Sackett is Chosen as G. O. P. Keynoter

Beatrice Man Named to Open Lincoln Convention—Republican Leader for Many Years.

Lincoln, Neb., April 15.—Harry Sackett of Beatrice, Neb., republican leader for many years, was chosen today by the party's state central committee as keynote speaker of the republican state convention here May 5.

In 1924 he was chairman of the state central committee, and in 1930 he was chairman of the republican state platform committee. The choice was made, somewhat against Sackett's wish, by Chairman John Wiltse of Falls City.

E. R. Danielson of Lincoln, committee secretary, and other republican state leaders assisted Wiltse in selecting Sackett. The keynoter also will act as temporary chairman of the convention.

Platform Committee

Edgar Fernau of Auburn, formerly chairman of the committee, was appointed chairman of the tentative platform committee, although his acceptance had not been received. It was considered likely, however, he would take the post.

Others on this committee will be: A. V. Shotwell of Omaha, Mrs. Harlean C. Fetters of Omaha, James A. Rodman of Omaha, W. A. Meserve of Creighton, Allen G. Burke of Bancroft, J. G. Alden of York, J. W. Hammond of Holdrege, R. R. Hastings of Crete, Mrs. J. S. Kroh of Ogallala, and C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln.

None of these had advised the committee of acceptance, although such was expected.

Statement Withheld

Although expressing a feeling of confidence in the ability of the party's nominees to go through the general election victoriously, Mr. Sackett withheld making any statements until convention time.

Dwight Griswold, nominee for governor, conferred with the central committee officers during the day. It was understood Kenneth S. Wherry, defeated by Griswold for the nomination, was preparing a statement of his views with regard to Griswold.

MELLON DRINKS IN ENGLAND

London, April 14.—Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon Thursday night broke a lance with Socialism, calling on the combined economic and diplomatic power of Great Britain and the United States to lead the world to better times with a renewed vision of the benefits of the present economic system.

Mellon drank toasts in champagne to King George and President Hoover as guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Pilgrims society. The new American envoy spoke to an audience of more than 400, among them the prince of Wales and 11 ambassadors.

Ambassador Mellon declared: "I do not believe in any quick, spectacular remedies for the ills from which the world is suffering. Capitalism has its defects of course, but it is in its infancy."

The banquet took place in the Victoria hotel. The menu was a simple one, consisting of hors d'oeuvre, soup, filet of sole, saddle of lamb, and dessert. The wines included 1921 champagne, 1893 liquors and brandy.

King George sent a personal message to the Pilgrims and Ambassador Mellon.

NO OBJECTION TO INQUIRY

Albany.—Governor Roosevelt, who usually refers questions as to his campaign for the presidential nomination to State Chairman Farley, took cognizance of Senator Robinson's demand for an investigation of Roosevelt expenses, declaring: "If there is anything to investigate let them go ahead and investigate."

The Indiana junior senator, a republican, had referred to Governor Murray's claim that the Roosevelt forces used large sums of money in the middlewest.

GARNER WOULD RETAIN SEAT

Laredo, Tex.—Speaker Garner has applied to the Webb county democratic executive committee to have his name placed on the primary ballot as a candidate for re-election to congress from the Fifteenth district.

ATTACK ON MOTOR REGULATION FAILS

Washington, April 14.—An attack on the validity of the Michigan law regulating the operation of motor vehicles failed today in the supreme court.

Percy J. Donovan, counsel for the Ogden & Moffett company of Port Huron, Mich., and others contended the act discriminated against contract or private carriers in providing for their regulation by the state public utilities commission while trucks of stores using the highways were exempt.

Smaller Banks are Getting Loans from U. S. Fund

Declares That 250 Million Dollars in Hoarded Money Freed—Aid to Business.

Washington, April 14.—Amidst continued activity at the capitol and the White house to invigorate business, Eugene Meyer—the federal reserve board governor—let a house committee know today that the Reconstruction corporation has advanced loans to 1,319 banks.

In his testimony, he said 92 per cent of this cash has gone to banks in cities of less than 100 thousand population and 76 per cent in towns of less than 10 thousand. He did not name the amount involved.

"I don't like to prophesy and promise," he said, "but I hope with all the things that are being done, while we will not stop the effect of losses already suffered, we have made and will make some contribution to recovery with your help."

"There has been about 250 million dollars in hoarded money released as nearly as we can make it," Meyer said.

He reminded the committee that the board has embarked upon a policy of buying government securities in substantial quantities so as to increase credit, and remarked that it always took business and commodity prices some time to show the effect of increased money.

Meyer disapproved the Goldborough bill, which the committee is considering, to direct the federal reserve board and banks to stabilize wholesale commodity prices at the predeflation level.

Meanwhile, the Glass banks bill revised to meet some of the objections of Governor Meyer and bankers from the west and south was reported today to the senate banking committee by a subcommittee. No action was taken today but the full committee agreed to meet again Saturday to consider it.

Under the revised draft, instead of arbitrarily restricting loans on collateral in the bill, the federal reserve board would be given discretion to regulate such loans.

SHOT DURING A MOCK PLAY

Fresno, Calif.—Mock gun play planned as a "stunt" at the Fresno American Legion post meeting resulted in wounding of Dr. Walter M. Thorne, Fresno physician, by a deputy sheriff who mistook the "act" for a serious quarrel. Thorne will recover. As previously arranged, Felix Holcomb began a tirade against those he said had accused him of misappropriating Legion funds, finally naming Dr. Thorne as his accuser. As the "quarrel" reached a climax in walked Deputy Sheriff Chandler. He sat down near Dr. Thorne. Holcomb and Thorne drew revolvers and Holcomb opened fire with a blank cartridge, which was a signal to the stage manager to turn out the lights.

Deputy Sheriff Chandler not suspecting the fake, grabbed Dr. Thorne around the legs and tried to clutch the hand holding the gun. The doctor, thinking Chandler was helping make the show more realistic, struggled with the officer, who drew his own gun and fired.

PROBE MISSIONARY'S DEATH

Warsaw.—The body of Mrs. Grace Mott, a Baptist missionary from New York city, was found in her apartment, the throat deeply slashed. In her hand police found a tuft of hair apparently pulled from the head of the person who killed her. A small cash box in Mrs. Mott's wardrobe had been rifled. When the killing was first discovered police thought it had been done by a religious fanatic, but when they found the cash box they decided robbery was the motive. Two weeks ago two children were killed in the same neighborhood and in the same way. A post mortem was ordered.

Ohio State Building Wrecked by Blast

Side of $6,000,000 Structure Blown Out; Five Known Killed and 57 Injured.

Columbus O., April 14.—A terrific explosion shattered Ohio's new six million dollar state office building here late today, killing five men and injuring at least 57 others. Property damage was estimated at several millions of dollars.

A careful checkup of working lists by contractor late today revealed one known workman missing. Whether others were buried in the debris could not be determined for at least another 12 hours.

As soon as fire that followed in the wake of the blast was extinguished, every agency at the command of the state was bent toward determining the cause of the disaster. A theory that high explosives caused the blast was advanced by T. S. Brindle, state superintendent of public works, as he made a survey of the nearly completed white marble 13-story structure.

Aided by county and city authorities, state officials gathered at the scene of the blast and opened a probe in an effort to determine the cause.

Workmen and fire department officials were agreed that the explosion was not caused by natural or sewer gas.

Theory of Sabotage. Brindle said the investigating experts would proceed on the theory that the explosion was an act of sabotage.

Brindle said the sabotage theory was decided upon because of the evidence that the explosion was unusually powerful. The blast reached from the basement of the white marble structure to the eleventh floor, and investigators said the debris indicated the explosion resulted from powder.

Possibility that gas might have caused the destruction was denied by H. E. Dodd, head of the department of mines at Ohio state university. He said "it would have been impossible for enough gas to collect without being detected. I never heard of marble dust explosion."

Like War-Torn Fort. One fire department official, familiar with explosives, said it seemed to him that nitroglycerine had been set off in the southwest basement of the building.

A large part of the shattered structure, which stands in front of town Columbus facing on the Scioto river, resembled a war-torn fort tonight.

Rescue crews stumbled about inside among the shattered pile of white marble attempting to clear out the wrecked lower floors and basement to bring out missing victims.

All the dead and injured are thought to be workmen engaged in putting the finishing touches to the structure, one of the most beautiful in the capital.—World-Herald.

TABULATING THE VOTE

The official count of the ballot cast at the primary election in Cass county, was started Friday by James Hall, republican, and Walter Prope, democrat. Mr. Prope and Mr. Hall are veterans at this work and are going through the vote of the precincts in fine shape, but the task will not be completed until Sunday. The writing in of the names of person for delegates to two party county conventions makes a long task completing the work. No material changes in the unofficial count have been found, so far.

BONUS BILL HOPEFUL

Washington, April 14.—A house vote on cashing the two billion dollar soldiers' bonus virtually was conceded by democratic leaders. After another ways and means committee hearing—held under police guard because of disorders created by a communist group—Representative Rainey, the democratic leader, said:

"A house vote seems assured. Advocates claim enough votes to pass the bill. Maybe they have them, but I believe the opponents are making headway."

Even then, Eugene Mayer, governor of the federal reserve board, and chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, was assailing the plan for issuing new currency to pay the bonus as "dangerous."
