Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bergmann were over to Louisville last Thursday, where they were in attendance at the funeral of the late Miss Edith Shryock, which occurred that afternoon. William J. Rau was also in attendance at the funeral.

John Crane, the lumberman, has been feeling far from the best and was unable to look after the business at the lumber yard for a few days last week and had Fred Laurensen caring for the place. However, Mr. Crane was feeling some better during the week and was hoping that he would soon be able to be on duty again.

Fred Falischman and the family were guests at Louisville last Sunday for an excellent dinner and later in the day also drove over to Ashland, where they visited with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gade and their little one. At Louisville they visited with the parents of Mrs. Falischman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor.

Mrs. Fred Laurensen had the misfortune to get one of her hands injured and while everything was done that was deemed advisable, still the injured member did not seem to improve as desired. Mrs. Laurensen was over to Murray to have the arm and hand dressed by Dr. R. W. Tyson, and since that time it has been showing considerable improvement.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stander was made happy by the arrival of a very fine young lady coming via the stork route. The little stranger was joyously welcomed on her arrival and was given the name of Regina Anne. The mother and daughter are doing well. They arrived at home on last Sunday. The happy father was able to return to work on last Friday.

Herman Rauth has torn down his garage and has cleared away all the former materials and has started to build a new garage, using whatever of the older one has survived the ravages of the years, while this old building has stood guard over the implements protecting them from the weather. All that can be salvaged is to be used in the construction of the new building.

Gave Miss Schaeffer a Surprise On last Sunday, Miss Carrie Schaeffer was passing her birthday and her friends (and that means all who know her) to the number of about fifty appeared at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Steinkamp, where Miss Carrie was invited, and when she arrived, she found some fifty friends bent on making a merry time for her, which they did. A most enjoyable time was had and many expressions of good will and wishes for many such happy occasions were expressed.

Has Beautiful Home Grounds We were told by a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schliefert of the very fine lily pool which they have at their place and the one who praised it was sure on the right track. We, with our Mrs. and Mrs. W. D. Clarke, of Plattsmouth, visited the home, and while we found the folks away, we did find the lily pool and grounds surrounding it to be a most beautiful place. The pool was banked with stones and through and between which were flowers growing and a miniature bridge led one around the pool and produced a very beautiful effect. A spacious lawn with neatly trimmed hedge on the west and with the grass neatly clipped, made the surroundings most pleasant to look upon. The beauty of the place has amply repaid Mr. and Mrs. Schliefert for the work bestowed thereon.

Tax League Offers a Suggestion The Taxpayers League of Center precinct, and whose headquarters are at Manley, held their regular meeting on last Tuesday and discussed some very grave problems, among them the perfecting of arrangements for caring for the needy this coming winter. By resolution they are urging the county commissioners to set aside a certain per cent of the gasoline tax and the inheritance tax receipts in the county for the caring of those who will require assistance during the coming winter. They seem to think that the matter of caring for the needy is as important as that of getting more improved roads—especially these days when the tax dollar is so hard to raise.

BOSTON MAYOR GETS ROUTE Boston—Mayor Curley of Boston announced on his return from conferences with Governor Roosevelt and James A. Farley, democratic campaign manager, he had been assigned a campaign tour thru the midwest, northwest and Pacific coast in behalf of the national democratic ticket.
