Moses Honored in Death

Deut. 32:48-52; 34:5-8. Instead of the quarterly review, we take a look backward over 120 years of the life of Moses, also of 39 years of the wanderings in the wilderness. Moses' life is divided into three periods of 40 years each. Forty years in Egypt training for a ruler, forty years in the desert, training for leadership, endurance and patience, forty years in forming a nation and giving them a code of laws. A task never equaled by man.

In retrospect we review some outstanding event of the last 39 years. There was the rebellion against Moses led by Korah, Dathan and Abiram with 250 other leaders, which was quelled by the miraculous opening of the earth and swallowing of the rebels and their families. The next day 14,000 sympathizers died of a plague. (Nu., Chap. 16). Aaron's confirmation to the priesthood is recorded in Numbers 17, by the miraculous budding, blooming and almond bearing of Aaron's rod. The death of Miriam occurred in the first month of the 40th year since leaving Egypt in the desert of Zin near Kadesh about 123 years old and was buried there. Six months later we witness a very solemn scene on Mount Hor. We find here Moses, Aaron and Aaron's son, Eleazer. Moses divests Aaron of his robes and puts them on Eleazer, then Aaron dies and is buried there. 123 years old. His son becomes his successor. (See Numbers 20). The sin of Moses and Aaron that kept them from entering the promised land was committed at Meriboh, when God ordered Moses and Aaron to "speak to the rock and it would give water." Instead Moses "smote the rock twice," in his anger. The sin of Israel, despising the bread from heaven, and the punishment with fiery serpents, also the making of a brazen serpent and the belief that anyone being bitten who looked upon the brazen serpent would live. (See counterpart, John 3:14-15.) The conquest of Sihon, king of the Amorites; also the overthrow of Og, king of Bashan, are of note. The episode of Balaak and the prophet Balaam should be studied. (Numbers 22).

Deuteronomy is a book of recapitulation and review. It is Moses' farewell to Israel. It contains five addresses and nine charges, and fourteen speeches by Moses and two charges by Jehovah. It is one long urgent plea for hearty obedience to God, based on the two-fold motive of love and fear.

Six months have passed since Aaron died on Mount Hor; a year since Miriam's death! At last the summons

Omaha for the day on Monday. He was also entertaining on last Saturday, his friends from Omaha coming to visit him.

George Nickles and wife, accompanied by Mrs. Nickles mother, Mrs. H. C. Long, were visiting for the day last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kelsey at Shenendoah. Mr. Nickles reports high winds over in Iowa and much corn blown down.

During the afternoon Mrs. Frank Root and family of Woodriver, and Mrs. T. W. Faught of Cozad came and visited for a short time. They resided in Union many years ago and this has been the first visit for many years. They went to Plattsmouth to visit with relatives there for a short time before returning to their homes in the west.

Cole of Weeping Water. Efforts were made to get in touch with a brother, Charles Moore, but as he was taking an outing in the mountains he could not be reached. Mr. Moore was born on the same farm on which he died, having lived there all of his life.

Murray at the Fair

There were many of the people of Murray and vicinity at the Cass County Fair and especially on last Friday, which was the biggest day of the session. This was the largest gathering ever held in Weeping Water. The fair was the best this year that it has ever been in both the excellence of the entries and the variety as well.

Enjoyed Fine Dance

William Francis Moore

William Francis Moore, son of Joseph and Mary Moore, was born August 31, 1858, and lived his entire life on the farm which his father homesteaded, near Murray. He passed away September 12, 1932, at the age of 74 years and 12 days. Had he lived to November 2, he would have celebrated his fiftieth wedding anniversary. He was united in marriage to Etta May Patterson November 2, 1882. To this union were born nine children, four preceding him in death. He leaves to mourn his loss the wife and five daughters. Mrs. Mary Hessel-flo, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Mrs. Wil-la Hansen, Murray; Miss Margaret, Murray; Mrs. Vera Hild, Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Mrs. Frances Hum-bly, Lincoln, also eight grand-child- ren.

In addition to those mentioned, he is survived by one brother, Charles R. Moore, Fruita, Colo., and one aunt, Mrs. Sarah Latta, of Lincoln, Nebr.

Mr. Moore was a very patient sufferer through his long years of illness, his health falling rapidly in the past three years.

It was his desire to live and spend his last days on the farm on which he had always lived. He was one of the most widely known and highly respected citizens of Cass county, always willing to extend a helping hand to those in need. He will not only be missed by the old friends and neighbors but the children as well, as he was a great lover of children.
