Medical attention was summoned and he was given treatment and was able to be brought to the Todd home in Union where he is confined to his bed, also reported as being some better.

Death Comes to Mrs. Bassinger. Mrs. Bertha Elizabeth Bassinger, 39, wife of Lloyd Bassinger of Minersville, died at St. Mary's hospital at Nebraska City Tuesday morning at 10:15 o'clock following an illness of six years. Death was due to complications.

Mrs. Bassinger was born at Bennet, Neb., February 8, 1893, and came to Otoe county with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dukes, who settled in the vicinity of Minersville when she was a small child.

She attended the schools of Otoe county and was married to Lloyd Bassinger, in Nebraska City, September 30, 1918. Mrs. Bassinger was a woman who had endeared herself to her friends and neighbors because of her kindness and assistance during sickness in the community. She was well known in the vicinity of Minersville where she spent practically all her life.

She is survived by her husband and one son, Ocie Bassinger. Other relatives surviving are four brothers, John and Sam Dukes, Nebraska City; Ed Dukes, Union; Clifford Dukes, Lincoln; and two sisters, Mrs. Ione Blagden, Nebraska City, and Mrs. Mary Hawerry, Bartlett, Ia.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Porter funeral home with Rev. W. A. Taylor of Union in charge. Interment was at Wyuka cemetery.

Married at the Home of Rev. Taylor. Sunday morning at 9:30, Mr. Louie Allgayer, Jr., and Miss Janice Compton, both of Weeping Water, were married. The marriage lines were read by Rev. W. A. Taylor. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Small and son of Murray, Mrs. Small being a sister of the groom.

Obituary. Ellen Marie, the younger daughter of Frank and Clara Greenrod, was born at her home near Avoca Oct. 7, 1926, and died in a Lincoln hospital Jan. 9, 1933, after one week of severe illness, reaching the age of 6 years, 3 months and 2 days.

She was given in baptism Dec. 19, 1926. When a baby she became a member of the Cradle roll department of the Congregational Sunday school of Avoca, and when not more than four years old she became a faithful member of the Beginners class. She loved her Sunday school lessons and teacher, and gave of her service and talent whenever called upon.

She entered the public school of district 96 of Otoe county on Aug. 29, 1932. She loved her teacher and playmates and progressed in her work.

She leaves her father, mother, one sister, three brothers, and her grandfather, besides many other relatives and friends who mourn her loss.

"Weep not that her soul is over; Weep not that her race is run; God grant we may rest as calmly When our work like hers has been done.

Till the new will yield With all gladness our treasure to Him to keep And rest in the blessed assurance He gives our loved ones, sweet sleep."

The funeral of this sweet child was held from the Christian church at Avoca, Wednesday Jan. 11th at 2 p. m., conducted by the Rev. W. A. Taylor of Union, Nebr.

The many flowers and large gathering at the funeral attested the love that was held for her. Interment was in the Avoca cemetery.

Witness Gives Testimony at Senate's Stock Probe—Vivid Portrayal. Washington.—A dramatic tale of growing suspicion as Ivar Kreuger, sick and possibly out of his mind, scurried away and approached his tragic end was unfolded today with the resumption of the senate's investigation of stock market practices.

Earlier the banking committee, conducting the inquiry, had been told that while the match king lay in Paris, dead by his own hand, heavy foreign holdings of Kreuger & Toll securities were unloaded before word of the suicide was given to the public.

It was informed, too, that American investors had lost some 20 million dollars in a single issue of Kreuger & Toll bonds on which inferior collateral had been substituted for sound securities, and heard an assertion that the New York Stock Exchange approved the agreement under which this was possible.

A Vivid Portrayal. But committee members and spectators leaned forward, more than ever intent, when A. D. Birning of the New York accounting firm of Ernest & Ernst took the stand and described his dealings with Kreuger in the last two weeks of the financier's life.

He gave a vivid portrayal of Kreuger as he appeared when seeking to avert by manipulations and evasive statements the nemesis which was closing in upon him.

He then told how he conferred with Kreuger in New York on February 28, 1932—less than two weeks before the Swedish financier committed suicide in the French capital, and was greatly puzzled at the confused replies given to his questions as to the whereabouts of 50 million dollars of German bonds of the International Match company.

The witness testified he communicated his "doubts" to Donald Durant, a partner in Lee, Higginson & Co., which handled the Kreuger securities in this country, the next morning.

In the meantime, a checkup by cablegram, he said had proved Kreuger's story that the bonds were in Berlin to be false.

Personal Fouls are the Result of Body Contact

Single Exception Is Case of Face Guarding—Most Games Won or Lost as Result of Fouling

Previous articles have discussed infractions of the rules causing the frequent whistle blowing by the referee. Violations and technical fouls were explained and many listed. Personal fouls, the last but not least in importance, will be considered today.

Theoretically basketball is a "no contact game." However, it is quite obvious that personal contact cannot be entirely avoided when ten players are moving with great speed over a limited playing area. If personal contact results from a bona fide attempt to play the ball; that is, when players are in such positions that they could reasonably expect to gain the ball without contact; and if they use due care to avoid contact; then, such contact may be classed as accidental and not penalized.

A personal foul is an infraction of the rules, the penalty being one or more free throws for the basket; and the fourth offense automatically removes the offending player from further play in that game. Personal fouls are the result of personal contact with the one exception of "face guarding." The personal foul rule is intended to prevent the most flagrant fouls in the game and tends to eliminate the rough play which is bound to occur in a game of speed. The officials should rule strictly on these points in order to keep the game moving smoothly and under control. Some of the most common of these personal fouls are:

- 1. Holding. 2. Tripping. 3. Charging. 4. Rushing. 5. Blocking. 6. Hacking (striking arms of a player in act of shooting or passing). 7. Tripping. 8. Face guarding. 9. Interference with an opponent when jumping at center or held ball. 10. Unnecessary roughness of any nature.

Two free throws are awarded the offending player if he was fouled while in the act of shooting for the goal and in case the basket was missed. If the goal is made it counts but only one free throw is awarded. Only one free throw is awarded for fouls committed under other conditions. A double foul may be called (one on each team) in which case only one free throw is awarded each team. Playing time is stopped as soon as a foul is called and the watch is started again when the ball leaves the player's hands on the last free throw awarded. In the case of a double foul when the ball is tossed up at center jump.

Statistics compiled over several hundred games show the average number of fouls committed by the winning team to be 8, the average fouls committed by the losing team 10. Almost two-thirds of the games played are closely contested will be won or lost via the free throw route as a result of fouling.—By W. H. Browne, basketball coach, U. of N., in State Journal.

JAPAN OPPOSED TO A PACT

Moscow.—In answering the soviet government's proposal for a non-aggression pact, Japan has countered with the declaration that the time for such an agreement is not yet ripe. Japan suggested, however, the establishment of a three power commission representing Japan, soviet Russia and Manchuria, for the "peaceful regulation by local means of difficulties" which may arise in connection with the contact of troops of the nations and for preventing border incidents. This was interpreted as a categorical refusal to sign the pact. The soviet government, however, while expressing regret over Japan's stand, declared its willingness to discuss the Japanese counter proposal.

House Debates the Bill to Cut Mileage Fees

Five Cents a Mile Limit Nearing Approval in the House—Substitutes Rejected.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 17.—The Cone bill to reduce mileage charge to 5 cents a mile on necessary official business of all government employees moved steadily along in house committee of the whole today but the large number of specific provisions prevented final approval.

The way in which the house approved section after section, however, indicated the bill is on its way to passage. Besides reducing all mileage fees it would also closely regulate the payment of mileage of department and institution heads to prevent unauthorized charges.

Substitutes Rejected. The only serious difficulty during discussions of the mileage charges came over a proposal to cut the allowance to county sheriffs in serving papers to 5 cents for actual mileage and requiring them to serve a number of papers on each trip rather than each summons separately.

Feelings were ruffled several times during the debate. To a suggestion of practical difficulties in dividing sheriff's charges, Representative Tremore Cone (dem.) of Valley, sponsor of the bill, charged that the "Douglas county sheriff makes as much as the president of the United States."

A proposal of Representative B. W. Sheldon (dem.) of Ogallala to allow sheriffs 10 cents a mile because they have to conduct investigations without mileage, and a substitute proposal for 6-cent mileage by Representative John H. Steuterville (dem.) of Bridgeport both were rejected.

Numerous Candidates Told. Representative W. J. Williams (rep.) of Cedar Bluffs urged the reduction, calling the sheriff's job in Saunders county "the best job in the county." He said the sheriff altogether made $7,500 last year. Others pointed to the large number of candidates for sheriff in their counties as proof of a needed reduction.

The house dropped the bill until Wednesday, it authorized sheriffs to be paid 5 cents a mile on all official duties, instead of just for serving papers.—World-Herald.

INQUIRY ON OIL PRORATION

Oklahoma City.—A request that the United States senate send investigators to aid the state senate in investigation of oil proration in Oklahoma will be made in a resolution to be introduced in the legislature next week. The resolution may be that Senator Walsh, Montana, chief investigator in the Tea Pot dome scandals, be sent to join in a state wide federal oil investigation. The federal aspect of the inquiry will be based on interstate nature of the industry, thru pipe lines and other carriers, the legislator who is drafting the resolution said. Meanwhile the state oil investigating committee went ahead with preliminary for the oil inquiry. Chairman Stewart said the first hearing would be Tuesday after organization Monday night. A mass of information has been presented committee the last two days. The committee may take direct hand in rewriting Oklahoma oil curb laws, members intimated.

TOM MIX GOES INTO COURT Erie, Pa.—Color of the once "wild west" prevailed civil court as the trial of Col. Zack Miller's $342,000 damage suit against Tom Mix, film cowboy, alleging breach of contract opened. Mix was attired in a cream colored whipcord riding suit, blue flannel shirt, red tie, riding boots and ten gallon hat. Miller, former owner of the 101 Ranch show, across the counsel table dressed in conservative business suit, but equipped with a huge cowboy headpiece.

A jury of two women and ten men was completed and taking of testimony got under way. Two years ago a jury awarded Miller $90,000 but this verdict was set aside on an appeal and a new trial was ordered. The suit is the outgrowth of Miller allegations that Mix broke a contract to play in the 101 show.
