Aged Man is Injured in Auto Wreck Saturday

David Hoover, 85, Near This City Injured as Car Overtakes on "O" Street Road.

David Hoover, 85, residing north of this city, was injured quite severely Saturday night shortly before 9 o'clock when the car in which he was riding was overturned and wrecked.

The accident occurred on the "O" street road near Avoca and the car which was driven by Fred Vork, a son-in-law of Mr. Hoover, was turned over several times before it was possible to rescue the aged man from the damaged car.

The Horton ambulance was called to the scene and the injured man was brought to this city where first aid was given and he was later taken to the home of a daughter at South Omaha, where he will remain until it is possible to have him placed in the University hospital.

Mr. Vork, the other occupant of the car, was not injured beyond being shook up to a greater or less extent.

PRICE RISE IS HARDSHIP

Washington.—The poorest crops in years were forecast by the bureau of agricultural economics. It said "this is going to be one of the short crop years as regards the major food and feed crops. It begins to resemble the drouth year, 1930."

The bureau's surveys showed that "corn over a wide area has tassel out on stalks about four feet high," and it added: "Thousands of grain growers will have little to sell this year, no matter how high the price goes and other thousands of livestock and poultry raisers are hurt, not helped, by high-priced feeds. The rise in grain already has raised a serious problem for eastern dairymen and poultrymen."

DISPLAY FLAGS

The residents of many cities of Nebraska have entered the NRA campaign with the display of flags and which will be kept flying for the first ten days of the nation wide move to get men back to work. The Plattsmouth business houses are entering in support of this movement by the display of flags as a voluntary recognition of the great national movement. It is an inspiring opening of the campaign and should be kept going for the ten-day period.

AMEE RETURNS IN TEARS

Los Angeles.—Aimee Sample McPherson-Hutton came back from her world tour, much thinner and in tears. Band music and the joyful hallelujas of hundreds of her Angelus temple followers greeted her, but David Hutton, her baritone husband, was not among them. He was preparing for a vaudeville rehearsal. He has sued her for a divorce.

The evangelist paused dramatically, sobbing, on the station platform. "Our hearts are a little heavy," she said, lifting her husky voice. "But I want you to know that your support and faith in me means everything." Smiling wanly, she was whisked away for breakfast. At that time Hutton was singing "Take Me As I Am," with a bevy of Hollywood chorus girls about him. "Swell going, this," he said, nodding to the girls about him.

BANKS TO FINANCE FARMER

Washington.—The first of two new banks to provide financing for agriculture will be established in St. Louis next week by Governor Morgenthau, of the farm credit administration. Arrangements will at that time be completed for a production credit bank and a co-operative credit bank supplementing the two institutions already there, the federal land bank and the intermediate credit bank. These four banks will operate under the same roof. The production credit bank will organize the production credit associations among farmers thru which they will be able to obtain loans for crop production, on livestock and other purposes. The co-operative credit bank will make loans to regional farm co-operative organizations.

DEATH OF JOHN KUHNEY

The news has been received here by old friends of the death on Wednesday, July 26th at Wilmington, California, of John P. Kuhney, old time resident of Plattsmouth. Mr. Kuhney resided here over a long period of years and was engaged in the barber business, being one of the best known men in his line of trade in this part of the state. The family have resided on the west coast in the last few years. Mr. Kuhney has been in failing health for the past year and several months were passed in taking treatment in one of the hospitals at Wilmington. He is survived by the widow and seven children, Floyd, residing at Los Angeles and Mrs. May Wilson, Elizabeth, Maude, Alice and Ida, all of whom reside at Wilmington.

IN THE GAY NINETIES

The Nebraska City News-Press had an item in their forty year ago column, of July 30, 1893, relating to an event that many of the older residents will recall. At that time the bicycle was a great craze over the nation and Tom and Sam Patterson, of this city, were among the crack riders of the day. They matched to race a team of horses driven by Lee Allison, for many years a well known farmer of near Murray. The item stated that the race was to be from Union to Plattsmouth, but old time residents state that the race was run at the county fair grounds, then located just south of this city. While it was not stated in the item, the horses were winners, however, and carried off the purse.

States Must Control Liquor Traffic Again

Senator King Gives that as His Opinion in Event of Repeal—Cites Language of "the Law."

Washington, July 31.—Congressional constitutional lawyers were of the opinion that if the eighteenth amendment is replaced all responsibility for control of liquor traffic will be left to the states. Under terms of the repeal amendment, which has been ratified by twenty states in succession, there will remain to congress only the authority to levy taxes on liquor and to protect dry states against wet neighbors.

Senator King, Utah, outlined the argument against further federal responsibility. "If the amendment is repealed," King said, "congress will have no control over the sale of intoxicating liquor. In support of that statement, I need merely to cite the phraseology of the new twenty-first amendment which now is before the states."

This proposed amendment to the constitution approved by congress in the latter part of February, 1933, has three provisions:

1. That the eighteenth amendment is hereby repealed.
2. That the federal government shall protect dry states against import or use within their borders of intoxicating liquors.
3. That the twenty-first amendment must be ratified within seven years to be effective.

"There is no provision there," King continued, "for any congressional control over liquor within a state which elects to legalize the traffic within its own borders. It behooves the states now to look ahead to the imminent moment when prohibition will have been removed from the constitution. At that moment the states must decide how they are to meet the problem involved. Congress has the right to fix fees and licenses for the manufacture of alcoholic liquor, but the states must say whether and how it shall be sold. Congress undoubtedly will enact drastic regulations for protection of dry states, thereby strengthening the Webb-Kenyon act which was created to protect dry states against wet neighbors."

In proposing to divest the federal government of authority over the liquor traffic in event prohibition were relaxed, the democrats went directly counter to proposals of the Wickersham commission, which in January, 1931, submitted to President Hoover a voluminous report on prohibition. The commission recommended that if the eighteenth amendment were rescinded it should be to give congress power to "regulate or prohibit" the liquor traffic. Recent reductions of the prohibition enforcement personnel also were in defiance of Wickersham commission proposals which were in effect that all enforcement power should be augmented.

In two respects only has the Roosevelt administration followed Wickersham commission recommendations, first by removing limitations on medicinal liquor prescriptions and second by establishing uniform alcoholic contents for cider and fruit juices. They are entitled to 3.2 per cent of alcohol under the beer bill.

They also agreed to close on Sunday.
