

MURDOCK ITEMS

Oscar E. McDonald was over in the neighborhood of Rock Bluff, where he formerly resided, and found the country so changed that he hardly knew it.

Warren Richards, of Wabash, was a business visitor in Murdock for a short time on last Thursday afternoon and was also visiting with his numerous friends.

Louis Schmidt was re-elected as road overseer for the territory about Murdock and was the only one in the precinct of Elmwood to be elected on the republican ticket.

Victor Thimgan is picking corn for Henry C. Backemeier and with good weather expects to complete the work early this week and will then be ready for another job.

Victor Nessen, of Palmyra, who is a salesman for the Ford Motor company, of that town, was a visitor in Murdock on Thursday of last week, calling on his friend, Eddie Craig, the barber.

Emil Kueke was looking after some business matters for the day last Thursday at the county seat and as well was visiting with his sister, Mrs. E. W. Thimgan and husband, the Cass county sheriff.

While Henry Carstens, who is more familiarly known as "Slats," and Ray Gamlin were out in the country selling a car load of tankage, August Ruge was looking after the business at the Farmers elevator.

Eddie Craig and wife were over to Johnson on last Sunday, where they were guests for the day and at a very fine dinner which was served by their host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Williams, of that place.

H. W. Tool and Paul Schewe were over to Plattsmouth during the night of election day, taking the returns to the county seat, that they might be counted in summing up the country's choice in the recent election.

A. H. Ward and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bauer were over to Louisville on last Wednesday, where they were in attendance at the funeral of their friend, and as well the friend of all mankind, Peter C. Stander.

The Ladies Aid of the Murdock church were in session on last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald, where they held a most interesting session and where they looked after the work which has called them together, as well as enjoying a social time, and were entertained by the genial hostess.

Wm. Bourke was elected as assessor for Elmwood precinct, and as he has officiated in that capacity before, it is certain that he will make one of the very best assessors possible. He will be careful and painstaking in the performance of his work like John Mefford, he will look after the work with great care. By the way, Mr. Mefford has served in this capacity for the past 28 years.

On account of a delay in receipt of the report of the Callahan Bible school which was forwarded to M. S. Briggs, the Journal field man, it was not possible to get the report included in a booklet listing officers of the Bible schools of the county, which was held from forwarding to the various Bible schools until after election. The Callahan report is being published elsewhere in this department.

Mathew Thimgan was over to Lincoln on last Thursday, where he was called to look after some business matters for a short time. With the election over it is possible now that there may be a settlement made between Mr. Thimgan and the State of Nebraska for use of the covered wagon road design, which Mr. Thimgan has a copyright on and which the state has been using in the estimated number of some one hundred thousand to mark the various state highways over the state.

Hunting on the River
On last Thursday afternoon, notwithstanding the windy weather and the cold, a number of the hunters of Murdock were over on the Platte river in the vicinity of Pawnee Lodge, otherwise known as "the shack," where they spent the afternoon and evening hunting. The party was composed of Arthur J. Tool, William O. Schewe, Henry A. Tool and Harold W. Tool.

Rock Island Train Late
C. H. Helmers of the Bank of Murdock, was over to Omaha on election day and returned home on the evening train, and speaking to the reporter said that the train was late, not caused by the heavy traffic or the snow or cold wind, but by the landslide which carried the train into the ditch, but the state into the democratic column.

It is Now Judge Lawton
Homer H. Lawton, the painter and decorator, and who is a worker when it comes to his line of business, has been selected as the police magistrate and we are certain he will give that office the same care as he has given to the painting which has come to his hands. Here is to you, Judge Lawton.

Returning to the West Coast
The Rev. A. Brauchle, father of Mesdames Albert Bornemeier and Martin Bornemeier, who has been visiting with the daughters and their families since last June, departed the last week for his home in Los Angeles, where he will spend the winter.

Thanks, You Murdock People
I desire to express my sincere thanks to the people of Murdock and vicinity as well as to all those in the county who so loyally supported me at the recent election.

M. S. BRIGGS.

Hoover Bent on Completing Job at White House

Leaves Palo Alto Home for a Fast Train Trip to Washington—To Make Trip in 90 Hours.

Palo Alto. — President Hoover turned eastward Friday night, rested and ready for a speedy trip back to the national capital to take a hand once more in pressing national and international affairs. Cutting short his vacation by a day in order to place his hand closer to the helm of governmental matters, the president was described by the white house physician, Dr. Joel T. Boone, as "ready to go back and finish his job." His special train left here at 9 p. m.

The president already is looking forward to the program he will place before congress and to the requests of foreign nations for debt discussions. One of his secretaries told newspapermen, however, debt questions were being handled from Washington and that "these matters will not be placed formally before the president until he reaches the white house."

Mr. Hoover spent a quiet day in his home here before starting his return journey, which railroad executives have outlined as a flying ninety hour trip that will place him back in Washington by Tuesday noon. A minimum of stops has been requested by the chief executive. He spent a short time Friday in writing the brief rear platform address he will deliver Saturday morning at Glendale, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles, before leaving his train for a fifteen mile automobile ride to allow Mrs. Hoover to see the new home of their son, Herbert Hoover, Jr. The presidential party will board the train again at Alhambra, Calif., in order to save time on the return trip to the capital.

The rough outline of the itinerary to be followed by the Hoover party included brief stops at Yuma and Tucson, Ariz., El Paso, Tex., Kansas City, St. Louis and on eastward. One of the white house secretaries said that altho the president might appear on the rear platform at some of these stops he has planned to make no formal speeches after leaving Glendale.

After sending a message to be read at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Washington, Mr. Hoover confined his formal participation in Armistice day events to receiving in the driveway of his home a group of men from the Palo Alto post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and presenting a medal of the Order of the Purple Heart to A. N. Neilson, World war veteran. A delegation of local veterans watched the ceremony and applauded the president.

Among those invited to accompany the president on his return to Washington were Marshall Hale, California republican leader, Secretary and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Mark L. Requa, republican national committeeman from California, and Milton Esberg, California manufacturer and close friend of Mr. Hoover. A crowd gathered about the station and cheered the president as he and Mrs. Hoover waved farewell. The president stood on the rear platform of the train several minutes, smiling and waving at the crowd while photographers used their flashlights. In response to the greetings he said: "I deeply appreciate this expression of good will from my own neighbors."—State Journal.

UNKNOWN SOLDIER HONORED

Washington.—Armistice day ceremonies Friday will see the formal dedication of the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington cemetery. The exercises will begin at 11 a. m., eleven years to the day after the unknown soldier was brought back from France. Led by the American Legion and with the Washington bicentennial commission and other patriotic organizations participating, a white marble tomb that recently supplanted the temporary one beneath which the unknown was laid to rest on Armistice Day in 1921 will be formally dedicated.

Secretary Hurley will make the principal address. The American Legion national commander, Louis A. Johnson, also will talk. A military parade starting from Washington and ending at the tomb will precede the exercises. Threats of the drum corps of the local victory post of the American Legion not to listen to Secretary Hurley's address, because of his part in expelling the bonus expeditionary force from Washington, passed unnoticed by officials of the national organization of the Legion.

HOLD BIRTHDAY PARTY
Miss Florence Shogren, teacher of Eight Mile Grove school, was the honor guest of a delightful surprise party held at the home of George Topfiff, Friday evening. The event was held in honor of her birthday by the patrons of the school. The evening was spent in games, speeches and songs. A delicious luncheon featured by a beautifully lighted birthday cake was served at a late hour, after which the guests departed, wishing her many happy returns of the day.

APPRECIATION
I take this means of expressing to my loyal friends, my keen appreciation of the support given me at the recent election in my candidacy for District Judge and in this connection I wish to say that I have no censure for those who opposed me. It was their privilege. I am now free to return to my law practice and give to my clients the best service of which I am capable. Sincerely,
D. W. LIVINGSTON,
Nebraska City, Nebr.

AN APPRECIATION
To my friends and supporters over Cass county, I wish to express my appreciation of the splendid support given me at the election Tuesday. I shall continue to try and merit this confidence by an administration of the office of county judge with a view to the best interest of the taxpayers and the protection of the interests of those having litigation in the court.
A. H. DUXBURY.

ROUGH to your finger

means . . . ROUGH IN YOUR STOMACH

It's easy to say they're all alike—and easy to prove they are NOT. Dissolve a genuine Bayer Aspirin tablet in water, pour it off, feel the fine powder that coats the glass.

Do this with some other tablet; see what coarse particles are left! They feel as sharp as sand, even to your finger. How must they affect those delicate membranes which line your throat—your stomach?

For immediate relief from headaches, colds, sore throat, neuralgia or neuritis, lumbago, rheumatism, there's nothing like Bayer Aspirin. It cannot depress the heart.

Among Those Who are Done
There are a good many of the farmers near Manley who have completed the picking of their corn and many more who are nearly done. Among those who are done are Grover Laurensen, Edward Steinkamp and Frank Bergmann.

Many Attend the Funeral
In Manley there reside many people who knew well the late Peter Stander, and who had learned to love him for his gentle ways and for his high character, and a number of these were over on last Wednesday to attend his funeral and pay their last sad tribute to the memory of this excellent gentleman. Among those who were in attendance were the families of Arnold Schliefert, Oris Schliefert, Andrew Schliefert and son, Herbert, Theodore Harms, W. J. Rau and wife, Roy Steinkamp and John C. Rough and wife.

The Election at Manley
The election at Manley was very well attended and the voting was strong as was demonstrated by the using of all the ballots with the exception of two, and still a number who did not vote.

The precinct ticket elected was as follows: William Sheehan, Sr., assessor; William Sheehan, Jr., road overseer.

Roy Reynolds Makes Good Record
Roy Reynolds, who is slight of stature, but a hustler to work, and who is well acquainted with the manner of picking corn, has for the past month made a record of 122 bushels per day. His best day was 149 bushels, and he picked 85 bushels in four and a half hours one day. We count that doing pretty well.

Stuck Up Guy Dickson
While Guy Dickson was returning home about nine o'clock from town, two strangers stopped him by placing a gun against his ribs and demanding his money. He offered no resistance to these armed thugs, who, on finding he had nothing of value, flew into a rage and commanded him to go on home. This was the same night of the robbery in Murray.

The Family Beautiful

A virtual corner on beauty on the University of Illinois campus is held by Mr. and Mrs. Gil Berry (above). Picked as the "most handsome man" recently, Gil let it be known that his co-ed wife also has her share of beauty, being one of the six most beautiful girls at Illinois. Berry's usefulness is not limited to decorative purposes, however, for he is captain of the football team.

Rules of the Highway Part of Statutes

State Supreme Court Says That It Is Not Negligence to Drive into Cloud of Dust.

The supreme court Thursday sent back for retrial in Sarpy county the damage case of Clarence P. Bainter against Leo Appel and the Yant Construction company, with the latter out of the litigation because Bainter had not shown that the relation of master and servant existed between the two defendants. The trial court held that it was negligence on Bainter's part to drive into a cloud of dust on a gravel road, and hence he could not recover against Appel, whose truck he met headon, even tho Appel was driving on the wrong side of the highway.

The court said that it is prima facie lawful for a driver of an automobile to drive in on the portion of the road over which he has the right of way at a speed not exceeding fifteen miles an hour when approaching within fifty feet of and in traversing an intersection when his view is obstructed. His view will be deemed to be obstructed when at any time during the last fifty feet of his approach to the intersection he does not have a clear and uninterrupted view of such intersection and of the traffic upon all highways entering it for a distance of 200 feet from the intersection.

As Bainter was driving on the right side of the road, and as to east-bound traffic had the exclusive right of way, he could assume that one driving in the opposite direction would not project his car into a cloud of dust on his side of the road. The decision construes for the first time the new uniform highway law, and in doing so the court says it is required to take judicial notice of the state highway rules promulgated by the state road department and to construe them as an addition to the statutes rather than in explanation or interpretation thereof.

Announces Winners in Gas Letter Writing Contest

Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co. Makes Announcement of Successful Contestants.

From Thursday's Daily Prize winners in the gas heating users' letter contest conducted by the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company last month were announced today as follows:

First prize: Howard T. Cox, Avoca, Iowa; second prize: R. E. Lunner, 604 1/2 Lincoln avenue, York, Nebraska.

Mr. Cox receives the equivalent of a season's fuel bill for his prowess as a letter writer and Mr. Lunner an automatic gas water heater.

The contest aroused widespread interest, according to P. I. Rea, district manager of the company. More than three hundred letters were received company outside of Lincoln, a tribute, he stated, to the advertising which the contest received in the local newspapers.

Judges for the contest were: David Marti, professor in English and letter writing, Lincoln School of Commerce; Harry Dobbins, editor, Lincoln State Journal; L. E. Gunderson, brusar, University of Nebraska, and W. A. Robbins, president, Lincoln School of Commerce.

Riot in Capitol Plaza

Capital police are shown as they dispersed the Communist delegation which attempted to picket the United States Supreme Court while the justices were considering the appeal of the seven negroes condemned to death in the famous Scottsboro case. Nightsticks and fists were freely used in the battle on Capitol Plaza when bluecoats barred the way of the demonstrators. Many were bruised and sixteen were arrested. The Supreme Court decided to grant a new trial to the condemned men.
