Cooking School Expert Explains Baking 'Luck'

"There is no such thing as 'cooking luck,'" declares Mrs. Grace Davis, nationally known cooking school expert. "All good cooking and baking is the result of using only the best of materials. It is no economy to use inferior ingredients because they are cheaper, for then your result are also second grade. I always insist on VICTOR FLOUR for my demonstrations. I cannot risk a failure, and I'm always sure of success when using Victor. Even for the most delicate angel food cakes I use Victor, and know it will be perfect."

Many women believe it is necessary to buy special cake flours for baking angel food, but that is because they haven't tried Victor. After several years of demonstrating the making of this most delicate of cakes, Mrs. Davis insists that angel food made from Victor Flour stays moist longer, is just as fine, and much less expensive. By using Victor Flour you need buy only the one sack for both your bread and cakes.

Try a sack today. Victor Flour is made by The Crete Mills of Crete, Nebraska, whose reputation for good flour has grown steadily for 64 years. You can buy it at all Better Grocers in Plattsmouth.

DIES OF RUNAWAY INJURIES

Albion, Neb.—Roy Williamson, 43, died Thursday afternoon five hours after being dragged 200 yards beneath a corn cultivator. Rev. Oscar Creech, who was with Williamson on his farm at the time of the accident, freed him from the machine, called help and had him brought to a hospital here.

An unruly team broke the tongue of the two row cultivator Williamson was driving and threw him beneath it. Then the horses galloped to a fence where one of them fell on the machine. Creech lifted both the horse and the cultivator off Williamson. The minister preaches in the Baptist church here and has a garden plot on the Williamson farm. He was offering to help cultivate in appreciation for use of the garden.

Besides Mrs. Williamson, the survivors are a daughter, Margaret, 16, and sons, Emroy, 13 and Duane, 6.

ANCIENT VILLAGE DUG UP

Hartington, Neb.—Evidences of an ancient Indian tribe whose living conditions were superior to those of the western pioneers have been unearthed on a bluff near St. Helena by a group of University of Nebraska students.

Residents of this extinct Indian village which is being brought to light had more comforts, better built homes and a greater variety of tools and implements with which to work than most of the white settlers which "brought civilization" to this region, according to Prof. Earl Bell, leader of the expedition.

Discovery of the site is described by Bell as one of the most important in the entire middlewest. He is of the opinion that the finding in Cedar county may have a sufficiently far-reaching effect to alter archaeological terminology. He believes the discoveries near here may prove a link which will connect ancient Indian civilizations.

Excavations have been carried to a depth of four feet in an area 23 by 26 feet. Pieces of charred corn cob were found in an old fire pit. A carved bone fishhook, curved to form a perfect hook and having a small groove at the shank where the line was fastened was another find. Evidences that the tribe appreciated personal adornment included a buckle made of bone and a pendant, carved from Missouri river shells.

In all, Professor Bell has disclosed, he expects to excavate two or three houses of the village. Several specimens unearthed here have been removed to the Nebraska university museum. Residents of St. Helena are considering restoring one of the Indian houses to make a site of historic value similar to that of the Wiseman memorial at Wynot. The old village is located on land owned by William Schulte, of St. Helena.

Thursday's all-star game didn't furnish much enlightenment to those who have always wondered what John McGraw would do with a pitcher like Wild Bill Hallahan. Mr. McGraw bore up very well, but that may have been because Mr. Hallahan was not on the McGraw pay roll.

Murray

Eugene Colbert from near Elmwood, was looking after some business matters for a short time in Murray on Tuesday of this week.

Thomas E. Nelson was a visitor in Plattsmouth on Monday of this week and was looking after some legal business for a short time.

George Pollard and the family of near Nehawka were in Murray for a short time last Monday and were looking after some business matters. While C. H. Boedeker and wife are enjoying their vacation in Iowa, Miss Jane Boedeker has been assisting her father, W. G. Boedeker with the work at the bank.

Ray Fredricks of Greenwood was a visitor in Murray last Tuesday and was assisting A. J. Weideman with the work in the elevator, they having been receiving much grain of late.

August Engelkemeier of Plattsmouth was having his corn shelled and delivered to the Murray Farmers Elevator and getting the cribs empty for the reception of the coming crops which is looking fine.

Frank A. Farnham and Victor Temple, both members of the Masonic Home were visiting in Murray Tuesday morning of this week and looking over the new school building now under construction.

There were eighty members of the Christian Bible school present at the lesson study on last Sunday and nearly as many at the church services which makes a good showing for the real warm weather and the desire to be out of doors.

The Rev. Carl McGeehan, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Murray and John Gilmore, who is attending summer school at Lincoln, went over to Lincoln last Monday evening where Rev. McGeehan will visit for a few days and John will attend school.

Thomas E. Nelson and friend, Henry Heebner, were over to Plattsmouth on last Saturday where Mr. Heebner furnished final proof in his application for a final decree of divorce from his former wife, Rebecca Nelson, which case had been filed some months ago.

Earl Lancaster and family were enjoying the day last Sunday at the home of their friends Mr. and Mrs. Mark Burton at Nehawka, and as well visiting the little daughter which recently arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scudder. They enjoyed a very fine dinner and the day was most pleasantly spent.

Two friends of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Gilmore, whom they had known in Los Angeles and accompanied by their daughter, while on their way to the Century of Progress stopped for a few days at the Gilmore home and on last Sunday they all went to Nebraska City where they were visiting at Morton's Park. The Missus was with the Mortons some forty years and enjoyed visiting their old home. Returning they departed for Chicago where they will spend a couple of weeks.

Spending Week in Iowa.
Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Boedeker, Jr., Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Nowart and Morgan Stewart departed early Sunday for Clear Lake, Iowa, where they will camp out and swim and enjoy the outing to their heart's content. They drove, and are expecting to spend the entire week at the pleasure resort.

Attend Services at Stella.
On last Sunday Miss Neva Lancaster and James Horchar with their auto departed early in the morning and drove down to Stella where they arrived in time for the session of the Bible school and also enjoyed attending the morning services there. In the afternoon they enjoyed visiting with friends of the Rev. Lloyd Schubert, and remained for the young people's meeting in the evening and the evening services, having enjoyed the entire day splendidly, driving home following the closing of the evening service.

Improving Their Herds
Messrs. John Hobscheidt and Arthur T. Hansen were down to Palmyra the first of this week where each made the purchase of a very fine fullblooded bull for the head of their respective herds. They are well

Give Ferguson Family Dinner.
Martin Sporer and wife, who reside on the highway south of Murray were host and hostess to the Ferguson family annual reunion and dinner which was held on last Sunday. This has been a feature of the Ferguson family of which the Sporer family is a branch, for many years and it fell to the lot of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sporer to entertain and feed the friends and relatives at this family affair.

There were there for the occasion Robert Ferguson of Nebraska City, Charles Ferguson and family of near Wyoming, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Balfour and family of Union, Calvin Ferguson of Nebraska City, Kathleen Balfour, A. G. Long and family, Ralph Kennedy and family, Joe Long and family, Wm. Sporer and wife and their son, Charles, all of Murray.

Pursuing a Novel Plan.
To keep from spending money for the keeping of the church building in excellent condition and to pass one work around so as to have each serve in their regular turn, it has been arranged that each Bible school class will care for the church building for a month in their turn. The young people's class has arranged to make their task a pleasant one as they meet and clean the church building and then hold a party which takes away all remembrance of the work of cleaning the building.

VETERAN SAILOR RETIRES

San Diego, Calif.—At 75, Chief Boatswain Mate Isaac O. Castles retired as Uncle Sam's oldest sailor with a service record dating back to 1873—before many of the admirals now on active duty were born. It was a gala occasion at the destroyer base when the man who had served before the mast of the navy's famous old square rigged clippers and on the steel decks of its modern dreadnaughts was mustered out.

Capt. C. W. Nimitz, commander of the base, called a special inspection of the crew in Castles' honor and the retiring sailor bade a formal goodbye to his shipmates. The grand old man of the navy had not served continuously in the uniform he donned sixty years ago as a boy fresh from the farm near Armo, Wis., where he was born in 1858. He left the sea and spent forty years on a farm near Salem, Ore., re-enlisting in 1918 to do his bit on a transport during the World war. Twenty years of service completed, he became eligible for retirement with pay Saturday and he left immediately after being discharged for Annsville, Ore., where he now owns a farm and where his family lives.

LARGE TRANSFER OF MONEY

Washington, July 7.—Transfer of the largest amount of money and securities ever made by a government official was completed when Walter O. Woods, former treasurer of the United States, turned over to his successor, W. A. Julian, a total of $19,347,366.089.

Julian, named as treasurer by President Roosevelt, gave his predecessor an itemized receipt for the amount, which was the largest that any incoming treasurer of the United States has ever received. In fact, it was about 5 billions greater than when Woods took office.

Miss Betty Goodrich of Calleo, Missouri, is here to enjoy a visit with her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Hudson and enjoying a short outing.

Rye Races Up with Wheat Just Tagging Along

'Black Bread Grain' Hits the Dollar Per Bushel Mark During Wild Trading.

Chicago.—Rye, the "black bread grain," ran wild Tuesday, soaring almost eleven cents a bushel before its advance was checked. It rose more than 8 cents Monday. Running interference for the dashing cereal was the official crop estimate Monday, indicating a yield below domestic requirements and the belief of brokers that processing taxes on wheat would lead to greater consumption of rye products.

Two deliveries of the "little brother" of wheat, September and December, smashed thru to a dollar a bushel or better, a gain of almost 20 cents a bushel since Saturday. December delivery reached a peak of $1.04. September just touched the dollar mark. So great was the demand for rye that all other grains were pulled up with it. Wheat scored maximum gains of almost 5 cents a bushel with all deliveries running to new highs for the season. May wheat climbed to $1.14 a bushel and closed at $1.13 5/8. Corn closed, with net gains of almost 3 cents a bushel with May at 77 5/8.

Trading in all of the pits except oats was at a frenzied pace. Short sellers were punished severely. Official crop estimates indicated the smallest wheat crop in forty years with the July 1 estimates showing a probable wheat crop of around 496 million bushels or about 150 million bushels less than the annual domestic requirements. The December rye delivery closed at $1.02 or 2 cents below the peak of $1.04.—State Journal.

HERE FOR CONFERENCE

Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Gilbert of Omaha, the former district superintendent of the Omaha district of the Methodist church, were in the city Sunday, Dr. Gilbert conducting the second quarterly conference of the church in this city. Dr. Gilbert had charge of the conference and at which the affairs of the various departments of the church were taken up and discussed by the superintendent and members.

Methodists	4	1	3	.250

From Wednesday's Daily

The BREX team in the National kittenball league, last evening moved nearer the league leadership when they turned back the Fetzer Shoe Co. team, which has been one of the league leaders. The shop team had the score of 11 to 6 against their opponents.

The game was filled with more than usual argument and dispute and which caused the last inning to be played in a growing dusk, but as the winners had their final bats it was possible to eliminate the last half inning of the contest.

The Fetzers were scoreless in their opening half inning while the BREX took a gain of two runs, with two down, two errors permitted men on bases and the bingle of Louie Svoboda scored them.

In the second the shoemen were able to add three runs to take a temporary lead, hitting by Ryan, Shafer, McClanahan and Hartford bringing in the runs. The BREX came back in their half of the inning with three also to make a five to three lead, with Thompson, Skalak and March being the stickers.

The Fetzers scored one in the third and two in the sixth frame of the game, but could not overcome the lead that the shopmen had acquired.

The BREX in the fourth inning made four scores to take a safe lead that was never seriously threatened, three of the runs being made after two of the BREX had retired, costly errors and hits by Gradoville and Svoboda making possible the scoring. The tabulated score of the game was as follows:

ASSISTING IN HARVEST

J. G. Meisinger, who for many years resided on the farm in the vicinity of Cedar Creek, still enjoys the pleasure of the summer on the farm and its body building work out in the open. Mr. Meisinger with his grandsons, John and Virgel Urish, have been motoring out each day to the Meisinger farm to assist Hugo Meisinger in the finishing of laying by the corn crop and also in the preparation for the oat harvest, that will be started in a few days.

While the Brontosaurus browsed in OKLAHOMA

Millions of years ago—even before the ancient Brontosaurus lived—Nature formed the Cambro-Ordovician oil pool in Oklahoma. Today this oldest of Mid-continent crudes is piped to the great Sinclair refineries where it is refined, blended, de-waxed, freed from petroleum jelly and made into Sinclair Opaline—a product resulting from 80 million years of filtering and mellowing. Try a crankcaseful of Sinclair Opaline—note how it stands up in the heat of fast driving. Note especially at draining time how little oil has been used up—positive, visible proof of protection for the last mile as well as the first!
