SNOW SPOILS LONG RECORD

Murray, Ky.—Mrs. Mary Garnett, a special student at Murray State Teachers college here, said Wednesday was the first day she had missed attending or teaching school in fifty-seven years. Mrs. Garnett, who was graduated from Paris, Tenn., high school in 1885, has taught for forty-two years. She missed class Wednesday because the snow and ice made it too hazardous for her to go out.

Elmwood to Establish a Town Patrol

Chamber of Commerce of Cass County Town to Take Steps to Check Petty Thievery.

The Elmwood Chamber of Commerce has taken steps to put a stop to the series of petty thievery that has been taking place in their community.

Recently the town has suffered from small thefts of tires, gas and other articles from cars, garages and homes. These small jobs have been hard to detect and punish the parties and consequently a new move has been decided upon.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce it was decided to have the town divided into four sections for the purpose of patrolling, the patrol to operate at night and try and detect if possible any person who might be carrying on the thieving.

A night patrol of eight men will be organized from among the members of the Chamber of Commerce, all of the members taking their turn at the patrol work during the winter season. The members of the patrol will be varied and the names of those called on duty each night will be kept secret by the officers of the Chamber of Commerce to assure more opportunity of capturing the author of the robberies.

The officers of the Chamber of Commerce the coming year are Sponsor Leger, president; Ralph Green, vice-president; E. T. Comer, secretary and William Coatman, treasurer.

D. A. R. MEETING

From Thursday's Daily Fontenelle chapter of the D. A. R. met this week at the home of Mrs. E. H. Wescott with a very pleasing number of the members being in attendance. The musical portion of the program was furnished by the girls of the sixth grade under the direction of Miss Cora Williams, director of music of the city schools, singing Christmas songs.

Mrs. H. C. McMaken as a part of the Christmas spirit of the meeting gave a most interesting paper of "Christmas Music in America" that was much enjoyed.

At the close of the afternoon refreshments were served by Mrs. Wescott to add to the enjoyment of the event.

ADDRESSES HIGH SCHOOL

From Thursday's Daily Hon. William B. Banning, of Union, veteran legislator and senator-elect from the second district of the state, was a guest at the high school convocation today. Senator Banning gave the students a very fine talk that showed the method by which bills were introduced into the legislature and the various steps taken as they were passed along the legislative channels until final passage. Mr. Banning has served many terms in the legislature and as leader of the democratic minority in several sessions as well as member of the important committees.

The remarks of Senator Banning were very instructive and gave all of the students an appreciation of the manner in which the laws are framed and finally enacted by the law making body of the state.

SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

Superintendent L. S. Devoe of the city schools, who has been suffering from the effects of the flu and a severe cold for several days, is now reported as being somewhat better. Mr. Devoe is still confined to his home and undergoing treatment and hopes to be back at the helm of the city school system in a few days.

Christmas cards for printing can be found at the Journal office. Come and look over the line.

C. of C. Hears from Legislators Elect Thursday

Senator W. B. Banning of Union and Representative George E. Nickles of Murray Speak.

The meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce held Thursday noon at the Brown cafe, had the honor of having present at the meeting two of the newly elected members of the Nebraska legislature, Hon. W. B. Banning of Union and George E. Nickles of Murray, representative-elect.

Senator Banning has had an extensive experience in the Nebraska legislative life, being elected first as senator back in 1908, serving a number of terms in the upper body of the lawmakers. His service has won him places on many of the most important committees and particularly those that have had touch with the financial affairs of the state. He was able to give the Chamber of Commerce a fine discussion of how laws are prepared and guided through the legislative paths to final enactment or to their defeat on the roll call. He also gave his views on many moves that will be necessary in the curtailment of the expense of government, the paring of all appropriations as far as consistent with the proper handling of the state affairs.

Mr. Nickles also spoke briefly and stated his view on the move to place the state government on a less costly basis and one that would give the people of the state as good or more efficient government and at a much less cost to the taxpayers.

The Chamber of Commerce was much pleased to have the legislators with them and to have the opportunity of the interchange of ideas on legislation that will be taken up at the session of the legislature in January.

Germany to Join with Nations in a Slash of Arms

American Co-operation Is Assured With Promise of Further Efforts Toward Disarmament.

Geneva.—The United States, in a document which the chief of her arms delegation, Norman H. Davis, signed, declared her resolve to co-operate in the disarmament conference with a view to seeking substantial armament reductions. The United States and four other nations, the statement reads, hope "without delay to work out a convention which shall effect a substantial reduction and a limitation of armaments with the provision for future revision with a view to further reduction." With America in this determination are Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy.

Altho this is not entirely what Mr. Davis said he hoped for, the head of the American delegation said he considered that other peoples now felt there was a moral commitment to resume the task of disarmament after the Christmas holiday "in real earnest." Davis' ideal was a convention capitalizing disarmament gains already made and definite disarmament plans ready to be presented to the world before Christmas. The American said, however, he was satisfied the pronouncement for co-operation was a move toward substantial and immediate reduction and limitation. The biggest step in the agreement so far, Mr. Davis pointed out, is that Germany has signified her willingness to resume her place in the conference. Germany's acceptance of the formula balancing her demand for arms equality with French insistence on security was announced in Berlin and was interpreted as her desire to return to the discussions from which she withdrew because of the equality problem.

Germany's acquiescence was obtained when Great Britain, France and Italy declared, in the document, "that one of the principles that should guide the conference should be to grant to Germany and other powers disarmament by treaty, of equality of rights in a system which would provide security for all nations, and this principle should find itself embodied in a convention containing conclusions of the disarmament conference."

"This declaration," the statement continued, "implies that respective limitations of armaments for all states should be included in the proposed disarmament convention. It is clearly understood that methods of application, such as equality of rights, will be discussed by the conference."

The document was signed by Prime Minister MacDonald of England, chairman; Mr. Davis, Sir John Simon of England, Joseph Paul-Boncour of France, Baron von Neurath, Germany's foreign minister, and Baron Pompeo Aldisi, head of the Italian delegation to the League of Nations.

With Germany's return to the disarmament conference and the understanding on equality and security, the conference now has a fighting chance to succeed, principal signers of the declaration have agreed. While they admitted that merely the principle of equality and security had been accepted, and that the application thereof is still a matter for negotiation, it is expected that another five power meeting will be continued probably in London in January. The American delegates said that they believe this proposal is a good idea and that Russia and Japan might join the conferees.

Warden Fenton May Get Federal Appointment

Would Not Object to Taking $10,000 Job as Prison Director or as Member of Board.

Warden W. T. Fenton declined Thursday to confirm a report that he is to leave his present position for a federal appointment, but said he would like a federal job under the Roosevelt administration if he can get what he wants.

In the event of his leaving the service of the state a rumor is that Deputy Warden Kavanaugh would be in line for appointment to the wardenship of the state penitentiary. Rumors also are that State Sheriff Endres would ask for the state wardenhip at the penitentiary. Endres was recently mentioned for appointment as sheriff of Douglas county in the event of a vacancy there. The state warden is an appointive office under the state board of control which now comprises one republican and two democrats.

Warden Fenton said he had been in his present position so long that he would not object to a federal job, just for a change. There are two places that attract him. One is membership on the federal board of pardons, which pays a salary of $7,500. There are three on this board.

The more attractive place is that of director of federal prisons which carries with it a salary of $10,000. These two positions are under the department of justice. They are not civil service places and are held at the pleasure of the department of justice, or attorney general of the president's cabinet. The two positions are thus considered open to a change the moment the new federal administration takes office. Arthur Mullen of Omaha, friend of Fenton, may be the attorney general who will have the appointing power.

Col. Raymond Robins Restored to Good Health

Denial Is Made of Subterfuge or Deception in His Disappearance.

New York.—Col. Raymond Robins, prohibition worker who was found in the North Carolina mountains Nov. 18 after a ten week disappearance, said in a statement he had "come thru a terrible experience," but that he is "being fully restored" at his home in Brooksville, Fla. The statement was issued here by Dr. Fred B. Smith, chairman of the world alliance for international friendship and long an associate of Colonel Robins, who visited him at Brooksville. Dr. Smith also gave a statement over his own name concerning Colonel Robins in which he said that any hint of there being subterfuge or deception concerning his disappearance, or his recovery, is entirely unworthy and unwarranted.

The statement Dr. Smith said Colonel Robins prepared during their visit was as follows: "I have come thru a terrible experience. Here in my home, surrounded by my family and the friends and associations I have loved since I was a boy, I am being fully restored. Those who are wise in matters of this sort assure me that the darkness that overtook me in the midst of my day's work was a provision of nature to save me from a serious collapse. Those who meet me in the future, therefore, will be able to judge of my mental clarity. Those who have known my life in the past will not believe that I have been a quitter. For the generous and tender helpfulness of many dear friends in these hours of suffering for my wife and family I am grateful beyond words. For the competent and kindly co-operation of the officers of government and the immense aid and in the main truthful and fair treatment accorded me by the public press, I cherish abiding gratitude. ICE GORGES IN MISSISSIPPI

St. Louis.—Ice gorges caused by the sub-zero wave from the north have partially blocked the Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois rivers above St. Louis, resulting in the lowest stage in seventy-two years. The Missouri is choked with ice at Kansas City and Booneville, Mo., and the other two streams are gorged above Grafton, Ill., at the mouth of the Illinois river. The waters have backed up to some extent above the gorges, weather bureau officials said, but the ice jams allow some of it to pass, relieving the pressure.

GLASS PREDICTS TRIUMPH

Washington.—Quick senate approval of his bank reform bill was predicted by Senator Glass following a series of discussions among friends of the legislation looking toward the elimination of disagreements. "I don't entertain any doubt about the bill being passed," Senator Glass said, "and I don't think it will take much time either." The former secretary of the treasury said he believed the bill would be approved by the senate within a week after its consideration begins Jan. 5.
