Mrs. John Weyrich is Called to Last Long Rest

Peacefully Sinks Into the Final Slumber at the Family Home on Sunday Afternoon.

On Sunday afternoon at 3:50 at the family home on Granite street, Mrs. John Weyrich, a loved and esteemed resident of this city for the past forty years, was called to the last long rest, her passing coming at the close of an illness that has kept her bedfast since March 18th, and in the last few days she has gradually sunk into the sleep that knows no awakening.

Emilie Seidler, daughter of Edward and Barbara Seidler, was born October 9, 1859, at Matamora, Illinois, where the family had been early settlers. When but a child of tender years the family removed to Pekin, Illinois, where she made her home in the childhood and early womanhood. In 1879, she was united in marriage to John Weyrich, and the family in the year 1887 came to Plattsmouth where they have since made their home. In her life here Mrs. Weyrich has made many warm friends by her beautiful and Christian life, her love and solicitude for her family circle and the home that she loved so dearly and where her presence will be so sadly missed now that she has been called away. In her family Mrs. Weyrich found her life work and her care was her greatest concern, and the children in the years have loved and cherished the mother, ministering to her every want and with all of an overflowing love caring for her last needs as life's lamp burned its flickering flame to a close. Mrs. Weyrich was a member of the First Presbyterian church of this city and also of Home chapter No. 189 of the Order of the Eastern Star. The family circle was first broken by death when on October 9, 1928, the husband and father, John Weyrich, was called to his reward.

The deceased lady is survived by three children, Emil, Clara and Alice, all at home. Her only brother, August Seidler, preceded her in death in 1911.

GIVEN SURPRISE

Mrs. Frank Barkus received a very agreeable surprise at the event of her birthday, Saturday. She had been invited to the home of Mrs. H. B. Perry to spend the afternoon, and on entering was met with the strains of the birthday song coming from the lips of her friends, the members of the Quilting Club. R. J. Larson, Mrs. James Rishel, Mrs. Harry White, Mrs. Charles Carlson and Mrs. H. B. Perry.

The surprise was a very delightful one, and as Mrs. Barkus recovered, a pleasant surprise for a game, a lovely remembrance was presented to the guest of honor. An interesting part of the afternoon was the fine luncheon prepared by the members of the club and which all enjoyed very much, each member declaring that her was the next birthday, some of them even claiming April 1st.

Mrs. Gorder is at Rochester with the husband and will remain there until he is able to leave the hospital and return home.

ENTERTAINED AT OMAHA

Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Denham, formerly of Plattsmouth and Cedar Creek, entertained very pleasantly on Saturday evening at Omaha in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary. The celebration was in the nature of a dinner party and dance at the Peacock Inn at Omaha, one of the popular night clubs of that city. The settings were in pink and white at the tables and this was carried out in the floral decorations as well as in the large and handsome cake that was a feature of the dinner. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wooster, Miss Edna Patterson, Newell Conaway of Omaha and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krejci of this city.

Palm Sunday Observed in the City Churches

Special Services Mark the Day in All of the Churches of Plattsmouth.

The churches of this city yesterday observed Palm Sunday, one of the most impressive days in the calendar of the Christian faith and which was marked by many beautiful services and in a great many of the churches by the sacrament of baptism. At the St. Paul's Evangelical church there was a very large congregation present at the 10:30 services in the morning and when the confirmation class was presented to the church and the sacrament of confirmation administered by the pastor, Rev. O. G. Wichmann. There was also the communion and the sermon of the day took up the story of the opening of Holy week in the church. In the Roman Catholic churches, both at the St. John's and Holy Rosary church there was the usual masses and the blessing and presentation of the palms to the members of the congregation, a very large number being in attendance at the services.

The First Presbyterian church observed the day with a special musical program at the morning service, an anthem "Unfold the Portals," by the choir and a solo number, "The Palms," being given by Frank A. Clويد, tenor soloist. The pastor, Rev. H. G. McClusky, gave a very inspiring sermon, "Crow of Him King" at this service. As a part of this service there were a number of children presented for baptism at the church. The First Methodist church observed the day with the special musical numbers in keeping with the observance of the day, "The King of the Chosen City of Jerusalem." The sermon of Rev. Troy was a very able handling of the Palm Sunday message, "The Meaning of the Cross." In the evening at the church there was a special fifteen minutes of song enjoyed and the congregation had a pleasing treat in having with them Rev. H. A. McKelvy, pastor of the United Brethren church at Mynard.

START MOVING MACHINERY

The Smith Brothers, large contracting firm of Fort Worth, Texas, who have been repairing their large tractors and other machinery at this place for the coming season, are starting to move the machinery on into Omaha where they will be stored until placed in service again, the work of overhauling them having been completed here. The work has been done here at the O. K. garage and on the athletic park on Washington avenue, and the news that the machinery is being moved has brought a smile to the high school students who are planning track work this year. It is expected that the park can be cleared in a short time and the Smith Brothers will then have the park placed in its former fine shape and placed back at the disposal of the city and the schools. Coach Rothert is now hopeful of being able to get the track and field sports over before school is out altho it will be some later than usual before the work can be started.

The day was most delightfully spent by the family group and in honor of the occasion the guest of honor received a very large number of remembrances from all parts of the country, from the distant friends, including a check for $20 from a son-in-law residing in New York.

EVIDENCE OF MILD WINTER

From Wednesday's Daily—
Clarence Meisinger brought to the Journal today some concrete evidence of the mildness of the past winter season in this locality. Mr. Meisinger was working in his garden and uncovered several potatoes that had been overlooked last fall when the crop was dug. The potatoes were not frozen altho in the ground all winter and are now starting to sprout and ready to start in growing. This is unusual for this section of the country and shows that this was one of the warmest seasons on record in this part of the west.

PLAN COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION

D. O. Dwyer, president of the Second Judicial district bar association is planning on organizing a Cass County association similar to the one that has been established in Otoe county for the past several years. The Otoe county association has provided a great asset to the members of the legal profession in that county one that has standardized the fees of the members and tended to benefit the bar in every way.

Mr. Dwyer is also planning on having the annual banquet and meeting of the district association held here the next winter and which will be the first time in a great many years that Plattsmouth has entertained the members of the bar of the district.

City Election Finds but Few as Candidates

Councilmanic Candidates Are Few and Promise a Very Light Vote Tuesday

The final time for filing candidates for or withdrawals in the city campaign has now passed and the ballots that will be used are now in the process of printing and finds for the first time in many years a situation where there are few candidates for the office of councilman in the several wards.

The city conventions named their candidates with the exception of a democratic nominee in the fourth ward, but several of these have since decided to withdraw and enjoy peace of mind and only personal troubles to disturb the usual daily grind.

In the first ward Carl Kunsman, a veteran councilman, who has been out of the harness for the past year has again been placed in the field by the democrats and is unopposed as Searl S. Davis, named by the republicans, has declined, he having not been present when the nomination was made and has declined without his knowledge or consent. The second ward has one of the two wards where there will be a contest, Claude C. Smith, present councilman and president of that body, being the democratic candidate while John I. Tidwell, a former councilman, will be the candidate of the republicans for the office.

Another of the places where there will be contests will be in the third ward where Councilman W. H. Puls as the democratic candidate for reelection was opposed by Oliver Hudson, custodian of the high school building, who was selected by the republicans.

The fourth ward finds George Luchinsky, who has served as councilman at various times over a long period of years, as the republican nominee and no democratic opposition to his election at the polls on next Tuesday.

In the fifth ward Councilman Ed Gabelman has a clear field as the republican candidate as Henry Lutz, democratic nominee, has withdrawn, and left no candidate to the council open to his successor.

A NEW KING OF JAG

The police who have had experiences in the past with jags of all kinds that have been arrested by them, have had a new experience and one that opens a new field of activity to those who would become "hit up" and at the same time still not be violators of the famous Volstead act. The police took in a party that was to all intents and purposes in a very advanced state of inebriation, one that seemingly could not be required many flags of the forbidden beverages, only to discover that there was the absence of the smell of liquor altho all of the outward symptoms of intoxication was present. An investigation was made and it was found that the party had acquired the condition that he was in by the use of veronal tablets, used ordinarily as a sedative but which in this case served as a fine substitute for the less powerful corn juice, canned heat, and other prohibition beverages. The matter of disposing of the case is still engrossing the court as the case opens a new line of technical "jags." While it takes many a glass of the various liquors to acquire a skate as artistic as this, the police state that a few pills and the victim is lit up not unlike a lighthouse or Fred Rea's electric sub-station.

ENJOYS VISIT HERE

On Sunday the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Bates was the scene of a very pleasant family gathering, Mrs. Guy French, of Kansas City, sister of Mrs. Bates having been here for a few days, and was joined here Sunday by the mother, Mrs. J. J. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Smith. The group enjoyed a fine family dinner and a general good time until the Omaha visitors returned home. On Monday afternoon Mrs. French and Mrs. Bates were at Omaha to visit with J. J. Smith, the father, who has been poorly and was unable to be here Sunday.

On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock over radio station KFAB at Lincoln, the members of the State Teachers college chorus will present the beautiful and impressive oratorio, "The Crucifixion." Among those who will take part in the production is Bernard Galloway also of this city.

Rotary Anns Feature a Fine Rotary Meeting

Ladies Arrange and Carry Out Very Clever Program Last Evening at K. of C. Hall.

From Wednesday's Daily—
The members of the local Rotary club last evening had the pleasure of the presence of the Rotary Anns at their meeting, this being the fifth Tuesday and which date is made the occasion of having as guests the ladies of the members.

The hall had been very tastefully arranged in the Rotary colors of purple and gold and which color scheme was carried out in the table decorations and made a very handsome setting for the evening of enjoyment. The members of the Catholic Daughters of America had charge of the supper and had prepared and served a most delightful menu that was enjoyed to the utmost by the members of the club and their ladies.

The meeting was called to order by President William Baird of the Rotary and after the routine matters had been disposed of and the Rotary songs given, the president called Mrs. Baird to take charge of the program.

The ladies had arranged a very pleasant and happy program for the evening and one that had the usual fun features to keep the members of the party in the rarest good humor as the puns at the expense of the members of Rotary were offered. The evening was featured by the Rotary Ann quartet, a very talented group of ladies who gave some most delightful numbers and which were very much enjoyed, this quartet being composed of Mrs. E. H. Wescott, Mrs. R. W. Knorr, Mrs. Fred I. Rea and Mrs. L. O. Minor and the ladies were received with the greatest enthusiasm by the members of the party.

The address of the evening was given by the Rev. C. O. Troy, pastor of the First Methodist church and who gave a most impressive message on the work of Rotary and its ideals for international peace and the greater growth of the friendship of man.

NO TRACK SPORTS

The Plattsmouth high school students who had planned on enjoying a season of track and field sports for the spring season, seemingly are to face a disappointment owing to the fact that the athletic field on which they were to hold the event is still occupied by the Smith Brothers' large tractors and other heavy equipment that are being repaired at this place. The local school has some very promising candidates for track work this year, but who will not be able to demonstrate their skill apparently on account of the lack of the proper place for practice or holding meets. Chet Wiles, one of the best short heat men that the school has produced in a number of years is to complete his work this year as is Garland McCleary, high jump star and John Galloway, local mile and two mile racer. A number had planned to join in the different field and track sports this season but will have to abandon this feature of the school program for this year.

LEAVES FOR ROCHESTER

Leo Boynton, one of the service men of the community, has gone to Rochester, Minnesota, where he will enter the Mayo clinic at that place for an examination and treatment if necessary. Mr. Boynton has been in poor health for some time and has been given treatment at a number of places but which has not brought the expected relief and he will now seek the service of the Mayo staff to more fully determine just what is causing his trouble and the treatment.

There was a great deal of interest shown in the organization by the Elmwood veterans and their ladies and the new organization will be headed by Mrs. Shreve.

State Commander Marcus A. Poole and State Adjutant H. H. Dudley and Mrs. Dudley and District President Mrs. Schroeder of the Auxiliary were present and assisted in getting the new organization started. FIND MISSING BOY

Officers' Task Proves a Very Unpleasant One

Serving Writ of Restitution and Diversion of Property on Farm Near Murdock

The role of the officer of the law is always more or less of an unpleasant one, but yesterday Deputy Sheriff Rex Young and Constable Tom Svoboda had a job that was one that exceeded all others in its disagreeable features and one that kept the officers busy from eight in the morning until eight at night.

The officers had a writ of restitution to serve on a tenant farmer near Murdock, the land owner having secured the order to have the tenant moved from the farm and the division of the property of the tenant and that of the land owner and which included a great deal of personal property of the two parties.

The officers took with them Chet Smith and George Pick of this city and secured the services of John Gerdes of that locality as well as Mr. Lake, the land owner. Among the property was some seventeen head of hogs and the officers and their assistants raced through the mud and mire of the hog yard dividing the pigs according to the ownership of the same and then had the almost equally tough proposition of capturing and dividing the number of chickens on the place in the proper shares. A large array of machinery and tools and many small articles were handled and it was after the shades of night had fallen that the party completed their tasks according to the demand of the law and had the tenant's property placed along the road and separated from that of the land owner.

It is needless to say that in addition to the hard and disagreeable work the officers are but human and hate to dispose of someone from their dwelling place, but had no choice as the law says go to it when the court issues the necessary orders. However Rex and Tom are hoping that this form of labor will not occur again soon.
