Pay Kidnapers $50,000 for the Life of Husband

Mrs. Earl Yocum of Galva, Illinois, Yields to Demand to Save Husband From Death

Galva, Ill., Oct. 28.—Pleading with authorities not to interfere and thus endanger the life of her husband, Mrs. Yocum said as she implored Henry county authorities and investigators for the Illinois Bankers association to halt their search for the kidnaping gang, generally believed to be from Chicago.

"What is $50,000 compared to my husband's life?" Mrs. Yocum said as she implored Henry county authorities and investigators for the Illinois Bankers association to halt their search for the kidnaping gang, generally believed to be from Chicago.

"Yocum is worth more than $2,000,000 and he will not miss the $50,000," said a friend of the family. Yocum has vast land holdings in Iowa, Illinois and Indiana.

Making all the arrangements herself, Mrs. Yocum indicated negotiations with her husband's abductors were virtually completed.

Two communications written by Yocum's handwriting have been received by his wife. Although she refused to give out their contents even to authorities it was understood they bore directions as to how the cash ransom was to be paid to the kidnapers.

A rush trip to Chicago made by A. E. Anderson, cashier of the Yocum state bank, headed by the missing man, was interpreted as a move to obtain the necessary $50,000 in cash.

Anderson was in Chicago for only two hours. Returning here he went directly to the Yocum home.

Officers of the Illinois Bankers association declared they would act to bring about the gang's capture as soon as the banker is released.

The same gang, authorities believe, is responsible for the kidnaping of Jimmy Sheridan, Des Moines cigar store owner, at Galesburg, Ill., and two Peoria gamblers.—Bee-News.

CHEYENNE VO. CORN YIELD IS LARGEST

Sidney, Oct. 28.—With Cheyenne county's corn harvest still under way, farmers estimate that the average yield per acre will equal 35 bushels. This is almost 10 bushels higher than the state average set by Nebraska bankers in their mid-month report.

With an acreage of 64,000, none of which was touched by hail or frost, the country will produce more than 2,000,000 bushels of corn this year, the largest yield in history.

Halloween masks, whistles, noise producing novelties for the observance of this occasion are to be found in large and attractive lines at the Bates Book & Gift Shop.

To the Voters of Cass County, Nebraska

Having received the nomination as County Commissioner in the Second Commissioner District, for which I respectfully thank you for the confidence placed in me and I promise if elected to serve you to the best of my ability and agree to give to each locality their just share of the money expended. I will not rob any precinct for the benefit of another.

I wish to call your attention to the fact that over five hundred bridges and many, many culverts have been built since I have been on the board. And the County builds no wooden bridges any more—all steel or concrete or better floors.

The County now has more than seventy miles of county graveled roads built and provided for and several miles more under construction on the fifty-fifty basis. The County pays one-half and the precinct or community pays one-half of the cost. Every town and village in the county can get out on a graveled road now, except two, and they will be provided for soon. The State also has 70 miles of graveled roads in the county and about twelve miles of paving, making over 150 miles of surfaced roads in our county at this time. There are nine county patrols in the county at present. This has been made possible by the aid of the precincts or donations to meet the county's one-half and by the gasoline tax and precinct road funds, without raising the county levy a single penny. Our county funds are in a healthy condition. And we are trying to practice this kind of economy all along the line. Invariably we ask for and demand $100.00 worth of service for each $100.00 of tax money spent.

The County is building a steel bridge for about the price it was costing to erect a wooden bridge when I went on the board. I give the major part of the credit for this achievement to Fred Gorder, but it took on the part of all the county board members some back-bone to back it up and put it across. And that one thing has stopped the largest leak in the funds of Cass county.

Under the system now in force, if a man plays on the job, he plays on his own time.

I am still in favor of three main roads east and west across Cass county—the O street road, the Murray-Murdock road and the Plattsmouth-Louisville-Greenwood road. Then cut the county five times north and south—Union to Plattsmouth; Nehawka to Cedar Creek; Weeping Water to Louisville; from O street to Elmwood, Murdock and north, and O street to Alvo and on north to connect with the paved D. L. D. Then get roads from farm to market across precincts in between as fast as possible to build and pay for same without any bond issue.

With about eleven hundred miles of road in the County, they have practically all been bladed. I believe in "pay-as-you-go" system and no bond issue to build roads. I believe in Churches, Schools and an Educational County Fair.

I promise you a business-like administration and the best service in me. Also to give you an economical administration as far as my ability goes with fairness to all parts of the county.

If this kind of service suits you, your support is solicited. I have attended every board meeting held since I was elected as your servant on the county board.

I will keep the county out of debt, if you elect me as your county servant! Will you give me your support? I can not see all of your personally, so take this means of giving you my message. Very respectfully yours—

C. F. HARRIS

Republican Candidate for County Commissioner, 2nd Commissioner District, Cass County, Nebraska
