Crete—After a day of social affairs and registration, the twenty-ninth annual state convention of Daughters of the American Revolution opened here Tuesday night. Mrs. Adam McMullen of Beatrice, state regent, presided. Altho registration was not complete, those in charge expected 200 persons would attend. Mrs. E. B. Hardeman, regent of the Crete chapter, welcomed the gathering. F. J. Kobes, mayor of Crete, and Edwin B. Dean, president of Donne college, greeted the visitors. Mrs. E. H. Wescott of Plattsmouth, state vice regent, spoke in behalf of the officers and delegates.

Guests of honor were Mrs. C. S. Paine, Lincoln; Mrs. E. G. Drake, Beatrice; and Mrs. James E. Fitzgerald, state regent of Iowa. Prof. F. A. Stuf of the University of Nebraska, state president of Sons of the American Revolution, and State Commander Poteet of the American Legion, also attended the opening session as honor guests. Delegates and officers were entertained at luncheon by Mrs. Hardeman and the Crete chapter, and there was a general reception in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. L. Johnson. Wednesday's program includes various reports of officers and committees. The convention will close after the election of officers Thursday.

PINOCHLE CLUB MEETS

The P. F. F. pinochle club met at the home of Mrs. Henry Hitzmann on Monday evening and the ladies spent the time most delightfully in the playing of this most interesting game. The prizes were awarded to Mrs. Frank Mullen, Mrs. Roy Perkins and Mrs. Ted Eaton. At the close of the evening the hostess served very dainty and delicious refreshments.

High School Basketball Team Holds Banquet

Held at High School Tuesday Evening—Fine Repast Served by Home Economic Girls

From Wednesday's Daily—The annual banquet of the Plattsmouth high school basketball team was held last evening at the home economics dining room in the high school and was another of very pleasant gatherings that the ladies of the home economics department have arranged for the athletic teams of the school.

The Easter season was emphasized in the decorations of the room, the lights being shaded by streamers and on which the Easter eggs were shown, also large baskets of the Easter eggs occupied places on the tables, the baskets being arranged in shades of purple while the place cards were very cleverly arranged in the form of miniature baskets.

The banquet opened at 6:30 and the ladies of the class looked after the serving in a very charming manner while the delightful piano offerings of Glenn Woodbury served to add to the delights of the occasion with music sweet and alluring.

The menu arranged and served was as follows:

- Fruit Cocktail
- Baked Virginia Ham
- Rolls
- Escalloped Corn
- Conserve
- Creamed Potatoes
- Relish
- Candied Apple Rings
- Spring Salad
- Wafers
- Coffee
- Sherbert

The toastlist was presided over by R. J. Peterson, principal of the high school, who introduced the various speakers in a clever manner.

Chester L. Wiles, captain of the 1930-31 team was called upon for "The Last Shot," telling in a pleasing way the work of the team in the season, the fact that some six of the eight members of the squad had played all through their school career together and had found a fine spirit of co-operation among the members of the team and were regretting when the time had come, that their days of playing for the blue and white was at the close.

Henry Donat, center of the present team, who is one of the two players of the team that will be with the blue and white next season, responded to "Down the Center," telling of the regret at losing the other members of the team but that the future held hope of being able to furnish some splendid players who would in a measure replace those who might go.

David Robinson, student manager of the team told his story in song, and in a very splendid manner and in response to the encores of the audience favored the banquet party with another of the delightful tenor solos. Miss Cora Williams, supervisor of music played the accompaniment for the young soloist.

The main speaker of the evening was Lon Graf, one of Nebraska's outstanding athletic instructors, who for years was the guiding hand through many successful seasons of the Peru state college football and basketball teams and is now at the Creighton university, having charge of track and assisting in the other sports. The theme of Mr. Graf's talk was that of "The Old Game," he praising the work of the athletics for developing a spirit of sportsmanship that lasted through life, of an understanding of the other fellow and his rights and a brighter and keener appreciation of the life they must live. He paid a very glowing tribute to the Plattsmouth men that had served on his teams at Peru, stating that Joe Krejci was the best athlete that he had ever coached or seen in action on the basketball court or as a forward passer in the game of football, praising Russell Wasley, basketball star and captain of the basketball team of Peru as one of the outstanding players of that school. The third of the three mouth trio was Bernard Galloway, now completing his junior year in school and who was a real star in track, the speaker stated. Mr. Graf urged the Plattsmouth players to carry on their game of life as cleanly as they had their sports as become real men and sportsmen.

The award of the letters to the members of the first and second teams were then made by Coach Fred Rothert who also reviewed the work of the season and praised the members of the team for their good work. Those who received letters on the first team were: Chet Wiles, Merle McCrary, Henry Donat, John Galloway, Sam Arn, James Begley, Garland McCleary and Robert Hartford. The second team players to be honored were Francis Yelick, Clarence Forbes, Robert Rummel, William Ronne, Gilbert Hrz, Richard Spangler, Maynard McCleary, Robert Hrz, Louis Knodlock.

Special letters were presented the cheer leaders, Joe Graves and Edward Howard and one also will be presented to David Robinson, student manager of the team. The matter of the election of captain of the 1931-32 team was postponed as there were two lettermen absent from the banquet, McCleary and McCrary, and the captaincy will be taken up soon. The second team players were asked to elect an honorary captain for the past season and named Clarence Forbes for this honor.
