The marriage of members of two of the prominent families of Cass county occurred on Sunday at Martinsburg, Nebraska, when Miss Elvira Sprick and Otto Heil, both of near Louisville, were joined in wedlock.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Martin Jung, pastor of the Lutheran church at Martinsburg and uncle of the groom.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sprick and the groom of Mr. and Mrs. John Heil, long time residents of the Louisville community and numbered among the leading families of the county. Possesses Old Paper of Wash- ington Funeral

L. S. Strain of the Nebraska Masonic Home has Historical Paper of Year 1809.

L. S. Strain, of the Nebraska Masonic Home, who is engaged as the mail carrier for the institution, has in his possession a paper of historic import and which has been in his family for many years.

This is a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, published at Kingston, New York, of the date of January 4, 1800, containing the account of the death and funeral of General George Washington. The death of General Washington had occurred at Mt. Vernon on December 14, 1799, but owing to the long distance and the meager means of carrying the news it was some weeks before all parts of the colonies were apprised of the death of the great leader.

The paper, yellowed by age, tells of the funeral services which were conducted by the Masonic order, Washington having served as the master of the lodge at Alexandria, Virginia.

The paper also had the column rules turned to give the paper the heavy black mourning cast. The paper is a five column folio and was one of the best known papers of the state of New York in its day.

Among other items and advertisements that appeared in the paper was one offering to sell a half interest in a saw mill and also an advertisement for the sale of a negro wench, giving a detailed description of the negro woman.

Act Locating Road in This Part of State

Legislature Passes Measure to Create Road from Nebraska City to Plattsmouth.

Judge Charles L. Graves, who has a great interest in the early history of Nebraska, in delving through the laws enacted by the territorial legislature of Nebraska, discovered an act locating one of the territorial highways.

This measure provided that J. H. Maxon, Jacob Dawson and G. D. Connely, be appointed commissioners to locate a territorial road from Nebraska City in Otoe county by way of Wyoming and Rock Bluffs, to Plattsmouth in Cass county, and thence to the Platte river at the most practical point.

It was provided "That said commissioners or a majority of them, shall meet on or before the first Monday in April, 1859, at Nebraska City, and proceed to locate said road; and shall make their return according to law on or before the 1st day of June, 1859. That said commissioners shall each be allowed three dollars per day for the time necessary to locate said road, and shall have power to employ as many assistants as may be necessary in locating said road, who shall be allowed two dollars per day while employed except surveyors. One of the commissioners may act as surveyor, if the others choose to appoint from their number. The expenses of said road shall be paid by the counties through which it passes, in proportion to the length of the road in each." The act was approved October 26, 1858.

Woman's Club Hears Discussion of U. S. Policy

Miss Jessie Robertson Gives Interesting Review of U. S. Policy in the Far East.

From Tuesday's Daily

The Plattsmouth Woman's club met last evening at the home of Mrs. E. H. Wescott and with a pleasing number of the members in attendance and a fine program prepared for their entertainment. One of the main features of the evening was the fine presentation by Miss Jessie M. Robertson of "What Is the Foreign Policy of the United States."

Miss Robertson discussed the historic attitude of the United States in its foreign policies and particularly in that of the Far East, now one of the chief centers of world diplomacy owing to the strained relations of China and Japan, the dominating nations of that part of the world. The stand for the open door policy in China that had been long maintained by the United States as well as several of the European nations, was not strained as the result of the armed invasion of the northern China provinces by Japanese troops and which had aroused world apprehension of the ultimate outcome of the threat to world peace. The discussion by Miss Robertson was most interesting and showed a close study of the present day problems of the nation.

The musical portion of the program was devoted to a piano selection by Mrs. L. S. Devos as well as two vocal selections by Miss Fern Jahrig and Richard Spangler, pupils of Mrs. Wescott, giving a very much enjoyed part of the program.

The ladies had as their high school guests, Lois Bestor and Gertrude Brink, members of the junior class of the high school.

The devotions of the evening were led by Mrs. W. F. Evers.

Tt the close of the evening dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Wescott, Mrs. H. F. Coos, Mrs. Carl Ofe and Miss Thelma Deihm.
