First Product of New Factory is Exhibited

Chamber of Commerce Directors Hear Interesting Reports of Progress Along Industrial Lines

From Thursday's Daily—
Brighter prospects in Plattsmouth industrial lines are foreseen by the Chamber of Commerce, according to report by Ranking Member of the Committee S. S. Davis, made at today's luncheon of Chamber of Commerce directors—the second to be held since June adjournment for the summer.

Messrs. Hiatt and Slayman of our newest industry, the Nebraska Basket Company, were present and had with them some samples of the first baskets turned out in the new Plattsmouth factory. Mr. Slayman also gave the directors a brief address on basket marketing conditions and the growing demand for this product which leads them to believe that from the eight employees now needed to operate the basket weaving and assembling equipment to a pay roll of many times that number will be a matter of but a year or two at the most.

The Industries committee visions the securing of other similar small factories that will give steady employment to stated numbers and reported on its negotiations for several such industries. The report was received with much satisfaction by the directors who voiced approval of all action that has been taken to this end.

President Schneider reported on the state good roads meeting at Hastings yesterday, touching on the highlights of various addresses as well as reports on the Iowa paving plan whereby future gas tax receipts are pledged to the payment of paving costs. The association voted itself opposed to an increase in gas tax rates and to circulate petitions to have the Iowa plan submitted to the voters of this state at the next general election.

To Re-visit Happy Hobbies
Another important report was that of E. H. Wescott, happy hundred chairman, that the 1931-32 season will be held in the near future and that as speaker for the occasion, Governor Bryan will be here. This will be Governor Bryan's first visit to Plattsmouth during his present tenure of office.

Chairman Pollock of the Agricultural committee reported the dates of the Tri-County Poultry Show, early in December. Mr. Nolte, a member of the board, presented the matter of the addition of an agricultural course in the Plattsmouth schools, which he said are attended by many pupils from adjacent rural districts who would get more good out of such a course than the business type of training now being offered. He also pointed out that such training will have much to do with keeping rural youths on the farm, whereas they now look longingly toward the city after graduation and generally do not make "good" farmers.

The question of providing sustenance for the idle travelers who are being accommodated to lodging in the city jail nights was brought up, but passed on to Judge Duxbury's Civic Improvement committee as one worthy of their attention now that the Yard and Garden contest activity is over. There was some suggestion that a woodpile or some such work be provided and those willing to work for their breakfast be accommodated, although it was questioned where the money to pay for same should come from. It was generally agreed that the practice of turning these men loose without food after their grating night's lodging to prey upon the housewives about town by door-to-door panhandling should not be continued. The condition, existent for many weeks, is becoming more acute as cold weather begins to set in, and the C. I. committee was instructed to bring in a report at the next meeting.

Attendance at the meeting was well past the twenty mark, showing a revival of interest in civic matters now that the hot weather is over.

SECURE "WILD" MAN

From Saturday's Daily—
Last evening the night police force rounded up a stranger in the vicinity of the Standard Oil Co. station who was unable to give a very clear account of why he was loafing in the vicinity. He gave the police a number of names the last of which was "John Jones" and under which he was ticketed at the city lockup. There were a number of wanderers in for the night and the "wild man" proceeded to make things merry for some time in the jail. This morning the city washed their hands of the prisoner and turned him over to the county for safekeeping and to try and get some trace of where he might have come from. As soon as Jones arrived at the county jail he started in on another demonstration, kicking over the furniture and attempting to wreck the bunks in the jail. He broke several chairs also before Pat Reed arrived on the scene and quieted down the unruly prisoner.

GO ON HUNTING TRIP

From Thursday's Daily—
At an early hour today A. W. Clويد, Clayton Rosencrans and Carl Ofe departed for Madison county where they are to enjoy a days' pleasant hunting. The hunters were anticipating a fine time and expect to return home with the legal limit of the game birds. The lovers of pheasant hunting in this part of the state are seeking the north and sandhill sections of the state for the hunting as the southeast section and the extreme northwest counties of the state are closed to the pheasant hunters.

MANY GIVEN SHELTER

The city jail is one of the most popular places in the community on the cool autumn evening as there are large numbers of the floaters passing through the city who seek shelter there. The number cared for range from ten to twenty-five each night, making it necessary for many to sleep on the floors of the jail with the inmates.

The problem of raising money with which to take care of the floaters in years past has produced some good plans, the last being given in the spring of 1922, when standing room was sold on both nights.

Personnel of the cast will be published in a few days and advertising started to acquaint the public with the nature of the show, which is said to be one of the snappiest comedies ever presented in Plattsmouth.

COUNTY CORNUSKING CONTEST

Wednesday, October 28.
The Cass county corn husking contest will take place at one o'clock Wednesday, October 28, at the Frank Taylor farm, one half mile south of Alvo.

The field of corn chosen for the contest is in excellent condition. The rows are eighty rods long and the field is very uniform and free from weeds. The yield has been estimated by several to be 50 bushels per acre.

Six men are already entered and preparations will be made to accommodate ten contestants. Entries will close Saturday night, October 24.

The winner of the contest will enter the state corn husking contest which will be held November 9, about four miles west of Schuyler in Colfax county.

OAK HILL STUDY CLUB

The Oak Hill Study club met on Wednesday, October 7th at the home of Miss Helen Johnson.

The subject of the meeting was "The Club and its President."

Officers for the coming year were elected and at a suitable hour very dainty refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. B. Hutchison.

Rehearsing for Home Talent Play Oct. 28-29

Three Act Comedy, "The Early Bird" to be Presented at Platts Under Auspices of Legion.

Members of a carefully selected cast are now engaged in rehearsing daily the three mythical acts that go to make up the Legion sponsored comedy that will be presented at the Platts theatre on the nights of October 28th and 29th. Direction of the play is in the hands of "Demmy" Hiatt, well known old-time theatrical man, whose success in arranging and directing home talent productions is of long standing.

Tickets are now being placed in the hands of Legion members and at the low prices of 50 cents for ground floor seats and 35 cents for the entire balcony, a complete "sell-out" of the house on both nights is anticipated by the committee. Leslie Niel is chairman of the committee, being assisted by "Cap" Gayer and Leo Boynton.

Members of the cast were chosen with the viewpoint of their particular aptitude for the part assigned and include well known Plattsmouth people as well as several from nearby communities, particularly the vicinity of Myrand, where numerous productions of this kind have been sponsored in the past and the players have won fame as seasoned actors.

The decision of the Legion to substitute home talent shows for its former rather questionable money-making enterprise—the outdoor carnival, as presented by traveling carnival aggregations—was favorably received by community leaders when announced some weeks ago, and the united support of the public is anticipated.

The problem of raising money with which to meet operating expenses and pay taxes and interest on the community building is a serious one and requires continued work on the part of Legion members as well as united patronage by the public.

The Legion has steadfastly refused to hire outside producing companies that take most of the profit and in years past has produced some good plays, the last being given in the spring of 1922, when standing room was sold on both nights.

Personnel of the cast will be published in a few days and advertising started to acquaint the public with the nature of the show, which is said to be one of the snappiest comedies ever presented in Plattsmouth.

HOLD CONVOCATION PROGRAM

From Friday's Daily—
The high school held a very interesting convocation program this morning over which Miss Madeline Garnett, president of the student council, presided. The program was in charge of a committee composed of Emily Lorenz, chairman, Mata Schackneis, James Robertson and Edward Wehrlein.

Two very delightful piano numbers, "Muset in G" and "Under the Double Eagle March," were offered by Miss Dorothy McCarthy, Miss Gertrude Vallery gave a splendid reading, "Daddy Doc," which was very much enjoyed, and Miss Mary Ann Rosencrans was heard in three vocal selections, "Hiking Down," "Highway," "Because You're You" and "Dream Your Troubles Away," in her always pleasing manner, the accompaniment being played by Miss Emily Lorenz.

The new school song, words and music by the members of the normal training class was given with the entire school joining in.

The remainder of the convocation period was devoted to the pep rally for the Ashland-Plattsmouth football game.

J. P. FALTER POORLY

The many friends over Cass county will regret very much to learn that J. P. Falter, former county commissioner and one of the prominent democratic leaders of eastern Nebraska, is very ill at the home in this city.

Mr. Falter while going home Wednesday noon, suffered a sudden attack that resembled a stroke, just as he was going into the house. He has since been confined to his bed and his condition is regarded as critical.

The sons, George H. Falter, of Kansas City and John W. Falter, of Falls City, with their wives, came up last evening to visit with the father, George Falter remaining here today while the other members of the family returned temporarily to Falls City.

IOWA PARTIES WEDDED

The bridal couple were accompanied by Miss Grace McCord of Emerson and Vern Dundy of Glenwood. After the wedding the bridal party returned to their homes in Iowa, where the five day license law has caused many of the Iowa young people to come to Nebraska for their marriages.

MANY TO DO OWN SHUCKING

The low price that the new corn is bringing on the market at this time is to serve to reduce the volume of one of the employment sources of the late fall, that of corn shucking, many of the farmers state. With the price that is to be paid for the corn it is expected that the price for shucking will range from two to three cents where the farmers are finding it necessary to secure help in gathering the corn. A great many of the farmers that have small acreages of corn are preparing to do their own corn shucking, striving to cut down the cost of crop production as much as possible. Those who have corn acreage of over one hundred acres will probably engage extra help for the gathering of the crop but at a figure far below that of the last few years.

Barrows Filling Station South of City is Robbed

Burglars Secure $30 in Money and Some Candy from the Wayside Station

From Thursday's Daily—
Sometime during last night the filling station operated by Charles Barrows south of this city, was entered and the parties committing the crime escaped with some $30 taken from a slot machine as well as a small amount of candy and several electric light globes that were used in the building.

The station is located on highway No. 75 just south and east of the residence of E. H. Spangler and has since its establishment been doing a very nice business.

The entrance to the building was made by prying up one of the windows, which broke the lock on the window and permitted the entrance to the office of the station. The slot machine was smashed and the money taken from it, as well as the stock of candy carried for sale and several of the light bulbs from the station.

The robbery was discovered this morning when Mr. Barrows arrived to open the station and as reported at once to the office of Sheriff Bert Reed who with Deputy Sheriff Young motored to the scene but no trace of the robbers could be found.

Writes Conditions in Far Away Chile

Arthur Wichmann, Located at Rancagua, Chile, South America, Tells of Life in South

Under date of Sept. 27, Mr. Arthur Wichmann writes from Chile, to his father, the Rev. O. G. Wichmann:

"We wish to let you know that we are O. K. and that the Chilean revolution was confined to the larger centers of population. We had no disturbance whatsoever in any of the mining camps. At Rancagua organizations were feeding the unemployed when the buns in the surrounding territory found this out, they all rushed over there to get a free hand out. We are still producing our normal output of copper and apparently most of it is being sold as fast as we can make it.

"The first of this month we set our clocks ahead and have daylight saving time now, which gives us more light in the afternoons after work, but it is still rather chilly in the mornings when we get up.

"We are being taxed a little more to take care of the unemployed, but the economic conditions are still unsolved as far as Chile is concerned.

"Our radio is working fine and we have much good music and enjoy it very much. Most of the really good classical music is being enjoyed the world over. Of course most of the vocal music is in Spanish, but the instrumental music is the same in all languages. We recently heard the Westminster Abbey Chimes in London over our radio broadcast by a station in Buenos Aires, Argentina by Arthur Wichmann resides with his family in Caletones Chile in one of the mining camps of the Braden Copper Company. The place is as far south of the equator as Los Angeles is north of it. Consequently it is summer or spring there now. The altitude is about 5000 feet above sea level.

Nebraska Basket Factory Starts Operation

First Baskets Manufactured in Plattsmouth's Newest Factory This Morning

From Thursday's Daily—
The Nebraska Basket Co., operated by L. D. Hiatt and Thomas J. Slayman this morning started the active manufacture of the line of baskets that they are expecting to supply the trade with in the future.

The operation of the new plant is most interesting and takes the virgin timber, in large blocks, running them through the special cutting machine which is the invention of Mr. Slayman, delivering it in the thin wooded strips from which the baskets are modeled. The material for the baskets can be procured in the local community in an unlimited quantity, making it an easy matter to secure this at very low cost.

The strips from which the baskets are formed are woven by women on small stands and then ready for the modeling machines that form the baskets, then the rims of the baskets are nailed on and the handles attached and the basket is ready for sale.

The factory starts with eight persons engaged in the production, but as the factory becomes more thoroughly organized it is expected to be able to increase the capacity as the workmen become more proficient and from one hundred to one hundred and fifty dozen baskets are expected to be turned out each day at the factory.

The first order of the factory was from the Black & White grocery of this city which will have the Plattsmouth made baskets to serve their trade from now on.

There is a great field in this line and many large orders are being negotiated at this time which should keep the factory at top speed and possible enlargements in a short time in order to care for these orders. In this line the orders will be for hundreds of thousand dozen baskets and which will require the making and storing of the baskets for large shipments.

The upper floor of the building will be used for storage and which will hold three car load of the baskets at one time.

That the field of the factory need not be limited to market baskets was shown by the fact that the company was approached yesterday with the proposition of preparing an order for some 45,000 berry boxes to be delivered the coming spring for use in this locality.

The factory has a great future in this line of the west and marks the opening of what it is hoped will be other small factories that can be located here and expanded into large concerns that will furnish employment to many people, both men and women.

JUNIOR PLATTERS LOSE

The second string of Coach Fred Rother's blue and white gridsters were at Omaha Thursday afternoon where they were the guests of the North high seconds, but were unable to overcome the superior weight and force of the Vikings, being defeated by the score of 32 to 0.

The North team is a large and heavy aggregation and with a force of some fifty substitutes had a constant fresh force to hurl against the Platters whose reserve was limited to some three players.

The local second team has some very promising material and made a good fight against the superior Omaha organization.

The first team squad departed shortly after noon today for Ashland where they are to meet the Ashland high school team in the annual clash of the two schools, the locals going with the determination of scoring a victory over the Saunders county metropolitans.

DEPARTS FOR DENVER

George Christy, who was formerly interested in the Majestic cafe, departed Thursday for Denver, where he is expecting to locate for the present at least. Mr. Christy since disposing of his interest in the restaurant, has been having a great deal of trouble with his eyes. He was at the Mayo hospital at Rochester, Minnesota, for some time and under the treatment his eyes have improved a great deal and it is hoped that he will in time be entirely over the trouble. He has been spending the greater part of the time while recuperating, at the George Conis home in this city, as well as with Mr. and Mrs. Gus Stavos at Nebraska City, he being a brother of Mrs. Stavos.

RE-ALIGNING PIERS

The heavy concrete piers at the north end of the Pappio viaduct are being lined up, preparatory to placing the structural steel work and continuing with the laying of the concrete floor of the bridge, itself. These three piers, which were the first sunk, are covered with engineer's chalk marks, showing them to have settled out of line or not been properly located to start with and the contractors are finding it necessary to do considerable extra work getting them ready to receive the super-structure.

The Missouri river bridge here, erected on piers sunk to bedrock, was so perfectly planned that when the time came to join the cantilevers section they went together without a single rivet hole mismatching. There is no reason why this shouldn't be possible with the much smaller viaduct over the Pappio creek that at best will present somewhat of a botched up appearance when viewed from beneath, where the changes are necessary to obtain the precision require in bridge assembly.

State Engineer Cochran recently declared the new viaduct would be ready to travel over around the first of December.

When finished, it will eliminate the last detour on the route between this city and Omaha, giving continuous paving with the exception of the stretch from the Valley farm to the south end of the Platte river bridge. A future viaduct is planned over the Burlington tracks at Oreadopolis, but the plans have not progressed so far clearly to definitely lay out a course for the road, as yet. In the meantime it has been promised that this mile of highway will be treated with a heavy coat of oil, a new type of road construction that is being tried out in Nebraska with satisfactory results and at a cost of only about one-third what is required to pave.

HAS EYES TREATED

Alfred Edgerton, of this city, who has been at Omaha having an operation as well as treatment on his eyes, has returned home feeling very much improved. The eyesight has been greatly improved and it is thought that the eyes will regain their former sight and strength. Mr. Edgerton has the offer of a very lucrative position in Omaha as soon as the eyesight improves and which he hopes to soon be able to take up.

REV. SORTOR BETTER

The friends in this community of Rev. H. E. Sortor, former pastor of the local M. E. church, will be pleased to learn that he is now back at the home at Potter, Nebraska. Rev. Sortor has been suffering from pneumonia and the severity of the case made necessary his being taken to the hospital at Kimball. The crisis of the case was past on last Friday and he is now able to be taken to the home and to sit up for a part of the time. He will, however, not be able to carry on his pastoral work for some time.

Mrs. Don Seiver is Named Head of Legion Auxiliary

Interesting Meeting Held With Address by Mrs. D. A. Hilton, Gold Star Mother

The Plattsmouth unit of the American Legion Auxiliary held one of the most interesting meetings of the year Friday afternoon at the Legion building, a very large number of the members being in attendance.

Mrs. D. A. Hilton, of Los Angeles, a former resident in this city, who has just recently returned from a Gold Star pilgrimage to France, was in attendance at the meeting and gave a very fine address on the trip to the old world, visiting that soil of France which shall always be American because in it rests the fallen heroes of the A. E. F. Mrs. Hilton visited at the grave of her son, Howard Hilton, who was killed in action during the Meuse-Argonne offensive in the fall of 1918. She told of the wonderful care that had been provided by the government for the mothers of the heroes, the splendid ships that carried them to France, the unending attention that they had received from the time of landing until they were returning home to the United States. The address of Mrs. Hilton was followed with the closest interest, the audience being one that is very dear to the hearts of all of the service men and women.

Following the fine address the unit took up the business matters of the session, the chief of which was the election of the officers, the following being named:

President—Mrs. Don Seiver.

Vice-President—Mrs. H. L. Gayer.

Secretary—Mrs. Fay McClintock.

Treasurer—Mrs. John H. Palack.

Chaplain—Mrs. Adelaide Boynton.

Members of Executive Committee—Mrs. R. J. Larson, Mrs. L. W. Niel.

After the close of the business session the ladies enjoyed a very fine luncheon which had been arranged by the hostesses of the afternoon.

The new president has long been one of the active workers of the local unit, her untiring efforts, the contributions much to the upbuilding of the splendid auxiliary in this city. The many friends of Mrs. Seiver are well pleased to learn of her election as the head of this patriotic society.

The retiring president of the unit is Mrs. R. J. Larson, who for her fine work in the office was named a member of the executive committee.

WILL EXTEND GRAVEL

The gravel program of the county is to be enlarged by the addition of five miles of gravel on the Louisville-Greenwood road west from the present termination of the gravel west of Louisville. The new section to be gravelled will bring the surfaced road to the Murdock corner and will give a fine road to the three churches on this highway, better known as the "church road." The gravel will then be within eight miles of the town of Greenwood, leaving but a small section yet to be surfaced to give an all gravel road east and west through the northern portion of Cass county. It is hoped that the next season can make it possible to complete the highway from Plattsmouth to Greenwood.

Charles L. Creamer Called to Last Reward

Long Time Resident of Cass County Called to Rest at Hospital in Omaha Friday.

Friday afternoon at Omaha occurred the death of Charles L. Creamer, 70, long time resident of Cass county, who has for the past few years been in failing health. Mr. Creamer, who has made his home in Omaha for the past five years, was taken ill a year ago and an operation was performed that gave him some relief but shortly after his release from the hospital he fell and sustained a fractured hip from the effects of which he never fully recovered. A few days ago he suffered an attack of pneumonia and from which he passed away Friday.

Mr. Creamer was born in Mills county, Iowa, May 21, 1861, and when but a child of two years his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Creamer, removed from the Iowa home to Cass county, Nebraska, settling in Eight Mile Grove, in which community Charles Creamer grew to manhood. Mr. Creamer followed the occupation of his father, that of farming and for a number of years was engaged in farming south of this city, remaining there until the family moved into Plattsmouth some ten years ago. The deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church for a great many years, remaining a member of this faith until his death. SECURES FINE BAG OF GAME

From Friday's Daily—
Frank R. Gobleman and J. C. Coleman, who have been out enjoying a few days in the west part of the state and incidentally doing some pheasant hunting, returned this morning. They were very successful in the hunt and came back with the allotted five birds, each. They did the greater part of their hunting in the vicinity of Callaway.
