GIRL BEARS CHARMED LIFE

Miss Helen Stone toppled from a cliff at Eldorado Springs, Colo., and fell seventy feet into Boulder creek. Then she was carried over a twenty foot dam. Unconscious, the young woman was sucked into whirlpool below the dam. The current then seized and whirled her 75 feet down stream where she was found by searchers. At a Denver hospital physicians said the victim had suffered concussion of the brain but would recover.

The above article appeared in the Lincoln Journal and was an Associated Press report from Denver.

Miss Stone is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stone of Del Norte, Colo., and a former resident of Nehawka. She is also a niece of Mrs. D. C. West, C. W. and R. B. Stone, of this place.

Mrs. Stone is a nurse and about a year ago visited relatives here, where she is known by many—Nehawka Enterprise.

FORCED LABOR ATTACKED

Washington—Daughters of the American Revolution were said by a District of Columbia official to be waging a nationwide crusade against Russian products by active protests direct to the sellers of goods. Mrs. R. Winston Holt, chairman of national defense for the District of Columbia D. A. R., said occupants of her office in all states are suggesting—as she is—that the members protest against convict made goods in competition with free American labor products.

Simon Berber, a local drugstore proprietor, said a dozen demands had been made upon his employees in the past month to stop exploiting a Russian candy he displayed in his windows. Many of the protestants, Berber added, described themselves as D. A. R.'s.

Trainmen Move to Place 11,000 Back at Work

Railroad Brotherhood Sets a Limit on Hours of Labor—Virtual Order

Houston, Tex., May 29.—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen today voted to limit members' working hours so that approximately 11 thousand men now out of work may be given employment, President A. F. Whitney announced.

The resolution was announced at the brotherhood's triennial convention here. It limits the working hours of members in yard service to 26 days or two hundred hours a month; of members in freight service to 3,500 miles or its equivalent; of members in passenger service to 5,500 miles or its equivalent.

President Whitney said the change of hours and the consequent increase in employment—which he set specifically at 10,850 men—would become effective within 30 days, or as soon as the general brotherhood chairmen for the respective railroads could reach home and arrange conferences with railroad executives.

The resolution is tantamount to an order to all members.

President Whitney had estimated, at the start of the convention some three weeks ago, that some 41 thousand brotherhood members were unemployed.

"This resolution," said the president, "is a humanitarian action on the part of the brotherhood to aid in relieving the present unemployment situation among its members and a step toward ending the present economic depression. When it goes into full effect on all the railroad systems in the United States and Canada, it will place 10,850 members of the brotherhood out of employment in jobs and aid them to support their wives and families."

Mr. Whitney said the convention would adjourn within the next three or four days.—World-Herald.

Gangster Trio Held for Trial on $100,000 Bond

Suspects in Lincoln Are Heavily Guarded in Court During Hearing—Aver Innocence.

Lincoln, May 29.—Three Illinois gangsters pleaded not guilty here today to the Lincoln National bank robbery and were held under bonds of 100 thousand dollars each for trial in district court.

County Attorney Towle said he would try and have the case set for June 8.

The trio, Thomas P. O'Connor, John Britt and Howard Lee, demanded a continuance of the preliminary hearing and asked for lower bonds, but Municipal Judge John Pihl refused both requests.

A squad of national guardsmen and most of Lincoln's peace officers were mobilized to guard the city hall during the preliminary hearing.

An armed caravan in five automobiles and two police motorcycles took the three men from the state penitentiary, where they are being held for safe keeping, and rushed them back again when they failed to put up bond. At the city hall, even the persons who wanted to pay bills were denied admission for a time.

The three defendants seemed to have a good time during the hearing. Arrested at East St. Louis May 8 in a gangster roundup, they were brought to Lincoln from Chicago last Tuesday.

E. S. Wolfenbarger, Lincoln salesman, identified all three of the men today as participants in the bank robbery last September 17.

W. E. Barkley, a director of the bank, testified the holdup men obtained about $1,250,000 in currency and securities belonging to the institution and its customers. Complaints in the case charge $2,500,000 was taken.

T. Clement Gaughan, Lincoln attorney, told Judge Pihl that he had only two days to prepare the case while Prosecutor Towle had six weeks. He said Louis Pickett of Chicago, chief counsel for the gangsters, was busy rounding up witnesses and couldn't be present now.

Later he objected that the bonds were a financial, disproportionate to the crime charged and excessive under the constitution. Towle retorted the bond was so small the gangsters might cover it with the bank's own cash, and threatened to ask for bonds of 200 thousand dollars.

Milwaukee—Cancer of the bone, once considered hopeless, is yielding "five year cures" in 30 percent of the cases at Johns Hopkins university.

"Five year cure" means the patient has been observed for five years without recurrence of the disease. As time increases the cures are labeled ten year, fifteen, twenty and so on. Conservative medical men refuse to use the word "cure" unqualified. The records were given by Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood of Johns Hopkins, at a meeting of the section of radiology of the Wisconsin State Medical society.

SEES PANHANDLE WHEAT

A. E. Anderson, state and federal agricultural statistician, is anxious to see what the wheat crop will be like this year in the Panhandle region, where a large part of the country's wheat is grown. He left Wednesday for an inspection trip to determine if lack of moisture will harm the crop.

Reports to his office were that there has been little or no precipitation for the wheat and barley fields since the blizzard of last March. The wheat is heavy but there is no surface moisture to fill it out, is the news. There also is said to be some frost damage.

Anderson said wheat in this part of the state is in generally good condition. He returned late Tuesday from a trip to Clay Center. Fields between Lincoln and that point look promising, he said.

PLAN AI REVOLT CHARGED

Rome—Seven "intellectuals," including college professors and engineers, charged with plotting to overthrow the fascist government, Friday pleaded for liberty before the special tribunal for defense of the state which Thursday condemned Michele Schirru, naturalized American citizen, to death. They are alleged to be leaders of the "Justice and Liberty" organization with headquarters in Milan.

Ricardo Bauer, businessman, and Ernesto Rossi, professor of political economy at the University of Bergamo, alleged leaders of the group, admitted formation of the society, but denied charges that they planned the simultaneous discharge of bombs in an attempt to overthrow the fascists.

'Fever, Tumult' is Hoover View of Past 2 Years

President Is the Speaker at the Union Club in Philadelphia—Address Today

Philadelphia, Pa., May 29.—President Hoover told the Union League here tonight that after "two years of fever and tumult in Washington" the reception extended him would be an "undoubted and great encouragement" in the tasks ahead.

Speaking extemporaneously in response to a speech by George Stuart Patterson, president of the club, who presented the chief executive with a portrait of himself, Mr. Hoover described the club as a "sanctuary of the great tradition of loyalty to the government of the United States."

The Union League club was formed during the civil war to combat organized sympathizers with the southern states. Through its portals have walked all the republican presidents of the United States since that time with the single exception of President Harding. He had accepted an invitation for October but died in August, 1923.

At Valley Forge Today.

The portrait, painted by Phillipides Costa, a Greek artist, was characterized by Mr. Hoover as a representation of himself he "liked much more than the very lifelike pictures the photographers make."

Early tomorrow the president goes to Valley Forge, near here, to lead the nation in its Memorial day observance. His address will be delivered over both nationwide radio networks at 8:30 o'clock (Omaha time).

In presenting the portrait Patterson told the president that the club wished to take the liberty of saying that you and your associates have met the crisis of worldwide economic depression with courage and ability and in accordance with the principles upon which the government was founded.

In times of discouragement, he said, the club wanted to "urge that there is a vast amount of common sense hidden away in the minds of the American people and that common sense teaches them to have confidence in you."

Only One Democrat.

Sitting near the chief executive at the main table of the dinner group was Governor Pinchot, and practically every republican leader in Pennsylvania. The only democrat at the table was George Norris, governor of the federal reserve bank of this district.

In accepting the portrait Mr. Hoover said in part:

"I am deeply honored by your courteous hospitality. When your committee came to me and made the invitation, extended to every president of the United States that I should come to your club, as your guest, I said that in these times of extra and heavy burdens that I should prefer, perhaps, to discuss public questions as my predecessors have done—as they had felt honored to do before this body."

"Brooked No Refusal."

"They, however, extended to me a delicate consideration that brooked no refusal; the suggestion that the club would like to extend its hand in encouragement by a reception, with no request for a public address, in these times when a large number of segments of our population are seeking relief, that was, indeed, the greatest and most considerable relief ever extended to the president of the United States."

"Your generous reception has gone beyond even the frontiers of hospitality. You have presented to Mrs. Hoover and myself a portrait by a skillful artist."

"After two years of fever and tumult in Washington, I assure you this is a gratifying occasion. In these quiet halls there is restfulness and feeling of security—an inspiration of faith in one's country."

Mr. Hoover will return to Washington tomorrow almost immediately after delivering his Valley Forge speech.—World-Herald.
