Dewey Parks was shelling and delivering corn to the amount of 2,000 bushels to the Farmers Elevator, but there has not been much of the crop moved as yet. There is over a half million bushels of corn in the territory around Greenwood and only a relatively small proportion of it being sold. It is an undisputed fact that the farmers should be able to get a much higher price for their grain than the present low market level—but just how to do it is another matter.

Better times are coming, we believe, and when the farmer gets back on the upgrade, we will find a widespread decrease in unemployment all over the country.

First Hatch This Week
The Lesley Hatcheries are to give their first hatch this week and another the week following for they are set to bring a hatch every week, with a capacity of some 7,000 baby chicks. It is the early chicks that pay the biggest returns, so if you are in the business, make the most possible out of it by getting your chicks now.

Will Hold Wolf Hunt
The depredations caused by wolves in Cass county this winter have been unusually heavy and hunts have been staged in a number of communities to round up the pests. Recently W. H. Lesley and many of his neighbors have noticed wolves and coyotes in the fields near their homes, and Mr. Lesley reports the loss of many of his chickens to these four-legged robbers. As a result, there is much enthusiasm for the holding of a wolf hunt in this vicinity and arrangements have been perfected for the holding of such a hunt east and a little south of Greenwood on Friday of this week, February 24th, when there will be eight square miles covered. The point of starting will be the first cross roads east of Greenwood and running south two miles to the Buckingham corner, east two miles to the P. A. Moeckenhaupt corner, north to the Gus Weitzel corner and west to the place of beginning. Rifles will not be permitted. The hunt will begin at ten o'clock Friday morning.

Ervan Conn, W. H. Lesley and George Bucknell are in charge of the arrangements and all prospective hunters should see one of the members of the committee for further instructions.

Receives Severe Injury
While Grandmother Mrs. W. C. Boucher was at work about the house, she stumbled over a carpet sweeper that had just been in use and was thrown to the floor, injuring her left arm so severely that it was thought the member had been broken. Later developments, however, showed that she had suffered only severe bruises and sprains, and she is getting along quite well, although still very sore.

Confer with County Board
Messrs. W. A. Armstrong, O. F. Peters, Engineer Scott and his son made a trip to Plattsmouth on last Wednesday to confer with the county board on the matter of the extension of the drainage ditch through Cass county, which has been brought to the limit of this county by the county board of Lancaster county. The project, although it cost a good deal of money has salvaged many hundreds of acres of land to profitable farming. Now the object is to have the ditch continued through Cass county, where the records show an additional 5,000 acres of fertile land can be reclaimed. The delegation was able to interest the members of the board in the proposed extension of the ditch and it is expected that definite action will be taken in the near future regarding the same.

Roosevelt will be Told to Use Greater Caution
James A. Farley, National Chairman, Thinks Chief Must Reduce Appearances in Public.

New York.—While city officials were arranging to surround Franklin D. Roosevelt with one of the heaviest police guards ever assigned to an individual when he arrives here Friday, democratic leaders were planning to urge the president-elect to curtail his future activities. James A. Farley, democratic national chairman, when he learned details of the Miami shooting, said, Mr. Roosevelt "probably will have to refrain from making so many public appearances."

Other leaders at democratic national headquarters, as they gathered during the day to discuss the attempted assassination, agreed that the president-elect should be urged to avoid large crowds and open gatherings. "I am going to suggest that he keep only the two or three more important engagements on his calendar and cancel all other public appearances," one prominent figure at headquarters said.

Many recalled how extremely "open" Mr. Roosevelt has been, both during the campaign and since his election. "He has shaken hands with thousands of people," a party leader said, "and I shudder to think now of the chances that any would-be assassin could have grasped on those occasions."

Meanwhile, close friends of Mr. Roosevelt talked of urging her, too, to curtail her public appearances. They were especially anxious that she drop her plan to drive to Washington, unless she found it "impossible for me to get away quietly." She said "emphatically no, I wouldn't dream of such a thing," when asked if she will ask secret service protection for herself or any members of her family as a result of the attempted assassination.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney will assign 150 picked uniformed patrolmen to remain on duty constantly as a Roosevelt guard. They will form a cordon around the president-elect wherever he goes in public. No one will be permitted to pass thru this "wall."—State Journal.

CLUES IN POSTAL ROBBERY
Springfield, Ill.—A man and a woman were held by federal officials investigating a $211,000 postal robbery in Chicago Dec. 6. Three more persons were sought. William Golden, alias Walter Gimbal, alias William Grossman, of Chicago, was taken into custody Saturday after he attempted to sell a $1,000 bond to a local brokerage house for $80.

Jean Stenger, who said she was from Oklahoma, was also held after she was found in an automobile waiting for Golden.

An investigation revealed that the bond Golden tried to sell had been stolen in the daylight robbery in Chicago's financial district. Five gunmen took a sack of mail from Fred Voelisch, registered mail carrier, and his guard, who were making the first morning delivery to the First National bank.

All railroad stations and highways out of Springfield were guarded, but postal officials refused to give out information concerning other persons being sought. J. A. Thompson, local postal inspector, would say only that "there might be half a dozen people involved."

DISTRICT ATTORNEY CALLED
Oklahoma City.—United States District Attorney Hyde will be summoned before the senate oil investigating committee to tell about recording on a dictaphone a reported conversation between two witnesses, it was announced. Hyde will be asked, Senator Nance said, to produce records made by federal operatives of the alleged three cornered conversation between Raymond C. Walker, Mark Kleiden, and Robert Galbreath, jr., son of Oklahoma's first oil millionaire. These three have been involved in a sensational story of huge traffic in illegal crude oil under the noses of Governor Murray's militia, headed by his cousin, Cicero I. Murray.

Hyde revealed Kleiden was acting as a government and state witness when he carried on his conversation with Walker. "He performed his job well," Hyde said. "The district attorney has co-operated and been helpful in the investigation and we believe his testimony will be valuable," Nance said.

WATER RATES ARE SLASHED
Grand Island.—Drastic cuts, giving small consumers a total saving of $30,000 a year, were effected in light and water rates by the city council. Commissioner C. W. Burdick believes these cuts will give Grand Island the lowest light and water rate in the state.

The new schedule will be in effect on March consumption, or the April 1 billing, while the water rate will go into effect May 1.

The new light rate is .05 for the first 50 K. W. hours instead of .06. There is a cent reduction for the second 50 K. W. hours also.

The minimum water rate was set at $4 instead of $6. The saving to consumers in this department is most noticeable by comparison of the old rates. The 10 percent discount for all bills paid on or before the prescribed time limits still remains in effect.

TRIES FOR MICKEY KANE
Omaha.—Following funeral services at St. Peter's church, the body of Fred J. "Mickey" Kane, sports promoter, was taken to Norfolk, his former home, for burial Friday.

Boxers, wrestlers, business friends, city commissioners, sports followers and admirers of Kane attended the service here. Father Joseph A. Aughney of Emerson, lifelong friend of Kane, celebrated requiem mass.

"He was a square shooter, a clean sportsman and gentleman—a credit to the world of sport which we need if we would have clean minds in clean bodies," said Father Aughney as he stood before Kane's flag-draped casket.

Kane was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kane of Norfolk.

Texas Company Chief Points to Difficulty Ahead

All Existing Fields Should Share Equitably in World's Petroleum Production.

New York.—Should the oil industry fall in co-operative efforts to allow all existing fields an opportunity to supply an equitable portion of market requirements, "the consequences would be dissipation of all the world's larger reserves of crude oil and other assets of the industry at tremendous cost to everyone concerned," R. C. Holmes, president of the Texas Company, said today.

Mr. Holmes, a member of the American Petroleum Institute executive committee, approved the recently adopted "principles" of the institute upon which it hopes to base a co-operative effort to administer "market demand" statutes in oil producing states.

Failure, said Mr. Holmes, inevitably would mean "that the lowest cost production would be produced first. California, East and South Texas, Northern South America, Persia and two or three other sections could alone for a time, by opening up the valves, supply nearly all the world, making it virtually impossible for pumping fields or any of the older fields to produce at all.

"The consequences," he continued, "would be the dissipation of all the world's larger reserves of crude oil and the other assets of the industry at a tremendous cost to everyone concerned. Are we, through failure of the authorities to issue legal and fair orders and apply same equally to all, going to permit this to result?"

"Our trouble today is not that allowable production in the United States is in excess of the market demands, but that in the United States there has been, and is production in excess of the allowables and in excess of the amounts reported to the bureau of mines and to the American Petroleum Institute; and that foreign production has not been sufficiently restricted."

"It is estimated that at least 95 percent of the producers in the United States are doing all in the way of restriction that is necessary to bring production within consumption requirements. And it remains for the small outstanding minority to be influenced or required to do its part."

House Approval Assured.
Snell has promised more than 100 republican votes and, if the democratic caucus achieves its purpose, approval is virtually assured. The resolution would then go direct to the states, the signature of President Hoover not being necessary. The surprisingly big majority for the resolution, sponsored by Senator Blaine, was announced by Vice President Curtis in the midst of great confusion and it required five minutes of gavel pounding to restore order.

Scores of house members who had listened to the debate fled out of the chamber in amazement at the decision, while hundreds of spectators poured from the packed galleries. As passed by the senate the proposal is the same as drafted after an eight and a half hour session Wednesday night and Garner said: "As perfected by the senate Wednesday night and with the Robinson amendment for the convention method of ratification, the resolution is satisfactory and in conformity with the democratic platform."—World-Herald.

ACCUSES MEDALIE'S AIDES
Washington.—After being thrown into confusion by charges of Representative Dickstein of New York of corruption in the office of United States District Attorney Medalie of the southern New York district, the house rules committee deferred action on his resolution calling for an investigation. Dickstein was told by Chairman Poy that the rules committee would not act on his resolution until after the house judiciary committee had considered his charges. The New York democrat said "there has been a racket going thru the forfeiture of bonds in prohibition cases."

"The clerk of a federal court and an assistant Medalie are doing a smashing business," Dickstein said. "They are working in collusion with two bonding companies. The judge orders bonds of from $500 to $1,000 forfeited, and a day or so later, dummy defendants are permitted to come up and plead guilty and are fined $25. Not a dollar of the bond money has gone into the federal treasury. Mr. Medalie is a perfectly honorable man but this racket has been going on under his nose," Dickstein said.

FIND GRAVE OF A PIONEER

Scottsbluff, Neb.—William D. Clary, early day pioneer, was buried with his boots on when he died while headed west with a party of immigrants over the old Oregon trail. The spot that marks his grave was discovered recently four miles east of Torrington, Wyo.

A limestone marker bears in plain, well-carved letters the following inscription: "William D. Clary, June 21, 1850." The letters are still even and legible despite many years of exposure. The party with Clary ignored much sandstone nearby and evidently journeyed some distance to secure limestone for the grave marker.

Torrington business men are planning to erect an archway over the grave this summer as a more effective marker and to afford protection to the burial spot.

House Expected to Favor Blaine Repeal Measure

Heavy Majority Given for Wet Proposal by Senior Solons—Expect Quick House Action.

Washington.—By an astonishing majority the senate voted to kill the eighteenth amendment and sent a repeal resolution to the house, where leaders confidently looked forward to approval no later than Monday. Moving with a speed and force that was unforeseen, the anti-prohibitionists smashed dry lines apart to push the repeal thru the senate by a 63 to 23 vote, five more than the two-thirds necessary.

It provides for submission to state conventions for ratification instead of to the legislatures and would protect dry states from liquor importations. Another article which would have placed a constitutional ban on the return of the saloon was brushed aside as the senate rushed toward its historic vote after thirteen years of prohibition.

In the house Speaker Garner promised action on Monday under suspension of the rules. He forecast approval of the legislation, which differs only on the point of protection for dry states from that which failed by six votes in the house on the opening day of the session. A democratic caucus to bind the party's members to vote for the resolution was called for Friday and both the speaker and Representative Snell, the republican leader, said the votes would be ready.

Rushing Action on Moratorium Asked by Bryan

Will Be Introduced Again Today to Correct Error—Provides for a 2-Year Delay.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 17.—Governor Bryan's bill for a two-year emergency moratorium on farm and home foreclosures was rushed into the legislature today and given quick action into committee, only to strike a legal snag late today.

Attorney General Paul Good told judiciary committees of both house and senate that introduction had not been strictly according to existing law. He said a special message to the legislature from the governor must accompany such a bill.

To Be Re-offered Today.
The measure will be reintroduced today, after a special message is read, and further action is expected at once.

Ordinary rules had been suspended, to get the bills (House Bill No. 599 and Senate Bill No. 473) before committees of both houses.

The committees held a joint session, voted to report the bill for senate action after eight amendments, and then were halted by Good's opinion.

Meantime an effort was made by Representative W. R. Johnson (rep.) of Omaha, and State Senator C. L. Stewart (dem.) of Clay Center, to combine with the Bryan bill some features of the Tremnor Cone moratorium bill, which was passed today by the house.

Agree on Both Plans.
After a conference, it was tentatively agreed to accept the Bryan bill for emergency needs, and the Cone bill for permanent court procedure.

The committees voted to extend the moratorium to protect persons acquiring land under conditional sales contracts. Representative E. J. Dugan (dem.) of Omaha, who suggested this amendment, said 50 per cent of the property sold in Omaha was handled in this manner. Other amendments were technical, merely to correct wording of the bill.

It is possible that the bill may be passed and sent to the governor in less than a week, if no opposition develops.

Invokes Police Power.
The bill invokes the police power of the state to meet an emergency deemed of "immediate importance." Sponsors say this is intended to bolster the bill if its constitutionality is challenged.

The proposed act provides that all actions for foreclosure of real estate mortgages, on either city or farm property, shall be continued by the court until March 1, 1935, "unless good cause is shown to the contrary." The act would automatically expire on March 1, 1935.

ROOSEVELT'S SISTER DIES
New York.—Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, died at her home of double pneumonia. She was 71, the last surviving member of Theodore Roosevelt's childhood family. She was the aunt of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and a fifth cousin of the president-elect. Her maiden name was Corinne Roosevelt and she was the youngest member of the family.

Her parents were Theodore and Martha Roosevelt, the mother being a member of a prominent southern family. Besides the late president, she had another brother, Elliott, father of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt; and a sister, Mrs. William Sheffield Cowles of Farmington, Conn., who died a little less than two years ago. Elliott Roosevelt died when his daughter, Eleanor, was a child.

Mrs. Robinson was married in 1882, to Douglas Robinson, of New York, who died in 1918. Survivors include two sons and a daughter, Theodore Douglas Robinson, who was assistant secretary of the navy in the second Coolidge administration; Monroe Douglas Robinson of New York; and Mrs. Joseph W. Alsop, of Avon, Conn.

NOMINATED FOR WEST POINT
Washington.—Representative Simmons of Scottsbluff, Neb., Thursday nominated the following candidates for two United States military academy vacancies credited to the Sixth Nebraska district:

Principal—Harold V. Voss of North Platte; first alternate, Richard Manion of Alliance; second alternate, Clarence F. Maca of Loup City.

Principal—Homer H. Uglov of Scottsbluff; first alternate, Vernon Chicoine of Valentine; second alternate, Fred L. Overstreet of Scottsbluff.

BLACK RESOLUTION BACKED

Washington.—The senate postoffice committee favorably reported the Black resolution authorizing a special committee of five senators to investigate existing air and ocean mail subsidies. The resolution, offered by Senator Black still must be passed upon by the audit committee because of its provision for $10,000 for expenses of the inquiry.

The senate has stricken from the treasury-postoffice bill the entire fund of $19,000,000 for the air mail service. Pending the result of the investigation, the amount of this appropriation for the next fiscal year will remain unsettled. A total of $35,500,000 is carried in the bill, now in conference, for ocean mail, foreign and domestic.

Senate to Ask for Inflation of the Currency
Committee Urges Federal Issue of Money Based on Real Estate Loans.

If the state senate follows the recommendation of its committee on agriculture it will tell congress to inflate the currency by having federal currency issued on a basis of farm loans to be made to farmers, home owners and loan associations and insurance companies or banks.

The plan is not Senator Wheeler's bill relating to silver, but is copied after a resolution adopted by the Farmers union at Omaha, said Pedersen, one of the senators who championed the plan in committee. The resolution, originally introduced by Welch, was reported back to the senate by the agricultural committee, Neubauser, chairman, with several amendments. It goes over one day under the rules.

The committee struck out a declaration opposing the domestic allotment plan for farm relief, as it was understood President-elect Roosevelt is in favor of this plan of farm relief. Opposition to matching dollars by state or federal government was stricken out, and the committee amended by opposing only that portion of the agricultural marketing act creating the federal farm board. It endorses that part of the resolution calling upon congress to withdraw from the federal reserve banks power to regulate the amount and values of money in the United States. As the federal reserve bank system is generally credited to Wilson's administration, many democrats in the state senate do not care to go on record against it.

The currency inflation amendment attached to the resolution by the committee reads: "Resolved, That the federal government issue mortgages on the application of all owners of farm, ranches and home or to insurance companies or savings and loan companies or bank or parties holding mortgages against said lands, ranches or farms to the amount of 50 per cent of the value to be based on value as congress may determine and appraisals to be made by a local board of appraisers with federal inspections. These mortgages are to carry 2 percent interest (which will take care of carrying charges) plus 1 percent interest for amortization, said mortgages to retire themselves in about thirty-five years. These mortgages to be placed in a federal vault and a monetary circulation in a form of government notes as the demand may require to be given to the home owner, the land owner, or to be given to the insurance companies, the building and loan companies, or banks for mortgages held by them on these homes, ranches and farms, and it shall be made imperative upon the secretary of the treasury to issue this monetary circulation until such time as the business condition of the country shall return to normal, and at that time the secretary of the treasury shall cease the issuance of the circulation, but should the condition of the country again become depressed it shall be imperative on the federal treasury to proceed at once to issue additional circulation until conditions are again normal."

REFINERY AT GORDON
Gordon, Neb.—Gordon refined gasoline zone will be on the market here. A new firm will start the refining of gasoline and motor oils within the next month. J. W. Enes of Newcastle, Wyo., who has been making the final arrangements, said about fifty to 100 barrels of crude oil will be refined daily into gasoline, kerosene, tractor fuel and fuel oil.

Don't give your printing to out-of-town salesmen. Journal pay-rolls are spent almost 100 per cent right here in Plattsmouth.
