

Alvo News

Miss Margaret Ayres will attend the Peru Normal school this year.

Doris Kinney, Frances Ann Edwards and Genevieve Sheesley all have jobs in Lincoln now.

John Banning was looking after some business matters in Union last Monday, driving over in his car for the occasion.

The Young People's class of the Methodist church entertained the young people of Calahan church last Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Dodge, of Lincoln, were visiting in Alvo last week, and while here were guests of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Banning.

John Banning, while shutting a car door was so unfortunate as to get one of his fingers pinched, which has resulted in him having a very sore hand.

Eugene Barkhurst was called to Plattsmouth and Omaha on last Wednesday afternoon, where he had some business matters to look after. He made the trip in his car.

Misses Elizabeth and Jennie Stammenberg, of Lincoln, and Miss Marjorie Dille, of Milton, Iowa, were visiting in Alvo for a short time last Wednesday, while on their way to Lincoln, where they looked after some business matters.

Messrs Edward Edwards, Harold Aulthouse and August Johnson, who were spending some ten days at the Century of Progress exposition, returned home Tuesday morning well pleased with the many sights of interest they had seen there.

R. H. Wall and son, J. F. Wall, of Elmwood, were in Alvo last Wednesday and were looking after some business at the garage of His Honor Arthur Dinges and as well meeting a number of their friends here.

With the maturing of the corn crop in Cass county and promise of a good yield this year, many of the farmers are disposing of their last year's crop as the price moves slowly upward. Among those who have been delivering corn to the elevator here are L. Herman, Chris Neben, W. C. Timlin, V. A. (Curley) Mockenhaupt, Harry Appleman, Ben L. Appleman, C. M. Jordan, Sam Jordan and James Nickle.

Enjoyed the Fair

Mr. and Mrs. John Banning, who spent some ten days at the Century of Progress exposition are back home again, well pleased to be back in good old Nebraska, but loud in praise of the many fine sights to be seen at the fair.

Enjoyed Fine Visit

While most of the people taking vacations this year include Chicago as a point of stop and take in the World's Fair, E. L. Nelson went in a different direction. Having some business matters to look after in Denver, he later visited at the home of his mother in Greeley, returning home on Thursday of last week refreshed from his rest instead of being tired out from the hustle and bustle of going places and seeing things as are most of those who vacation in the east. Mr. Nelson reports crops are none too good in western Nebraska, having suffered from lack of moisture.

Were Attending Convention

Arthur Dinges and his friend, P. J. Linch, were over to Kearney, where they attended the convention of the American Legion, Mr. Dinges being a member of the organization. Mr. Linch visited with a number of his relatives who make their home in that part of the state. They both had a fine time and came back loud in praise of the hospitality shown by the people of Kearney.

School Opens Today

The Alvo consolidated schools open today for the forthcoming school year with all the instructors on hand and a large enrollment. Two new teachers have recently been employed to complete the force, they being a Miss Reynolds, who comes from Seward, and Ernest Gore. All are looking forward to a very successful school year and stand ready to put in the necessary hard work to make it so.

Enjoyed Last Concert

The people of Alvo, who have supported free band concerts during the summer, erecting a stand from which the band played each week, heard the last concert of the season last Saturday night. The school band furnished the music and the concerts were enjoyed by everyone. It is hoped that similar entertainment can be provided again next year.

Visited at Barkhurst Home

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McFarland and daughter, Jean and Mrs. Sylvester Heston, all of Ohlawa, together with Miss Evelyn Heston, of Lincoln, were guests for the day last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Barkhurst, where they enjoyed a very fine visit with their friends.

FREIGHT RATES DISCUSSED

Chicago.—Homer Hoch, chairman of the public utility commission of Kansas and formerly chairman of the federal interstate commerce commission, sat with federal examiners investigating freight charges by railroads on grain and grain products shipped west of the Mississippi. Hoch was joint author of the Hoch-Smith resolution under which the investigation is conducted.

Clyde M. Reed, former governor of Kansas, testifying on behalf of wheat growers of Kansas, endorsed the commission's previous report with one exception. It concerned the rates from Kansas City to Chicago which he said should be made one cent lower than the Omaha to Chicago rates. That previous report was set aside by the courts because the railroads complained it reduced their revenues $20,000,000 a year. Reed was cross examined by H. C. Ames, a lawyer representing the Omaha grain exchange.

ATTACK GAS BOOTLEGGER

Denver.—An offensive to drive the gasoline bootlegger out of business was started by an organization of seven states. The Midwest Motor Fuel Tax Collectors association was formed with Homer F. Bedford, state treasurer of Colorado, president. Roy H. Cherry, state inspector of Jefferson City, Mo., was elected secretary.

Five other states are represented on the executive council. They are Juan N. Vigil state comptroller of Santa Fe, N. M.; Charles B. Morgan, deputy state treasurer, of Cheyenne; L. G. Harris attorney for the gasoline division Oklahoma City; C. T. Conklin, tax collector of Grand Island, Neb., and A. W. Logan director of the department of inspection and registrations, Topeka.

Ford is Keeping His Own Counsel Concerning NRA

Nothing at All to Say on Statement Credited to General Hugh S. Johnson.

Marquette, Mich.—Speculation as to whether there was any reference to the NRA in a lengthy telephone conversation between Henry Ford, vacationing near here, and his son, Edsel, at Seal Harbor, Me., ran high. Ford, as on the previous day, flatly declined to make any comment "on anything." He hastened into a local hotel from his secluded camp at the Huron Mountain club, about forty miles north of here, and ordered the telephone operator to get in touch with Edsel. While waiting for the call to be completed, he was questioned about the statement of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, that "maybe the people will 'crack down' on Ford" if the motor magnate does not obtain the NRA blue eagle by signing the automotive code.

"I have nothing to say about the NRA or anything else," said Ford. "I have nothing to say at all."

He conversed at length from a room in the hotel, with his son, who is president of the Ford company. Then he was driven back to the camp, where there are no modern means of communication. Messengers occasionally go to the camp with telegrams for the motor magnate, but stewards at the camp said he is "not much in communication" with outside events. Ford's chauffeur and others to his party made careful attempts to prevent the motor magnate from coming in contact with questioners during the brief visit here. The camp at which Ford, with Mrs. Ford, has been staying for the past week, is near Huron mountains, in the northernmost point of Marquette county on Lake Superior. Ford has emerged from the camp only twice during the past week.

At no time during his visit in the upper peninsula has the motor magnate permitted an interview. Residents near Big Bay said he spent much time inspecting a lumber yard there Wednesday.

Edsel Ford Also Silent.

Seal Harbor, Me.—Edsel Ford, son of the Detroit motor magnate, refused to discuss a long distance telephone call from his father or to comment on the Ford company's attitude toward the automobile industry's code. Returning from a yacht trip, he went directly to his summer estate here and denied himself to all visitors. The local telephone exchange operator said she had been instructed to accept no calls for Ford.

A member of the household, who consented to carry a request for an interview to his employer, came back with word of Ford's refusal. "No, I will see no one and talk with no one," the messenger quoted the motor manufacturer as replying.—State Journal.

Fort Sherman, Canal Zone.—A sentence equivalent to twenty years of hard labor was imposed on Corporal Robert Osman of Brooklyn, N. Y., following his conviction of violating the United States espionage act of 1917 in attempting to transmit secret military documents to America. The defendant was convicted after five minutes of deliberation in a court-martial following upon testimony by Osman himself that he was acquainted with a number of communists in New York.

The sentence, which was announced by Major-General Brown, read as follows:

"You are found guilty of all the charges presented against you. You are to be dishonorably discharged from the service of the United States, to forfeit all pay and allowances due or to become due, to be confined at hard labor at such a place as the reviewing authority may direct for a period of two years and to pay for a period of two years and to pay the United States government the sum of $10,000. If the fine is not paid you shall be confined to hard labor for eighteen years, this in addition to the two year period imposed."

SEDLAK'S PLEA NOT GUILTY
Wayne, Neb.—Alfred Sedlak, 31, pleaded not guilty in county court here Wednesday to the charge of first degree murder. Waiving preliminary hearing he was held without bond for trial in district court where he will be arraigned Friday. Sedlak shot and killed his 3 year old son, Harry, Aug. 6, and then shot himself. Officers found he had started to write a letter saying he and his wife had quarreled.

MURDOCK ITEMS

James Warren was a business visitor in Lincoln for the day last Thursday, driving over to the big town in his truck.

Both the garages and workshops of A. H. Jacobson and Lawrence Race have been comfortably busy with the work which has come to them.

Julius Reinke, while about his work, sustained a sprain of one of his knees, which has made it inconvenient for that gentleman to get about as usual.

Henry Carsten, the manager of the Farmers Grain company, has not been feeling the best, but has kept going and is hopeful of wearing out the malady.

O. E. McDonald was looking after some business matters in Des Moines during a part of last week, being accompanied by the district manager of the insurance company for which he sells insurance.

James Warren, in order to have the home the more cheery, was papering the upper story of the house where he maintains the poultry station, and has the place looking much better as a result.

James Palling, of Greenwood, son of G. M. Palling and wife, and a cousin of Larry Lee, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Lee, was a visitor at the home of Dr. Lee and family for the greater portion of last week.

John H. Buck and family were enjoying a visit last Sunday at the home of Mr. Buck's mother, Mrs. Nancy Buck, of Greenwood, and as well visiting with other relatives and friends in that bustling village.

L. Neitzel, accompanied by G. Bauer, were visitors in Plattsmouth on Sunday, where Mr. Neitzel addressed the Bible school class at the Masonic Home. They also visited in Union for a short time while on their way home.

Mrs. J. R. Kelly, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. E. McDonald, and also at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Wm. Meyers and husband, and especially going to see the new great grandson.

Robert McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McDonald, who has been working in the southwestern part of the state, returned home last Monday, and has been working during the past week at one of the farms in this vicinity. Robert was liking the western country, but says it was very dry out there all summer.

Henry Angwert and wife and Mrs. Angwert's parents, Rev. Jannen and wife, who were spending some time at the World's Fair were well pleased with the great exhibition and returned with an enlarged appreciation of the country and its possibilities as well as what the last hundred years have done, not alone for America, but for the entire world.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Bradford, who were spending some ten days at the Century of Progress, returned home last week well pleased with their trip and report having enjoyed the trip and their visit at the fair a great deal. This visit at the Century of Progress will mean a lot to Mr. Bradford, as he is an instructor in the schools and the fund of information which it is possible to obtain at the fair will be used to great advantage in the teaching work of his school, so that the students of the school will reap some benefit from his visit there.

Held Successful Gathering
The picnic which was held at the grounds of the Calliban church on last Friday was a decided success, for there was amusement for all, with the games, sociability, music, speaking and other forms of entertainment. There were four bands present and they furnished an abundance of music throughout the evening, that proving the best part of the day's enjoyment.

This idea of an annual picnic has been a practice of the church and Bible school for years and is one of the things that make for great popularity of the Bible school and the large number attending each Sunday throughout the year.

Getting Store Room Ready
Frank Melvin, the carpenter has been busy placing shelves and fixtures for the new store which is soon to open in the building which he has recently purchased and which was formerly occupied by G. Bauer. Homer Lawton is doing the painting of the room and has it looking fine.

Hold Last Meeting.
On Sept. 1, 1933, the "Jolly Jumpers" club held their last meeting at the home of their leader, Mrs. Bryan McDonald. Their leader judged the things they had made, and they got ready for taking them to the county fair.

Their vice president then closed the meeting.—News Reporter.

States to Hand Out the Federal Relief Meat

Allocation to Be Based on Adequacy of Aid in Each Section—Cost to Government $50,000,000.

Washington.—Plans for giving millions of dollars worth of meat to the states to feed the hungry were announced by the federal relief administration. At the same time C. M. Bookman, assistant relief administrator, predicted the need for jobless aid would be considerably less during the approaching winter than now.

Bookman disclosed that meat from the millions of pigs and sows the government is buying in its campaign to relieve the hog market would be distributed to the states free in addition to their allotments from the 500 million dollar unemployment aid fund.

The meat, processed at government expense, will be distributed to the states, he said, on the basis of need. Allocations will be based on the number of families on relief rolls and the adequacy of relief being afforded.

In tendering the meat as an outright gift in addition to the allocations of money, Bookman said, the relief administration hopes to raise the relief standards of the states, which in many cases it considers inadequate. The farm administration plans the purchase of 4,000,000 pigs and 1,000,000 sows from the farmers in a drive to take the surplus from the market.

The entire cost to the government is estimated at slightly more than $50,000,000, of which 9,000,000 will be paid from relief funds for processing the meat. The remainder will come from a processing tax. Bookman said a process had been found to preserve the meat for six months without freezing it, so that it will be available for distribution to the needy during the cold months.

ADMITS POISONING OF PAIR

Pittsfield, Ill.—Sheriff Johnson of Pike county announced that Charles Hall, son of a wealthy farmer signed a confession admitting he placed rat poison in coffee drunk by Mrs. Lucy Tucker, who died Monday. Johnson announced Hall had said he tried to kill his father, Thomas, who is recovering from the effects of poison.

Hall admitted, according to the sheriff, he and his father had quarreled. He said he bought the poison at Jacksonville a week ago and last Wednesday placed it in a coffee pot in the kitchen of the Hall home. A coroner's jury earlier in the day returned a verdict of death by poison administered by Hall. He was arrested at Jacksonville state hospital where he had been committed by Pike county judge at his own request. Mrs. Tucker, who was 76 years old, was employed as a nurse by the elder Hall.

HEAD HAS INSURANCE POST

Omaha.—Walter W. Head, former Omaha banker, is in St. Louis negotiating for acquisition of the Missouri State Life Insurance company, according to word here.

Head, when he left here, went to Chicago to head a bank there. The Chicago bank later collapsed. Now head is to be president of the General American Life Insurance company, backed by a large group of eastern men headed by David M. Milton, New York, son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, jr. It is this concern that is negotiating for the St. Louis company, which is in the hands of the Missouri state superintendent of insurance, who has asked a receivership.

If the deal goes thru, it is said here, George Brandeis of Omaha, will become a director.

LEAPS FROM TRAIN WINDOW

Miles City, Mona.—The elusive Whitey Lewis, handcuffs and leg irons attached, was the object of a widespread search in this section of Montana after a sensational leap from a train window sans clothing and adorned only with a blanket. Lewis, wanted variously thruout the middlewest and west, was being conducted from Milwaukee to McNeill's island to serve eight years for passing fraudulent money orders when he slipped from his berth and disappeared. He was in the custody of Ray Lamkuhl of Milwaukee, a federal officer who had stripped Lewis of his clothing and had appended leg irons and handcuffs. The latter articles went with Whitley. His most recent escape in Montana was from the jail at Missoula, and before that from Roundup.

Only Living Quadruplets in U. S.

These four smiling beauties, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fluke Keys, of Hollis, Okla., are said to be the only living quadruplets in America. They are Mona, Roberta, Mary and Leota, all graduates of the Hollis High School. They are accomplished vocalists and saxophonists and plan to pursue musical studies at the Baylor University, Waco, Texas, this fall.

Urges Federal 'Army' for Attack on Crime

United States Official Asserts That the "Crisis Is Here" in Fighting Rackets.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 30.—A revolutionary plan to unite the nation's police forces into one huge army crusading against crime with the backing of the national guard and the regular army was placed before the American Bar association today by the man in charge of the government's war on rackets and kidnaping—Assistant Attorney General Pat Malloy.

The far-reaching proposal, which contemplated the arming of every law enforcement officer in the nation—sheriffs, policemen and all—with federal commissions, came a short time after the association's president had opened the annual convention with a declaration that federal laws are encroaching on the rights of the states.

But the president, Clarence E. Martin, also had warned that the crime situation is getting out of hand and declared that "candor compels the admission that America is a crime breeding and criminal protecting nation."

Martin also said that, in the absence of court decisions, the association should support the national recovery program as a temporary expedient.

Malloy said the plan was his own but had the indorsement of Attorney General Cummings.

He declared that "we are facing a crisis in dealing with the problems of the racketeer and kidnaper."

"Behind such an organization stands an enthusiastic, active, helpful public opinion," he said. "A citizenship of 125 million people will applaud. The militia of every state stands behind this civilian federalized force and behind that stands the army of the United States with its power of military occupation."
