Support of America for Hoover Plan
Requested—Pershing Recalls
Situation a Decade Ago

New York, Nov. 8.—Mary Pickford, Charles A. Lindbergh, General John J. Pershing, Irvin S. Cobb and Kathleen Norris joined tonight in appeals to the people of America for support of President Hoover's organization of unemployment relief.

"We must all move quickly," the screen star said, "to help our neighbors and preserve our own self-respect. Believe me, what we do for others in these crises of life comes back to us not a hundred-fold but a thousand."

"We have in this country all that is necessary for the welfare of every individual," Lindbergh said. "We can and do not doubt will survive the present crisis. Our great test is now we emerge. Our future depends today on individual recognition of responsibility."

Blames Fear Psychology.
Mrs. Norris said fear psychology was the base of much of the world's present troubles. She said Americans should do all in their power to banish the fears of their neighbors, and cheer them into an optimistic state of activity, both with material assistance and encouraging sympathy.

"If tomorrow America should call for men to die for her, as she did in the world war, millions would volunteer," General Pershing said. "But this call is not for sacrifice of life, it is to give life. You are summoned to live like Americans and to see that your neighbors live like Americans—strong and unafraid. You cannot afford to fail."

Compared to World War.
The wartime battle leader compared the situation to that which the country faced slightly more than a decade ago. "Whereas in the war, soldiers fell in the heat of action," he said, "today millions of honest, hard-working people are fighting idleness and want through no fault of their own and are losing out."

"These fellow citizens of ours are face to face with extreme privation. Unless we act quickly their suffering from cold and hunger will be pitiful; they will lose their courage and their pride in themselves; and, worse than all, they will lose their confidence in America and become the prey of devastating theories."

"If we do not act at once, this winter will bring a numbing calamity that will grip the economic and political vitals of our country for a generation. But we will act. We are Americans."—World-Herald.

City Council Holds Regular Meet Monday

Dispose the Division of Money Into Various Funds; Interest Charges
on Special Improvement

From Tuesday's Daily
The city council met last evening for the first meeting of November, all of the members being present except Councilman Patton of the fifth ward.

The reports of the various city officers were presented for the consideration of the council. City Clerk Thomas reported that he had collected in the month of October, the sum of $750.39, which had been turned over to the city treasurer. The report of City Treasurer John E. Kirkham showed that there was a balance of funds of $28,843.44, an overdraft in other funds of $35,513.34, or a cash balance of $3,329.60, which was deposited in the banks of the city, $2,268.37 in the Plattsmouth State bank; $796.51 in the Farmers State bank, and $264.72 in the First National bank.

There was some discussion by the members of the disposition and division of the money into the various funds, some showing a sudden increase while others were overdrawn and this matter the finance committee will take up with the treasurer.

The chief of police and city judge showed that for the month of October there had been collected $23.50 in fines and costs, the larger number of the prisoners having served their time out in jail and working.

Councilman Luschinsky of the judiciary committee reported that the district court had sustained the demurrer of the city in the case of Trud vs. Kirkham, which action was pending in the district court.

Councilman Davis of the finance committee presented an opinion of the city attorney in regard to the matter of succeeding year funds in the treasury being responsible for overdrafts of the preceding year. The city attorney held that the council could issue warrants after the city levy for the amount of eighty-five percent of the levy made, if the funds were available they might be paid to the full one hundred percent. It was necessary, the city attorney held, that where an overdraft existed in any fund at the end of the fiscal year, that this overdraft should be considered and provided in the succeeding levy as well as the funds for the current year. The report was received and placed on file.

Chairman Johnson of the streets, alleys and bridges committee, reported that on the petition of Henry Qte for permission to have the alley running through their property vacated, that the same be granted and that ordinance vacating said alley be prepared and published. This report was adopted by the unanimous vote of the council.

Councilman Johnson also stated that the city had fixed the streets up in as good a shape as possible for the winter season and that at this time the force was reduced to as low a figure as possible owing to the finances of the city.

Chairman Davis of the fire and water committee stated that the water franchise ordinance was still in the hands of the water corporation and that more time would have to be had by the committee. Mr. Minor, the superintendent of the water corporation, stated that the franchise had been sent to the headquarters of the company at Portland, Maine, but no reply had been received as yet.

Chairman Talene of the cemetery committee also asked more time on the matter of bids for the purchase of additional land for cemetery purposes, which request was granted.

Chairman Puls of the finance committee presented a resolution that provided that the city clerk, receiving payments in full for special improvement taxes after the period of grace had expired, should charge the full interest to the maturity of the bonds issued, to cover the cost of the improvement. The city had to pay the bonds to maturity and with it the interest.

The resolution was opposed by Councilman Smith and Councilman Webb on the grounds that it would keep many from paying in their improvement tax in one lump sum and carrying it over a period of years. Councilman Webb stated that while a small amount might be lost if the payments were accepted in short periods after the bonds were issued, more would be lost if parties were required to pay a full interest to the maturity of the bonds. Councilman Johnson moved that the matter be referred to the judiciary committee which was accepted.

Councilman Smith asked that the tile be placed near the Missouri Pacific viaduct on West Locust street to carry off the water that now overflows the walks and crossing. This was referred to the streets, alleys and bridges committee. Councilman Puls asked that Granite street from Sixth to Seventh street be paved as it was in very bad shape. This was also referred to the streets committee to report at next meeting.

Councilman Davis asked that the claim of the Plattsmouth fire department be referred to the judiciary committee to determine whether the city had the right to levy a tax on insurance companies and then transfer the same to the fire department as was asked in the claim. This motion was adopted.

The following claims were ordered paid by the council:

Opponent to Hoover Possible in Nebraska

But Republicans Are Not Saying
Anything—In Public; Morris'
Plans Are Uncertain

Friends of President Hoover in Nebraska are in suspense over possibility that the name of a progressive candidate will be filed on the presidential preference ballot. Continuous discussion on the east over the attitude of Senator Borah, Senator Hiram Johnson and Governor Pinchot toward the republican nomination has its reactions in Nebraska, though local sponsors have not come forward for any particular candidate.

Friends of President Hoover in Nebraska are in suspense over possibility that the name of a progressive candidate will be filed on the presidential preference ballot. Continuous discussion on the east over the attitude of Senator Borah, Senator Hiram Johnson and Governor Pinchot toward the republican nomination has its reactions in Nebraska, though local sponsors have not come forward for any particular candidate.

The report that Johnson now seriously thinks of trying his strength in California against the president has caused local republicans to wonder what would happen if the senator were to repeat in 1932 here.

E. L. Bradley, who was one of Johnson's lieutenants in 1920, said Saturday that he has not heard a word about the senator's intentions. "I think I would know," he added, "if he plans to enter this state."

Public and Private Opinions.
Former Governor Adam McMullen, while in Omaha, last week, said for publication that he had heard of no opposition to the president. But to a number of his friends he is said to have asserted that Hoover has not merited the support of Nebraska. McMullen has announced that he probably will be a candidate for delegate-at-large in the hope of getting something in the republican platform that will help agriculture. He was a Norris delegate at the Kansas City convention.

Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania has the best organization. His friends have flooded this part of the country with literature. It would not be surprising, say independent republicans, to find that he will try conclusions in Nebraska.

Good Party Men—Now.
Both Senators Howell and Norris have returned to Washington without openly getting out of the republican organization in fact. Senator Howell is just at this moment more of a party man than he has been for some time, as result of the outcome of the fight on the Omaha postmaster ship.

It is said he has told his friends he "always stays within the party," reserving the right to his personal opinion on questions other than those requiring caucus action. No one can be found to predict what Senator Norris will do. Local republicans say that with the close lines now drawn between parties in Washington, organization of the party is just what must be awaited to show its effect on party fortunes. Then some progressives may be revealed as not progressive. Fear of a democratic sweep may send them all to cover under the shadow of the elephant.

WARNS OF A THIRD PARTY
Washington — Democrats were warned by Senator Wheeler of Montana to nominate Governor Roosevelt of New York "or some other liberal" for president or face the possibility of a third party. The Montana asserted that "eastern bosses" already were out to stop the nomination of Roosevelt and "if they succeed there would be no more chance for success at the polls than there was in 1928." Senator Wheeler's warning of a third party was the first to be heard in high political circles, and it was duly noted, for Wheeler joined the late Senator LaFollette in a third party movement in 1924, running as vice presidential candidate.

"The democrats can win with Roosevelt or lose without him," he said. "They can take their choice. If they fail to nominate Roosevelt or some other liberal they can rest assured a third party will spring up embracing the progressive element in both major parties."

DURKE WINS MATCH IN STRAIGHT FALLS, CHICAGO
Chicago — Rudy Durke, Omaha heavyweight wrestler, defeated George Zaharias of Colorado, in straight falls in the main event at the coliseum. After Durke had won the first fall in 15:4 with a body slam, the referee awarded him the second fall in 15:08, on a foul. Zaharias was charged with kicking Durke. Durke weighed 215 pounds to 235 for Zaharias.

Legionnaires Celebrate.
The ex-service men of Nehawka post No. 157 gave the visitors in Nehawka of which there were many, a go for their money or time when they celebrated the passing of Armistice day with races by the kiddies and girls and the boys with a tug of war, and slipper kicking contest which created much applause and a general good time was provided for all.

There was a candy eating contest which was a sure enough sweet contest and a display of how to eat candy gracefully and quick. A very fine supper was served by the Legion Auxiliary which satisfied all and only cost two bits. Following this was a party along nicely and is much better, and hopes are entertained that she will ultimately regain her health. Since his arrival Mr. Troop has received a letter from the wife saying she was getting along nicely.

The fire had been burning so long that the house was badly damaged before it was stopped. The center of the house was badly burned as the fire seems to have started there and many of the outer rooms were not materially hurt.

The origin of the fire was a mystery, and it is thought to have been the result of spontaneous combustion. It was not long until Clifford Trotter and his fire fighters were on the scene fighting to save this building and prevent the fire spreading to others.

Visiting Relatives Here.
Mrs. R. E. Archer and son of East Wallingford, Vermont, arrived in Nehawka late last week and are visiting with the Sheldon and Pollard families who are cousins. After an extended visit for a number of weeks, the Archer party will go on to California, where they will spend the winter.

The lad was hastened to Nebraska City where A. R. Kintner dressed the wound, applying the fractured jaw bone with a gold wire and dressing. The flesh wound upon the young man was brought back home.
