Like Life in Antipodes.
A letter from Phillip Coatsman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Coatsman, at Honolulu, stated that Phillip is liking the life there and also the work, as he is in the air service. A test was made in which Phillip figured some time since, which came unawares, requiring work to be done, and with another one and two helpers the notice came to change a motor and install another in the middle of the night and the boys hopped to the work, having the motor changed in two hours and fifteen minutes and the motor operating. This was a record for in the United States the best time for this service has been three hours and thirty minutes. The boys were feeling pretty good over the fact of their good work. Some time in the near future the fort where they are located is to receive an attack from the U. S. squad. There are 17,000 there and the demonstration will be a very spirited affair.

San Salvador is Scene of a Rising and One Killing

Little Central American Republic Deposes Its President—Treasurer Minister Slain

Mexico City—Mexican aviation headquarters received a radio report Thursday from San Salvador that President Arana Araujo had been deposed, and a military directorate of three men was in control of the country. Elections would be held soon, probably within forty-eight hours, the report said.

The message to the Mexican aviation company said the minister of the treasury was killed when he refused to "accept terms." Apparently it referred to Finance Minister Francisco Jose Espinos.

There were no casualties among Mexican aviation company employees, Mexican advise West Indies Oil company, New York, all employees are safe," the message said. "The revolt broke out at 10 o'clock Wednesday night. The minister of the treasury was killed. Will keep you advised as the situation develops. Suggest planes should not be sent unless we can okay. The American minister seems to think it will be possible to resume service Saturday."

Heavy fighting took place in the streets of San Salvador, it was said. The situation was said to be very grave in spite of the fact that a state of siege has been in effect since July.

President Araujo was said to have ordered that no airplanes should land at or depart from the city until the movement had been brought under control. The Pan-American Airways accordingly rearranged its schedule so that its ships would pass over the city.

The republic of Salvador, 140 miles long and sixty miles wide, has had a troubled history since it gained its independence from Spain in 1821.

It was understood the national congress would meet Friday to legalize the new government. The new regime was given an ovation in a demonstration of citizens who were marching in Manley, shouting enthusiastically. One report was that President Araujo had fled.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras—Reports here said a military group, headed by Col. Joaquin Valdes, had rebelled against President Araujo of Salvador.

President Araujo was barricaded in the palace at San Salvador, surrounded by loyal troops and national guardsmen under Gen. Armando Lizaso, during fierce fighting. Troops in the interior of Salvador were reported to have remained loyal.

THIRD PARTY HAS HOPES
Omaha—Frank Elbridge Webb, San Francisco, farmer labor presidential candidate in 1928, Tuesday predicted that the farmer labor party "will have twenty-five members in the next congress and thus have the balance of power."

Webb made his prediction upon arrival here to address a unity convention of various political parties. The convention, Tuesday night remained largely an informal meeting of farmer labor party leaders although there were representatives of both the liberal and liberal parties present.

"If President Hoover is re-nominated by the republicans, a third party can carry the election if it can find an outstanding, courageous candidate," Webb predicted. He will address the convention Wednesday night.

Frank Lawson, Washington, D. C., campaign chairman of the farmer labor party, said the next national convention would likely be held in Omaha.

Dr. E. M. Hall, Neligh, Nebraska farmer labor leader, said the party was named president of the convention and Raymond Beach, Pleasant Dale, was named secretary.

REPUBLICANS TAKE HAND
Washington—A report casting doubt on the legality of John H. Bankhead's election as a senator from Alabama, caused republicans to consider a move to prevent him from taking office. Chairman Hastings submitted his findings to his election subcommittee which cited thousands of law violations in the 1927 after charges of excessive campaign expenditures.

Proposals to deny Bankhead his seat, if they materialize probably will take the form of a resolution to bar him for the time being. The senate would vote upon it. The possibility of a fight over organization of the senate added interest to the republican conference about Bankhead. The party margin is close and in the event of division among the republicans, his vote might count heavily.
