They returned home from Nebraska City only to find that the parents of Mr. Withrow, C. E. Withrow and wife, had been visiting in the city during their absence, coming for a visit with them.

Visited In Omaha.

On last Sunday Tony Sudduth and the family of Weeping Water were guests at the home of their friends, W. E. Moore and family of Union and while here all enjoyed the visit very much. While the women folks visited at the home, the men and Jack Roddy beguiled the hours and minutes by playing pinochle at the store. During the afternoon the two families of Tony Sudduth and Wade Moore went to Omaha looking at the dazzling show windows and did a deal of shopping, as well as seeing the autumn leaves displayed in mill-colors by the wayside.

Picnic Again In The Pasture.

On last Sunday, being a very fine day, Joe, Anna and Frank Bauer, Henry H. Becker and wife, and their daughter, Genevieve, and Mr. and Mrs. Fowler of Omaha, sought the beautiful landscape in the Split pasture where they spent the day and at noon time partook of an excellent dinner. The men sought amusement playing golf and also the ladies taking a hand. This seemed to put them in another class that the ordinary citizens which they had been and Billie Taylor declares that there is a tendency of Frank Bauer to rather high-hat him since Frank has acquired the science of golf.

Gilbert Hull Much Better.

Gilbert Hull, who was so poorly for a time is now much better and able to be out and has been making trips to Omaha, having delivered some 21 head of cattle to the stock market at South Omaha on last Monday for Floyd Saxton also taking with him Willis Eaton, to see the son, Clifford.

Received Very Bad Wound.

Clifford, the 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Eaton, desired a gun to shoot with and on being refused by his mother, she taking the stock from the barrel, told the lad he could not have it. However, Clifford getting the barrel, securing a shell and placing it in the barrel of the gun, hit it with a hammer, which exploded the shell and the particle catching one of his hands, being the point of the shell, finger away as well as a portion of the palm of the hand. The lad was rushed to the hospital at Omaha where the hand was dressed and the lad was kept until it was seen just how severe the injury was to develop into. He remained for a number of days. The accident occurred on last Sunday. Mr. Eaton visited the hospital every day so as to keep in touch with the development of the case. On Tuesday, it was thought that the injury was making fair progress towards recovery. However, Clifford will be minus a portion of his index finger and two a portion of the palm of the hand.

It Will Be The Sower.

lor has concluded that he would speak to this subject and a program of the Red Cross and also the young folks on another day, intervened and the discourse was put off and now it will be used for the coming Lord's day. Better be there and hear this subject discussed in a masterful manner. An invitation is extended also to come worship with the church as well as enjoy the Bible school. The same invitation is extended by the Methodist church, they both being filled by a very fine class of people.

Has Lights Installed.

Mrs. Talitha Smith, during the week has had her house wired for electric lights and has had them installed and with the vast difference between the bright lights and the former kerosene lights she is well pleased.

Will Visit Here For Time.

Mrs. Clara Davis of Union was rejoiced last week when she had her sister, Mrs. Mary Sherman of Arkansas City, Kansas, where she has made her home for many years, and who has been wishing to come and visit with her sister, Mrs. Davis. The sisters were much rejoiced to get to see each other and to enjoy the visit. Mrs. Sherman will remain for some time and they will enjoy each others company.

Served Double Purpose.

The Union fire ladders who are an active set under all circumstances had a merry chase on last Tuesday morning when the siren sounded calling them to fight a fire and to save the property, which some one had labored to obtain. The lads were out in double quick time and reaching the fire house were ready to make the run when they were informed it was a practice run. However, there was work to be done, for during the some time past, and maybe a long time at that, the intendant travelers, with a lack of funds to provide a place to sleep, had through the courtesy of the city been allowed to sleep in the city bastille and the experience has shown that some of them were not the very best house-keepers, and after the lapse of time the dirt accumulated on the floor and there had likely some parties taken homesteads, and to provide the place clean for those who might come the place was washed out with the fire hose and now is spotlessly clean.

Making Improvement At Home.

Mynard Club Members Hold Social Meeting

Enjoy Two Short Playlets—Also Discuss Organizing a Protective Association for Relief.

At the meeting of the Mynard Community club Friday evening, a move was launched to organize the farmers of the vicinity to protect themselves against trespassing of hunters. It seems to be quite common for these city hunters to shoot poultry and once in a while a hog. Besides, the carelessness of their action endangers human life as well as the safety of farm property.

It is the intention, after perfecting the organization, to have a local game warden appointed who can soon be on the ground after being notified to take care of these undesirable visitors. It is to be hoped that this nuisance will soon be a thing of the past.

The major attraction of the evening was the two one act plays put on by the ladies of the club. The first play, "Paradise," was supposed to have taken place at a New Hampshire railroad station, when a young woman was storm bound, there being no hotel in the town and so she decided to remain at the station all night, which was strenuously objected to by the station agent. Nevertheless she was undaunted and remained, to the enjoyment of the audience. The characters in this play were Miss Vivian Livingston, Mrs. Ida Cole, Mrs. Howard Wiles and Mrs. Raymond Cook.

The second of the plays, "The Quiet Hotel," seemed to be the opposite of what the name would suggest. The characters in this play were Mrs. C. C. Barnard, Mrs. Roy Cole and Mrs. S. W. Cole.

The reporter, not having had experience as a dramatic critic, cannot do justice to the ladies putting on these two plays, but suffice it to say that they all seemed to be as much at home on the stage as though it was a daily occurrence, and judging from the applause, their rendition was very much appreciated.

Court Sustains Demurrer of City in Warrant Case

Demurrer of City Attorney Capwell Makes All Holders of Disputed Warrants Parties

From Monday's Daily

In the case of Abraham L. Tidd vs. Joe E. Kirsham, city treasurer, the demurrer of the city of Plattsmouth, filed by City Attorney J. A. Capwell, was sustained by the district court this morning after the matter was submitted the first of last week. The plaintiff is given ten days in which to submit amended petition.

The demurrer of the city was that all holders of the warrants issued by the city, whose legality was attacked by the plaintiff, should be made party defendants, which contention was sustained by the court.

Mr. Tidd in his action contended that the creation and ordering of the construction of a viaduct over the Burlington property on Granite street, was illegal, that the warrants issued in payment of their part of the work by the city, was illegal, because of the fact that appropriation for the same was not made in the annual appropriation bill and also that the warrants were issued without a vote of the people.

The aggregate of the warrants involved is $18,000, some $10,000 of the warrants having been purchased by the board of education as an investment of their sinking fund. The remainder of the warrants are held by private individuals, largely, all of whom are now made party defendants in the action brought by Mr. Tidd.

Garner of Texas Says Democrats will Take Lead

Not to Shift Responsibility if They Have Majority in the House—Party Mapping Program

Washington—A full legislative program designed to relieve the nation's worries is planned by the democrats. It is to be presented to the incoming congress regardless of which party organizes the house. This plan announced by Representative Garner, democratic leader, upon his arrival from his home at Valde, Texas. The Texas did not disclose the scope of the program, but expressed the opinion it would be adequate to meet the situation. He added that some emergency might make changes necessary within the period of the session.

Garner arrived shortly after the republican floor leader in the last congress, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, announced house republicans plan to nominate a speaker and contest for control despite the democratic majority. While Garner declined to discuss public questions, he said the matter of organizing the house still "is in the lap of the Gods." Until the house meets Dec. 7, he added, it could not be determined which party would have the most votes on the floor.

"When responsibility comes to the democrats we should accept it and we will. Whether the responsibility is the organization of the house or in forming a policy for the nation, we should accept it or get out."

Garner has no opponent in his party for the speakership nomination, and is expected to receive its unanimous support. Virtually all the 217 democrats have pledged themselves to the Texas, while the speakership nomination battle among the 214 republicans is raging. Tilson and Representative Snell of New York, chairman of the last rules committee, remain the outstanding candidates.

Tilson said his party would present the administration legislative program and would proceed as if it were in the majority. The Hoover moratorium, he added, headed the program. Quick action on measures to make acceptable certain paper not

W. H. M. S. MEETS

From Wednesday's Daily

Last evening the W. H. M. S. held its first regular meeting of the year, being second Tuesday of the month, at the home of Mrs. Madge Keck. Devotions were led by Mrs. Boynton from the Psalm and emphasizing also the character of Paul as our example. Business meeting was carried on according to regular order of business, and plans completed for the Thanksgiving program and tea to be given in church parlors on Tuesday afternoon November 24, to which the public is invited, and it is hoped many friends of the society will find it possible to attend.

The study was given to items from the October Missionary Friend which were found varied and interesting. Here were current topics on citizenship and prohibition and senate committee reports on condition of Navajos which were very much to the point. Reports on several of the schools, homes and hospitals under supervision and ownership of the national society showed the work still crowded but also lack of funds making it difficult to manage. However the result for better Christian citizenship from such handicapped people make local members feel it worth more sacrifice on their part.

A few interesting stories were interspersed and lesson closed with a few helpful on leadership, publicity, and why dues should be paid early.

Also the society voted to dispense with refreshments except on special occasions, the attendance was good and a few minutes were taken for social chat before departing homeward. Refreshments of apples served by the hosts.
