Needs New Tires Now.
Late last week when R. C. Pollard was in Lincoln he had an excellent opportunity to purchase some tires at a good figure, exchanging those on his car as well. This equipped Mr. Pollard was feeling pretty good and was sitting pretty as to the tire equipment of his car and returned home. He placed the car as ordinarily in his garage, and on Sunday morning when he went to the garage found that the tires and as well the rims had been borrowed by some one who thought they needed the new tires as much as did Raymond. Now Mr. Pollard is in need of an entire equipment of new tires and rims for his car.

Mrs. John Opp Better.
Mrs. John Opp, who is still in the hospital in Omaha, where she has been for the past several weeks, while somewhat improved, is still so poorly that it is considered best not to have her leave the institution for some time. In a telephone conversation with her, the husband learned that the attending physician thought it would be some two weeks yet before she would be sufficiently able to leave the hospital.

Out of Quarantine.
Hennings Johnson and family have been in quarantine for the past twenty-one days on account of the children having a siege of scarlet fever. However, they all got along alright and are entirely over the dread disease, and the doctor having charge of the case was able to raise the quarantine on last Saturday and the family are now free to go where they may choose. They feel pretty well by being given their liberty.

Olaf Lundberg, who sells radios and other electrical appliances, was listening in the other night when President Hoover was advocating giving a job when one could, and casting about to see what he might do in the line of giving employment to the townsmen, he lighted on the room where R. C. Pollard had the oil office and where J. J. Pollard has the implement store and thought it would look better and so had Ed Wood get after the front and give it a good painting. Thus the building was bettered and Edward had a job of painting. Let the good work go on.

CHILD SCALDED BADLY
A housewife in a letter to her local newspaper described the following occurrence in her home. "My two-year-old son, while trying to climb upon a chair in the kitchen tipped over a pan of hot water and scalded himself badly. I ran to the telephone and called the doctor who was in the house before I had finished giving first aid. After such an occurrence I stop and think how fortunate I am to have a telephone in our home. I wonder how many housewives do not have a telephone in their home? For I am firmly convinced after my son's accident today that I wouldn't keep house without a telephone."

Increased Grain Prices Seen as 'Lighting Way'
Milner Says 'Jubilant' at Turn in Markets of World—An Aid to Corn
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 31.—Cereal grains in all world markets continued today to reflect the upward trend in values which has carried wheat values to an increase of 37 per cent in four weeks, other grains in proportion, as foreign buyers continued to look to the United States and Canada for breadstuffs they had expected from Russia.

Reports that Norway had joined the ranks of European countries seeking American grains aided in advancing May wheat prices in Chicago Board of Trade pits 1 1/2 cents a bushel. Before the market's close, wheat had set a new high price of the year at 64 1/2 cents, closing at 66 cents. It was freely predicted by grain men that dollar wheat is in prospect. Liverpool's wheat prices advanced 2 1/2 cents. Winnipeg prices advanced more than a cent to record high prices for the Canadian 1931 crop.

Russia was reported to be making an effort to secure release of some 37 million bushels of its wheat now in British markets to be returned to the soviet government, while private interests representing France were again making secret advances to the federal farm board in anticipation of its needs in the next three months.

Offers to Farm Board.
The federal farm board, it was learned in Washington today, has offers from foreign buyers sufficient to dispose of every bushel of wheat and every bale of cotton it controls in stabilization operations. The credit terms asked, however, are not satisfactory, and Carl Williams, cotton board member, declares progress is being made on plans to obtain banking credits for the potential buyers. Cotton holdings of the board, however, cannot be sold until July 31, 1932, according to the pledge given southern growers and bankers to hold its 1,300,000 bales off the present market.

Countries known to have approached the farm board for wheat include France, Germany, Poland, Norway, Czechoslovakia and Spain.

George S. Milner, head of the Grain Stabilization corporation, said, "We are jubilant at the turn of events have taken in the world's wheat pits. Wheat has been too low priced. People who didn't want wheat at 45 cents have been striving to buy it at 60 cents in the last few weeks."

"If the credit negotiations are successful we will get our holdings down to a point where they will be in no way burdensome to us or to the trade."

The return of heavy trading on Chicago's board of trade this week was said by its members to have come about naturally from the complete reversal of the world's needs in grain since September. Many were forecasting that rising wheat and corn prices might "light the way back to general prosperity" as James C. Murray, the exchange's president, issued a statement saying that "during the last few weeks the entire outlook the world over has sharply changed."

Belief to Corn.
While other grains were bounding upward along with wheat, farmers and business men took special note of the relief that has come this week in corn prices, the midwest's leading grain crop.

Reports were coming from such points as Cedar Rapids, Ia., where corn was being sold at a premium over the Chicago cash quotations, that that corn would be offered at less than 30 cents a bushel.

Another commodity market was holding promise for the rural areas, as beef cattle reached and maintained the top prices of $11.25 and $11.50 per hundredweight.

Hog prices have been under pressure of large receipts, but have returned a greater price this week than the week previous. Sheep receipts, with increased volume, were also bringing a greater total return this week than in the similar period three weeks ago.—Paul Potter in World-Herald.

SPEAK FOR RELIEF PLAN
New York—A leader of labor and an international financier voiced Sunday night a nation-wide appeal for support of federal, state and local relief measures to meet the unemployment emergency. Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee on mobilization of relief resources, and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, appealed to families everywhere to do their utmost toward ending the condition.

"Let no person justify his conscience or excuse himself to his neighbors from giving to the utmost because some lazy people may get too much," said Mr. Young. "If funds are properly distributed they will not. Those who are close to my heart and yours are the truly unemployed. They are employable, and in good times are employed."

Mr. Green characterized unemployment as "the most vital and acute problem of the nation today," and said "the call of the moment is for service and action."
