

Nehawka

Business called Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Tucker to Plattsmouth on last Monday morning.

Ole Olsen and Glen Rutledge were called to Plattsmouth on last Monday where they had some business matters for a short time.

Mrs. Clarence Hansen and mother, Mrs. C. M. Chrisweiser were over to Omaha on last Monday where they were looking after some shopping.

Attorney C. A. Rawls of Plattsmouth was called to Nehawka on last Saturday to look after some business for a client, he driving down in his car.

J. R. Stine of Plattsmouth was a visitor in Nehawka on last Monday, coming to look after some business matters, and from here he went to Weeping Water.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rhoden were day and dinner guests on last Sunday at the home of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cisney, where all enjoyed the day splendidly.

Walter J. Wunderlich of the Bank of Nehawka and Marlon Stone were over to Plattsmouth on last Monday where they went to look after some business matters for a short time.

John H. Steffens and the wife were over to Omaha on last Monday where Mr. Steffens was called to look after some matters of business. They made the trip via their auto.

Granville Heebner, who has been conducting a clover huller which serves this neighborhood, has completed the work and has taken the huller and thresher to the sheds for the winter.

Reno Edgerton and Dewey Hobson, both of Plattsmouth where they are engaged in the well business, were in Nehawka on last Monday where they were looking after some business matters.

Mrs. John T. Dale has been very poorly for some time past but recently was reported as being somewhat improved. The patient has been suffering from a severe attack of gallstones.

Parr Young was over to Omaha last Thursday when the fine stock show was closed and the exhibits offered for sale. This was the sale of the 4-H club baby beavers which were there on exhibition.

Mr. A. G. Cisney has been bustling with the picking of corn and is getting along very nicely. With the continuance of good weather he hopes to be able to complete the work by the end of the week.

Mrs. Robert McClannahan was a visitor in Nehawka with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stone, coming from her home at Howard where Rev. McClannahan ministers to the Methodist church of that place.

Miss Jane Sheldon, who is attending the state university, was a visitor in Nehawka at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Sheldon. She enjoyed the visit very much, returning to her studies early Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Troop were visiting with friends and looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth on last Saturday. They were also listening to the program that was furnished by the Nehawka Muscateers.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meisinger was made happy on last Sunday morning when the stork brought to them a very fine baby girl. It is reported that the mother and little daughter are getting along very nicely.

There is to be a meeting of the Nehawka Woman's Club next week. It is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sturm and will have a program of a historical character. It is being looked forward to with much pleasure by the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Shrader entertained a large number of their friends at a party given at their country home on last Saturday. It was attended by a large number of their neighbors and was surely enjoyed by all who were present.

County Commissioner E. B. Chapman and Charles Atteberry, both of Union, were over to Nehawka on last Monday. They came to get the heavy machinery of the county which has been used in the grading of the O street road and which they are taking to Union to store in the patrol house until needed for use when the winter brings the snow.

At the meeting of the Womans club recently when they were studying pottery Mrs. W. O. Troop had on display a pitcher that was made in Ireland over a hundred years ago and has been in the Troop family ever since. They are prizing the pitcher, which is a brown one with many designs on it, notwithstanding the handle is broken off.

Music for Plattsmouth The muscateers of Nehawka, had an invitation to furnish music in Plattsmouth on last Saturday, being a gala day sponsored by the merchants of that city. The three muscateers are Ted McLean, Tommy Mason and Roy Lancaster, and to which was added that veteran violinist, Sheridan Graves. They sure made some excellent music which was enjoyed by hundreds of people. Many compliments were paid this musical aggregation.

Held Fine Meeting Last Week
The Woman's Club of Nehawka held a very interesting meeting last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Berger. The state president, Mrs. Walter Witchel of Auburn, and also Mrs. C. E. Stewart of Tecumseh were present. It was enjoyed by a large number of the members and their guests.

Returns From the West
Mrs. E. J. Boedecker was called to Imperial some time ago by the very severe illness of her father, Mr. Geo. Fitzpatrick. Mr. Fitzpatrick passed away and the funeral held last week. Mrs. Boedecker could serve her father no longer and returned home the latter portion of last week.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick will be remembered by the older residents of this community, who held this estimable couple very highly, and whose sympathy goes out to the daughter in the loss of her father.

Return From Ohio
Messrs Earnest Kropp and James Miller, who have been visiting at Friendship, Ohio, have returned. Mrs. Kropp remained there for a longer stay with relatives. The men drove to Ohio and back. They report the conditions as being about the same there as they are here.

Visited in Plattsmouth
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lemon and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson and their son made a merry party on last Sunday. They spent the day attending church and Bible school and visiting friends. They were guests for the day and dinner at the home of C. E. Giles and family. In the afternoon they witnessed the football game between the town team and Glenwood, Iowa.

Getting Along Nicely
The children at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Kuntz who have all in turns been having a siege of scarlet fever are reported as getting along very nicely. They had the malady at different times, compelling them to be shut up for a long time.

The Stone Quarry Matter
The matter of the opening of the stone quarry has caused much disappointment by the people who are desirous of earning something for the winter. The reason of the delay is the road to the quarry. One bit of land was denied as a passageway for the output of the quarry and so the work had to be discontinued until a settlement can be arrived at between the contending parties.

WEEPING WATER

George Sell, manager of the oil station in the Farmers Union Building, was called to Plattsmouth on last Monday to look after some business.

A. R. Birdsall, proprietor of the Bungalow Inn, was a visitor in Lincoln on last Monday afternoon where he was called to look after some business matters.

Noah Parker of near Nehawka was looking after some business matters in Weeping Water on last Monday afternoon, driving over to transact business in the hustling city.

The Cleaning house of R. S. Shields has been made the more pleasant by the addition of new lighting fixtures that mellow the light that had been so blinding without shades.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shields with the kiddies were visiting for the day on last Sunday with friends and relatives in Omaha. They made the trip via their auto and finding with the nice warm day a very pleasant trip both to their friends and home.

M. C. Wallen and wife of Raymond were visiting in Weeping Water on last Sunday. They were guests for the day and dinner at the home of Mrs. L. J. Lane and also to assist in the celebration of the fifth birthday anniversary of their little grandson, Kenneth Wallen.

George Metcalf who was fifty one years of age on last Sunday celebrated the passing of the event by visiting with his friends. George was born at Elk Creek where he resided a number of years. George and the folks have been making their home in Weeping Water for many years.

On last Sunday morning Mr. T. J. Jamison received via a telephone call through W. L. Hobson the news of the very severe illness of his son-in-law, Dr. J. F. Brendel of Murray. He was taken to the hospital in Omaha where it was feared he would have to undergo an operation. Mr. Jamison, father of Mrs. Brendel, hastened to Murray to assist as he could in this house of sadness.

Hears Sister Very Ill
Walter Lehning received word from the home of his sister who lives in Newport, Arkansas, that she is very dangerously ill. He and the good wife departed immediately for the bedside of the sister and are very solicitous of serving. They are driving and expect to travel day and night that they might arrive at the bedside as soon as possible. It is hoped that they find the sister better and on the way to entire recovery.

Mrs. Alma M. Dennis
Mrs. Alma M. Dennis was born May 21, 1865 in Illinois and made her home during her childhood in her native state. She moved to Iowa with her family and in 1883 was united in marriage to George Dennis. They very soon after came to Weeping Water to live. To this union was born seven children, two of whom have passed away, there being five to mourn the passing of this excellent woman. She died on last Saturday morning at the early hour of three o'clock a. m. following WEeping WATER NELSON 3 leaves to mourn her passing the husband and three sons, Ross, Harry and Roy, and two daughters, Mrs. Guy Hopkins and Mrs. Bert Philpot. Mrs. Dennis was a faithful and consistent member of the Christian Science church, the services being conducted by Troy L. Davis of the church at Weeping Water. The burial was at the Oakwood Cemetery. The burial and the funeral was conducted by the Hobson Funeral Home.

Work Stopped at Quarry
The operations of the Independent Stone company were brought to a sudden stop on last Monday. The howling winds preceding a cold wave told of a temperature to low to permit the continuance of laying the concrete slab from Lincoln with the destination to Eagle. It was also hoped that there might be some miles laid on the eastern end of O street road. It is to be regretted that the coming of lower temperatures will not allow the laying of the concrete.

Next Congress Seems Lined for the Democrats

Control of Both Houses of Congress Indicated—Veterans Fall by Wayside.

Washington.—Democratic hopes for control of the senate as well as the house in the next congress rode high Tuesday night after the defeat of James E. Watson of Indiana, republican leader of the senate, and receipt of returns showing democratic candidates leading for six other seats now held by their opposition. An overturn of two seats would give them a majority of the ninety-six senate votes.

By midnight the republicans had elected only one of their candidates, while the democrats had seated eight, including three southerners who were unopposed.

Meanwhile, striving to increase their narrow majority in the house, the democrats had won seven seats now held by republicans, including the two they annexed in Maine last September. The republicans had not taken a single democratic seat. Republicans were fighting to retain control of the senate for the remainder of President Hoover's term, needing to win one of three elections to fill existing vacancies. They were ahead in one, with Barbour, New Jersey republican, leading his democratic opponent.

Senator Dale of Vermont was the lone republican definitely to have won his re-election. The democratic winners included Smith of South Carolina, George of Georgia, Hattie Caraway of Arkansas, Wagner of New York and Frederick Van Nuy of Indiana, who beat Watson.

In addition, the veteran Fletcher of Florida, and two newcomers, Representatives John H. Overton of Louisiana, and Richard B. Russell, Jr., of Georgia, both democrats, were elected without opposition.

The democrats were leading in a dozen other senate contests and threatening defeat for such veterans of national legislation as Smoot of Utah, Bingham of Connecticut, and Oddie of Nevada.

William G. McAdoo, former democratic secretary of the treasury, took a lead in the early returns from California over his republican opponent, Tallant Tubbs, and the Rev. Robert P. Shuler.

Associated press returns compiled to 10 p. m. (c. s. t.) on the contest for the thirty-four seats in the United States senate showed:

Democrats elected 7, holdovers 31, total 38.
Republicans elected 1, holdovers 30, total 31.
Farmer-laborers elected 0, holdovers 1, total 1.
Still doubtful 26. Necessary for a majority, 49.

Returns from congressional districts at 10:10 p. m., on contests for the 435 seats in the new house of representatives showed:

Democrats elected 86, present congress 218.
Republicans elected 20, present congress 209.
Farmer-laborers elected 0, present congress 1.
Still doubtful 329.
Necessary for majority, 218.

HAS EASY RACE

While other candidates have been busy rounding up the voters for their support at the election, one candidate has been taking it easy. Judge C. L. Graves, the present justice of the peace, was unopposed at the election for his office and received a large vote from members of both parties. In fact the Judge was one of the few republicans that escaped the storm of democratic ballots that were hurled Tuesday.

TO THE VOTERS OF CASS COUNTY

Deeply appreciative of the splendid vote given me in all parts of Cass county, I wish to thank each and every one of the good friends who gave me their aid by their ballot and in urging my cause. I shall endeavor to merit the confidence reposed in me by the people of Cass county.

Roosevelt in Highest Spirits at His Home

Still Has No Comment of Message from President Hoover—Thanks Hoovers.

New York, Nov. 9.—President-elect Roosevelt gave the following statement to the New York Times early this morning:

"While I am grateful with all my heart for this expression of the confidence of my fellow Americans, I realize keenly the responsibility I shall assume and I mean to serve with my utmost capacity the interest of the nation.

"The people could not have arrived at this result if they had not been informed properly of my views by an independent press."

New York, Nov. 9.—The president-elect was in high spirits as he entered his home tonight to retire after receiving the returns at party headquarters.

A photographer button-holed him on the doorstep for "just one more picture, Mr. President."

"Sure, said Governor Roosevelt, 'I've had the finest night of my life.'"

Mr. Roosevelt left the headquarters of the democratic national committee shortly before 2 o'clock today for his home, saying he had received personally neither a telegram from President Hoover nor returns from the Pacific coast. Pending those, he withheld any statement.

Thank Workers

Roosevelt tonight thanked the workers of the democratic national committee for the work which, he said, had resulted in a "great liberal victory" and said that if the "victory is as the returns indicate, I hope all of us will do what we can to restore the country to prosperity."

"My friends," he said, "I have come out here to bid you God speed and to thank you, particularly those who have worked so hard in headquarters. There are two people more responsible than any others for this great liberal victory, my old friend and associate, Colonel Louis McHenry Howe, and that splendid American, Jim Farley.

"The returning from the west coast have not all come in and I am therefore making no formal statement. If the victory is as the returns indicate for the next four years, I hope all of us will do what we can to restore this country to prosperity."

Crowd Cleared Away

With difficulty, the police cleared the crowd away again and he re-entered his quarters again.

John W. Davis, the candidate for the democrats in 1924, pushed into the room to add his congratulations to those of Alfred Smith and numerous other leaders already had extended to Mr. Roosevelt.

Amid much cheering for "the president," Roosevelt later passed down the corridor to the ballroom and spoke to the workers of the committee. From there he went upstairs to the nineteenth floor to repeat the same speech to another crowded room.

He had hardly reached the place at the end of the long table before word reached headquarters that President Hoover had conceded defeat. An announcement was read to the crowd in headquarters saying Mr. Hoover had sent a message congratulating Mr. Roosevelt upon his election to the presidency.—World-Herald.

SOUTH DAKOTA BANKS
ROB BANK OF $3,000
Revillo, S. D., Nov. 7.—The Farmers and Merchants bank of Revillo was robbed of $2,000 in cash and $1,000 in negotiable bonds Monday by three men who fled east in an automobile.

Two robbers entered the bank and asked for O. F. Fromke, assistant cashier. The third remained in the automobile.

When Fromke identified himself, one of the men drew a revolver and ordered him and Miss Mildred Berry, a teller to lie on the floor. After taking the bank's cash, the men made Fromke give up the negotiable bonds.

Fromke and Miss Berry were locked in the vault.

HERE FROM SOUTH BEND

From Wednesday's Daily
William J. O'Brien, well known resident of South Bend, was in the city today for a short time, coming down with the returns from South Bend precinct. Mr. O'Brien is one of the genial and popular residents of the county and has a large circle of friends in all sections of the county who are always delighted to meet him.

Nov. 17-18 Dates of the Legion's Minstrel Show

A Distinctly Different and Modern Show Written and Directed by Cook and Bennett.

Tickets are now on sale for THE Minstrels of 1932, a sensational and uproarious evening of modern entertainment. This show is a distinct departure from the usual local production. Instead of the conventional circle of an all male cast, a mixed chorus of twelve trained voices will be used.

The personnel of this fine chorus numbers some of the most talented vocalists in the city and is as follows: Sopranos: Cora Williams and Margaret Shellenbarger-Hirz; Tenors: F. A. Clodt, David Robinson, W. A. Wells and John Frady; Contraltos: Evelyn May and Vivian Johns; Basses: Lynn Minor, William Woolcott, Leo Boynton and Roy Knorr.

This unusual chorus will be heard in numbers ranging from the melodies of the past and modern popular successes to selections from "My Maryland," "The Desert Song" and "Hit the Deck."

The soloists of this production will be Frank Clodt, Margaret Hirz, Cora Williams and David Robinson. Needless to say the audience will be delighted with the beautiful voices of these talented artists. In addition to these musical features, lovers of close harmony will be given the rare privilege of hearing a Ladies Quartet as well as the Male Quartet.

The producers of this minstrel are fortunate in securing R. Foster Patterson for the important place of interlocutor. Mr. Patterson has had much experience in local theatrical productions and his fine speaking voice and faultless diction will add much to the perfection of the performance.

The fun makers of the show were chosen from the old experienced war horses of minstrelism and the programs will list Lawrence Sprecher and Raymond Cook on the one end and Harrison Gayer and Wayne Bennett on the other.

This quartet of comedians will take the responsibility of making every individual in the audience forget his troubles. The rapid fire comedy that transpires in this part of the show is high class and side splitting.

The second part of the show will be a riot of blackface burlesque, entitled "What a Night! What a Night!" This is a one act farce featuring Mary Beveridge, Millie Bullin, Anna May Sandin, Bennett & Cook and the Four Sob Sisters.

All together this promises to be an evening chock full of nonsense, hilarious fun and musical enjoyment.

The surest indication of the success of this minstrel is the fact that it was written and is being directed by the comedy team of Raymond Cook and Wayne Bennett, the two black clouds of joy who have scored so many triumphs in the past.

Another thing that will insure packed houses both nights is the fact that the admission is being held down to 25 cents for the choice reserved seats and 25c for general admission.

LAST HOME GAME

The last home game of the 1932 football season will be staged here on Friday (Armistice day) with the Tecumseh high school team. This game is expected to be one of the hard fights of the season and with a team that has always proven a hard spot for the locals.

Tecumseh has always had a strong team in football over a period of the last decade, they seemingly raising real football artists in that section. The Platters marred the record of this school two years ago when they held them to a tie on the local gridiron altho the team was rated the class of the southeast Nebraska conference.

This year the Platters have a team that is one of the best that the local school has boasted for several years and which will give the Tecumseh aggregation something to worry about. This will be the last home game with the high school team for several of the players and including William Wetenkamp, George Luchinsky, Robert Hirz, Stuart Porter, Sam Arn, Robert Rummel, Greth Garnett.

It is expected that this game will draw one of the best crowds of the season as the two teams have a keen rivalry that will seek victory.

Pay rolls build cities and every new industry secured adds just that much more. That's why Plattsmouth welcomes going concerns and goes out in search of them.

THE LILLY

A beautiful lily grew on a hill,
And nodded its head in the breeze,
It wondered why it should fill,
Such a place among the trees.

A crow came along with his lusty kaw,
And perched upon a limb,
Which made the lily look with awe,
At such a breach from him.

The lily then quite carefully drew,
Around her; her spotless robes of white,
As the robin joyfully sipped the dew,
From a spray which sparkled with light.

For such a breach of etiquette the lily thought to spurn,
As the honey bee came buzzing by,
And viewed with deep concern
The nectar in the petals; as the lily heaved a sigh.

The crow is black as yonder cloud,
The robin's breast is red
While the honey bee has no shroud
To cover its fearless head.

For all the creations here below,
Each has some place to fill,
Though some may, with beauty glow
And others remain quite still.

Love sprinkles all with a gentle spray,
Of sweet melody of song
Then joyfully, leads to the main highway
Where none should ever go wrong.

COURT RENDERS DECISIONS

Washington.—Unperturbed by a conflict outside the capitol between police and would-be picketers, supreme court justices Monday announced seventeen decisions. The court sustained the misbranding section of the pure food and drugs act; held that bonus from leases received by owners of oil and gas lands in Texas were subject to the higher rates imposed on ordinary income; refused to set aside the lease by the New York Central of the Big Four, the Michigan Central and the Chicago, Kalamazoo & Saginaw railroads, and emphasized in a case from Newport, Ky., that private residences could be lawfully searched under the prohibition law only upon evidence of the illegal sale of liquor.

It also declared in a case from Chicago, brought by Jack Gehardt, that an indictment against him and Louise Rolfe—who alibied him out of the St. Valentine massacre and who, afterwards married him, charging them with conspiracy to violate the Mann act, must be dismissed, because a woman in a white slave case must be considered the victim, unable legally to conspire to violate it.

GRASS FIRE THREATENS

From Wednesday's Daily
Last evening the fire department was called to the residence of Henry Lamphero on South Seventh street where a grass fire was threatening the destruction of the house. The fire had started from some ashes that had been emptied out in the street and which caught the dry grass. In a few moments the fire had spread rapidly and burned up to the porch of the Lamphero home before it could be extinguished. The fire frightened the family a great deal and for a moment with the stiff wind blowing, was dangerous to the safety of the home.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this means of thanking the voters of Mt. Pleasant precinct for the splendid support given me at the election Tuesday for road overseer. I appreciate this very much and shall strive to serve all of you.
