W. C. T. U. MEETS

The W. C. T. U. held a Thanksgiving meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Guy C. White, a very pleasing number of the ladies being in attendance at the event.

Mrs. W. L. Propst led the devotions, taking as her topic, "Faith" from the eleventh chapter of Hebrews.

Mrs. Charles Troop, president of the union read a message from the national president, Mrs. Ella Boole and the vice-president, Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, "Not Retreat But Advance."

Mrs. Ralph H. Anderson gave an interesting talk and article on "Thanksgiving," which was very much enjoyed by all of the members of the group.

Mrs. W. L. Propst also gave a poem, "The Odor of the First Pumpkin Pie," a very clever and much enjoyed feature of the afternoon program.

At the close of the afternoon dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

FUNERAL OF LITTLE ONE

The funeral of William Howard Reeves, eighteen months old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Reeves, occurred Tuesday afternoon at the Sattler funeral home at Fourth and Vine streets. The services were attended by a number of the neighbors and friends of the family.

Rev. C. O. Troy, pastor of the Methodist church, spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family on the loss of their little one and held to them the consolation of the Christian faith.

During the service Mrs. E. H. Westcott gave two of the old and loved hymns which had been requested by the family and which brought a comfort to the bereaved ones.

The burial was at the Oak Hill cemetery west of the city.

Election of County Sheriff is Questioned

Opinion Given by Attorney General Sorensen on the Inquiry by Rex Young.

The question of the validity of an election where a candidate had made promises relative to accepting an office at less than the salary prescribed by law, was raised in an opinion given by Attorney General Sorensen.

The opinion was given by the attorney general in response to an inquiry by Rex Young, defeated republican candidate for sheriff in Cass county, as to the promises alleged to have been made by his successful democratic opponent, Homer Sylvester.

Attorney General Sorensen said in his opinion that an election to public office, obtained by a candidate promising voters to perform the duties of the office for less than the legal salary, constituted bribery, and would invalidate the election.

In the inquiry to the attorney general Mr. Young had stated that his opponent has circulated cards offering to discharge the duties of the office for less than the fees specified by law.

The attorney general said that two courses were open to Mr. Young. First, Young could contest the election, but if the election were invalidated, the incumbent sheriff would continue in the office. Second, Young could get the Cass county attorney to institute quo warranto proceedings against the new sheriff when he takes office.

The opinion was given Mr. Young several days ago but was released to the press Wednesday evening at the office of the attorney general.

Mr. Young stated today that he had not fully decided on any action that he might take and that whether he would contest the election on the questions raised in the opinion of the attorney general he had not fully decided upon.

County Bureaus to Continue to Carry on Work

Will Finance Service With Membership Fee Where Refused by Vote.

Every county in the state that now has the county farm bureau agent will continue to have the bureau service, even in those counties where the appropriation was voted down, it was announced by county agents of the state in meeting at Lincoln Tuesday afternoon. County directors in the counties affected by the election already had made the decision and the agents so reported.

The work will be financed by low membership fees which it is hoped will draw a large number of members. The decision was made after a conference of the agents with agricultural college officials.

New officers elected by the board of directors of the agents' organization are Jay Hepperly, Ogallala, president; J. F. Purbaugh, Lincoln, vice president, and H. E. Huston, Tecumseh, secretary-treasurer. The other three directors are James Reed, Papillion; Everett Beacher, Beaver City; Paul Taggart, Red Cloud.

The annual dinner was held at the Cornhusker hotel Tuesday night with 131 agents and workers present. Twenty-four stunts were staged by counties or groups of counties represented. E. T. Winter, Walthill, was master of ceremonies. A. R. Hecht, Kearney, retiring president, introduced Mr. Hepperly, the new president.

TO OPEN SEWING QUARTERS

The Red Cross chapter of this city is preparing to open their sewing room in the basement of the court house in the large room used by the county surveyor. Here the ladies are planning on making the dresses, undergarments and skirts that may be needed in the relief work this winter. A large part of the material has been received from the mills in the south where it has been manufactured for the national chapter of the Red Cross for nation wide distribution.

The work is under the supervision of Mrs. C. A. Rosencrans, who has charge of the county distribution of the garment material, several of the other places in the county also receiving their quota of the material, cotton goods and prints.

It had been the first intention to have the sewing at the equity court room but this would have caused more or less annoyance during the session of the district court and therefore the room in the basement was selected, this also having the advantage of not requiring the climbing of a large number of steps.

FINDS BARBERRY BUSH

The crusade against the barberry among the shrubs of Nebraska has been conducted for the past few years and has led to the eradication of this bush to a large extent. The schools of the state have been enlisted in the work and students have received instruction on identifying the bush and its destruction.

Recently instruction was given by Miss Margaret Bauer, teacher in one of the country schools west of this city, on the barberry bush and the need of its eradication. A short time later Richard, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tritsch, reported that he had located a bush like that described by the teacher. An investigation showed that he had discovered a barberry bush and which was accordingly destroyed.

AWAITING THE OUTCOME

Some weeks ago, out on the farm, a young chap came along, And asked if I could spare the time to harken to his song; I wasn't very busy, so we settled down to talk, As he started conversation 'bout a fellow in New York Who wanted to be President, but who didn't stand a smell 'Gainst a man from California he had known for quite a spell. He asked me if I'd settled in my mind who was the best— The man from down in York state, or the one here in the West To run the government for us, and to carry on the fight, And win in our present struggle— bring us out of it just right? He opined that if that New York man got the presidential seat Saloons would open, banks would close, grass grow on every street; That Europe would repudiate the debt she owes to us, And business would go to wreck, and make an awful muss. But with our Western man in charge things would begin to hum, With taxes lowered, money loosed, prosperity would come. I fancied he was "spoofing" me—I didn't believe his stuff— And told him I'd vote the way I'd done since I was old enough. He smiled and left me when I said, that far as I could see A lot of the boys in the neighborhood were thinking just like me. And I guess a bunch of other folks had the same opinion, too; For they wanted to know for sure just what the "swab in the creek" would do. So I'm waiting with bated breath to see if that awful tale of gloom Was just some propaganda, or a prevision of our doom. "X"
