

GREENWOOD

Elza Wiget was over to Waterloo on last Wednesday where he went to deliver a truck load of corn.

Mrs. E. A. Landon and Miss Catherine Coleman were visiting and doing some shopping in Lincoln on Tuesday of last week.

G. M. Palling and father, Walter Palling shelled and delivered corn last week, which they did not have crib room for and which they desired to get out of the way, as they thought it even better to sell than to hold even if prices were low.

Mrs. O. F. Peters entertained at her home in Greenwood the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church where the business which called the ladies together was looked after and a very pleasant afternoon had as well as the ladies were entertained with a very fine luncheon.

J. C. Hoenshell and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Elza Wiget were over to Murdock on last Tuesday where they went to visit with their friend, John Ostblom, he having been confined to his bed for the past two weeks. They found their friend quite a bit improved and having the hope of being able to get back to the market in the near future.

Leo Peters who is farming on the place of his father, O. F. Peters, and the father shelled some 2500 bushels of corn which on account of the yield being more than they were looking for and for which they had no room for they piled it on the ground, was shelled and delivered to the Peters elevator last Saturday, thus clearing the overflow.

Greenwood Transfer Line We do a general business—make trips regularly to Omaha on Monday and Thursday, also to Lincoln Tuesday and Friday. Pick up loads on those trips. Full loads at any time. FRED HOFFMAN.

Why He Went to Hell. A deceased country editor knocked at the gates of hell and asked admittance. When asked why, he said he wanted to collect from some of his delinquent subscribers. He said that was where they told him to go when he asked to pay.—Atkinson County Graphic.

Burlington Officials Visit Town. A car containing the Burlington officials stopped at Greenwood on last Wednesday morning and looked over the company's property, finding things in the very best condition. In conversation with Rex Peters of the Peters Grain company they volunteered to furnish a car of cinders for the use of spreading over the newly graded grounds about the Peters elevator, incident to the building of the new road, and which will put the grounds there in excellent condition.

Hailed West of Greenwood The first shower which came on last Wednesday morning and in which was promised by the weather bureau to contain snow, was but slightly composed of the white flakes which disappeared as soon as their blighted. But something of more force was the storm of hail which came northwest of town where the hail stones were as large as walnuts. The Greenwood mail carrier which makes that territory was in the midst of the shower.

Will Beat Them to It. The Bankers Association of Cass county have arranged to beat the bank robbers to the matter of the cash. They have all agreed to carry but a small amount of cash in their banks, only enough to do the current business of the day with, and which will be done in the shape of checks and drafts when possible, thus leaving not enough in the banks for the trouble and risk of the bank robbers. In addition to this every precaution is being taken to prevent any handling of any of the banks, and in connection also the business houses as well as the stock and goods of the farmers. Notices are posted telling of the limited amount of cash in the eighteen banks of this county and all should know that the amount which they carry is so limited that there would be nothing in the bank robbing business in the future.

Have Organized Vigilantes The people of Greenwood and vicinity have organized a vigilance committee which is composed of the town and the surrounding county whose efforts will be directed to prevent the robbing of the banks, and business houses and the farmers. This should go a long way to prevent the deprivations which have been such a menace to all business.

Had Wonderful Trip. On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McDonald who were in the west for the past ten days arrived home, having driven during their absence some 1200 miles, they visiting at Akron, Colorado and at many places in Nebraska and at every place after getting some distance from here they found excellent crops and enjoyed the hunting of ducks and visiting with friends and relatives. At Akron they visited with the father of Mr. McDonald and found that gentleman enjoying good health and with crops on his ranch making good yields. They were loath to return, they were having such a good time, but concluded that they must get back and at the work which was awaiting them.

Do it NOW, at the beginning of this 1931 Roll Call!

Senator Nye Denies Intent to 'Aid' Norris

Says Committee in Nebraska Only to Ascertain Facts—Klan Is Mentioned.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 19.—Senator Nye denied here today that his committee's senatorial campaign investigations had been made for the purpose of aiding the campaign of Senator Norris for re-election.

E. B. Stephenson of Lincoln, of the Hitchcock Republican club, was on the stand when Nye referred to a World-Herald editorial, "The Nye Scandal," copies of which the club mailed out, and asked if it was the general impression that the committee was here in Norris' interests.

Stephenson replied there might be some who believed that, since such an investigation would react for or against certain candidates.

"I don't wonder that there has been such an impression," said Senator Nye, "but I, as chairman of this committee, can say that I have not been here as a friend of Senator Norris but only as a senator instructed to ascertain certain facts."

Nye said that he knew the editors of "Labor" and that such a charge was "a mighty small piece of business."

There was inserted in the record a copy of a bulletin circulated in Colorado over the name of the head of the Ku Klux Klan, charging that "Labor," a Washington publication which supported Senator Norris, was supporting only those candidates who had supported Al Smith in 1928.

Nye said that he knew the editors of "Labor" and that such a charge was "a mighty small piece of business."

Richard Wood Balks. Richard F. Wood, former Omaha attorney, now of Lincoln, refused to take the oath when he was called to testify, because, he said, he didn't want his testimony to go on record, under the method of questioning followed by the committee. He was excused to think over his decision before the afternoon session.

The committee expects to adjourn its Lincoln hearing today, and go to Chicago, to question Charles Knapp, formerly of Kearney, and Frank Stearn, formerly of Omaha, as to their activities in returning to Nebraska early in the primary campaign.

It is not likely that further hearings will be held in Nebraska. Some witnesses, however, may be summoned to Washington.

SEE A PLOT TO OVERTHROW

Madrid.—The government Tuesday night discovered a plot which it says was designed by communist agitators to overthrow the monarchy, and arrested sixty alleged leaders. Officials charged that the arrested movement had as its object the establishment of a republic, with communists working with certain republican elements. It was believed that the plot was wholly broken up by speedy arrest of the leaders.

Following discovery of the plot heavily armed forces of police and civil guards were placed on the principal streets, around public buildings and in all strategic centers. At the same time the government telegraphed all provincial governors and ordered them to round up strike agitators, promising that those arrested would be severely punished.

CANADIAN SURPLUS LESS

Ottawa.—Canada had a surplus of 312,000,000 bushels of wheat Oct. 31, an estimate issued Wednesday by the dominion bureau of statistics said. If the present sales policy is continued, the carryover at the end of the present season will be less than last July, the estimate declared.

Tornado Strikes Oklahoma Town; 20 Die, 100 Hurt

Twister Sweeps Edge of Church Colony After Hitting School; Also Strikes in Kansas.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 19.—A tornado cut a swath of death and destruction today through the Little Church colony of Bethany, seven miles west of here. Eighteen persons were killed, one hundred were injured and approximately one hundred buildings were destroyed.

Striking during a heavy rainstorm, the tornado leveled a two hundred yard path through the eastern edge of town, burying many persons in the splintered wreckage of their homes.

All ambulances in Oklahoma City were rushed to the scene, and the dead and injured were brought to city morgues and hospitals. Red Cross and Salvation Army workers gave first aid.

Five companies of Oklahoma national guardsmen went into the area after the storm had cleared to protect the scattered valuables from vandals.

Strikes School First. Dropping first a few miles south of Bethany, the twisting funnel of death wrecked the Camel Creek schoolhouse, killing two pupils and injuring the teacher and 10 other children.

Floyd Roettger, 12, one of the pupils, described how Miss Mary Procter, the teacher, attempted to save the children and how he himself called an ambulance and removed two dead from the ruins.

"The kids screamed, Miss Procter told us to quiet and all to fall to the floor. Everyone did, but before we were all down, it seemed the school was sliding. Then all of a sudden it crashed."

Whips On North. The tornado whipped on north, through the eastern side of Bethany, state headquarters of the Nazarene church and home of Bethany Peniel college, a denominational school.

Like a gigantic scythe, the storm cut a sharply defined swath through a residential section, reducing frame houses to splinters and toppling brick buildings like toy block houses. Most of those killed were here.

There were many stories of heroism. The first organized relief unit to attack the wreckage was the football team of the nearby Putnam Consolidated school. Two members of the group alone carried eight dead from the wrecked homes.

Yates Hoover, an ambulance driver, found the body of his father where their home once stood. Unable to find his mother, he removed his father to the morgue and then rushed back in search of her.

When Mrs. W. L. Burton saw the storm approaching she caught her baby in her arms and sheltered it as the house collapsed. Her husband found her, shivering in the rain, the child still clutched in protection. The baby escaped with minor scratches, but Mrs. Burton was badly lacerated.

The weather bureau said it was not unusual for a tornado to occur in this section at this season of the year. The weather has been warm, the low pressure area being hemmed in with high pressure.

Kansas School Struck

Hays, Kans., Nov. 19.—Ten children and a teacher were injured when a tornado struck a school four miles northeast of Victoria today. The school building was demolished. None of the injured was believed in a critical condition.

Apparently the tornado did no other damage in the vicinity. The teacher is Herbert A. Pfeifer, 24. The injured children: Germania Sander, 13; Adam Sander, 16; Rudolph Sander, 15; Alvin Sander, 11; Rosa Gest, 8; Eleanor Gest, 7; Leona Gest, 6; Alvin Kuhn, 7; Wilfred Roehleider, 8 and Avis Roehleider, 11.

Twenty Buildings Destroyed

Neal, Kans., Nov. 19.—One man was injured and 20 buildings destroyed and several others damaged by a severe windstorm here this afternoon.

The injured man was Jim Thompson, who was struck in the head by a bolt.

Not a single building escaped damage and it is considered remarkable there was not a larger casualty list. The storm appeared suddenly from the southeast and was accompanied by a heavy rain which lasted half an hour.

Neal is a village of about 140 population, situated 70 miles northeast of Wichita.—World-Herald.

PASSENGERS FOUND DEAD

Burbank, Calif.—The three passengers of the Pacific Transport mail plane were found dead late Wednesday in the Tehachapi mountain foothills where the plane had crashed on a sloping plateau. Discovery of the bodies ended a forty-three hour search by scores of planes.

MARCUS DALY, JR., DEAD

New York.—Marcus Daly, jr., son of one of the early west's most picturesque figures, is dead. An attack of heart disease Monday while he was hunting among the Virginia capes was fatal to the descendant of the late fighting pioneer who founded the Anaconda copper company. He was forty-eight years old.

Mr. Daly went south with an associate Saturday, apparently in good health. Monday night his family received news of his sudden death. Funeral preparations were held in Abeyance. The financier-sportsman was survived by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Evans Daly; his widow, a son, Marcus Daly III, and two sisters, Mrs. James W. Gerrard, wife of the former American ambassador to Germany, and the Countess Anton Sigary of Hungary. He was born in Butte, Mont., in 1882 and was graduated from Yale in 1904.

Drouth Did Little Harm to the Corn Crop

Only Two Million Less Than Last Year and Well Over Five Year Average—Potatoes Good

The November estimate of corn production is 235,493,000 bushels, which is above the October estimate and the five-year average of 223,580,000 bushels. New high records have been established in the production of sugar beets, flaxseed and beans, according to the state and federal divisions of agricultural statistics. Potatoes will yield ninety-seven bushels per acre and the production will be 8,924,000 bushels. Apples and peaches are much below normal.

The 1930 crop, after withstanding drouth, hot winds and extreme temperature fluctuations during a large part of the growing season, is now going on record with an average yield of 25.5 bushels against 26 bushels last year and the five-year average of 24.85 bushels. The production is 235,493,000 bushels as compared to 237,744,000 last year and the five-year average of 223,580,000. Compared to normal, the highest yields this year were made in the western counties of the state. The jury from drouth and high temperatures was greatest in the eastern and part of southern and northern Nebraska.

Approximately 91 per cent of the 1930 corn crop is of merchantable quality and 4.5 per cent of the 1929 crop remained on farms Nov. 1.

The average yield of potatoes as 97 bushels, which is the same as the yield last year and well above the five-year average of 90 bushels. The production is 8,924,000 bushels against 8,224,000 last year and the five-year average of 7,907,000 bushels. The commercial crop in western Nebraska is good and the commercial early potatoes in Kearney and Buffalo counties yielded well above the average. Early plantings throughout eastern Nebraska have been excellent but into plantings have been poor.

The average yield of sugar beets is 13.3 tons, making the new high production record of 1,091,000 tons, which is above last year's record production of 1,054,000 tons. Average weight per measured bushel of winter wheat was 59.7 lbs.; spring wheat, 57.8 lbs.; oats, 33 lbs., and barley 47 lbs. Test weights of winter wheat were above the average.

Buckwheat yields will average eight bushels and the production is 8,000 bushels. The average yield of flaxseed is six bushels and the production 144,000, which is above last year's record breaking crop of 129,000 bushels. The average yield of soyabean is twenty bushels per acre and the production 400,000 bushels against 376,000 bushels last year and the five year average of 420,000 bushels.

The yields of other minor crops are as follows: Sweet sorghum forage, 3 tons; alfalfa seed, 2.3 bushels; sweet clover seed, 4.4 bushels; production of apples is 462,000 bushels against 368,000 bushels last year; grapes, 1,825 tons against 2,125 tons last year; pears, 27,000 bushels as compared to 40,000 bushels last year. The average yield of beans is eleven bushels making a record production of 90,000 bushels as compared to 85,000 last year.

Estimates of leading crops for the United States this year and last are as follows: Corn, 2,094,481,000 and 2,614,307,000 bushels; potatoes, 368,444,000 and 359,796,000 bushels; sugar beets, 8,952,000 and 7,672,000 tons; total apples, 162,018,000 and 142,078,000 bushels; commercial tonnage, 33,080,000 barrels and 29,011,000 barrels. The average yield of corn for the United States is 20.6 bushels. Approximately 72,416,000 bushels of the 1929 crop remained on farms Nov. 1.

DEMANDS CORN TARIFF BOOST

Des Moines, Nov. 21.—Governor John Hammond Friday appealed to President Hoover for an immediate increase in the tariff on corn.

He telegraphed the president that reported extensive shipments of Argentine corn to the United States would destroy the American market for corn, "the price of which is already too low considering the small crop."

The governor asked that the tariff commission recommend an increase which the president has authority to grant under the flexible provisions of the tariff law.

"The protective tariff should be made effective where possible so as to protect the American market for the American farmer," the telegram read.

"It is to be remembered that if the cost of production of the Argentine corn where identical with the cost of producing the same commodity in this country, the midwest producers would suffer through abnormally high transportation rates as applied on all railroads, as compared to ocean going traffic."

Bruening Stresses Urgency of Economy

Saying Reparations Not Alone Cause of Germany's Troubles—Explains Tax Plan. Berlin, Nov. 21.—The German government turned its attention today to a German-wide campaign for economy.

While the front pages of the newspapers were filled with stories and comment on yesterday's speech of Dr. Brüning, foreign ministers, intimating the possibility of moratorium on the convening of a special advisory committee on the Young plan, Chancellor Bruening took up the economic battle on the home front.

In order that the call for utmost economy should penetrate to the most remote corners of the reich, Chancellor Bruening addressed a delegation from rural communities at the convening of a special advisory committee on the Young plan, Chancellor Bruening took up the economic battle on the home front.

No Radical Cure Promised. The situation, he said, is today more serious than at the end of the inflation year of 1923, for the government could not repeat its expedient of issuing a new rentenmark.

Neither can the government promise a radical cure for the ills besetting the farmers within the next six months or year, but a beginning had been made to grapple with their financial difficulties and so avoid collapse, he said.

"Whoever thinks reparations alone are the cause of all our troubles closes his eyes to the truth," the chancellor said. "The German people and its leaders during the last few years have wholly overestimated the country's economic possibilities and by superfluous building have carried quite a strong impression abroad."

Points to Reform. The chancellor explained that the proposed tax reforms would show beneficial effect within the next two years.

"If you don't believe it, I cannot make you," he said in a parting shot, "but there is no reason to despair if we act quickly and courageously upon the needs the present situation so plainly imposes."—World-Herald.

MYNARD COMMUNITY CLUB

The Mynard Community Club will hold its annual election of officers on Friday evening, Nov. 28. This meeting is for members only but a cordial invitation is extended to each family living in the vicinity of Mynard to come and join the club. A community club is for the whole community and not just a few, so it must have the support of at least a majority of the families in the community if it is to survive. The refreshment committee has planned a very pleasant surprise so "come!"

2 HELD AFTER CAUGHT STEALING AUTOMOBILE

Falls City, Neb., Nov. 19.—Ronald Harris and Joseph Baldwin, both of Lincoln, were held here today in default of five hundred dollar bond after pleading guilty before County Judge Virgil Falloon to stealing an automobile in Falls City. They were bound over to district court. Vern Lewis, a Shubert garageman, captured the two when they attempted to break into a gasoline pump at his garage.

FARM MORTGAGES IN STATE

Farm, town and chattel mortgages filed and released in Nebraska during the year 1929 have been compiled by State Auditor L. B. Johnson for printing in his biennial report. In some instances the amount of real estate mortgages filed or leased include large mortgages on railroad property. His report will not attempt to place any interpretation upon the statistics.

There was less mortgaging of farms in 1929 than in 1928 both in number and amount. More were released in 1928 than in 1929.

The number of farm mortgages filed in 1929 was 15,696 as compared with 17,075 in 1928. The amount filed in 1929 was $79,192,443 and in 1928 $88,226,726. The number of farm mortgages released in 1929 was 17,797, and the amount $21,195,744. The number released in 1929 was 15,610 and the amount $82,517,621.

Town and city mortgages filed in 1929 were 16,549 in number and $45,615,952 in amount. The number filed the year before was 18,144 and $70,929,696 in amount. The number released in 1929 was 16,027 and $38,131,021 in amount. The number released in 1928 was 19,083 and $59,860,295 in amount.

Chattel mortgages exceed farm mortgages in amount and number. In 1929 the number filed was 211,421, amounting to $224,169,086. In 1928 the number filed was 194,930, amounting to $240,542,963. In 1929 the number of chattel mortgages released was 125,213, amounting to $158,813,515. The number released in 1928 was 127,395, amounting to $171,922,580.

OPPOSE WATERWAY PLANS

Chicago.—Five major railway brotherhoods Wednesday voiced opposition to government's program of inland waterway development and demanded extension of federal taxation and regulation of other carriers.

The resolution was adopted at a conference of the brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers, Railway Conductors, Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, Railway Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union of North America. The five bodies, according to their officers, represent more than 350,000 American and Canadian railway workers.

A method to relieve unemployment in the trainmen's ranks will be discussed again tomorrow, following failure of the 700 chairmen to vote Wednesday on a proposal submitted by a subcommittee of twenty-five delegates.

SIDNEY'S $200,000 SCHOOL NEARING COMPLETION

Sidney, Neb., Nov. 19.—The final unit in Sidney's 200 thousand dollar school building program is rapidly assuming shape, as contractors rush completion of the senior high school building.

A North ward school and extensive alterations to the old Central structure, oldest in the system, are included in the program.

The senior high school will contain an auditorium seating eight hundred people. Ample room for recreation grounds and an athletic field has been provided by the school board.
