothiers—recognizing the growing popularity of this new fabric, set out to buy 1,000 of these coats at a popular price—and the result is this coat we are now showing—Silk Lined—Belted model—at $50.

Plans Statement on Federal Highway Aid

Weaver Will Determine Whether the State Can Use New Allotment—To Omaha Meet.

Governor Weaver and State Engineer Cochran will attend a meeting of the Omaha chamber of commerce highway committee Wednesday evening, the governor said Tuesday. The Omaha committee desires to find a way to utilize at once $2,644,727 federal aid road funds which ordinarily would not be allotted to the state until Jan. 1 but which has now been advanced for the state's use by the secretary of agriculture. President Hoover urged that the money for next year be made immediately available in states where drought had caused distress so that it could be used for emergency employment. In all, the federal government has allotted $121,875,000 of federal aid road funds to states.

Governor Weaver said Tuesday he would prepare a comprehensive statement dealing with state and federal aid road funds.

Whether or not the state can use the new federal funds now offered in advance by the federal government will be explained by the governor. Whether the last legislature covered the newly advanced money by an appropriation act is said to be in dispute. If it was not appropriated for the use of the state it may not be expended, even if the state is able to meet the amount with a similar amount with a similar amount from the 4 cent gasoline tax fund. The last legislature inserted this appropriation clause in the general appropriation bill.

"Cash received from federal government. Balance and estimated receipts to June 30, 1931, $5,000,000."

HEAR OF VACATION

Yesterday the members of the local club of the International Rotary found almost a 100 per cent meeting at the Majestic, as the members with one exception were present or had made up their attendance at other points.

Vacation days have raised havoc with the long standing record of the club for attendance, but the vacation days are now over and the members getting ready for the fall grind.

The meeting was in charge of A. S. Grist and a very entertaining program was presented, James G. Mauzy relating a story of his life to date that was much enjoyed.

Telling of trips to neighboring states from the Mississippi to the Yellowstone, Rev. H. G. McClusky and L. O. Minor helped give some interesting viewpoints on the various places that they had visited.

Dr. J. S. Livingston was called upon and gave a very interesting talk along the lines of the work of the order in service to the communities in which the clubs are located.
