M. G. CHURCHILL Murray, Nebraska

Robert Moore, returned home last week and was able to secure employment with the Pipe Line company the same day of his return.

P. A. Hild, the elevator man, for he has secured the farmers elevator and is operating the same, having succeeded Sam F. Latta, who is looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth on last Friday.

Frank E. Valley of Omaha, was looking after some business matters in Murray on last Monday and was looking after the alterations which were being made in the room which is occupied by Tuit and Brubacher.

Willard Nelson who is staying at Nehawka and attending the schools there was a visitor at home with his parents for over the week end and was taken to the school on last Sunday evening by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Nelson.

Allison Clark who is stationed at Fort Crook where he is in the service of the United States as a soldier, was a visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark, who reside on the highway south of Murray. They all enjoyed the visit very much.

Miss Mary Ellen Valley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Valley, who is teaching the Kenosha school, southeast of Murray, was a visitor in Murray for the week end and was guest with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Brendel, they all enjoying the visit very much.

Mrs. Lester Sharder who has been at the hospital for some time, returned home a few days since and is getting along as well as could be expected following the operation which she underwent. Her many friends are very thankful that she is getting along as well as she is.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nickles and Mrs. Henry C. Long were over to Plattsmouth, Iowa, last Sunday where Mrs. Long remained for a visit with her sister, Mrs. D. Kelsey and family of that place. While there Mr. Nickles, with Mr. Kelsey, was a visitor also at Shenandoah where he also met Frank Valley.

Dr. G. L. Taylor and the family were visiting in Murray for a short time on last Sunday and with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Seybold in the afternoon, visited at Nebraska City and after that taking a trip through Otoe county, seeing the country. They say they never saw such bad roads as they found in the rural district of that county.

The Murray Hardware company has a week old a heating plant which is to be used for the heating of the new farm home of Charles E. Stratton, northwest of Murray, the heating plant was delivered from Omaha by Gilbert Hull, driver for the Ralph Pearsley truck line of Union. The furnace is being installed by the workmen of the Murray Hardware company.

Building Hay Barn and Shed. Martin Sporer, living southeast of Murray on the highway, is having a hay barn and cattle shed built, so that there is a saving of the handling of the feed, as when the hay is stored in the barn it is accessible for feeding the cattle, and thus a great amount of work is saved.

Straw Stack Burns. The straw stack which has stood east of the barn of A. G. Long, was discovered afire on last Sunday evening, or rather night, and there was nothing to do but let it burn, the evidence showed that the straw must have caught on fire from human hands and it is expected that some Weary Willie has sought to find a place to lodge for the night and has been smoking with the result that the straw caught on fire and was burned.

Moving to New Home. Charles M. Read, who has been making his home southeast of Murray is to farm on one of the Davis places west of Murray some three and a half miles with the aid of Henry Rice and Melvin Reed, son of Mr. Reed, were moving on last Monday so as to be in readiness when the time comes for the starting. That seems to be pretty close also as many farmers now have their stalks out and some have much of their plowing done.

Pay Murray Compliment. The pipe line employees who are from the south mostly, and who are lovers of the "Ardent" and who have been making Murray headquarters have endeavored to secure something to quench their thirst but were unable to find any. They say that Murray is the driest town they found since leaving Texas. They also said that in one small town they purchased the booze out of a grocery store and one evening after supper visited the place four times, securing for the evening three gallons of the goods.

Visited in State. L. J. Hallas of the Murray State bank, was a visitor for a number of days last week in the central and western portion of the state, and during his absence visited at Hastings, Kearney, Broken Bow, Loup City and many other parts of the state. Mr. Hallas was greatly impressed with Broken Bow, the county seat of Custer county, and in conversation with the people there was told by many that that county, Custer, had the best crop all over that it had ever had in the last twenty-five years. Mr. Hallas tells of business being good there and that there is lots of money and the people feeling fine in their prosperity.

Sang Over Station WAAV. Miss Flora Jane Boecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Boecker, who is taking music at the Omaha Conservatory of Music, was staged on a program at the recital given by that institution, in a program which was broadcast over the air from radio station WAAV, she appearing the very first of the program. Many people heard the program and were loud in the praise of the number rendered by Miss Flora Jane.

Making Important Changes. The firm of Tuit and Brubacher, merchants who occupy the room of Frank E. Valley, are having the building changed and new fixtures and shelving will be installed, the old shelving having been removed. The work is being done by M. G. Churchill, Herman Wohlfarth and Alfred Nickles. When the work is completed the room will present a very nifty appearance and will also be much more convenient for the business of the store, as they will be able to not only display but to store their goods to much better advantage.

Meets Severe Accident. While Robert Bates, who resides a number of miles west of Murray was chopping a large tree down for the purpose of making wood to burn, he having had a pair of ice tongs which he had a long rope hooked on into the tree to pull it to make it fall as he desired, the ice tongs slipping, were loosened from the tree and allowing the tree to swing the other way, caught Mr. Bates in such a way that his left leg was broken, both bones below the knee. He was in the woods by himself and had a time getting the attention of some one to report his condition to. Finally he was able to attract attention and was taken to his home. Before he was taken, securing some splints and using his handkerchief and that of his assistant, bound the leg to keep it straight and was placed on a slab and carried to his home. Dr. G. H. Gilmore was called and reduced the fracture. Mr. Bates is getting along but with somewhat of suffering.

Mrs. Wohlfarth Very Poorly. Mrs. Herman Wohlfarth, who has been in so serious a condition for some time past, was taken to the hospital last week, where she underwent an operation for the restoration of her health, she having a severe case of appendicitis and since the operation is reported as getting along very nicely.

Keep On the Hump. A. D. Bakke and his force of workmen are kept on the hump all the time, as they have plenty of work to keep them on the go all the time. The work which the pipe line have brought to the institution of the Murray garage and the others which naturally come, has made it almost impossible to find a spare minute, but then that is just what they are wanting.

Purchased Farming Machinery. Louis Wagner, northwest of Murray, was in town last week and while here made the purchase of a tractor and the machinery which goes with it, making a full equipment of the things necessary to do power farming. The machinery and the tractor were purchased from the Murray Hardware company.

Pay Hospital Benefit. The Cass County Protective Association which has some hundred members at this time and which has been in operation for a number of months, on the going to the hospital of one of their members, Mrs. Herman Wohlfarth, the order whose payment to any of their members going to a hospital for an operation, pay fifty cents per member, this making fifty dollars for Mrs. Wohlfarth and which is the first benefit to be paid by the order.

Communists Get No Satisfaction from Congress

Invasion of Capitol Results Only in Arrest of the Demonstrators—Meetings Broken Up

New York—Communists in more than a dozen cities of the United States, directed from New York by the Trade Union League, held demonstrations Tuesday to call attention to a delegation which visited congress with a petition for an unemployment insurance law. Officials of the Trade Union League, a communist organization, said meetings had been ordered in every industrial, textile and mining center of the country. In many such cities the demonstrations failed to develop, and many of the others were broken up by police.

The meetings extended from Boston to Oakland, Calif., in Washington, where Speaker Longworth refused to see the petition bearers, a disturbance resulted in the arrest of three demonstrators in the gallery of the national house of representatives.

In Boston twelve persons, including two clergymen and two women, were arrested when police broke up a meeting on the common. In New York several thousand persons assembled in Union Square and heard speakers plead for unemployment insurance and jobs.

In St. Paul demonstrators brushed past doorkeepers at the capital and forced their way into the house, where a spokesman assumed the floor, disrupting the session. In Oakland, Calif., forty police broke up a parade at the city hall.

Call on Governor. In Hartford, Conn., communists called on Governor Cross and requested an appropriation of $10,000,000 to care for jobless. In Kansas City demonstrators demanded a $200,000 appropriation for the same purpose. William Z. Foster, recently released from the New York City penitentiary after serving a sentence for inciting to riot in a demonstration a year ago, was in charge there.

In Oklahoma City Governor Murray called on police and national guard to suppress an advertised parade to the capitol. No parade was held.

Mayor C. M. Chambers of San Antonio, Tex., rejected demands presented by a delegation of the trade union unity league, declaring the leaders were "un-American and opposed to work."

A banner reading "organize or starve" was carried at the head of the procession of nearly 700 men and women who marched to the Utah capitol at Salt Lake City.

Invade National Capitol. Washington—Communists sought to invade the floor of the house of representatives, and, rebuffed in this wound up by creating a series of disturbances in the public gallery. Fourteen persons—whites and negroes, men and women—marched up Capitol Hill shortly after noon as a committee to demand a hearing on the floor of the house or from Speaker Longworth, on unemployment insurance.

They failed in both efforts, refused to leave their petition with the speaker's secretary, and marched away.

The speaker said he would appoint some one from his office to receive the petition. He designated his secretary, but they declined to give it to her and left, saying the party would return and tell their people they had been refused the right to present their case.

On the senate side, Senator Blaine, protested against "the shameful spectacle" of policemen guarding the capitol against "a bogey man, an imaginary enemy."—State Journal.

WAGNER BILL IS MADE LAW. Washington—The Wagner bill for advance planning of federal public works as a safeguard against unemployment, Tuesday became a law. It was signed by President Hoover, who said he took that action with "great pleasure." The bill, by Senator Wagner, a democrat, places the duty of planning federal construction in the hands of Secretary Lamont.

Senator Wagner and Representative Graham, President Hoover said, have worked out an admirable measure in which they adopted the constructive suggestions of the various government departments.

The bill provides for planning and acceleration of federal construction work far enough ahead so it will be possible to give employment in times of depression.

"It is not a cure for business depression," the president said, "but will afford better organization for relief in future depressions."

CEDAR CREEK CLUB MEETS. The Cedar Creek Project club met on February 2d, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Meisinger. "Kitchen Cutie" was the subject for discussion, which proved to be very interesting. In the late afternoon refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Ralph Meisinger and Mrs. Raymond Lohnes.

TWO FINED AS RESULT OF CHICAGO BREAD RIOT. Chicago, Ill., Feb. 9.—The cry for 6-cent bread sent up by ring-leaders in a crowd of nearly five hundred men and women who milled about the Northwestern bakery last Saturday, retorted today in $25 fines for one man and a woman, a jury trial for another woman and the discharge of one man.

Lewiston News Notes

S. V. Smith family were visiting in Lewistown Sunday.

Mrs. Young was able to return to her home Sunday, much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Albin attended the Spangler anniversary Sunday. There will be another program at Lewistown February 26th. More will be said next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Wilson of Lewistown attended the play at Lewistown.

Any boy or girl can join the pig club. See just telephone Mr. Hobscheidt, who is the leader this year.

Lewiston has the spring of the lunch at the Walt Manner sale the 25th. Everybody get out their pig tins.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wolfe attended the Schaefer sale. It looked good. Earl got away after his long stay in the hospital.

The second presentation of "Deacon Dubbs" was well attended, the house was just well filled. The band realized about $60 from the two nights.

Miss Flora Jane Boecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Boecker, who is taking music at the Omaha Conservatory of Music, was staged on a program at the recital given by that institution, in a program which was broadcast over the air from radio station WAAV, she appearing the very first of the program. Airplane Helps to Save Fishers from Icy Death

Seventeen Rescued, but Guardsmen Later Are Caught—Had Spent Night on Floe in Lake

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 9.—Their tenacious grasp released Sunday on 17 starving and freezing fishermen, the bitter elements that lash and tear at those who brave Lake Erie's ice, only this morning continued to cling to seven United States coast guardsmen and three fishermen.

The men are entrapped on the drifting ice field from which the 17 fishermen, marooned for 36 hours, were removed late Sunday, yesterday afternoon and last night when the airplane and the guard combined to effect one of the most dramatic rescues in the history of the great lakes.

In addition to the 10 men still on the ice with scant provisions, two other members of the coast guard had narrowly escaped, but took the water was caught in churning ice floes. These two men were saved when other coast guardsmen shot them a rope and pulled their damaged craft to solid ice.

Captain Martin W. Reamussen expressed belief that the 10 men were in no immediate danger, but took the precaution of dispatching a mortar crew to a new base of Pinchurst.

The fishermen for almost 36 hours had faced freezing death by exposure, hunger or drowning on a drifting ice floe in the choppy, wind-swept waters of Lake Erie.

Five Miles Out. The drifting fishermen were located by the plane five miles out from shore and about 18 miles south of Buffalo. All morning the plane had searched in vain for sight of the stranded men. Their floating island of ice was surrounded by a strip of water a mile wide.

Then the pitiful crew was found. The plane swept low over the ice floe, dropping notes. Pipe poles in eager hands spelled frantic words up on the surface of the ice. The plane turned and against swept low over the floe. From it dropped a huge can, a parachute attached to it opened and the can, filled with steaming hot coffee, settled near the men.

The plane sped back to the shore and all the fishermen settled down to wait through the long, cold hours before all could be brought to safety. The rescue boat was forced to struggle through two miles of ice slush and then across a mile and a half of open, choppy water to the floe on which the men waited for deliverance. Then the long struggle back to shore.

Asked Food and Charcoal. The fliers saw spelled out, first, "eat," then "help" and last, "charcoal."

In those three words the fliers read a serial story of the hours of anxious waiting. Hunger first, as Saturday wore on and meal times passed without food. Darkness settled and the second chapter was written into their minds with the recurring thought: "Will we be found?" Then, as the bitter cold of early morning seeped through the sweaters and clothing of the fishermen, came the chapter which might well have been the last of the story—a tale of slow freezing to death—had it not been for the big clad men of the United States coast guard and a miracle of modern science which enables men to lift themselves above the barriers of ice and earth.—World-Herald.

KVALE GIVEN SYMBOL OF PARTY FOR CAUCUS. Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Representative Kvale (Minn.), lone farmer-labor member of the house, is going to have some company at his party caucus on March 2.

He went to a dinner of the little congress—employees of the members of congress—to democrats. But Kvale was left out.

Suddenly, however, the toastmaster arose and presented him a special favor. Kvale brought it to work today and stood it up in his office, for safe keeping until the caucus. It is a morden of a grey goat.

Kvale posted a notice some time ago calling the caucus of the house members of his party.

Imagine, if you can, two or three different versions of any successful modern novel. One would be for "the great open spaces," another for the sophisticates of the cities, and another perhaps, for the roughnecks.

RODMAN DECLARES BRYAN STATEMENT APPEARS AMAZING

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 10.—Senator James A. Rodman, (rep.) Omaha, who prepared the senate's request for a ruling from Attorney General Sorenson on the validity of Governor Bryan's appointment of deputy code department secretaries, today issued the following statement concerning the governor's attitude toward the Sorenson opinion referred to the senate yesterday.

"I read with amazement the statement of the governor that neither the courts nor the legislature have any authority to govern his appointments, dismissals or the submitting of names to the senate.

"It is revolting to one having respect for the law."

Senator Rodman said the governor's attitude was that of an official "being picked on."

The appointment thus far of three deputies to code department positions, Rodman held, was sufficient to prevent the governor from assuming the position that he had taken over the management of those departments.

J. HAM LEWIS SPEAKS TO TEXAS LEGISLATURE. Austin, Tex., Feb. 10.—Texas democrats today paid honor to a distinguished democrat from the north, Senator-elect J. Hamilton Lewis. Lewis addressed the Texas legislature, on its invitation.

He urged that the United States would not have been in its present financial straits if it had lent to American farmers and miners the 12 billion dollars it had lent to foreign countries since the war.

Roy Olson departed this morning for Lincoln where he was called on some matters for the BREX shops and from there will go to St. Joseph, Missouri.
