

Church Observes Birthday with a Fine Program

Homecoming and Birthday of First Presbyterian Church Draws a Large Audience.

The First Presbyterian church of this city last evening observed the seventy-fifth anniversary of the establishing of the church here, a birthday party having been arranged by the program committee as a part of the diamond jubilee of the church. The attendance was large and the fine program that had been arranged was most heartily enjoyed by all who attended.

The rostrum of the church was very handsomely arranged with the season's flowers representing the gifts of members of the congregation and friends.

The opening services were held in the auditorium of the beautiful church structure that has since 1859 been the home of the church, with the pastor, Rev. H. G. McClusky, opening the services with the prayer.

Miss Olive Gass, whose parents were pioneer residents of the community and early members of the church, gave the history of the church from its organization down to the present time.

Miss Gass told of the pioneer gathering of the members of the faith who had come west to Nebraska territory to settle and the final decision of the sixteen members of the faith to perfect a church organization. The struggles of the early day and the gradual growth of the membership of the church down to the present time was given by Miss Gass in her interesting manner.

Many interesting facts of the incidents of the early church life were related by Miss Gass unfolded the story of the Presbyterian church in Plattsmouth. Short sketches of the various pastors of the church were given, especially of Dr. John T. Baird, who for forty years served as the pastor of the church and its people.

The splendid pastorate of Rev. H. G. McClusky that has covered from March, 1914, to the present time was stressed, as in this period there was received into the church 622 members, a greater number than had been acquired in the previous years of the church organization.

In his service Rev. McClusky has baptized 136 infants and 168 adults, 264 funerals have been conducted and 202 marriages performed by the pastor.

The address of the evening was by Dr. J. W. Pressely, executive secretary of the synod of Nebraska, who gave a most inspiring and eloquent message on "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," stressing the influence of the church and its undying power in the lives of nations and individuals.

Mr. L. O. Minor was heard in one of his always enjoyed vocal numbers, to add to the pleasure of the program.

Many greetings and letters were read from those who had been members of the church here but have since been called to move to other localities, by Mrs. L. O. Minor. A number of the former members were able to be here and among these were Mrs. Agnes Chapman of Oak Park, Illinois; Mrs. Nellie Agnew and Mrs. Samuei Waugh, both of Lincoln; Mrs. Mathilde Vallery Dutcher, Warrensburg, Mo.; Mrs. Crete Briggs Frazen, Omaha; Mrs. May Larson Foster, Union. Several of these made brief talks during the evening.

When the first part of the program was dismissed, the guests were invited to the Fellowship room, which had been transformed into a veritable French garden, with its festooned lights and profusion of spring flowers.

As the guests arrived, the room was darkened save for the lights of the 75 candles which adorned the beautiful birthday cake. This beautiful cake, four feet in circumference, standing proportionately high, and topped with a white cathedral candle, rested on a round table, handsomely decorated with the 75 candles, festoons and tulle bows. It created a picture that will live in memory of all.

The receiving committee for the social hour comprised the wives of the officers of the church.

The cake was the achievement of Mrs. H. A. Schneider, Mrs. C. E. Hartford and Mrs. John Wolf, while the table decorations were arranged by Mrs. H. G. McClusky.

The cutting of the cake was presided over by Mrs. Hartford, Mrs. L. O. Minor and Miss Caroline Baird. The serving was in charge of Mrs. F. A. Cloldt, assisted by the girls of the Westminster Guild. These girls, gowned in pastel shades, added to the picturesque occasion.

Fruited punch, assorted cakes and the birthday cake were served.

Just before the serving, two tiny girls appeared in fair like dress, to offer greetings in word and song. Elizabeth Perry spoke the following:

BIRTHDAY CAKE AND CANDLES
It must be somebody's birthday, I never saw such a big cake as that. Its lots bigger than we have at home. Why, its higher than our President's hat.

Oh those pretty bright candles! How many? Did you say seventy-five? Whose seventy years old than I am? For my birthdays have only been five.

Oh I know, its our church's birthday. Its big, and must have a big cake, you see.

So its our big cake and candles, For this church belongs to you and to me.

Like all these pretty bright candles Shine, we must too, and our good deeds show.

The ones down below mean happy years And the big one on top means, we must grow.

Betty Ann Thomas sang this birthday wish:

A happy birthday to everybody here May you be happy all the year. If you are good, and kind, and true The Father's smile will rest on you, You growing up His child to be. A happy birthday to everybody here, May you be happy all the year.

The social part of the evening was sponsored jointly by the Woman's Auxiliary and the Q. Z. Society.

The program of the evening was composed of musical offerings by the young people of the church. Piano solos were given by Anna Margaret McCarty, Eleanor Minor and Twila Fay Hendrix, piano trio by Jean Knorr, Stephen Davis and Harriet Goos, all being very happily presented by the young artists.

James Comstock, well known young cornetist, gave a very fine number, the accompaniment being played by his brother, Cecil Comstock. The viola and bass viola duet by Rachel Robertson and Marjorie Ann Tidball, was one of the outstanding offerings of the program of the evening.

Miss Alice Hiatt was heard in one of her always delightful violin numbers to add to the completion of a fine evening of entertainment.

The last features of the jubilee week will be held on Sunday in the morning and evening services and in which special programs will be offered as fitting conclusion of the great anniversary.

HALL FOR SENATOR

A movement has been started in Lincoln by members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the appointment of Phil L. Hall, state commander, for United States senator. Mr. Hall is a resident of Greenwood and has been an active figure in the democratic circles of the state, being a candidate two years ago for state treasurer. He comes of a prominent democratic family, his father, Dr. P. L. Hall, serving as national committeeman for several years. Mr. Hall is a man eminently qualified for the office now vacant by the death of Senator R. B. Howell and his appointment would bring a young and active figure to the senate. The Lincoln post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are to have a committee that will take steps to have a resolution presented to Governor Charles W. Bryan, urging that the Greenwood man be named to the vacancy now existing. Mr. Hall, being a resident of the eastern portion of the state that now has no senatorial representative, should make a strong candidate for the position.
