"CONFESSION" IS CHECKED

Portsmouth, N. H.—Police authorities at Salt Lake City, Utah, asked officials of the United States naval prison here for further details of the statements of Warren F. Pope, alias Frank Webster, that he had slain Mrs. Dorothy M. Mooremeister in Salt Lake City. The police authorities immediately gave the Salt Lake City police details of the story told by Pope, serving twenty-four months for desertion.

Pope had told the authorities that, with a companion, he had slain Mrs. Mooremeister during an automobile party. He provided the authorities with details of the location and of the killing altho he said the slaying occurred in November, 1929, while it actually occurred in February, 1930. Salt Lake police were skeptical of the story but asked for the details in order to check them. Pope had been arrested there at one time and on that occasion had told police of a murder which proved to be a myth.

Over Dozen Deaths Charged to the Storm

Snow Blankets Area from Pacific Coast to St. Louis—Much Suffering Caused.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—It was a white Thanksgiving day in the west.

Snow blanketed a wide area from the Pacific coast east to St. Louis, giving the traditional background for the holiday.

The snow scene was painted with a wide splash during the day across the Texas Pan-Handle, northern Oklahoma, Kansas, eastern Nebraska and Missouri for the first time this season.

A new storm was raging in Montana, which, like other Rocky mountain states, has been snow-covered since the first of the week. For the Pacific coast there was a white coating in the high mountain regions.

The gaily lent to the Turkey day festivities was not without its tragic side. More than a dozen deaths were charged to the snow and cold in the mountain regions and a party of five motorists drowned in a rainswollen creek near Tyler, Tex.

Much Suffering. There was much suffering among persons marooned with little food and shelter, principally Navajo Indian pigeon nut pickers in New Mexico, at least nine of whom froze to death.

John Moody, a sheep herder, was found dead from exposure near Glenrock, Wyo.

Among the missing were Robert Gordon and Billie Haines, 15-year-old boys who were last seen leaving for school Tuesday. Searching parties combed snowdrifts near Columbia Falls, Mont., for the youths.

Blizzards conditions were reported around Bozeman, Mont., and many highways were blocked in that state. A flock of nine hundred sheep wandered onto thin ice on a reservoir near Matla, Mont., during a snow-storm and drowned.

Some Planes Through. Blinding snow and low clouds caused the cancellation of numerous air mail and passenger flights, but some planes got through in the afternoon.

Most of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho, northern Utah and a good portion of New Mexico were under from a few inches to two and three feet of snow in the mountains, with much deeper deposits where there was drifting.

Minnesota and North Dakota were virtually all snow-covered, but there was no further fall today.

The unexpected storm in the vicinity of Kansas City found an American Beauty rose blooming under heavy swirls of snow in the garden of Mrs. J. T. Bradshaw. Apple trees near Columbus, Kans., bore both blossoms and trimmings of snow. Temperatures were not severe.

The Kansas wheat belt received a protective covering of an inch to two inches.

RAIL WAGES ARE STUDIED

Montreal—James Murdock, vice-president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, told the board of wage conciliation hearing proposals for a 10 percent cut in railway workers' pay that Canadian operatives receive 6 1-2 percent less than Americans, even when extra compensation to the dominion men is added to the scale. Thursday's public conference of the workers and representatives of the two leading rail systems was devoted mostly to discussion of "arbitraries" paid for services performed before and after their regular runs regarding more than 2 percent of Canadian employees in the twenty-one brotherhoods received a "fraction of 1 percent in 'arbitraries'."

All evidence was handed over to the board, which is composed of J. M. MacDonell, Toronto, chairman, and Isaac Pitblado, Winnipeg, for the companies and Dr. J. C. Hemmion, of McGill University, Montreal. The three will conclude their deliberations in private. Their report and recommendation later will be submitted to Gideon Robertson, dominion minister of labor.

SOCIALISTS HEAR SHAW

London—George Bernard Shaw preached an eloquent funeral oration on socialism. In his annual address before the Fabian society, the inner circle of intellectual socialists in England, of whom Shaw has been the high priest for many years, he declared there was nothing left save for the Fabians to call themselves communists.

"You are either communists or you are what Ramsay MacDonald and Viscount Snowden are—whatever that is," Shaw said. "Communism is a force which will be set up against capitalism. There is nothing left of bolshevism, collectivism, anarchism or class war. Only communism remains."

After all, Shaw said, Russian communism was nothing more than the program of the Fabians had been preaching for forty years.

"Under the pressure of practical application," he explained, "the soviet government has turned communism into Fabianism. But the communists won't take our name so we must take theirs." Altho proclaiming himself a communist—Shaw said he liked—Shaw devoted most of his address to illustrating with wit and epigrams and shortcomings and difficulties of the soviet government.

OLD COURSE OF PLATTE FOUND

Lincoln, Nov. 26.—That flats northeast of Ashland in which the wells that will provide Lincoln its future water supply were once the bed of the Platte river as claimed by geologists, was verified when workmen digging the trench for a pipe line to the wells uncovered, about eight feet below the surface, an old beaver dam and what appeared to be drift wood.

Pieces of the dam and of the drift wood were taken out of the ditch and are in care of the contractor, who reported the find to City Commissioner William Schroeder, head of the water department.

The find is "intensely interesting," Prof. A. L. Lugin, geologists at the university said.

"It verifies the claims of geologists that many years ago the Platte river channel passed through an entirely different territory than that which it now traverses," he said. "From the standpoint of time as considered by geologists," he added, "this would not be long. But as time is considered by people generally, it might have been several hundred years ago."

BUTLER LAUGHS AT NEWS

Philadelphia—Back home from a speaking tour and in excellent health, Major General Butler, formerly of the marine corps, chuckled when informed a tablet commemorating his service as public safety director here had been removed from the navy building in Washington to the marine barracks at Quantico, Va.

"Could anyone ask for a better break than that?" the general laughed. "It appears to be only further proof of my charges the swivel chair admirals are doing all they can to subordinate the marine corps.

"Of course, I really don't know why it was moved. But I wish someone would start a movement to have it brought back to the city hall in Philadelphia, where the things it commemorates were performed. That has always been my fond hope. That
