Dr. J. F. Brendel was called to Plattsmouth on Monday of this week where he was attending a patient. John Hobscheidt was assisting in the dressing of some porkers for Tom Jennings on Tuesday of this week. John Vantino of Wyoming was looking after some business matters in Murray on Monday of this week. Mrs. Sam F. Latta who has been very poorly for some weeks past is reported as showing good improvement during the recent few days past. Gussie Brubacher and the family were over to Plattsmouth on last Sunday where they were guests for the day at the home of the parents of Mr. Brubacher.

J. V. Pitman was shelling and delivering corn to South Omaha and vicinity during the early portion of this week. Charles Reed was assisting in the delivering with his truck. George Nickles received a car of coal late last week and early this week it was all gone. This cold and snow is a great advertiser for good coal and that is the kind that George sells.

Harry Nelson and the family were enjoying a visit on last Sunday after-

Bible School Lesson Study!

Jesus and Nicodemus.

John 3:1-16.

Introduction to the lesson: We have here the central truths of Christianity, which we cannot consider too thoroughly. Here are the fundamental teachings regarding sin, punishment, regeneration, salvation, the Holy Spirit, the incarnation, eternal life and eternal death. A word about Nicodemus. He was an honored member of the Sanhedrin, well advanced in years, he took his religion seriously, he belonged to the strictest sect—the Pharisees, akin to that of the Puritans, a man of means, a delegate to interview Him, and as certain the truth from His own lips, they shunned publicity, and therefore it is not cowardice or timidity that Nicodemus came "by night." And what was the scene of the interview? Our Lord had no dwelling place in Jerusalem and whenever he resorted thither, He and His disciples passed the night in the open, literally at all events in the Garden of Gethsemane, and it may have been there that Nicodemus sought Him. At any rate it was the open that they conversed with the soft breeze fanning their faces and rustling overhead through the trees. Nicodemus asked no question, but Jesus knew what he wished to ask. He seems to say "If thou art the Messiah as some of us are inclined to believe, tell us how we must enter that Kingdom of God, which Thou hast come to establish." Jesus comes to his rescue: "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God." This Nicodemus cannot understand. He, a devout Jew, that keeps the law scrupulously, prides himself that he needs no such change. The moral life that some people live, is for many the cause of their undoing, they cannot see, that spiritual things must be spiritually discerned. When Jesus repeats: "Verily, verily," He shows how deep in earnest He is in the matter. (We find this saying 110 times in the Bible.) Nicodemus asked for a physical explanation of this sublime truth noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnson southeast of Nehawka. Mrs. Nelson is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and all enjoyed the day very nicely. W. E. Banning of Union, former partner of George E. Nickles and also the democratic candidate for nomination for state senator, was in Murray on last Monday morning looking after some business matters for a short time.

Marsey Lancaster of Memphis, Mo., and Mrs. W. R. Casey of Fort Madison, Iowa, and Mrs. Everett Lancaster and son, Roy of Nehawka, were guests for the day on Monday of this week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lancaster.

John Eppings of Murdock was a visitor in Murray last Saturday, coming over to open up highway No. 1, which he cleared up nicely. This makes it a good highway with the exception of it being some rough some six or more miles west of Murray.

A young American, a son, arrived on last Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dixon at their home at Manly. The young man will be married at the home as the young man has come to stay. R. R. W. Tyson was in attendance at the time of the arrival of the young man.

C. M. Christweiser of Nehawka, was a visitor in Murray on last Monday, securing materials for the construction of a foundation for a tower of a wind mill which he is having installed. The tower was procured from near Fort Crook while the mill proper was purchased from the Hobson Well Co. of Plattsmouth.

John Hobscheidt, Jr., or more properly, the third, for his father is John and also his grandfather, butchered one of his 4-H club hogs and remembering his friend who has given him much encouragement in his pig club operations, George E. Nickles, he presented him with some very choice bits of his first butchering.

dear friend, Miss Leona Farris, an honorary party at which over a hundred of her friends were present. A most woth while program was had with readings and songs and which was followed by games and good things to eat. All in all a most pleasant evening was had and in honor of Miss Leona Farris who is soon to wed Mr. George Reicke. They will make their home on a farm south of Murray on the highway where they will engage in farming. A shower in honor of the bride to be will be had during this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Long.

Visited in Nehawka Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lancaster, Florence, Miss Bessie Royer and Mr. Curtis Farris of Murray and John Eppings and family of Murdock, were guests for the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lancaster of Nehawka where all enjoyed the visit very much.

Has Severe Accident.

Messrs. Ethan and Willard Allen have been assisting with the work at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Weaver where they have been helping with the chores. While engaged in milking, Willard had just about completed his task with one cow and had partially turned on his milking stool, preparatory to getting up when the cow kicked, knocking the lad from the stool and tramping on him broke his leg above the knee, snapping the bone. He was gotten away from the irate animal, and hurried to Murray where he was given emergency treatment by Dr. J. F. Brendel, later being taken to the University hospital at Omaha where the limb was placed under pressure to keep the leg straight and where it will knit of itself. Willard has the sympathy of his host of friends. A. D. Bakke took the parents and the lad to Omaha on last Sunday.

Back from Omaha.

Vaclav Micklusky, who has been at Omaha for the past two weeks, returned to Murray on Monday and will remain for the week. The snow storm has kept the farmers from town to that extent that Vac thinks he had as well be at home.

Undergoes Operation at Hospital.

For some time past Mrs. Julius Engelkemeier has been troubled with a toxic zoster and by the advice of her physician, Dr. R. W. Tyson, she was taken to the hospital at Omaha where she underwent an operation for the correction of the malady. Mrs. Engelkemeier is making good progress toward recovery.

Son Makes Home Happy.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Albin was made joyous on last Wednesday when the storm was at its height the stork, with the assistance of Dr. R. W. Tyson, they welcomed a new son to the home. The little man and his mother are getting along nicely, while Harry, the father, is doing tolerably well.

MAGINOT IS HONORED BY NATIONAL FUNERAL

Paris, Jan. 10.—Andre Maginot, the "sergeant of Verdun," who served his country in the trenches during the war and later as minister of war devised great defensive projects on the eastern frontier of France, was honored in death today by the highest homage of the French nation, a national funeral.

Haste is Shown by Congress in Bills on Relief

Both Houses Bent on Speeding Country Toward Better Times—Money to Land Banks.

Washington—Legislation to speed the nation toward better times took long strides in two directions Tuesday. The house applied itself to the foremost item of President Hoover's economic rehabilitation program—a proposal that two billion dollars of new credit be provided for banks, railroads and industry by the creation of a reconstruction finance corporation. Its members expected to vote on Thursday. The senate worked on the second of Mr. Hoover's proposals, a measure to increase the capitalization of the federal land banks by 100 millions and thus provide the farmer with new credit. It may vote Wednesday.

Each measure already had the approval of one branch of congress. The senate passed the reconstruction corporation bill 63 to 8 Monday night and the house before Christmas. After the votes now pending have been taken, both measures probably must go to conference for adjustment of differing provisions approved by the two chambers. Thus, sponsors of the reconstruction corporation measure would not reach the president before the first of next week.

House Is in Favor. The bill is virtually certain of passage in the house with about the same proportionate vote as in the senate. The house is working on its own bill introduced prior to receipt of the senate measure. However, the democrats on the house banking committee made it clear in debate they do not approve that type of legislation, but that they are supporting it because of its emergency nature.

On the other hand, the republicans are attempting to eliminate several changes made by the democratic control committee. They want the bill enacted as written by the treasury and Governor Meyer of the federal reserve board.

Chairman Steagall inserted a provision setting up a board of seven members, two each to be appointed by the president and Speaker Garner with the explanation that this was done to insure agriculture would be protected by the Texan's appointees.

Republicans led by Representative Dyer of Missouri claimed that the provision would make it necessary for Mr. Hoover to veto the bill on the ground that its appointive provisions are unconstitutional. This was denied by Representative Stephens, South Carolina. As passed by the senate the bill provides for a board of seven, with four to be appointed by the president, and the others to be selected by the treasury and agriculture and the governor of the reserve board, the same as in the Steagall bill.—State Journal.

Smith Says Excess Not Property Tax

Big Cost of State Government Last Year Due to Federal Aid for Roads

State Tax Commissioner Smith, replying to statements from the state auditor's records which shows the expense of the state government under Bryan's first year excess, the total for the last year of the Weaver administration by $2,000,000, explains that the money spent was not property tax, but federal aid road funds, and that the property tax under Bryan was reduced.

"Statements to the effect that expenditures from property tax funds during the first year excess of Governor Bryan's present term were greater than those of any other governor, are absolutely without foundation," State Tax Commissioner Smith says. "In 1931, the total taxes levied to meet state expenditures, as indicated by the final returns made by the county clerks to the tax commissioner's office, were $4,395,095.93. In 1929, the first year of Governor Weaver's administration, the taxes levied totaled $7,879,328.69, or $1,486,232.67 more than was levied in the first year of Governor Bryan's administration, this being equivalent to approximately 25 percent.

"A proportionate reduction in 1932 will be made also. The 1931 state tax total is the lowest, with one exception, since Governor Bryan's former term of office in 1923 and 1924, and every county in the state shares in that reduction. The reduction was made possible only after a five months battle with the legislature.

"In addition to the regular federal aid road funds available to the state, there was also available for use in 1931 approximately $3,500,000 of federal funds with which to build roads and aid in the relief of the unemployed. To be available, this money had to be spent by Sept. 1, 1931, and it was used under the direction of the governor for the purpose for which it was intended. The communities obtained the roads as a result of the appropriation, and men who would have otherwise been unemployed, were given work.

"As before stated, this money came from the federal government and not from the taxpayers of Nebraska, and had it not been used in Nebraska, it would have been used for road building in some other state.

The Journal will appreciate your phoning in news items. Call No. 6. Thanks!

TWO BILLION ESCAPE TAXATION IN STATE

State Tax Commissioner Smith has received a protest from F. A. Good, Anton Jensen and N. M. Sommerfeld, all of Lincoln, against the action of the state board of taxation and equalization in not taxing United States securities owned by national banks, state banks, trust companies and other corporations. The protesters allege that under a decision of the United States supreme court federal securities may be taxed when owned and becoming a part of the property of corporations with-ate property shall not be exempt from taxation. The protest last July, was sent to all members of the state board, Governor Bryan, Secretary of State Frank Marsh, State Auditor George W. Marsh, State Treasurer Bass, State Tax Commissioner Smith, and also to Attorney General Sorenson who is not a member of the board. It is accompanied by a copy of a resolution of protest adopted by the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers' Leagues at Norfolk, Jan. 5, 1932.
