To Make Old Home of W. J. Bryan Shrine

Dr. J. D. Case Appointed Chairman of Committee—Work to Be Started Soon.

Organization of a movement to make the W. J. Bryan home at 1625 D street, Lincoln, a national shrine was opened at a meeting of the Democratic Luncheon club at the Cornhusker hotel, last Saturday. The project, outlined by Dr. J. D. Case, was unanimously accepted.

The residence was the one in which Bryan lived during his campaigns of 1896 and 1900 and in which all his children were born, according to Dr. Case, who was appointed chairman of a committee which will begin work next week. Other members are C. L. Clark, John O. Chapman, and Jacob North.

Dr. Case said he had had the idea in mind for some time. Many visitors to the city inquire as to the home of the Commoner, and he pointed to the value of such a shrine to the city as a whole. Whether the campaign is to be local in scope has not been determined, nor the amount necessary to carry out the plan.

It is Dr. Case's idea that the house should be placed in the condition it was when Bryan lived in it, with recovery of the old Bryan furniture, and the collection of his personal effects used in his most active years in national politics. The house is now the property of the A. Tedrick estate.

ARGUE OVER CEMENT RATE

Chicago.—Controversy between railroads and several cement manufacturing companies concerning freight rates charged on cement hauled from eastern to western points began before the interstate commerce commission. The carriers filed a petition asking that the rates be increased upon cancellation of a commission rule covering carload lots of cement hauled from points in eastern trunk line territory to western trunk line destination.

In another hearing, the commission was petitioned by Denver, Colo., shippers to order a decrease of 4.5 cents per hundred pounds on grain and grain products from Denver to the Pacific coast.

Shippers in Sioux City, Ia., Omaha and Kansas City and throughout Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas opposed the request, maintaining that rates have always been based on balanced competition, without relation to mileage involved, and that Denver thus would be given an unfair competitive advantage.

Obituary

Miss Alvilda Blanche Crasset was born in Jersey, Ill., May 3, 1858, and departed this life on June 27, 1933, at the age of 75 years, 1 month and 24 days.

She grew to young womanhood in the locality of her birth, and there, in 1876, was married to George P. Hewitt. To this union were born two children, Effy and Jerry, both of whom were with her when she passed away.

The family was early deprived of the protection of the father and the mother was forced to carry on alone, later coming to Nebraska, where with her two children, she pioneered in Polk county.

In 1889 she married again, Mr. Luther A. Styles becoming the companion of her life and was a boon in the home, but again in 1910 she was compelled to part with him and finish life's battles alone.

Her gentle kindness and unwavering fortitude is common knowledge to all. Through all the toil, sacrifice and loss of her life, she has maintained her standard of kindness; no misfortune seemed great enough to shake her fortitude and in spite of her age and increasing helplessness, she carried on to the end. Those who were her closest neighbors can truthfully witness her courage to the last.

The lives of everyone in the community were greatly blessed because of her presence in their midst. Both young and old will miss her cheerful countenance and kindly word.

Throughout her life, she had been a loyal member of the Methodist church, giving freely of herself and her means in furthering the cause of her faith. As long as she was able, she attended church services regularly and even after that her interest never lagged. At the time of her death she was a member of the Greenwood M. E. church.

Among the many things of interest in her life, there seemed two that held a supreme place in her thoughts, her home and her children, which two were inseparable. Her great love for her children was known to all who knew her intimately. They were so often the subject of her visit when one would call on her. To break up her home here was not to be thought of—it was dear, sacred to her. She maintained it to the last when she went to that eternal abode across the way.

She leaves to mourn her passing one daughter, Mrs. Effie J. Barr, of Whittier, Calif., one son, Perry E. Hewitt, now of Muskogee, Oklahoma, five grandchildren and five great grandchildren with many others who shall miss her gentle influence.

AIRMEN TARRY IN ICELAND

Reykjavik, Iceland.—General Balbo and the 100 Italian aviators piloting an armada of twenty-four seaplanes to Chicago awaited improved weather conditions for the next trek to Cartwright, Labrador, 1,500 miles away. The squadron reached here after a 930-mile hop from London-Berry, Northern Ireland.

Emergency arrangements have been made for a landing at Italiahaab, Greenland, for the armada in the event a non-stop flight to Cartwright is impossible. The Italian mechanics inspected the seaplanes so they would be ready for a start Friday if the weather is good.

When he returned next morning, the coyotes were gone.

Conclave News Spurs Markets to Strong Gain

Inflationary Mood Pushes Corn to High Mark for Season—Stocks Climb $1 to $6 Net.

New York.—Financial kettles boiled merrily over fires fueled by further business improvement and assurance that this country was prepared to "go it alone," come what might at the London conference. Stocks climbed $1 to $6 net. Corn reached new record highs for the season, invigorating wheat and other grains. Cotton closed $1.10 to $1.30 a bale to the good and minor commodities were mostly firm to strong.

Bonds were spurred by the most active buying since early in May.

Wall street's interest in the London conference has recently been lukewarm, especially since this government made it clear it could not consent to currency stabilization while its own price recovery was incomplete. News that the big international meeting was to continue, with monetary and tariff questions excluded from the calendar, reached the street in the afternoon, finding the stock market firm, active and seemingly indifferent to what might happen at London. The biggest push in prices came in the late trading, when speculative enthusiasm gained broad momentum, swinging into line the industrial shares which had been lagging behind rails and utilities.

In banking and brokerage house quarters it was pointed out that, with tariff and currency discussion taboo at London, nothing was likely to be accomplished that would materially change the domestic picture, now one of rising prices. Judging from market performances, the mood of the movement is viewed as distinctly inflationary. The speculative fraternity is now definitely convinced that the administration proposes to raise the price level and maintain it, perhaps by the medium of a "managed" currency.

The rise on the stock exchange during the last hour coincided with a fresh drop in dollar exchange to new lows, or to around 73 cents in terms of gold currencies. Sterling frans one-tenth to $4.56 1-2, French francs one-tenth to 5.38 cents and Dutch guilders 1 1-4 cents to 55 1-4 cents. The Associated Press-Standard Statistics composite of 90 stocks showed a net appreciation of $2.40, closing at the new high of $94.10 on a turnover of 574,220 shares, one of the largest volumes of the spring and summer bull market. Rails boomed strongly. Utilities had a busy flurry in the forenoon and then quieted a bit, but held their gains. Industrials came to life in the late trading under leadership of steels, motors and farm implements.

"Iron Age" reported steel ingot production at 56 percent of capacity, compared with 53 percent a week ago. Electric power output last week gained 13.7 percent over the corresponding week of 1932, the largest rise since early July, 1929.—State Journal.

ENJOYED TRIP TO ANNAPOLIS

Probably one of the most interesting days of the five spent in Washington by Cass county Boy Scouts, was that taken up with their trip to Annapolis, a distance of some thirty miles from Washington, as the sights they saw there seem to come in for the lion's share of description in their post card and letter messages to home folks. Annapolis being on Chesapeake bay, their visit there gave them opportunity of seeing some of the large boats, including the cruiser, Indianapolis, on which President Roosevelt had sailed from his vacation up near the Canadian border. The boys tell of going aboard a battleship, submarine and a sailing vessel. They also tell of visits to the Smithsonian institute, mentioning particularly having seen the Lindbergh plane. They witnessed a naval fireworks display the night of July 4th, set off on the Potomac not far from the site of their camp. A big rain the night before had flooded their camp any compelled them to seek shelter in other quarters.

This coming week they will spend three days in Atlanta and a like amount of time at Chattanooga, departing from that point for home on Monday, July 17th, and expecting to arrive here on Friday, the 21st.

Truckers will Ask Gov. Bryan to Intervene

Pawnee County Group Asking Delay of Kansas Tax on Tonnage—Want Reciprocity.

Pawnee City, Neb., July 7.—Commercial truckers from three southwestern Nebraska counties will ask Governor Bryan Saturday to intervene with Kansas authorities to delay enforcement of the Kansas tonnage tax until a reciprocity agreement can be reached. Pawnee county truckers organized for the conference here Friday night and their delegation, headed by Kenneth S. Wherry, will be joined by groups from Gage and Richardson counties.

The truckers here Friday night said collection of the tonnage tax is scheduled for Monday and they want prompt action to prevent Nebraska truckers having to pay an estimated $35 additional tax apiece. They said they already are having to pay extra fees in Kansas for out-of-state licenses and state commission freight permits.

Authorities in Nebraska border counties recently began concentrated enforcement of Nebraska laws against Kansas truckers in retaliation for arrest in Kansas of Nebraska commercial haulers. The interstate situation is serious, truckers said here, because of the reported holding up of livestock. Wherry suggested a test case be brought to determine the legality of holding up stock transported on federal highways. He also urged truckers to extend their organization to work for uniform state regulation and courtesy by commercial truckers to other drivers.

Officers elected for the Pawnee county truckers are Howard Dusenberry, president; James Vaughn, vice president, and Lloyd Mathews, secretary-treasurer.

Protection

UNUSUAL conditions confront the world today. Where a sense of security formerly obtained, there seem to be change and fluctuation, engendering lack of confidence and safety; hence the need of protection looms large in individual thinking. This is no new experience. From time immemorial men have been in quest of protection for themselves, their families, and their belongings, and human experiences show that only in the measure of spiritual stability has it been secured. When the foundation of protection rests in matter, it is subject to change and other vicissitudes, carrying a modicum of fear, anxiety, and foreboding.

Protection is ordinarily regarded as preservation from danger, harm—some phase of evil. When properly understood in its widest application, protection should be a guaranty of immunity from all discord. Where is that to be found? In Spirit, where protection expresses the unerring law of God—a sure defense in all circumstances. But the question may arise: How can Spirit deal with material objects? In this connection Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has rendered incalculable service to humanity through her promulgation of the fact that God, the creator of the spiritual universe, including man, is the divine Principle of existence. On page 468 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mrs. Eddy gives the fundamental teaching of Christian Science: "All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation." Thus Mind is seen to embrace all causation, and the experience of each generation adds weight to the Biblical saying regarding a man, "As he thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Spiritual thinking is constructive, but material thinking, so called, is destructive. To illustrate, one seemingly unemployed and vainly seeking a position through various channels may become imbued with the apparent futility of it all. He is depressed if not hopeless, thus closing his right thinking and thereby proportionably incapacitating himself for right acting. The remedy is to abandon negative thinking and take hold of the fact that as a child of God he is under the divine government and all that pertains thereto. It is for him to reflect God through His ideas, to keep himself actively employed in entertaining them. Fear, depression, and hopelessness will soon give place to love for God and man; to joy, hope, and assurance of good. Radiating these thoughts and the good which he realizes and claims as his heavenly Father will open to him the proper channels, where his own need will be met.

Another may have misgivings as to his business prospects. His thought may dwell upon trade depression and closed avenues of activity until he becomes befogged with the clouds of apparently overwhelming difficulties. Turning resolutely from that uninviting contemplation, let him look up to the all-power and ever present goodness of God. In the divine economy there is enough and to spare; prosperity is undiminished therein, and never for a moment inactive or suspended. There fluctuation is unknown. As one depends upon that sheet-anchor and exchanges his material thinking for spiritual ideas and qualities, such as intelligence, wisdom, justice, honesty, and goodness, the outward manifestation of God's good will to man will be expressed in his human experience. God is beneficent, a bountiful rewarder of all who diligently seek Him and do His will. To be under God's protection is to be allied to the one never failing spiritual source of good.

Through the study and application of Christian Science it has been proved that there is no condition or circumstance that cannot be brought under the protection of God, the all-embracing and imperishable Love which fills all space. This veritably is the gospel of Christ Jesus, and as demonstrable today as it was of yore on the shores of Galilee.

The Bible abounds in helpful, comforting narratives and practical admonitions for everyday present use. One such assurance is, "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms; and he shall thrust out the enemy from before thee; and shall say, Destroy them." Good thoughts are a shield and refuge; they individualize divine power and dispel evil suggestions which are the enemy of mankind. Thus right thinking and right doing carry with them the fruition of goodness, power, protection, and peace.

Mrs. Eddy wrote to her students in a letter published in "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 263): "How blessed it is to think of you as 'beneath the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.' Make His strength, building on His foundation, and covered from the devourer by divine protection and affection. Always bear in mind that His presence, power, and peace meet all human needs and reflect all bliss."—The Christian Science Monitor.
