Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Rihn were over to Plattsmouth to attend the funeral of the late Wm. Schuldice.

E. E. Leach and family were visiting for the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Tutt of Murray on last Sunday.

Don C. York and Timothy Koutceck, both of Plattsmouth were in Union on last Monday and were visiting with their friends.

Fred I Rea of Plattsmouth was in Union on last Monday and was looking after some business for the Iowa-Nebr. Light & Power Co.

Nels Madison and Edward Lewis and wife were guests for the afternoon on last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moss McCarroll.

Messrs. W. E. Moore and Henry Reuhmann were called to Omaha on last Monday afternoon where they had some business matters to look after.

Edgar E. Newton and wife of Plattsmouth were visiting for the day on last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Newton's mother, Mrs. Vesta Clarke.

Judge C. L. Graves of Plattsmouth was a visitor in Union last Wednesday, coming to attend the funeral of his friend for many years, Daniel Lynn.

Messrs. Walter W. Wasley and Edward Donat, both of Plattsmouth, were in Union on last Monday looking after some business matters for a short time.

R. E. Jones and wife of Gagnet, Herold Yeryent and wife of Omaha, were visiting for a short time on last Sunday at the homes of Harry and Moss McCarroll.

Clifford B. Smith was a visitor in Lincoln on last Friday evening and on his return to Union was accompanied by W. B. Banning who looked after business for the day on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. McCleave of Omaha and Mrs. M. R. Schaurart of Nebraska City were in Union last Sunday attending the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Todd.

Jesse Pell and wife and their daughters, Misses Rachel and Dorothy of Omaha, were guests for last Saturday and Sunday at the home of Loy Pell and other relatives and friends here.

On last Monday afternoon Mrs. A. W. Probst of Nebraska City came to Union to visit with her friend Mrs. E. E. Leach, and then both ladies drove over to Plattsmouth for a short visit with friends.

Frank and Anna Bauers were enjoying a visit for the day on last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Schroeder near Greenwood where they drove in their car. The weather was almost as fine as springtime.

L. J. Austin, while butchering a beef for E. E. Leach had the misfortune to receive a cut on his thumb which has been causing this gentleman very much grief. It is, however, getting along just fairly at this time.

James Green who has been at the hospital since his accident in which he suffered the loss of a leg, was brought home to Union on last Sunday and is at the home of his parents. He is getting along fairly well now.

Uncle G. S. Upton while about his business, slipped and fell, which caused this excellent gentleman to receive much grief in the bruises which he received and also suffering a fractured rib which added to the pain and inconvenience.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kirwin and George Hoffman, all of Lincoln, Andrew Lynn and daughter and husband, Clarence McCartney, all of Geneva and E. J. Lynn and wife of Ohio were here last week attending the funeral of the late Daniel Lynn.

Mrs. W. A. Taylor who has been kept to her home and bed for some time past with a severe attack of the flu, is reported as being some better and is able to be up and about the house again. Her many friends are pleased to know that she is improving.

Claude Lane and wife who were so ill with a severe attack of the flu, are both better and while Mrs. Lane is able to be about her duties at home, Mr. Lane was able on Monday of this week to return to the work at the service station. The children who were over to Lincoln during the very severe illness of the parents, are so they can come home again, making the family very happy.

The Rev. N. B. Kunkel and wife and Mrs. Mary Johnson, the latter of Weeping Water, but who has been making her home in Union with Mrs. Daniel Lynn and will continue to reside here this winter, were over to Weeping Water on last Monday where the former was visiting with their son, Dr. Kunkel and family, while Mrs. Mary Johnson was securing what she would need for the winter, that she might remain here.

Son Gladdens Home.
Albert Kohrell of Nebraska City, a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Kohrell, was blessed with the arrival of a son on Friday of last week. Grandmother Kohrell was down to see the little grandson and to assist with the care of the little man and his mother. All are getting along very nicely. Grandfather L. F. Kohrell sure is feeling pretty fine over the event.

Business and Eats.
The Union firemen met on last Thursday and first looked after the business which claimed their attention and later held an election of officers for the coming year. They then all enjoyed an oyster supper in which they were joined by four of the fire department of Nehawka, and to which the fire department of Nebraska City had been invited but who did not respond to the invitation. The Union orchestra furnished music for the gathering.

Celebrated Wedding Anniversary.
On January 10th, 1907, Mr. and Mrs. Moss McCarroll were united in marriage and have made their home near and in Union for the past twenty-six years. In commemoration of the blissful event their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Madison, entertained at their home south of Union at a very fine dinner where the members of the families directly connected enjoyed the occasion. Many wishes were extended for many more happy years for this excellent couple.

Married Thirty Years.
Judge L. G. Todd and wife celebrated the passing of their thirtieth wedding anniversary on last Sunday at their home in Union and were assisted in the proper celebration of the occasion at the splendid dinner which they had and which members of the immediate family were present, and which was enjoyed by all.

Was Very Sick Last Week.
Charles W. Hoback who has been rather poorly and very susceptible to throat diseases was taken with a most severe case of quinsy, which gathered in his throat and for a time it was feared that nothing could be done to relieve his condition. A number of lances were made of the affected parts, and while it looked as though no results could come, still a puncture was made reaching the gathering, which resulted in relief and since then Mr. Hoback has been showing improvement which is not alone good news to the family, but to his many friends over this vicinity.

Was Down Town Monday.
Jack Lidgett, who has been kept to his home and bed the greater portion of the time for the past five weeks, has been showing some improvement for the past week and was able on last Monday afternoon, while the day was fine and the sun shone brightly, to come down town for a short time to visit with his many friends.

Many Pay Honor to Friend.
Daniel Lynn, a friend to humanity, and who made his home in Union for many years where he had gained many staunch friends had not been in the best of health for many months and passed away last week. The funeral was held last Wednesday at the home, conducted by Rev. W. A. Taylor, who had been a friend of the deceased for many years, and the Rev. B. N. Kunkel, pastor of the Union Methodist church, and which sad rites were supplemented by the ceremonies of the I. O. O. F. of Nehawka of which Mr. Lynn had been a member since its inception and was a member of the Factoryville lodge for years before, and having been a member of this mystic charitable order for the past sixty years. With the passing of the 50th year of membership in the Nehawka lodge he was presented with a certificate of Ancient Odd-Fellowship and which also carried with it the release from payment of dues.

At the funeral which was held at his late home there were many times more people than could gain admittance. A chorus of singers composed of J. D. Cross, D. Ray Frans, Phillip F. Rihn and C. H. Whitworth, sang beautifully at the services. The pall bearers were six nephews of the deceased, John, Henry, Ray and Roy Becker, Loy Pell and James Gruber, the latter of Murray. The remains were laid to rest in the West Union cemetery, there to sleep until the sounding of the trumpet of the Angel of the resurrection.

Obituary.
Suzie Melvina Mitchell was born January 24, 1884 in Stope county, Missouri, and died at her home southwest of Nehawka, January 6, 1933, at the age of 48 years, 11 months and 11 days.

She attended school in Missouri until the age of 16. She was united in marriage Nov. 17, 1915, to Frank Rinek of Polk county, Missouri, and to this union four children were born. She became a member of the Pentecost church at Dunegan, Missouri, in 1925. In 1917 she, with her family moved to Wabash, Nebr., residing there for four years. They then returned to Missouri for five years. For the past six years she had resided near Nehawka, Nebr., where she had a host of friends, who join with the family in mourning her untimely departure from their midst. Besides her husband she is survived by four children, Stella, William, Cecil and Carl, all at home. A son by a former marriage, Ernest Underwood, resides at Eagle. A daughter, by the same marriage, Mrs. Clenny Jones, preceded her mother in death five years ago. One grandchild, Bobbie Dean Jones, lives at Buffalo, Kans. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Pamela Gold of Stone county, Missouri and Mrs. Aita Messenger of Arkansas, who were unable to be here, and by two brothers, Fred and George W. Mitchell, both of Stone county, Missouri, who arrived Saturday morning to attend the funeral.

Funeral services were held from the late home Sunday, January 8th at 1 p. m., conducted by the Rev. W. A. Taylor of Union. Interment was in Wabash cemetery 1 mile west, 1/2 mile north of Wabash, Nebr.

Card of Thanks.
To the many friends and neighbors we wish to express our deepest gratitude for the many acts of kindness to our beloved husband and father in his last illness, also for the beautiful flowers, and sending of words of sympathy at the time of the funeral.—Mrs. Martha Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. John Lidgett.

Wheat Price Again Hits Half Dollar Mark

Rise of Almost Three Cents a Bushel Gets Sympathy in the Stock Market.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 10.—Fifty-cent wheat came back by a rise of almost 3 cents today after a long period of lower prices, and stocks rose in sympathy.

The market broke the half a dollar price after a rise of 2 to 2 1/2 cents today, a total rally of 8 cents from the 1932 bottom, which was the lowest in the history of organized grain exchanges.

Since the first of the year, with only six full trading days, wheat futures have risen more than 8 cents. Cash grain also has gone higher.

Much of the sympathetic rise in stock was in railroad shares, contrary to old-fashioned principles. In normal times, a bullish wheat market, denoting a short crop, caused a bearish stock market, as there would be less tonnage to carry by rails both from and to the farms and demand by the roads for steel and other materials.

Official forecasts of a cold wave, which threatened to damage an already suffering crop in the prairie states, accounted largely for the strong buying.

Plane Crash Near Auburn Causes Death

Joe Boyles, Jr., Burned to Death and Two Companions Are Injured in Wreck.

Peru, Jan. 11.—One man is dead and two others are injured as the result of an airplane crash a half-mile from here Tuesday afternoon. The dead:

Joe Boyles Jr., 25, Auburn, burned to death.

The injured:

F. B. Furlong, Auburn, broken ribs and a broken toe, cuts and bruises.

E. C. Karstens of Shubert, pilot of the plane, painfully but not seriously injured. The plane was owned by a Humboldt man and Boyles who had rebuilt it in Auburn and was planning to fly south in it. With Karstens acting as pilot, he and Furlong were flying over the bottom land near Peru when, farmers in an adjacent field said, the plane apparently struck a low clump of trees.

It wavered but did not crash until it struck a high tree about 200 yards away. One wing was torn off and the fuselage fell in flames to the ground. Karstens was thrown clear and managed to pull Furlong from the wreck. He was, however, unable to fight his way through the flames to save Boyles.

The crash occurred on the farm of Julius Wey and Mrs. Wey, from her front porch, was the closest witness. When the plane brushed the clump of low trees, about 100 yards west of the house, Mrs. Wey ran in to the house for safety. The craft rose again, however, cleared the house and then crashed into the tree east of it.

Farmers nearby rushed to the Wey home, obtaining water to extinguish the flames while Karstens attempted to save Boyles. When the fire was extinguished he was dead. He was sitting with his feet under the gas tank and could not extricate himself.

The plane was brought to Auburn three months ago and reconstructed for Boyles' flight south. The three men began making flights with it a month ago, and the accident Tuesday was the first mishap.

Karstens said they were flying low looking for a place to land on the Wey farm.

All three had taken flying instruction. Boyles took instructions at the Omaha airport. Boyles was one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boyles sr. Mr. Boyles is a carpenter.

FORT CROOK PARADE HONORS NEW CHIEF

The first parade of troops at Fort Crook this year was held at retreat Monday afternoon in honor of the new commandant, Colonel Thomas M. Anderson.

It was the first parade held at the fort since last June, in fact, due to the men being engaged almost wholly in construction work. A feature was the appearance of the men without overcoats, which was remarkable for this time of year, due to fine weather Monday.

Colonel Anderson was well pleased with the parade, and complimented the officers on the appearance and conduct of the men.

North Dakota Farmer Tells of the Depression

Chicago Journal of Commerce Gives Letter and Comment of One of Western Farmers.

Under the caption of "It's Hell But It Might Be Worse," the Chicago Journal of Commerce gives the views of a North Dakota farmer on present conditions. The article is as follows:

Gentlemen, if ever there has been offered you a slogan to carry you forward in these parlous times, there is one. Written by a hard-pressed son of North Dakota soil, tattered of raiment, forced to dig his own coal at the risk of his life to keep from freezing to death, the words in the above caption are potent and filled with spirit of men who can "take it."

The words are lifted from a letter printed in the Round Table of Business a few days ago. A remarkable letter for its humanness, its never-say-die spirit and its unembellished picture of "nature in the raw." Here it is again. Read it:

"It's hell but we can't help it. Our crops are punk. More than 200 farmers here have asked the county agt. to get them Red Cross aid or they will starve. I have not got my threshing done and I'm not the only one in that fix. I can get my threshing done if I furnish the gas and oil but I have not got that much money. Our wheat here is only grading about 4 or 5 and a lot of it is no grade.

"All of us farmers are digging our own coal and that is dangerous because we haven't the timbers to prop up the roof. The taxes are not paid and I can't pay them. My brother has 480 acres and no mtg. He tried to borrow $2500.00 but he could not get a c. His improvements are good. It was 21 below zero yesterday. I must dig about 15 tons more coal, came close to getting crushed last week when the roof caved in, I just missed it as I carried a big chunk of coal out. We had a lot of snow some time ago and it mostly thawed off then froze so its hard for the horses on the prairie and if the snow gets deep its good bye to many of them. We have enough to eat but our clothes are getting ragged. Wiliston has a large soup room and the street is full at meal time. More than one farmer is eating there. Hope you are all well. My wheat will make about 5 bu. per a. I am feeding the bundles to the cows. It's hell but it might be worse.

"I'm very tired tonight, am going to get some 'shut eye' as quick as I can get the stoves fixed for the night.

As Ever

And now ponder those words, not composed by a college professor, adorned with adjectives or fine writing, but, men, what a stark, virile picture of a battle with adversity, the elements and economic conditions over which this farmer has no control! If ever there was a "human document" here is one. It is things like these that are real literature, but rarely found in books. No effort by the writer to draw the plaudits of critics; no effort to arouse sympathy; no effort but to tell in plain, very plain, simple language the story of his battle to live.

One is impressed and struck with the utter ruggedness of this letter. Without realizing it—which makes for its sincerity—the writer stirs the soul with his indomitable spirit. "Our crops are punk;" "It was 21 below zero;" "I must dig 15 more tons of coal;" "the roof caved in, I just missed it;" "if the snow gets deep its goodbye for the horses." Impossible to borrow money and farmers eating at soup rooms.

And then, "It's hell but it might be worse!"

And there are thousands that are warm and well fed with only a modicum of labor who go about crying "hard times" and "depression."

And then do you note, after all his hardships, this man is still solicitous of another's welfare? "Hope you are well." As long as there are men in this nation of ours that pluck we need never fear of it going to pot. One feels like throwing out his chest and marching behind such men as that.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. John P. Meisinger of this city was very pleasantly surprised by the members of her family on the passing of her fifty-seventh birthday on Sunday. The children had arranged for the surprise and while Mr. and Mrs. Meisinger were at church Sunday the members of the family motored in from the country and the ladies proceeded to prepare a delightful feast for the Sunday dinner. When the parents arrived home from church and entered the home, Mrs. Meisinger was greeted by the children and grandchildren who showered her with well wishes on the passing of the birthday anniversary. After the splendid dinner that was served the remainder of the day was spent in visiting and having a general social time until the home going hour. Those who enjoyed the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Meisinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Meisinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Meisinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Meisinger and family, and Miss Minnie Hill.
