Billy Ash is a veteran thrasher and some time since has completed all shock threshing. Now he is having a number of stack threshing jobs. He began last Tuesday to thresh for Fred Rehmer, C. E. Pool, Lawrence Wise and Roy Wiles. He was having the machine pulled with the tractor of Harold Wiles.

Julius Nelson, who has not been in the best of health for some time, was to the hospital in Omaha where he underwent a clinic, having his back examined, which he injured recently. He was told by the examining physician that he must go to bed, leaving it only to come to the hospital for observance.

R. S. Shields the cleaner and the good wife were to Omaha on last Sunday. They had started to attend a picnic with some of their friends but something went wrong with their car when they were three miles out of Plattsmouth. They were pulled into town by the accommodating sheriff, E. W. Thimman, and it was five o'clock in the evening before the car was repaired. They continued their journey to Omaha where they took in a show and forgot about the picnic.

Quarry Work Delayed
On account of the burning out of a bearing in the crusher which is used at the Independent Crushed Stone Company on last Tuesday, the work had to be shut down until a part of the machinery was taken to Omaha and repaired.

The work has been going on very steadily and giving employment to a large number of men.

Mrs. S. F. Girardet Dies in Illinois
Some fifty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Girardet came to Weeping Water where he operated a business for a concern of Nebraska City, Wessell and Kahn. After a number of years he purchased the business about the year 1888 which he continued until during the world's war in 1916. He moved to Aurora, Ill. where some time after he died, the remains being brought to Weeping Water for interment.

The wife continued to reside in Aurora until on last October 3rd she died. She was buried there beside the grave of her mother. The family will be remembered by the older inhabitants. They have been away about fifteen or sixteen years. Mrs. Girardet was about sixty five years of age.

At His Post Again.
Henry Mogensen was able to return to his home early this week and is at his work in the bank again. He has been at the Veterans hospital for some weeks where he underwent an operation and treatment. He is getting along nicely but is not in his full strength yet but is gaining every day.

Razing the Lyman Building
The Lyman which G. R. Binger recently purchased is being torn down and the materials removed. Ralph Binger with a force of men are at the work and will soon have a portion of the history of Weeping Water will be torn from the records, just as the destroying of the old livery barn was last year.

MAY FILE FOR BANKRUPTCY
Cincinnati.—The United States circuit court of appeals ruled that co-operative marketing associations may be adjudged bankrupt under federal laws, reversing Federal Judge Paul Jones of the northern district of Ohio. The court acted in an appeal of H. G. Schuster, of Vermillion, O., and twenty-one northern Ohio farmers, from the decision of the Cleveland judge denying an involuntary petition in bankruptcy for the Ohio Farmers' Co-operative Milk association, Cleveland. Action of the court, however, was not on the merits of the original suit, but upon the question of whether marketing co-operatives could be dealt with under provision of the bankruptcy laws.

Virgil Wellensick of Dunbar was a visitor in Nehawka on last Saturday and secured a very fine boar for his herd of Hampshire. He returned Monday and took the pig home with him. While here Virgil visited with J. H. Steffens.

Charles R. Troop of Plattsmouth and Will Troop of north of Nehawka were in Omaha last Monday where they were looking over the stock yards with a view of purchasing some feeders to eat some of the good corn that has been grown in Cass county this summer.

While sawing wood with a buzz saw Frank House had the misfortune to get one of his fingers in the saw with the result that the member was cut off and which was attended with much suffering. The finger was dressed and is getting along as well as could be looked for.

While a number of workmen were loading wood in the truck of R. D. Taylor one of the spikes struck Mr. Taylor on the forehead. It cut a gash of considerable length across the forehead which required nine stitches of the surgeon to close. He is however getting along nicely and is keeping at his work.

The Lewiston band was asked to play at the Korn Karnival and responded with much pleasure. They gave the very best of music and pleased the large crowd that had gathered to hear them. John Christweiser was among them and assisted materially in the wonderful music that was furnished.

The Nehawka Womens Club were gathered at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Easter and daughter, Miss Laura on last Friday. There they enjoyed a very fine program as well as a most delightful luncheon and a very pleasant afternoon. The subject for the day was Indain Life, and Mrs. W. A. Ost had a fine display of relics of the Indians which Mrs. Ost had collected and which the ladies found most interesting.

Had a Good Sale
Harry Knabe has made a success in the breeding and growing of fine hogs, and makes a specialty on the raising of Hampshire. He held a sale last Saturday and disposed of a large number of the porkers. He received a very good price and was well satisfied, notwithstanding the close time.

Former Governor Visits Here
Mr. and Mrs. George L. Sheldon of Jacksonville, Miss., former residents here as well as former governor of this great state, have been visiting in Nehawka and other portions of Nebraska. They will remain in the state for some weeks this fall. Former governor Sheldon was visiting with his many friends here during his stay and was in Plattsmouth visiting friends there also.

While here Mrs. Sheldon visited the Womens Club of Nehawka which was gathered at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Easter. She made an address congratulating the club on their good work as well as telling of the southland where they make their home.

Undergoes Clinic at Hospital
Fred W. Melsinger, who has been in poor health for some time and whose condition had caused great apprehension, was to the hospital where he took an exhaustive clinic. He found that he was in better condition than he had thought. His trouble was found to be gall stones and which can be handled without any great danger. This news was received with great joy.

Wins First Prize
Miss Marie Lutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lutz, won first prize with her float in the Korn Karnival parade held in Plattsmouth last Saturday. Miss Lutz is the teacher of the Pleasant Hill school and had the assistance of her pupils to win the first place, which was worth more than the prize of ten dollars.

Nehawka Schools Again Open
The Nehawka schools were closed a week ago on account of the prevalence of sore throat, the forerunner of diphtheria. They opened on Monday of this week with a trained nurse to inspect all scholars. It is hoped that the disease has been stamped out and that there will be nothing more to fear. Every precaution will be observed to protect the students.

Meets With Accident
While Jesse Wise was attempting to board the truck of R. D. Taylor last Saturday he fell and suffered the dislocation of his collar bone. It was replaced in proper position with much difficulty and has been causing this gentleman much grief. It is getting along as well as could be looked for under the conditions of the injury.

ASHLAND HERE FRIDAY
The Ashland high school football team will be the opponents of the Plattsmouth at the local football field on Friday afternoon at 3:30. The Ashland team is one of the best in Saunders county and last week scored a 7 to 0 victory over the Weeping Water team.

Last season in the annual tilt of Plattsmouth and Ashland, the Saunders county aggregation was able to snatch the victory from the locals by a small score, so this year the Platters are set for revenge in a victory.

The team came through the Thurman, Iowa, game in excellent shape and all of the squad will be available to use in the Ashland contest Friday.

This will be a fine opportunity for the fans and the residents of the community to come out and see their team in action and for their excellent work this season they deserve a large attendance to inspire them on to victory.
