McFadden Asked by Colleagues to Resign Place

Enemy of President Hoover Is Spanked Verbally for Impeachment Move.

Washington.—A rousing call for the impeachment of President Hoover was promptly and emphatically smothered by a startled house of representatives. Hardly had Representative McFadden, of Pennsylvania, severe and persistent critic of the administration, charged the chief executive with high crimes and misdemeanors than the chamber, voting 261 to 8, tabled his motion for impeachment proceedings.

A hum in conversation that filled the chamber subsided as McFadden strode down the center aisle and addressed the chair. "Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of constitutional privilege," he said. "On my own responsibility as a member of the house of representatives, I impeach Herbert Hoover, president of the United States for high crimes and misdemeanors." He proceeded to offer a resolution calling for an investigation by the judiciary committee.

A year ago the republican leadership deprived McFadden of his patronage privileges as punishment for an attack upon the president. His colleagues moved quickly to exact a penalty of his latest outbreak. The Pennsylvania republican delegation met immediately after the house action and voted to request McFadden's resignation as its chairman. McFadden declined to comment.

As soon as the reading of the resolution had been completed, Representative Poy, (Democrat, of North Carolina) moved that it be tabled and the roll call vote followed. Those voting against the motion to table the impeachment resolution were Representatives Blanton, Griffin, McFadden, Fattman, Romjue, Sweeney, Black, and Hancock, all democrats but McFadden himself.

Republican House Leader Snell told newspapermen he thought McFadden "on the roll call vote got about as hard a spanking as a grown man could get," and consequently did not think a republican caucus would be called to punish the Pennsylvania. McFadden was deprived of his political patronage because of a speech on the house floor last session in which he accused President Hoover of having "sold out" to Germany and international bankers.—State Journal.

PETITION FOR REVIEW

Washington.—Four of thirty-six men convicted for the operation of stills in violation of federal prohibition law following wholesale raids at Rockford, Ill., petitioned the supreme court to review their cases. The men, John F. Walsh, William D'Agostin, Sam Capriola and Louis Dodaro, were sentenced to two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine apiece.

Move to Cut Rate on Grain to the Coast

Suggestion Follows Reduction Within Nebraska Area—Need Western Market.

A move to start Nebraska's grain moving to markets on the Pacific coast was announced at Lincoln Monday by C. A. Randall, chairman of the state railway commission, according to the Associated Press.

Earlier in the day the Burlington and the Union Pacific had announced a one-third reduction, effective from today until April 30, in the rates on corn moving to the northwest part of the state, where drought greatly reduced the corn crop this year and where the feeding situation is giving some concern.

"Need Western Market" Randall said the move for a Pacific coast market was initiated at a conference he had with officials of the Omaha Grain Exchange. He will invite leading officials of the Union Pacific and Burlington railroads to confer with him on the possibility of a rate of 29 cents a hundred pounds for corn to the coast, about half the present rail rate from Omaha.

"We want a western market for Nebraska grain, particularly corn and oats," Randall said, and predicted that if the suggested rate could be achieved, it would move millions of tons of grain, and that great quantities of corn would be shipped to the coast for storage. "It would mean 3 or 4 cents a bushel on Nebraska corn, added to farm income," he said.

The grain exchange representatives pointed out that grain can be moved by ship from St. Louis to the Pacific coast for 28 1/2 cents a bushel.

Where Rate Cut Applies. The Burlington reduction in corn rates was announced by F. Montgomery. The cut will apply on shipments from territory including Holdrege, Curtis, Seward, York, Aurora, Bridgeport and Sidney to Alliance, Hemingford and intermediate points. The present rates vary from 8 to 24 cents a hundred pounds from the stations affected to Alliance and Hemingford.

G. W. Hamilton, general freight agent of the Union Pacific, at the same time announced the same measure of reduction for the same reasons and the same period of time. The cut rates will apply on corn shipped from Union Pacific main and branch lines as far east as Columbus and David City to Ord, Loup City, Pleasanton, Callaway, Sumner, Stapleton, Northport, Gering, Lyman and intermediate points.

HAS NEW WAY OF AMENDING

Washington.—A new way of amending the constitution by popular initiative and referendum, was proposed in a resolution by Representative Cable. The procedure, he explained, would be that when petition for amendment are signed by 15 percent of the voting population in each of at least two-thirds of the country's congressional districts, the secretary of state shall submit the resolution petitioned for at the next general election, unless president or congress order a special election earlier.

If approved by a majority of the voters of three-fourths the states, the amendment would become part of the constitution. In case of conflicting amendments approved in the same election, the one with most votes would win. Cable said this method would take controversial issues such as prohibition out of politics. The proposal, however, would have to be adopted as an amendment to the constitution in the present manner before its terms would be effective.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Chicago.—Quaker Oats company reported that for the first time in two years the cereal department of its Cedar Rapids (Iowa) plant was operating at 100 percent capacity, with 200 men re-employed in the past two weeks.

New York.—Building permits rose unexpectedly in November, Bradstreet's weekly said, showing an aggregate gain of 12.2 percent at 215 cities to a total of $29,391,000. The increases were confined to the Middle Atlantic and Pacific Coast states. Only in three years since 1914 have these figures risen in November, Bradstreet's said.

Washington.—The National Lumber Manufacturers' association reported that new business booked during the week ended Dec. 3 by 694 leading softwood and hardwood mills showed an encouraging increase over the previous four weeks, with demands far exceeding production.

Find Family Living in 'Dark Ages'

The almost incredible story of a family living on a farm but a few miles from Chicago in such isolation that the children—the eldest 25—have never seen a moving picture, a radio or a street car, came to light last Wednesday, when the father appealed to the police to find the oldest girl, Mary, who ran away from home. Photo shows Joseph Stief, 60, with his wife and their nine children, ranging from 4 to 23 years. Thirty years ago Stief came to America from Russia, and sent for his wife. Nine children were born and they lived with the parents on small farms near Chicago. Steeped in superstition and believing in mystic signs and the magic of evil spirits, they feared to mingle with the outside world.
