Mrs. P. L. Hall was a visitor in Lincoln on last Tuesday and was accompanied by her mother, Grandmother Weideman.

A large number of the members of the Rebeckah Lodge of Greenwood were over to Ashland at a special meeting of the order there and of which the lodge of Greenwood had been invited as a special guest.

Mrs. W. H. McFadden was a visitor for a short time in Greenwood from her home in Chicago, and reports that she and Doctor are liking it very well there and while missing the friends at Greenwood like living in Chicago.

Last Sunday Frank Wilhelm, Wm. Cope and S. S. Petersen were over to Elkhorn where they spent the day fishing, having a lot of fun, but just how many fish they secured they were a little loath to say. Anyway they didn't have any to dispose of.

Mrs. E. L. McDonald, while she and her husband were enjoying a duck dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pearly Clymer, on last Tuesday evening, was suddenly taken sick, and was quite poorly during the entire night and day following.

Paul Strate shelled and delivered corn to the Greenwood Elevators on last Wednesday, having two thousand bushels of the same. Elza Winget and J. Johansen of Murdock hauled it all with the two trucks, making two hundred bushels the load.

Jacob Reichart of Louisville where he conducts a market and also a grocery, was a visitor for a short time in Greenwood on last Wednesday, accompanying John Hatt, a salesman for a Council Bluffs firm who was making Greenwood and desired a companion on his drive.

Louis Wright and wife gave a very pleasant reception at the Coleman woods four miles north of Greenwood, on last Sunday, where they celebrated the passing of the birthday of their son, Aaron Edward Wright, a large number of the relatives being in attendance and a good time was enjoyed by all.

Rex Peters was a visitor in Plattsmouth on last Wednesday afternoon, he driving over to the county seat and was meeting his many friends there and taking a view of the field, as to his chances of election as county commissioner for the third district. Uncle Sam Aarons who carried the mail in Greenwood for a great many years, and who was away for a time, only to return and make his home here again, says that he is kept very busy with the work which is offered him. He was elected the janitor of the Methodist church as well as many odd jobs which come his way.

Here for a Visit.

Earl Howard and wife who have been making their home in California for a number of years past arrived in Greenwood last week and will visit here for some two or three weeks with friends. They are enjoying the visit here for they have friends in abundance here and it takes some time to pay even a little visit to them all.

Sells Store Stock.

Frank Wilhelm who has been in business here for some time past and has enjoyed a good business, having an offer to go on the road selling goods, accepted, and has disposed of the stock of goods here to Mr. J. E. Conington of Wisner, and which was packed and taken by truck to Wisner last Wednesday. While Greenwood needed such an institution it seems that she is to have to get along without it.

Celebrated His Birthday.

John J. Mefford who has been a resident of Greenwood for many years and who is the carrier of the mails from the postoffice in Greenwood to the railroad station, celebrated the passing of his birthday last Saturday, and was assisted in the celebration by his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Kelley and husband of Walnut, Illinois, who arrived here early last week and visited for the week with the father. Not alone the friends but a larger acquaintance of this excellent man extend best wishes for many more years of happy, useful life.

Greenwood Transfer Line

We do a general business—make trips regularly to Omaha on Monday and Thursday, also to Lincoln Tuesday and Friday. Pick up loads on those trips. Full loads at any time. FRED HOFFMAN.

Greenwood's New Marshal.

George Trunkenholz, has been desirous of being relieved of the position of city marshal for some time past, and was serving until a suitable person could be obtained. The appointment of Clarence Maston to patrol the road near the school for people who did not respect the law, developed the fact that he would make a good man for the position, and so the resignation of Mr. Trunkenholz was accepted and Mr. Maston appointed the city marshal. Clarence, we are certain will make a good man for the position. He is law abiding, young and alert and will see that the offenders are all apprehended.

Building a New Home.

Carl Stander is having a new home built on his farm northeast of Greenwood. The old house was not to his liking and therefore he had the old house torn down and a new one is to be erected on the site of the old one. The material for the new home has been purchased from the Searle Chapin Lumber company of Greenwood, while the work is being done by a contracting firm of Ashland.

When the house has been completed it will be very convenient and handy and Carl will be well satisfied to keep house and also to look after the farm. We understand there will be more room in the new house than a single man might need.

Busy in the West.

Earl Stradley with his two machines is very busy in the west threshing, they being in the neighborhood of Hemmingsford at this time. Lud Gustafson has been with him and looking after one of the machines, but the extreme illness of A. M.—Newman called Lud home, he being a son-in-law, was called home to Greenwood.

Paving Going Forward.

The paving on the strip from the Burlington overhead bridges near Ashland to Greenwood is progressing very satisfactorily, and every minute is being utilized and the work rushed forward as it is desired to complete the work as soon as possible on account of the probability of a break in the weather. With good weather it is expected that the work of the paving itself will be completed by the end of this week.

Making Repairs on Home

Some time since the house of Delbert Lesley was struck by lightning, doing considerable damage and especially on the roof and cornice. During the last week he has been having the roof and other portions of the house repaired and put in first class condition. DEATH CALL FOR STEDMAN

Washington—Representative Chas. Manley Stedman of North Carolina, the only civil war veteran in congress, died Tuesday in his nineteenth year. The confederate veteran, who attained the rank of major for his campaigning under Lee and Jackson, had been in Mount Alton hospital since Sept. 9, when he suffered an apoplectic stroke. With him at the end was his daughter, Mrs. Catherine Palmer of Greensboro, N. C., who long had looked after his personal affairs. Mrs. Stedman died ten years ago.

Elected when nearly seventy years of age to the Sixty-second congress as a democrat from the Fifth North Carolina district, his period of continuous service extended for a number of years after the death of Representative Isaac R. Sherwood of Ohio, the last of the army in blue to hold a seat in the house. Stedman and Sherwood, both democrats, became warm personal friends during their service in the house. Many times they joked and swapped stories of the days when they were on opposite sides of the firing line, one a major in the Confederate army and the other a brigadier general under Grant.

ODELL BANKER ON TRIAL

Beatrice—President Charles N. Hinds of the defunct Hinds State bank at Odell went to trial in district court here Tuesday on the charge of breaking the banking laws. A panel of twenty-four veniremen was exhausted by noon and as many talesmen were called for the afternoon. State attorneys expected to start submitting evidence Wednesday.

Hinds faced six charges: Making false entries in bank books, making a false report to the state banking department, operating a bank when his bills payable were in excess of capital stock and surplus, and on three occasions borrowing money in the name of the bank and converting it to his own use. The state has charged that in 1928 Hinds obtained three $5,000 loans from the Beatrice National bank and credited them later to his own account.

The Hinds bank was closed this year and is still in the process of liquidation.

LEAP FROM WINDOW KILLS

Minneapolis—Miss Catherine Snodgrass, thirty-five, former research worker and later a patient at the University hospital here, killed herself Thursday by jumping from a window of the hospital. She suffered a breakdown some time ago and was under observation at the hospital. Miss Snodgrass was an associate in economic research at Leland Stanford university. She had no engagement for the school year just started. The coroner said she had committed suicide and that no inquest was necessary.

PROHIBITION TO BE ISSUE

Dodge City, Kas.—Senator Capper Friday told an assembly of Seventh district republican leaders here that prohibition will be the political issue in 1932. A state fair winner from a Louisville, Kas. senator said the republican party is the "hope of prohibition, and may be depended upon to take its place on the battle line two years hence." Senator Capper affirmed his belief there is little likelihood of republicans in Kansas or the middle west "being discouraged by wet tendencies and manifestations in the east."

Lincoln Chief Quits in Police Shakeup Friday

Mayor Takes Control of Force Following Bank Robbery—Arms Insufficient

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 28.—Walter Anderson, became acting chief of the Lincoln police department this afternoon when the city council accepted the resignation of Chief Peter Johnstone, which had been asked by Mayor Love, following severe public criticism of the manner in which the department functioned during robbery of the Lincoln National a week ago.

Anderson, who has been captain of detectives is a veteran in the department. Johnstone who had served since 1919, when he was appointed by Mayor J. E. Miller, will have leave of absence until November 1, when the resignation becomes effective.

The change in police heads followed transfer of supervision of the department from the hands of Commissioner William E. Foster to those of Mayor Don Love, voted by the council Thursday. The request for the resignation followed early today. Mayor Wins, 4 to 1.

The transfer of the department from the commissioner of public safety to the mayor was rushed through by special ordinance without previous announcement that the meeting of the council was to be called. It had the support of four of the five members of the commission. Only Commissioner Foster protested. Mayor Love has been the most outspoken member of the council in criticizing the department.

However, when questioned regarding the sudden action, he said, "The change has been under consideration for some time. The police department naturally and logically belongs to the mayor."

Commissioner Foster asserted that the first he heard of the plan was at the Thursday meeting. Foster Defends Police.

"I am not ashamed of a single thing connected with my supervision of the police department, or any of its men, or any of its acts. I am proud of Chief Johnstone and don't think a squarer man can be found," he said.

Criticism of the department first centered around the action of Officers Meyer and Schappagh, who returned six blocks to the police station to report the bank robbery, after they had been ordered by the bandits' guard to continue on their way. It then developed that the department was inadequately equipped with weapons and ammunition to handle such a situation, and furthermore that several thousand dollars of the police department's annual appropriation have been regularly turned back to the city several during the last several years. World—Herald.

New History of Nebraska is Announced

"Nebraskana" to Contain Life Sketches of Prominent Residents of State—Many from Here.

Announcement was made yesterday that preparations for a new state history are complete. The book will be called "Nebraskana" and will contain the biographies of all the leading citizens of the state.

It is expected that Cass county will be represented by approximately ninety individuals. An eligibility committee will select the names of the individuals to appear. This committee meets at Hebron and at the present time is engaged in selecting the names of citizens from Cass, Richardson, Otoe, Nemaha, Johnson, Pawnee and Sarpy counties. Announcement will be made by the judges about October 5, concerning persons selected from Cass county.

Claude A. Miller, who has charge of the work in southeastern Nebraska, stated that there is no cost connected with appearance in the volume. Each name is selected upon merit, and no person's biography is printed upon his own application. Each person selected automatically becomes a member of The Nebraskana Society. It is expected that more than one-third of the eligible Cass county names will be citizens of Plattsmouth.

The judges are selecting the citizens of the state, basing their decision on moral character, professional or business prominence, civic and cultural activity and public spiritedness. The work will be bound in leather, and printed on beautiful paper, and will be illustrated with individual photographs. Copies of the edition will be presented through The Nebraskana Society to public libraries, Chambers of Commerce, newspapers and historical societies of the United States.

DEATH OF INDIAN FIGHTER

Kansas City, Kas.—Death Thursday overtook "Arapahoe Harve" Indian scout of the early '70's whose life was declared forfeit sixty years ago and then saved by a friendly redskin while his funeral pyre was being built. Harvey S. Faucett, associate of Buffalo Bill and Kit Carson, died in a hospital here at the age of eighty-six as a result of a broken hip received when he was knocked to the pavement by two men in a friendly scuffle. The aged scout, who bore wounds inflicted by his manner of Indian weapons, had been employed at a market as a night watchman the last ten years.

"Arapahoe Harve", the Eagle of the Trail", serving as a scout for Gen. George H. Custer, is said to have been the only white man who had a forewarning of the massacre of the general and his 276 men on the Little Big Horn river in June, 1876. An Indian scout befriended by Faucett told him of the assembling of Indians under Chiefs Crazy Horse, Sitting Bull, Two Moons and others. The scout, 200 miles from the scene of the massacre, rode frantically northward in an effort to warn Custer, but his pony dropped after galloping over the broken prairie of Wyoming twenty hours.

MAY ODORIZE NATURAL GAS

Lincoln, Sept. 25.—Members of the city council decided Thursday next to order the Iowa-Nebraska Co. to odorize the natural gas soon to be turned into mains throughout the city.

For several weeks to come, it was pointed out, the natural gas will carry the odor of the artificial fuel that preceded it in the mains. After the council learns for certain whether the new gas has an odor or not, it may act.

Price of Wheat Expected to Go to Lower Level

Farm Board Members, James C. Stone, Says Is Likely Trend for a Few Years.

Chicago—Wheat prices fell from momentary gains Thursday as James C. Stone, of the federal farm board, subscribed publicly to the theory that the price trend for the next few years would be downward. The report quoting the farm board member precipitated a flurry of last minute selling, brought stop loss orders into execution, and wiped out earlier advances of around 2-1-4 cents. The close found quotations at 1-2c lower to 5-8c higher than Wednesday's finish. Corn and oats scored fractional advances.

Stone's statement furnished a denouement for a day of assurances that things were not as bad as they seemed.

Causes for Advance. Among earlier reports contributing to gradual gains were: London traders' discounting the scare of Russia's exporting of wheat to Europe by pointing out that Argentina at this time last year exported 165,000,000 bushels of wheat without creating excitement. Russia's exports are estimated at 58,000,000 bushels.

Wheat in Paris selling at the equivalent of $2.10 a bushel.

Winnipeg receipts of wheat fell off sharply and Liverpool quotations were higher.

The business conduct committee of the board of trade was recessed in the investigation of Secretary of Agriculture Hyde's charges that Russia sought to depress wheat prices thru short selling on the Chicago exchange. It will meet Friday.

Minneapolis, Slim Strawn, attorney for the board of trade, and two members of the organization conferred with Hyde, Secretary of Commerce Lamont and Chairman Ledge of the farm board in Washington. Dispatches indicated the government and the board of trade would find amicable settlement of any difference in opinion as to the limit of hedging operations on the exchange.

Differs With Stone. His attention called to the Stone statement, George S. Milnor, general manager of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, expressed a conflicting view. "Any commodities are selling in the United States on a basis of world price, plus the tariff," he said. "It is not improbable that grain will be on that basis long before another crop is harvested. When the tariff on wheat, corn, barley, oats and other grains is taken into consideration," he continued, "it must be apparent that United States producers are only subjected to world level grain prices so long as they have a surplus which must be exported.

"Owing to unusual, if not unprecedented, damage to feed crops from the severe drought of last summer, it will be necessary to feed millions of bushels of wheat to make up the shortage of coarse grain and forage crops. Reports from agents whom we have had investigating conditions show clearly that enormous quantities of wheat are now being fed to livestock. What the total feed consumption will be cannot be accurately estimated. Exports of wheat and flour since July 1 exceed those for the corresponding period last year and the demand continues good.

"Taking into consideration present stocks of all grain, plus the prospective corn crop and comparing it with the normal consumption of the United States for all grains, lower not difficult to see a much closer relation between supply and demand than we have had for a number of years.—State Journal.

RUN OF SHEEP IS HEAVY

Chicago—A huge run of 30,000 sheep swamped the market Thursday, already overloaded with lambs unsold Wednesday. The run was the largest single day's run in the middle of the week this season. Packers took 10,000 on direct consignment, or almost all they needed, and the remaining traders had ample stock to select their needs from. The dressed lamb trade in eastern markets is still bad and consequently all grades of sheep weakened and sagged. There was a little better tone in the high market despite the fact that prices were unchanged. Packers had a sizeable run direct, but needed more and did considerable buying in the open trading. They took the place of the inactive shippers.

In spite of a liberal run of cattle, better grade steers and yearlings were in active demand. This demand carried all grades along to better prices. Koshers cases set the pace for vealers and shipping interests took some at highest prices.

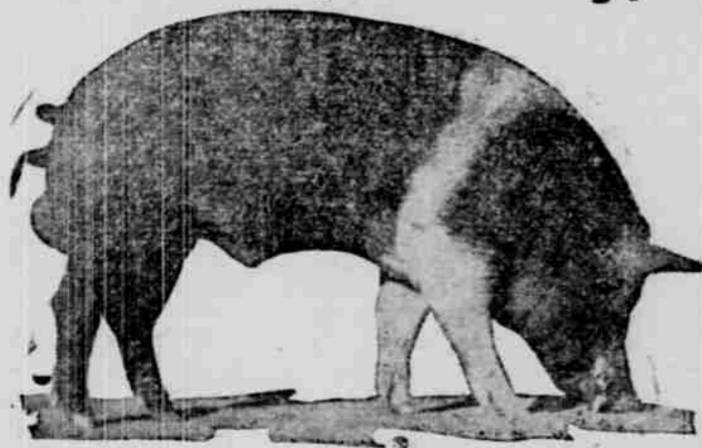

HOOVER TO MAKE SPEECHES

Washington—President Hoover has virtually completed the itinerary for the trips which during the next two weeks will take him into two of the states in which republicans and democrats will match oratory and wits in a hotly contested struggle for congressional seats in the campaign now under way. In addition to the three speeches he will make in Massachusetts and Ohio, two traditional battlegrounds of the parties, the president decided Thursday to make a stop on his way to Kings Mountain, S. C., in one of the North Carolina districts which exchanged a democrat for a landside which gave him that state's electoral vote in 1928.
