Phil Wrigley to Take Over Reins of Cubs

Son of Chewing Gum Magnate Slated to Carry On Quest for World Title

Chicago, Jan. 27.-The job of making the Chicago Cubs baseball champions of the world-William Wrigley's most cherished dreamhas been left to his son, Phil K. While there is no definite information concerning the disposal of Wrigley's vast fortune, his controlling share in the Cubs is believed certain to go to his son. Phil K., himself a sports enthusiast, already has become president of the Wrigley gum interests. Wrigley was busy just before his fatal illness planning ways and means of realizing his dream of seeing the Cubs win a world championship, and that each chapter is called upon to Antelopes Go Into Tie With the thus wipe out the memories-bitter ones to him-of the club's failure to win in 1918 and 1829, after conquering the National league.

From the time he became asso ciated with major league baseball in 1915. Wrigley wanted a championship team, and nearly $6,000,-000 was poured into the club toward that purpose. Manager followed manager-Fred Mitchell, Johnny Evers, Bill Killifer, Robbit Maranville, and George Gibson, until Joe McCarthy was brought up from the Louisville club of the American association.

McCarthy delivered to the extent of steering the Cubs to the National league championship in 1929. This outfit won only one game from the Philadelphia Athletics, and after the team finished in second place in 1930, Rogers Hornsby became Mc-Carthy's successor.

Wrigley personally had handled the deal which brought Hornsby to FG FT PF TP the Cubs from the Boston Braves, 2 3 4 and it was the most stupendous deal baseball history. Around $250,-000 in money and players were turnd over to Judge Emil Fuchs, owner of the Braves in return for Hornsy's services.

Not all of the money Wrigley pent produced results so satisfying o the man who was determined to have a world championship club. It s said that he dumped more than 400,000 into third basemen alone, in an attempt to find a star for that osition. 'Free Wife' New in England Ancient History in U.S.

British Judge's Ruling, Recognizing a Wife's Freedom to Follow Her Own Inclinations, Has Precedents Here.

By a recent ruling of Justice McCardie, British bachelor judge, the woman has the right to leave her husband; to choose her own occupation, political party and religion, and decide whether and when to bear children. A woman is a citizen, not a serf, according to the Judge, and as such has a right to decide her own future. The ruling was hailed in England as the ultimate step in the emancipation of woman, but in these United States it is "old stuff." It was only last year that a New York court upheld the refusal of Mrs. Marion Kahn, a Brooklyn, N. Y., stenographer, to bear children. In refusing to grant the husband an annulment on the plea that his wife failed to keep a pre-marriage promise that she would bear him a child, the Court decided that the matter of having children was solely the wife's affair. Supreme Court Justice Salvatore Cotillo, of New York, does not agree with his British brother jurist. He thinks that a husband has a right to demand that his wife have children, in return for his supporting her. Judge Cotillo asserts that he usually gives an annulment to a husband who can prove that his wife refused to hear children. dren. Miss Rose Rosenberg, assistant district attorney of New York, agrees with Judge Cotillo as as child-bearing is concerned, but supports Justice McCardie in his contention that a woman or a man should have the privilege of seeking happiness elsewhere if they cannot find it with the mate they married.
