Union Paving Bid is Refused by Governor

6.5 Mile Strip to Eagle Is Rejected Because Bid was Too High—Others Also Refused.

Governor Bryan announced Monday the rejection of the greater part of the bids submitted on grading and paving at the AUG. 31 letting, on the ground that bids were too high. The largest job rejected was 6.5 miles of paving between Eagle and Union, on which the firm of McCree & Co., of St. Paul, Minn., was lowest with a bid of $2.02 per yard, a total of $213,639. The bid of Yant Construction company on half a mile of the Eagle-Union paving, at $2 a yard, a total of $31,950, was also rejected.

The culverts and bridges on the Sutherland-west and the Paxton-east grading projects were accepted. These bids were by Ed Walker of North Platte, the Artificial Stone company of Bruning, the Fuller Construction company of Gering and Glenn E. Smith company of Lincoln, the latter having a bid of $11,028 on bridges.

Grading, culverts and bridges on 7.3 miles between Meadow Grove and Norfolk were rejected. $38,477 job of grading, bid in by D. C. Condon of Omaha, on 7.2 miles west of Sutherland, and a $34,087 job of grading on which E. L. Marts of Omaha was lowest, five miles east of Paxton, were rejected.

The grading of one mile in the town of Sutherland, which was to go to Steel & Olinger of Sidney at $8,393, or 30 cents per yard, was rejected, but the culvert work is awarded to Ed Walker of North Platte at $1,607. The governor accepts the bid of Lee & Johnston of Hampton, Ia., on guard rail at Ogallala-Lemoyne, at $2,431.

He also accepts the paving bid of the Diamond Engineering company of Grand Island on three-tenths of a mile in Sidney, the bid being $2.21, total $8,679. All other bids, including sand for eight miles between Gothenburg and Farnam, at .886 per cubic yard, total $7,926, bid by the Third City S and Co. of Grand Island. Governor Bryan said he had not received a protest rumored to have been prepared by persons in Platte county alleging that the Western Asphalt Paving company of Sioux City, lowest bidder on $227,487 worth of paving between Blair and Herman in Washington county, had arranged to buy gravel from Iowa producers, in the face of provisions in contracts calling for Nebraska material, prices being equal.

New Bids on Projects to Be Made September 15th

New bids on the projects rejected by Governor Bryan because the bids were considered too high, some of the m being tainted, he said, with evidence of collusion of bidders to put prices up, will be bid on again on September 15th.

Included in these projects is the big paving job at Eagle-Union which he rejected last week and has included gravel for placing in winrows along the side of highways this winter where bituminous mat surfacing had been rejected for being too high some weeks ago.

The re-advised projects also included grading between Norfolk and Meadow Grove, on which a bid of $54,000 on one bridge had been rejected. Half a million dollars worth of paving is included in the list of projects open to bidding Sept. 18.

Governor Bryna said, "I express the hope that there will be no further attempt at collusion of bidders or effort to prevent contractors from bidding. In the hope that labor may be given employment, we have used a double shift in the state highway department. Nebraska is the first state in the union in getting its road program under way to utilize the $400,000,000 of federal funds."
