Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, April 17th

By L. Neitzel

"The Call of Abram."

Genesis 12:1-9.

Much of interest is necessarily embodied in any study of the Bible, from the "beginning" till the conclusion of forty years in the wilderness, on the way to the promised land. (Genesis 3-11 should be carefully read, for they show how sin progressed, until God concluded to destroy the race, and make a new start with Noah's family.

The human family again went wrong. Now God concluded to bring about a race, distinct from any other that should be a "chosen and peculiar people." Increasing about for a Father for a new race. He selected the best man in the world, whom He found in "Ur of the Chaldees"; a descendant of Shem, living in the northern part of Babylonia, between the Euphrates and Tigris rivers. Abram's childhood was spent among idol worshippers, but the moon god, was worshipped. The story of the preparation of Abram for his high destiny of being the progenitor of the chosen nation is one of the most remarkable in Bible history. As it constitutes the foundation of the national history of the Hebrews, it is detailed with great minuteness.

fourteen chapters being devoted to the one hundred and seventy-five years of Abram's life, while only eleven chapters are occupied with the two thousand years or more of the world's history going before. Abram was born in the year 2095 and died in the year 2182. He was seventy-five years old when God called him. In what manner the call came to him, we do not know, but it must have been so clear and sure that he could not mistake it.

The soul that lives close to God, hears and knows the shepherd's voice. God calls through His word, also through his spirit and his church; if man's ears are attuned to God's calling, he will not make any mistake. Moses, Joshua, Samuel and Paul, had direct calls. The heroic character of Abram shines forth, in that he gets ready to move, breaking home ties, leaving friends and country, persuading his father, Tharah, to come with him, his nephew, Lot, also goes along. But the

Primary Voting Runs Strongly to Two Leaders

President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt Stand Favorites—Stiff Contest in Illinois.

Chicago.—Len Small, victor in many state political wars, passed his nearest rival for the republican nomination for governor, an office he has twice held, by 39,000 votes on returns from nearly a third of the precincts. With 2,563 of the 7,229 precincts, he had gathered a total of 158,729 while his challenger, Omer N. Carter, had 119,869.

Probate Judge Henry Horner of Chicago in the democratic contest for governor, had gathered a lead almost twice as great as Small's. At the same hour his vote topped that of State Representative Michael Igoe by 77,099.

Chicago.—The wave of delegates rolled Tuesday night toward President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt.

In Kentucky, the democratic convention instructed that state's twenty-six delegates to vote for Roosevelt as long as his name is before the Chicago convention next June. The action of the Kentucky convention was unanimous.

Down in Dixie, the Florida republican state convention elected nine delegates at large and instructed them for President Hoover, bringing to fourteen his delegate strength in that state. Two more remain to be chosen at district conventions.

The president and prohibition were the topics of the day in the Missouri state G. O. P. meeting. Late at night the convention instructed that state's entire delegation of forty-one for the president and adopted a resolution urging congress to call a national convention at the earliest possible date to "deal with the whole subject of prohibition."

The preferential voting in Illinois was of secondary importance to the selection of nominations for governor. Len Small, of Kankakee, twice republican governor, was far in the lead of his seven opponents.

Illinois' democratic national committee, Michael Igoe, was far behind Judge Henry Horner of Chicago in the democratic race for the governor's nomination.

The Chicago democracy's favorite son presidential candidate, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, was the only candidate entered in the party's preferential list.

Senator Otis F. Glenn, who made no campaign whatever, seemed to have pocketed renomination on the basis of early returns. He had 61,746 votes to 37,414 for Newton Jenkins, liberal republican, who was his nearest challenger. William H. Dietrich, now congressman at large, led Scott Lucas for the democratic nomination for senator.

In Chicago State's Attorney John A. Swanson defeated two judges by a probable clear majority of nearly 35,000.

The first Illinois congressional districts to report on the contests for delegates to the national republican convention showed candidates favoring the renomination of President Hoover in the lead.—State Journal.

Will Work Supplying Charges. The Rev. J. C. Stewart, who has been the pastor of the Murray Presbyterian church for a number of years has accepted the position of supply minister to the churches of this denomination in this district. Rev. Stewart will make his home in Murray. Rev. Stewart has just completed a deal whereby he becomes the owner of the residence property formerly owned by Mrs. Hester Barrows. The deal for the property was made through Charles H. Boedecker.

Gave Friend Surprise Saturday. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Noel was given a surprise reception to Mr. R. A. Noel, brother of Harry Noel, which was attended by a large number of the friends of this young man who was just twenty years of age.

Chicken Thieves at Large. On last Saturday night, while Mr. and Mrs. Dan Horcher were quietly sleeping, some marauders came to the country home and took thirty of the flock of chickens of this gentleman, leaving only one single hen. The thieves also took three gallons of cylinder auto oils. This thing of stealing one bird is a pretty serious condition and steps should be taken to stop it.

Will Show Their Quilts. The ladies of the Christian church who had arranged to hold a quilt exhibit some time ago, but postponed it on account of the bad roads, are to go ahead with the show now, and have set April 20th as the date thereof. The exhibit will be on display at the Christian church. Prizes are being offered for the prettiest quilt, the one with the most work on it and the oldest quilt and the ladies are expecting a large number to be displayed. There will also be a program and refreshments.

Given Birthday Reception. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lancaster on last Sunday was held a reception for Mr. Henry McCulloch, as well as a very fine dinner for the occasion. The affair came in the shape of a surprise, and there were there for the occasion and to assist in the merry time which was had, Virgil Arnold and family, of Plattsmouth, John Eppings and family of Murdock, Charles Koke and wife, Earl Harris and wife, both of Plattsmouth; Dan Hoschar and family, Earl Lancaster and family and James and Margaret Hoschar, together with Harry McCulloch, all of Murray.

Gave Friend Reception. The Royal Circle and the Intermediate classes of the Christian Bible school on last Saturday gave a reception to the members of the cast of the recent play, "That's One on Him."

Assessors are Told How to Cut Rural Taxation

Owners Can Petition the County Board Under a Supreme Court Ruling.

State Tax Commissioner Smith has issued instructions to county assessors concerning the taxing of fraternal society property and also the taxing of real property, especially farm lands. Under a decision of the supreme court in the case of Schmidt vs. Saline county, a copy of which is forwarded to assessors, Mr. Smith states that farm land in other counties similarly situated will be entitled to the same consideration, although the percentage of deduction may differ in different localities.

"It is necessary, however," he says, "for the property owners to petition the county board of equalization for this reduction, and it is the county board rather than the county assessor that will pass upon it at its meeting June 14."

In the Saline county case a reduction of 15 percent in valuation of farm lands in a school district was ordered, the court holding that because of high taxes in the school district the land was entitled to be equitized with farm lands outside of such district for taxation purposes, that the high school tax decreased the net revenue from lands, that net revenue is one of the important elements for ascertaining its present value. Within the district a tract of land was taxed $350, while similar land outside the district was taxed $175. This the court held affects the market value of the two tracts, the tract having the smaller net income being of less market value. The supreme court held that taxing authorities are only concerned in determining what the actual value is, regardless of the causes which produce it, and to see that taxes are levied proportionately, according to actual value, on all property.

Regarding assessment of fraternal society property, the state tax commissioner informs assessors that hereafter property coming under the rule of the supreme court in the case of the Scottish Rite cathedral of Lincoln, should be exempt from taxation. The court held in this case, PHILADELPHIA.—"If the voting age in 1928 had been eighteen instead of twenty-one, I would have taken Hoover to the laundry," said Alfred E. Smith to a group of Pennsylvania Democrats while passing thru Philadelphia. The former New York governor was on his way to Washington, and was greeted at North Philadelphia by Smith supporters who rode with him on a train to West Philadelphia.

The 1928 democratic candidate said he stood on his original declaration that he was not an active candidate for the presidency, but added he did not want this statement interpreted as meaning he did not desire the support of his friends.

Persons in the car asked why Governor Roosevelt had not consulted him, as head of the party, about running for president.

"Nobody," said Smith, "can answer that but Governor Roosevelt himself. All I can say is that he did not do so."

AN APPRECIATION

To the voters of the first commissioner district I wish to express my appreciation of the support given me at the primary election and assure them that I will, if elected, give the people of the district the very best service possible and to administer the office to the best interest of the taxpayers.
