Russell York Dies at Home in Far-Away Alaska

Relatives Receive Message This Afternoon of the Death of Former Well Known Resident.

From Thursday's Daily
This afternoon the message was received here by Don C. York, of the death of his younger brother, Russell York, at Petersburg, Alaska, early today. The message came with added shock as the family this morning had received a letter from Alaska, telling of the illness of Russell from pneumonia, but stating that he was improving and was expecting soon to be up and to enjoy a trip back to the old home in Nebraska. Hardly had the letter been read than the family received the wire of the death.

On receipt of the death message Don York hastened to Omaha to be with the aged father when the news of the death was given him, the elder Mr. York being a sufferer from heart attacks and the family were apprehensive of the effects of the sad news.

The deceased was forty-five years of age and was born at Watson, Missouri, where the family resided prior to coming to this city some thirty-two years ago. Russell resided here with the parents over a period of several years and while here was engaged in the laundry business. Later he moved to Alaska and where he had married and made his home.

He is survived by the widow, residing at Petersburg, the aged father, John C. York, of Omaha; two brothers, Don C., of this city and Jesse of Omaha; three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Gravitt, of Omaha; Mrs. Charles Jelinek of Lincoln and Mrs. Fred Keltz of Los Angeles.

STANDING OF ORGANIZATIONS IN THE COMMUNITY GAME

From Saturday's Daily

- Plattsmouth Group.
1. High school Junior class.
 2. Methodist church.
 3. Christian church.
 4. Presbyterian church.
 5. St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran.
 6. St. John's Catholic church.
 7. American Legion Auxiliary.
 8. Episcopal church.
 9. Holy Rosary Catholic church.
- Out of Town Group.
1. Myrard Aid Society.
 2. Murray Christian church.
 3. Otterbein U. B. church.
 4. Louisville Emanuel Lutheran.
 5. Union, Methodist church.

High school Juniors out vote the Methodists and take first place again. The tally sheet is beginning to look like a jigsaw puzzle or anyway it is a see saw game to see who will stay in first place. High school would have a higher percentage if the standing was figured on that basis. Presbyterians held first place for two days, Christians one day, Methodists one day and the high school three days and at this time have a small vote advantage before going into the big drive Saturday for the 25,000 votes to be given as an attendance prize. Several special meetings were held last night to complete plans for the big drive. Everyone is expecting to have heaps of fun all day long.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE

Two of the popular and highly esteemed young people of the northwest portion of Cass county, Miss Louise Kirker of near Ashland and Charles Long of South Bend, are announcing their marriage.

The two were married on December 27, 1930, at Sidney, Iowa, and have successfully kept the wedding secret until the present when they announced the event to the relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Long are locating on a farm fifteen miles this side of Shenandoah, Iowa, and where they will be at home to their friends in the future.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. John Kirker of near Ashland and sister of Mrs. William Shea of this city. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Long, former Plattsmouth residents.

HEART ATTACK KILLS HASTINGS DRUGGIST

Hastings, Neb., March 10.—C. W. Schmitz, 65, owner of a drug store here for 25 years, died this afternoon of a heart attack which followed pneumonia. He formerly lived at St. Joseph, Mo. He is survived by his widow and two daughters.

Despite our troubles, real and fancied, we find by reference to the season's new seed catalogues that Nature is unchanged.

Of course, we understood that all the quips about Woodin money were just jokes, and we hope there will be no basis for their becoming serious.

Swanson Speaks for Building Up the U. S. Navy

New Secretary Says That the United States Must Keep Up to Legal Limit.

Washington.—The predictions of naval experts that the United States will be 135 warships below its treaty allotment at the expiration of the London pact in 1936 will not be allowed to come true if Secretary Swanson has his say about it. In his first pronouncement as head of the navy department, the former chairman of the senate naval committee in no uncertain terms said he would endeavor to bring the fighting fleet up to treaty strength.

"My opinion is that the fleet should be built up to the ratio laid down in London as soon as conditions permit," the secretary stated in answer to a query. This was at Mr. Swanson's first conference with newspapermen since taking over his new post.

The London agreement of 1930 made provision for naval equality between the United States and Great Britain, while permitting Japan to build a ratio of three to five with her two rival naval powers.

Secretary Swanson, as a delegate, studied the disarmament problem at Geneva last summer. He is a believer in the ratio system and feels that this country should take advantage of her treaty rights to strengthen her forces as rapidly as possible. Regarding ship construction, the secretary said a proposal had been made at Geneva for other nations to cease building and permit the United States to build up to ratio.

"Whether we shall get the ratio by increase or a decrease is a question for the state department," he explained.

As to the navy forces in the Pacific, Secretary Swanson was of the opinion that the United States fleet would probably remain on the west coast "until there was a change" in the far eastern situation.—State Journal.

ALL OFF GOLD STANDARD

Omaha.—Why all this talk, asks Harry O. Palmer, about the United States going off the gold standard?

The country, he says, has been off the gold standard so long that he doubts if the oldest inhabitant can remember when it went off. For that matter, he added, no other country has been on the gold standard, actually, within recent times.

Attorney for Omaha branch of the federal reserve bank, Palmer has made a considerable study of the federal reserve system. He described the present gold standard talk as "academic." He presented the situation in nut shell fashion as follows:

The country has about four billions in gold—real gold. But there are bank deposits up around 90 billion dollars. Now if all the money, as represented by the bank deposits, is backed by gold, how can there be more than twenty times as much in deposits as there is in gold?

The answer is that most of the dollars out are not gold dollars, but commodity dollars. In fact, one might call them imaginary dollars. They are backed by faith, not by gold.

Palmer is flatly against a federal guaranty of bank deposits. "It is not a guaranty of the bank deposits," he said, "but a guaranty of the personalities of banking, which seem to be totally unjustified."

TO PUBLISH GOLD HOARDERS

The names of all persons who have withdrawn gold in large amounts from banks in the past two years will be published if the gold does not return to the channels of trade and business. The following letter has been received by banks in this city from the federal reserve board:

Kansas City, March 9, 1933. To all Banks and Trust Companies, District No. 10:

The following telegram from the Federal Reserve Board is quoted: "It is requested that you prepare and forward to the Board as soon as possible after March 13, 1933, as complete a list as can be made from information you are able to obtain of the names and addresses of all persons who have withdrawn gold from your bank, or a member or nonmember bank in your district, since February 1, 1933, and who have not redeposited it in a bank on or before March 13, 1933."

Please furnish to this bank as early as possible a list showing names and addresses of all individuals, firms, and corporations to whom you have made gold payments since February 1, 1933, which have not been redeposited before March 13, 1933, giving amount in each instance; also a separate list of payments made prior to February 1, 1933, which have not been redeposited prior to March 13, 1933.

Respectfully, GEO. H. HAMILTON, Governor.

PLEASANT RIDGE PROJECT CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Herman Hennings was hostess to the Pleasant Ridge project club at her home Saturday afternoon, February 25th. Roll called indicated all members present, as well as one visitor.

The lesson was "Cheese Making in the Home," when two different kinds of cheese were made by the leaders. Mrs. L. A. Melsinger and Mrs. John Kaffenberger served delicious refreshments. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Earl Lake March 21st.

A most pleasant gathering was held at the school house in the evening when the husbands of the members entertained their wives and children. The time was spent in cards, visiting and the singing of old songs. At a late hour refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, home made ice cream, pie and coffee were served, that added to the pleasures of the occasion.

ZANGARA LAUGHS AND JOKES AS SENTENCED

From Friday's Daily

"I'm no scared about anything, because I sure I right," said Zangara, the would-be assassin of Roosevelt in court this morning as he was being sentenced to death in the electric chair for the death of Mayor Cermak. Zangara paid his compliments to the sentencing judge in no uncertain terms calling him a "crook and one of them capitalists."

The date of his execution has not been determined.

JUNKED AUTOMOBILES BOUGHT BY JAPAN

Los Angeles, March 8.—Thousands of tons of discarded automobiles from the Pacific coast are finding their way to the steel mills of Japan. Although the Japanese have been purchasing metals in the shape of everything from junked rails to steamships for years, an increase of more than 2,000 per cent in the exports of junk from the Los Angeles harbor has been noted since Japan began its invasion of China.

Records of the Marine Exchange here show 23,855 tons of "iron and steel semi-manufactures" shipped last year, as compared to 1,025 in 1931, most of which was scrap iron and steel bound for Japan. There was a full last fall but 591 tons of scrap metal was shipped from here for Japanese ports in November, 2,596 tons in December and 3,443 in January.

SUFFERS INJURED LEG
