STILL CONTINUES POORLY

Mrs. Frances Purdy, one of the long time residents of the city, has for the past several weeks been confined to her home, she still being quite poorly. The many friends will regret to learn that this estimable lady has not been feeling the best, and trust that she may be able to soon resume her usual activities.

TO LOCATE IN CITY

T. C. McCarty, a resident here several years ago, is to again return to make this city his home. Mr. and Mrs. McCarty will move here from Omaha soon and reside in the residence property of Mr. McCarty at Seventh and Oak streets, the residence now occupied by the L. D. Hiatt family. Mr. Hiatt and family will move to the Shrader residence on North Fourth street.

SOME OF THEM ARE THAT WAY

Erastus Jones was wedded, and was longing for relief. From the ebullient colored dame who kept him fast in tow; For her volubility made trouble, and brought 'Ras a ton of grief, So he hied him to a lawyer to relate his tale of woe.

"Judge, I want to git a 'voisement 'tum 'at triflin' wife I got; Fu' her waggin' tongue 's a-drivin' me to de virgin o' despair, An' de langwish she uses, Judge, jus' keeps de wires hot A-makin' 'it uncom'fable w'en she dun gets on de air.

"She's tuned in all day long, sah, an' makes night a hidjus dream Wid de dictionary words she's learned an' 'en turns 'em loose on me; Her voice is like a micafome, al's comin' in a stream— So it's done got up to you, Judge, fu' to somehow git me free."

"Now 'Rastus, on what grounds do you your claims to freedom press? Can't we by some diplomacy your indifferences amend? Wouldn't mutual forbearance and adjustment, more or less, Be more equable than a suit at law you might fail to defend?"

"'Tse dun tried 'at—it ain't no good—she'll jus' harrang and shout, An' keep her tongue a-waggin' all de time an' every day." "But 'Rastus, in her tirades what does she mostly talk about?" "'At's de whole endurin' trouble, Judge; 'at woman don't neveh say."

From Saturday's Daily
Attorney Carl D. Ganz of Alvo was in the city today for a few hours attending to some matters of business at the county court.

Opening New Store

The building which was used for some years by W. E. Newkirk and later by the firm of Anderson & Cope, but which has been vacant for some time, is to be used for a new business house, which will carry principally groceries and produce. The new store was launched on last Friday by Mrs. Deny, and will be managed by her son-in-law, W. P. Thompson, who comes from Crete. They are moving to Greenwood from Crete and will make their home here.

This is the second new business house to embark in business in Greenwood this year. Somebody has been watching Greenwood and has observed that now is a good time to engage in business here.

Rail Shipments Increase

Twenty-five cars of grain were shipped out from Greenwood during the month of April, and this, with a revival in other shipping activities, both incoming and outgoing, has made an appreciable increase in the receipts at the Burlington station.

Business is now on the upgrade, according to all reports, and everyone is hopeful that it will continue that way.

Says Business Better

E. L. McDonald reports business conditions are improving, which he attributes to the higher prices for grain and farm produce and the reopening of the Greenwood bank.

Celebrated Passing of Birthday

On last Tuesday, May 2nd, E. L. McDonald arrived at the 44th milestone of his life, and this fact was anticipated by his wife, who arranged a celebration on last Sunday. Returning home from the store, Mr. McDonald found the house filled with friends, all bent on making the day a merry one. This they succeeded in doing, and with excellent eats provided, the festivities continued until late at night. A number of pleasing remembrances were received, but one out of the ordinary was that contributed by Pearley Clymer, who prepared the soil and planted a nice large strawberry bed that will help supply the table at the McDonald home in the future.

Holiday Men Slate Strike for 13th of May

Also Adopt Scrip Plan to Link Farmers with Laborers—Milo Reno Re-elected President.

Des Moines.—A nationwide strike on all farm products, to begin May 13, was voted by the National Farmers' Holiday association in convention here. For the second time within a year, the delegates decided to try the method of seeking to withhold farm products from market in an effort to obtain cost of production prices. Adoption of the resolution for the declaration of a farm holiday was by a unanimous vote.

The resolutions called for:
1. The declaration of a farm marketing holiday effective May 13, 1933.
2. Resubmission of the association's legislative demands to congress.
3. Adoption of a scrip resolution and the appointment or election of a committee to outline the plan to labor organizations.

Included among the legislative demands of the association are the enactment of the Frazier bill, the Patman bonus bill and the Miller bill by congress.

Earlier in the day the convention had withheld action on the resolution while dispatching a telegram to Senator Smith, chairman of the senate agricultural committee declaring that "whether a national farm strike will be called depends on whether cost of production is included in the farm relief bill."

About 1,000 farmers from various states and from Canada were present as the resolutions committee submitted its report. John A. Bosch, national secretary, estimated the total membership of the association at between one million and 1,500,000. John A. Scott of Craryville, N. Y., headed the committee which reported the resolution for declaration of a farm holiday.

The resolution for the scrip plan, proposed by A. C. Townley of Minnesota, calls for the issuance by an international people's council for defense of one billion dollars in scrip money to be used in exchange of products between farmers and organized labor. Demand was made that Governor Herring immediately withdraw national guardsmen from the farm disorder area in another resolution drafted by the resolutions committee and adopted by the convention.

Attention also was given the Iowa disturbances over farm mortgage foreclosures thru the request of Milo Reno, grey haired national leader of the holiday movement, that the delegates seek to raise funds for the defense of the farmers at Le Mars and Denison, Ia. The convention also received a telegram from former Senator John J. Blaine of Wisconsin offering to assist without charge in the defense of the men held.

Reno was re-elected president. Bosch was named vice president and Jesse D. Sickler of Ordien, Ia., was named secretary-treasurer. — State Journal.

From Thursday's Daily

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grassman and son, William, of Omaha were here last evening to spend a few hours visiting among the relatives and friends. This is the first time that the little son has visited this city. William Kline, who for many years has been a traveling representative of the Carpenter Paper Co., was here today for a few hours visiting with friends. He is now residing at Lincoln.

Mermaid Millinery

No need for milady to worry this Summer as to how her hair is going to look after a dip in the briny. All she has to do is to follow the example of Mary Carlisle, beautiful film actress, who is shown wearing the new coiffure bathing cap. Made of fine rubber, the swimming headgear is designed to look like a hair dress.
