School Parade Brings Out Many Handsome Floats

Country Schools Are Represented With Attractive Floats of the Corn Season.

From Monday's Daily
The school parade participated in by the various rural schools of the county, the closing feature of the Korn Carnival Saturday, was one of the most attractive events of its kind that has been offered in the city in many years. The fine floats were a distinct credit to the teachers and students of the various schools.

The weather conditions were not the best for the parade, but despite this fact a large crowd was present on the main streets to see the passing of the colorful array of floats and decorated cars.

The parade was formed on Washington avenue and moved east to the business section of the city. It was headed by Dr. G. L. Taylor and Chief of Police Libershal, mounted the American Legion drum corps following and heading the cars of the mayor and city officials.

The Farmers Union band and the Plattsmouth band were in the line of march and their snappy musical numbers added to the enjoyment of the parade. As the parade moved through the streets the spectators were given a fine opportunity of seeing the different clever designs that had been made to honor the harvest season and King Korn.

The judges of the parade were stationed on the platform at Fifth and Main streets and after the passing of the parade made the selections from their notes of the various floats. There were no prizes awarded the Plattsmouth groups in the parade, consisting of decorated cars as well as several of the individual young people who had been winners in the Wednesday city school parade.

The findings of the judges were as follows:

- First—"Nebraska Corn Farm," District No. 26, Marie Lutz, teacher.
- Second—"Horn of Plenty," District No. 28, Mary Swatek, teacher.
- Third—"Corn Is King," District No. 25, Florence Shogren, teacher.
- Fourth—"Thanksgiving," District No. 27, Margaret Bauer, teacher.
- Fifth—"Corn Palace," District No. 7, Louise Rummel, teacher.
- Sixth—"Corn Is King," District No. 27, Marjorie Arm, teacher.
- Seventh—"Indians Teaching White Man," District No. 75, Aletha Tyson, teacher.
- Eighth—"Covered Wagon," District No. 6, Velma Fulton.
- Ninth—"Democratic," District No. 42, Marie Nolting, teacher.
- Tenth—"Wigwam," District No. 41, Hilda Johnson, teacher.
- Eleventh—"King Corn and Pages," District No. 3, Frances Wiles, teacher.
- Twelfth—"Husking Bee," District No. 59, Oma Graves, teacher.
- Honorable Mention—District No. 40, Claude Hewitt, teacher; District No. 60, Anna Harris, teacher.

Closing Day of the Big Four Day Corn Festival

Fine Musical Offerings Feature the Last Day of Four Days of Fun and Frolic.

While the weather man was not in the kindest of moods for the last day of the Korn Carnival, it failed to check the large crowd that was present during the afternoon and evening.

The persons on the street had the pleasure of hearing a clean cut and worthwhile address on the subject of the farmers plight and in support of the creation of legislation to promote the welfare of this basic national industry. The address was given by the Iowa state president of the National Farmers Holiday association. The address was a fair and impartial review of the causes that had led to the present condition and suggestions for its improvement.

With the opening of the afternoon program a series of dancing numbers was given at the platform, Miss Anna Mae Sandin giving a tap dancing number while Shirley Mason presented a waltz clog dance. Little Miss Dorothy Jean Turner was presented in a very clever song and dance number as a part of the entertainment. Sheriff Thimgan and Deputy Sheriff Becker also started to try and locate the truck but without success. A short time later the sheriff was notified that there were two men at the Warner home seeking to secure some gasoline. When the sheriff arrived at the farm of Mr. Warner, it was found that the men had disappeared but had left the truck and it was taken charge of by the sheriff and brought on into this city. So far the owners have not made claim of the truck.

Korn Carnival Shows a Spirit of Co-Operation

Close of Successful Fall Festival Shows All Lines of Citizenry Working for Success.

The close of the Korn Carnival Saturday night represented one of the finest showings of co-operation of the citizenry in making the event a real success, exceeding even the most optimistic expectations of the boosters.

The fall festival with its various lines of activities found the citizens joining in the work with enthusiasm and interest, one group carrying on the work of decorations, another that of the programs, one of parades and one of the kangaroo court, as well as the committee in charge of the financing of the event.

This division of the work called for earnest effort on the part of all of the workers and each committee did splendidly in getting their different phases of the work carried out.

The citizens in general joined hands in making the event a success by the hard work in arranging the parades, preparing the showing of the city school children as well as the rural school parades on the last day and in this connection County Superintendent Miss Alpha Peterson and City Superintendent L. S. Devoe and the teachers joined in helping put over the event.

The residents of the city who were sentenced in the Kangaroo Court practically all joined in making the court parades a real success and from staid and dignified judges of the courts down to the humblest citizen all joined in making it a gala occasion.

The festival was a credit in every way to the city and its people as well as the residents of the nearby communities and brought a feeling of good fellowship among all classes in making the event outstanding.

RETURNS FROM VISIT

E. H. Krug of this city has just returned from a two weeks visit with relatives and friends at Falls City and St. Joseph, Missouri. At Falls City he was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. McNulty, the latter a sister of Mr. Krug. After visiting there and at Shubert, the old home, Mr. Krug was driven to St. Joseph by the relatives for a visit. Sixty years ago when Mr. Krug was seventeen he visited St. Joseph, assisting in driving a large number of head of cattle to the packing houses at St. Joseph. At that time they made eight miles an hour with the stock and crossed the Missouri river at what was called Arrigo, Nebraska. The trip the past week is the first time that Mr. Krug has been in St. Joseph since his boyhood days and he found the city a much different place than the frontier outpost that he had first visited. At the time that he had driven cattle to St. Joe he had sold them to a packing house owned by a man named Henry Krug.
