Wm. Ritchie, Jr. in Praise of Hitchcock

Can Not See Where Democratic Party Owe Any Gratitude to Senator Norris

McCook—William Ritchie, Jr., leader in Nebraska democratic circles, in McCook Wednesday, made public the following message: "Honorable Millard E. Tydings, Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, Washington, D. C. "I noticed your statement saying you are grateful to Senator George W. Norris. I see no occasion for such a statement because democrats of Nebraska owe a debt of gratitude to Gilbert M. Hitchcock for all he and his paper have done for the democratic party of the state and nation, which I cannot see where we owe anything to Norris for supporting our principle at such a late date in the last presidential campaign that it had no effect on results. And then he immediately deserted our party and what it stands for as a candidate of the republican ticket and helped elect republican congressional, state and county officers, standpat and progressive alike.

"Nebraska citizens owe a great deal more to Hitchcock than to Norris. Hitchcock has framed and produced the passage of a great amount of legislation directly beneficial to agricultural interests of the state. He helped to frame the federal farm loan bank bill and procured location of one of the greatest banks in Nebraska. He wrote an amendment to the federal reserve act which made it possible for the federal reserve banks to rediscount the six months paper of farmers and stock raisers. "Your committee should put forth strenuous efforts to elect Hitchcock if you wish to hold Nebraska in line of a democratic possibility in the future."

Ritchie spent the day here conferring with democratic leaders. Senator Norris left here for Pawnee City, where he will speak Thursday. —State Journal.

CONSIDER PASTORS' CASES

Wilmette, Ill.—The Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday laid aside the reinstatement plea of John A. Logan Warren, unfrocked former pastor at Durand, Ill., and faced the problem of action in the case of Rev. James A. Wilson of Mendota, Ill. Although no definite action has been outlined in the case of Wilson who was convicted April 27 on a charge of assault with intent to kill, members of the conference expected it would come before the body during the week. His name was called on the roll Wednesday without objection.

Wilson's trial followed the shooting of Amos Elliott, his church sexton and Mrs. Elliott in a struggle over a letter Wilson had written to Mrs. Emma Wagner, one of his parishioners. One of the first questions before the annual conference was the petition in behalf of Warren, who was removed from the ministry in 1927 on charges of conduct unbecoming to a minister. In executive session after spirited debate, it was decided that until all civil suits against Warren are settled, the conference will refrain from reopening the case.

Jerks Loose from State Officer on Arrival at Lincoln—Is Quickly Subdued

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 2.—John P. Giles, one of two men returned here from Reno, Nev., as suspects in the robbery of the First National bank of Genoa, made an unsuccessful break for freedom tonight. He was handcuffed and in the custody of Valcott Condit, investigator for the Nebraska Bankers' association, when he attempted to escape. Condit had gone to a nearby filling station where officers had parked their auto while waiting, when Giles pushed Condit into the station and jerked free. After Condit cuffed Giles twice, the prisoner said, "I'm through."

Money Allotted for Agriculture in Drouth Area

Sum of $550,000 to Aid in Buying Seed and Fertilizer Ocered by Dept. of Agriculture.

Washington—Farmers hard hit by the drouth in four states Wednesday were allotted $550,000 by the department of agriculture to purchase seed and fertilizer for fall and winter pastures. The money, a part of the unexpended balance of the $6,900,000 storm and flood relief appropriation for fifteen states made at the last session, is to go to Alabama, Oklahoma, Virginia and Missouri, which were included among the fifteen covered by the original appropriation.

Oct. 15 was set as the final day for accepting applications, by which time it is expected 2,000 applications, which have been made since Secretary Hyde announced his intention of using the funds for the purpose, will have been doubled.

Committee Approval Needed.

The loans will be made on the farmers' promissory note and a mortgage on the crops to be planted. Approval must be given by the county committee set up for the administration of the flood and storm relief act. Limitations of the act will permit the use of the money for 1930 crops only. It was explained that grains might be planted for temporary pasture where farmers are without feed for their livestock.

LAND PRICE HAS HIT BOTTOM

Lincoln, Oct. 3.—A belief that Nebraska land values have "hit bottom" was expressed before the Nebraska Association of Real Estate Boards here Friday by William L. Bates, Kimball.

"It is my opinion," he declared, "that the value of land must depend on the value of the produce taken from that land. For this reason, I believe that any realtor who makes farm land sales on the assumption that land is going to increase materially in value in a short time is wrong. The farmer who expects his land to double in worth in a short time is expecting the almost impossible."

In eastern Nebraska, he pointed out, values have decreased $25 to $50 per acre in 18 months.

Union Leaders Favor Seven of Each Party

Norris and Weaver Given Endorsement of Representatives—Alter Bryan Stand

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 2.—Executive representative of five railway brotherhoods and the state federation of labor today endorsed 14 partisan political candidates, seven democrats and seven republicans, at their annual meeting to consider political and legislative matters.

Passing a resolution condemning the Grover Norris filing, the six men endorsed Senator Norris and Governor Weaver, both republicans, for re-election. The latter endorsement was contested, but was announced as unanimous.

In the congressional districts, the following were endorsed: Democrats, Congressman John H. Morehead, First district; Congressman Edgar Howard, Third; John Norton, Fourth, and A. C. Shallenberger, Fifth, republicans. Malcolm Baldrige, second, and Congressman Robert G. Simmons, Sixth.

Others endorsed were Theodore W. Metcalf, republican, for lieutenant-governor; L. A. Larsen, democrat, for secretary of state; Dan Swanson, republican, land commissioner; Charles Sarbe, democrat, state treasurer; C. A. Sorenson, republican, attorney-general, and E. M. Walrath, democrat, railway commissioner.

In the nonpolitical field they favored Judge W. B. Rose of the First district and Judge George A. Eberly of the Third district for re-election and Bayard B. Paine in the Fifth district for the supreme court, and Earl Cline for state university regent from the First district.

They were neutral as to state auditor, regent from the Second district and state superintendent of education.

Urged Utilities Measures. Three proposed amendments to the state constitution regarding extension of municipal utilities were approved.

The resolution regarding the Grover Norris filing read in part: "The whole purpose was to confuse the voter and to make it impossible for any voter to cast an intelligent vote for Senator Norris in the primaries. The plan was, when Senator Norris was forced to the ballot in favor of Sam R. McKelvie as the republican candidate.

Play Grocer Filing. "We call on the republican party to repudiate this action in the strongest possible terms and to refuse to support those candidates on its tickets who in any manner were connected with this matter."

Bryan's union followers said it would be inconsistent to ignore him now when they endorsed him two years ago to the exclusion of Governor Weaver.

J. F. Morelock, Omaha, was named conference chairman; S. G. Tillett, Alliance, vice-chairman, and L. E. Wadlick, Norfolk, secretary.

The resolution committee was headed by George B. Wylie, Fairbury, chairman, Fred Eissler, Lincoln, and H. A. Lawhead, North Platte.

FIRE DRAWN BY M'KELVIE

Omaha—Charging that Samuel R. McKelvie, Nebraska member of the federal farm board, had "insinuated and implied that the government is warranted in using taxpayer's money to drive out the graindealers and to install others to do their work," in an address at Chicago, the public relations committee of the Omaha grain exchange late Thursday issued a statement in reply.

In this address, before the Illinois Manufacturers' association at Chicago Sept. 30, according to reports here, McKelvie stated that "efficient and economical distribution, which must follow closely upon the heels of low cost production, perhaps has been the most wanting in agricultural progress," and continued by stating "the federal farm board has assisted co-operatives in establishment of central sales agencies through which they could exercise the maximum control in getting farm products by the shortest and most efficient route to the processor and in some cases the wholesaler, retailer and ultimate consumer."

In answer the Exchange committee declared that "instead of displacing the present system, the farm board has spent millions in buying out old established firms, leaving former employes in charge, and with the secretary of agriculture is now adopting the identical system condemned, because they have found it efficient and economical."

Farm Machine Men May Take Wheat in Pay

Big Company Considers Options on Crop in Exchange for Implements

Washington—Word has reached the officials of the Federal Farm Board that the biggest sellers of agricultural machinery are considering a bold step to facilitate sales in the midst of the farm depression and to meet the decline in the price of wheat.

This is a proposal to finance sales of farm machinery by taking options on the wheat of the farmer on his farm. Actual instances of the procedure are reported from Kansas City to the Farm Board by two local companies there and it is learned that the largest companies in the country are considering it as a possible step toward alleviating the depression produced by the abnormal decline in wheat prices.

It is recalled that the International Harvester Company some years ago under the presidency of Alexander Legge, now chairman of the Farm Board, accepted corn from the farmers in payment for machinery. In 1915-26 the price of corn was fairly high although there were few buyers. The Harvester Company stepped in and accepted about 6,000,000 bushels of corn at $1 a bushel. The company later sold the corn and stimulated the market by its action while assisting responsible farmers in a time of stress, and speeding up its own sales.

It is located in highest quarters in the Farm Board that leaders of some of the big companies are now considering whether the example set in the case of corn cannot be profitably followed in 1930 with wheat. It was also learned authoritatively that contrary to published reports, American farm machinery companies have not accepted any Russian wheat in exchange for tractors and other implements delivered to that country.
