LOSES MOTOR AT A HEIGHT

Morland, Kas., June 17.—An airplane carrying a pilot and woman passenger lost its motor near here, but the pilot, D. H. Bartholomew, of Minot, N. D., brought the plane out of a tail spin and landed it safely in a cornfield. Bartholomew expressed belief that the propeller cracked at the hub, jerking the engine out of the plane.

Discovers Part of Old Steam Wagon Axle

N. C. Abbott of Nebraska City Locates Relic in Possession of Wilson Family at Elmwood.

The old "steam wagon," which on August 2, 1862, started from Nebraska City on what was to have been a triumphant journey across the plains to Denver, broke down just a short distance west of Nebraska City. The past week N. C. Abbott, who is one of the leaders of the state historic society made the discovery in a garage near Elmwood that a part of the old wagon was in the possession of the Wilson family of Elmwood.

The steam wagon after its trial trip had been hauled back to Arbor Lodge and there gradually rusted away save for one part of the cylinder that was saved by Ed Gregg of Nebraska City.

Mr. Abbott was on his way home to Nebraska City when he stopped at a garage on the "O" street road just east of Elmwood and in conversation with Mr. Herman Wilson, the owner of the garage, the topic drifted to that of the old steam wagon and Mr. Abbott was informed that a part of the ill fated wagon was in the possession of the Wilson family.

Mr. Abbott later returned to Elmwood and proceeded to the drug store of L. A. Tyson where the relic was kept. It was dug out of a storeroom and found to be part of the axle.

The old piece of metal, a little less than a yard long and weighing perhaps 40 pounds, has been in possession of the Wilson family for many years. Their father, Thomas Wilson, was an early well-digger in Otoe county. He desired a piece of metal, correctly shaped and heavy enough to break strata of rock that cropped out in wells he dug. So he found the axle of the old Steam Wagon, took it to Bob Hawke in Nebraska City, who had it cut in two, a ring fashioned in one end into which the rope from the windlass could be fastened, and handed it back to Wilson, who, no doubt, used the metal for the purpose he intended it for many years.

The piece of iron is scarred where it was dropped on layers of rock deep in wells Mr. Wilson dug. Yet the surface on which one of the wheels of the Steam Wagon operated still is plainly visible. That end is smaller in appearance to the axle of an ordinary farm wagon. Robert Kregel, who had studied early photograph of the Steam Wagon and has made a model of the old vehicle, viewed the piece of iron and said it could be nothing else than part of an axle.

The three sons, owners of the axle, live in Cass county. They are Herman, in the garage on the highway; Dan, in an Eagle, Neb., garage, and George F., in the restaurant business in Elmwood.

FAIRVIEW CLUB MEETS

The Fairview Workers club held a very pleasant meeting the past week at the home of Mrs. Fred Kaffenberger, a large number of the members being in attendance at the gathering. The subject of the meeting was "Home Conservation of Fruits and Vegetables," the lessons being presented by the project leaders, Mrs. Ben Speck and Mrs. John Buechler.

The club members spent some time in the discussion of the plans for the coming year for the club. It was decided to give up the project work for the coming year and make the club purely a social organization.

The club voted to hold the meetings in the future on the second Thursday of each month, the first regular meeting being held in the fall on September 8th at the home of Mrs. Ray Mayfield.

The club will hold their annual picnic on Sunday, July 31st at Garfield park in Plattsmouth and where the members and their families will join in the event.

The ladies enjoyed a very pleasant luncheon, the members having come with covered dishes to provide the refreshments of the day.

WINS A PRIZE

Mrs. Thomas Walling has received notice that she has been awarded first prize in the Sunkist flour contest which has been conducted for the past several weeks. The company awards a prize for the best recipe which is submitted. Mrs. Walling submitted one of doughnuts and which was awarded the prize, a Mastermixer, a fine addition to the kitchen equipment. This is the second prize winner from this city. Mrs. M. D. Brown having won a Mastermixer several weeks ago.

SOCIAL WORKERS MEET

The Social Workers of the Methodist church, met on Tuesday afternoon at the church in a very pleasant business and social session. The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. R. H. Anderson, president.

The hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. C. C. Cotner and Mrs. Martin Peterson, who had prepared a very delightful program for the afternoon, embracing numbers by local young people.

Two songs were given by Jean and Billy Knorr, well known juvenile entertainers and who were accompanied by Mrs. Knorr on the piano. Ruth Westover was heard in two clever songs and Janet Westover gave two of her always pleasing readings. Donald Cotner was also presented on the program in two piano numbers.

At a suitable hour the hostesses served dainty and delicious refreshments which were much enjoyed by all of the large crowd present.

WEDDED AT MANSE

The Presbyterian manse was the scene of a double wedding on Tuesday, when Rev. H. G. McClusky was called upon to join in the bonds of wedlock Miss Marie Sheehan and Harold J. Denham and Miss Beatrice H. Dillard and Glen A. Wright, both of Omaha.

The two bridal couples were accompanied by a large party of friends, the two bridal parties having first driven to Papillion to be wedded but not being able to secure a license owing to the hour, came on to Plattsmouth where they were licensed and married.

IMPROVING STORE

The interior of the Mullen meat market on South Sixth street, is being treated to a thorough renovation and painting at this time and which will place it in very attractive condition. The work is being done by Charles McCauley. The store will be painted in dull ivory and will be spic and span when completed. This color scheme will also be carried out in the fixtures of the store, making it a most attractive trading place.

HAS CHICKENS STOLEN

From Monday's Daily
The farm of Otto Sprick, west of this city, was visited by chicken thieves last night and as the result of the activities of the night callers a large number of the chickens have disappeared. The loss of the chickens was not discovered until some time after the robbery and which gave the parties committing the crime time to make their escape.

Murray Reduces Its School Budget

Cuts Levy to $2,500 and Budget of $4,600 will be Met Out of This, Tuitions and Surplus.

A most harmonious school election of District 56 (Murray) was held on Monday evening, June 13th, by the electors of the district. There were some 90 voters present. Such interest in the school is indeed commendable.

Mr. Glen Boedeker was re-elected treasurer.

As given in the treasurer's report, District 56 received $636 as tuition from outside districts last year. There were 16 students in the High school last year and 54 in the grades.

The treasurer's report further showed that District 56 has on hand $1,375 in the bank, $213 as state apportionment and $1,895 credit with the county treasurer, or a total of approximately $6,483, with $320 still due as delinquent taxes. It has been recommended by the county treasurer that a balance of two-thirds the annual budget be carried in reserve. With the present budget, this would be about $3,000.

It was recommended and approved by the voters present, that the school levy for next year be made for $2,500 and the rest of the school expense be paid from this surplus.

This big reduction in taxes will be much appreciated by property owners. It was pointed out that expenses must be further cut, as using up the surplus is but temporary relief. The estimated budget of $4,600 is a nice reduction, but because of the drop in values a limit levy of 8 mills would raise only $4,500 next year.

HAVE A FINE PROGRAM

From Tuesday's Daily
The Rotary club at their weekly luncheon today had the pleasure of an exceptionally interesting program, a fine musical offering and an inspiring talk being featured.

The musical portion of the program gave the members the opportunity of hearing three members of an unusually talented musical family, Louis Knoflicek and sister, Miss Beatrice and their small nephew, Billy Reddie. Louis was presented in an exceptionally fine violin solo, the accompaniment being played by Miss Beatrice, while Master Billy, aged six, gave a violin number that was much enjoyed and showed the talent of this young man.

The address of the day was given by Rev. C. O. Troy, pastor of the First Methodist church, whose topic was "Father's Day." This was truly an inspirational talk and given in the impressive manner of the speaker carried a message to his hearers that they will long remember as one of force and beauty. Rev. Troy is a gifted pupil orator, one who presents his subject in a manner that is most appealing.

Judge A. H. Duxbury was in charge of the meeting.

NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER HERE

From Tuesday's Daily
This morning Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harper, of Bound Brook, New Jersey, were in the city for a few hours, stopping here on their way from the east to Yellowstone Park for an outing. They came west through Iowa over highway No. 34 and the Plattsmouth bridge, stopping here for a short time. Mr. Harper is the publisher of the Bound Brook Sentinel, and while in the city was a caller at the Journal to view the plant and visit with members of the force. He is enjoying calls at the newspaper plants as he travels through the country while en route west.

DOING GOOD WORK

The brick walk that for many years has served the pedestrians on lower Main street in front of the buildings owned by L. B. Egenberger, is being replaced. The owner of the buildings is having a modern concrete walk laid along the buildings and which will be a decided improvement to that section of the city. The old walk had become worn with age and was a rough proposition to the persons traveling that way. The work is being looked after by Roy Taylor and sons.

RAIN STOPS GAMES

The baseball activities in this locality Sunday were brought to a stop by the heavy rain of Saturday night and the shower of Sunday afternoon which made any playing impossible. The Murray Red Sox were to have clashed with one of the Omaha teams at Murray while the local Merchants had planned on playing Union at that place. Wet grounds, however, made the playing of any of the games impossible.

FOUR MILERS PLAY

The senior Four Mile Creek baseball team Sunday took on the Junior Four Mile team with the result that the seniors made away with a 16 to 5 contest. The game was staged in the Wehrlein pasture and the playing in the muddy field was slow, accounting in part for the heavy score made. The seniors had as their hurler, Floyd Becker, in the earlier part of the game, while Art Spreick finished the contest. Harry White did the receiving for the seniors. The Juniors had "Beans" Meisinger on the mound for the entire game while Bud Speck was at the receiving end of the battery.
