Seventeenth Infantry on Long Practice March
 Will Spend Two Weeks on March to Cover 100 Miles as Part of Training Program

The units of the Seventeenth infantry, located at Fort Crook, will leave the army post on Wednesday for the practice march of approximately 125 miles, the various units remaining out until September 23rd when they will reach the post at Fort Crook.
 The infantry will be under the command of Col. L. L. Gregg on the march and which will include all of the combat units with the field kitchens and all field equipment.
 The first part of the march will cover some twelve miles and the infantry will make their first stop near Papillion, the other camping stops scheduled for the troops being at Mead, Colon, Cedar Bluffs, Fremont, Valley, Waterloo and Wahoo.
 Companies I and K, stationed at Fort Omaha, will not accompany the rest of the regiment as they leave Thursday for Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where they are to be stationed in the future. Captain S. A. Wood will command the units that are to go to Leavenworth.
 Last year the Seventeenth infantry took their practice march to the south, stopping in this city, Union, Nebraska City, Shenandoah, Taber and Glenwood.
 The march gives the soldiers some actual field experience in the various movements and working out the various problems that are offered as a part of the training period.

START ON PRACTICE
 Despite the fact that the weather condition was more suited to a swimming marathon than football playing, the Plattsmouth high school football squad was out Tuesday after the close of school for the first scrimmage and practice of the season.
 Thirty-two suits have been issued to the prospective candidates for the team and some real competition can be expected among the candidates for places on the team this year. Practice will be continued for the opening game with Wahoo on September 25th.

South Bend Store keeper Slugged by Bandit Gang
 Joe Knecht, Aroused Last Night by Seekers After Gasoline Is Hit in Head by Gang

From Tuesday's Daily—
 Last night shortly after 11 o'clock, Joe Knecht, proprietor of the store in the village of South Bend, was slugged and seriously injured in a battle with three bandits who attempted to stick up the storekeeper with the intention of robbing him.
 Mr. Knecht sleeps in the rear of the building that he uses for his store and last night someone rapped at the rear door of the building and calling the storekeeper by name asked him to get the party some gasoline.
 As Mr. Knecht came to the door he took with him an automatic revolver that he uses for guarding the store, opening the door he saw two men and one of the men jabbed a gun in his side and told him to throw up his hands. Here he would be robbers met some unexpected opposition as Joe's hands came up and when the automatic was held up and received the second blow on the arm which caused a severe injury.
 The noise of the struggle had aroused neighbors across the street and a hurried call was made among the residents of the village and several men with shotguns hastened to the store but too late as the trio of bandits had made their getaway but without accomplishing their mission of robbery.
 Sheriff Bert Reed was called and with Constable Tom Svoboda spent several hours searching over the vicinity for any trace of the robbers and notifying other towns to look for some stranger that night, seeking medical aid as Mr. Knecht no doubt injured the man that he had knocked down with the gun.
 The men were in a Ford roadster Mr. Knecht stated, but he could give no description of the trio.

They have made world tours at different times and are now playing in a few of the larger cities on a flying trip from coast to coast.

Damage Suit for Accident Near Murray Corner
 Auburn Transfer Co. and Nebraska City Man Are Parties in the Action Just Filed

Separate answers have been filed in the office of the clerk of the district court at Nebraska City by the Darling Transfer company and C. W. Darling of Nemaha county to the $4,077 damage suit filed against them by George Eicher of Nebraska City. The suit grew out of an automobile accident which occurred March 27, 1931, on U. S. 75 near the Murray corner, in which the Eicher car was damaged and the plaintiff severely injured.
 The answer of the Darling Transfer company says the Nebraska City News-Press, sets forth that its truck was standing off the pavement on the high right of the roadway and was equipped with red lights at the time Eicher crashed into the truck and that the accident was wholly due to careless and reckless driving of Eicher who was driving at an unlawful rate of speed at the time of the crash. It is further set out that Eicher was not keeping a proper and sharp lookout to discover objects and vehicles using the roadway that there was sufficient space to pass the truck without striking it if Eicher had been driving at a reasonable rate of speed.
 The defendant seeks to have the suit dismissed.
 In the answer of C. W. Darling the same contentions are set forth as in the above answer and in addition a cross petition asking $250 damages to his truck is asked.
 On the night of the accident Eicher and his father were returning to Nebraska City from Omaha and at the Murray corner collided with a truck of the Darling Transfer company. Iron pipes extended from the rear, which the Eicher car struck, injuring both Eicher and his father and damaging the car in which they were passengers.

FOURTH ANNIVERSARY
 Four years ago this month, the Legion Community building was opened to the public. In addition to money accumulated by the Legion as a result of its various activities and the generous contributions of the public, an indebtedness of $6,000 was incurred in the erection of the building. In these four years, the past two of which have been far from conducive to "making money," the Legion has been able to meet its interest regularly and reduce the indebtedness $2,000—not a bad showing considering adverse conditions.
 Enterprises that once netted upwards of $1,000 are now good for not more than a hundred or so at best and the dance program that turned in a nice profit the first year has failed to bring in more than enough to pay expenses since the beginning of 1930. In turning to home talent theatricals, the Legion hopes to strike a popular chord of public approval and support and thus be able to keep its head above water until the return of general prosperity, when the matter of raising sufficient money to pay off existing indebtedness and start a fund for the eventual completion of the upper story should be a comparatively easy matter.
 Besides reducing its indebtedness, the organization has made extensive improvements to the building, including a new insulated ceiling that saves on coal consumption and a ventilating fan system that keeps the hall cooler in summer and warmer in the winter.

LEWISTON SOCIAL CIRCLE
 The Lewiston Social Circle held their last meeting of the year on September 2nd at the pleasant home of Mrs. Roy Becker, who was assisted in the entertaining by her sister, Mrs. Harry Gobelman. Mrs. Becker has been a very active member of the club and the splendid meeting arranged by the ladies was very much enjoyed by all of the club members.
 The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Ben Albin, president of the club, who introduced the various subjects of the session. The plans of the coming year's work was outlined, it covering the subject of "Home Beautification," a subject that will have the greatest appeal for all of the members and in the hands of the very capable leaders promises to be one of the most interesting topics that the ladies have studied.
 The new officers were installed and the secretary and treasurer elected, took over the books of the club and will have charge of them the coming year. Mrs. Lula Wolf is the new secretary-treasurer and with her experience promises to give a real administration of the office.
 During the afternoon Mrs. Gobelman and Mrs. Allan Vernon sang several songs and led in the group singing of the club members, this being much enjoyed by all of the party.
 The ladies served delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch that added very much to the enjoyment of the gathering.
 The Social Circle will hold their annual picnic sometime this month at the Lewiston Community center, but the date has not as yet been announced.
