Korn Karnival Has Auspicious Opening Today

Exhibits at Corn Palace and Horticultural Show Rapidly Being Placed for 4-Day Show.

From Wednesday's Daily The second annual King Korn festival opened today and from early morning there was much activity in the business section where the last details of preparation were being rushed by the committees and force of workers.

The decorating committee was placing the last of the shocks of corn along Main and Sixth streets where the decorations tell the story of King Korn most eloquently in the large stalks that adorn the electrolier posts, the entrances to places of business and banked around the platform at Fifth and Main streets where the programs are being handled.

Already many are arriving from outside points to attend the festival and by Thursday when the Old Settlers are here there will be a great representation of the one time residents of the city and county here.

The corn palace in the Bekin building and the horticultural show in the Journal building are hives of industry as the exhibits are being placed and all day there were many coming in with their corn, as well as garden and fruit exhibits to have them installed in the rooms and where they will be the center of attraction for the four days of the festival.

The formal program was opened at 1:30 this afternoon when Mayor John P. Sattler formally opened the event by the address of welcome on behalf of the city and tendering the keys of the city to the subjects of King Korn for the next four days festival.

The Avoca concert band under the direction of William Green, of Lincoln, was the opening feature of the day's program, giving a short concert at the platform to fittingly open the festival.

The musical program was rendered especially enjoyable by the appearance of Ross Nichols of Louisville, who gave several of his saxophone numbers to entertain the visitors.

The mixed quartet of the high school under the direction of Miss Cora Williams, music supervisor, was heard and delighted all the audience with their fine music.

Mrs. Gilbert Hinz in popular songs also added to the enjoyment of the program as did the "Three Musketeers" with Tommy Mason of Nehawka as the director.

The local popular entertainers, Balthazar and Herold were presented in guitar and banjo numbers that proved a decided hit of the afternoon.

The program was closed during the time that the Children's Novelty parade, sponsored by the Woman's club was parading through the business section, the parade starting shortly after 3:30.

RIVERVIEW HOLDS MEETING

The regular meeting of the River-view club was held Tuesday, Sept. 19th at the home of Mrs. George Brinklow. After the regular business meeting a very interesting account of the Century of Progress was given by Mrs. Brinklow, who with her husband just recently returned from a several days' visit at the fair. The account was very interesting and was certainly enjoyed by all present. Plans were made for a Weiner roast, as well as pinochle parties during the winter months. Several games of pinochle were played during the afternoon with Mrs. Gayer holding high score.

Two new members joined our club, Mrs. Hike and Mrs. Seemer.

Our hostess served a delicious lunch at the close of the meeting. We entertained the Social Circle club and the Junior Sewing club at Lewistown Community Center during August instead of holding a regular meeting. A program was given, also a demonstration of sewing by the girls of the Sewing club. Several games were played, and a social good time was had by all present. A lunch was served before adjournment.

Our next regular meeting will be held October 10th at the home of Mrs. Greeley Bell.

INVITE ORGANIZATIONS

The committee in charge of the commercial parade on Friday, is extending an invitation to all organizations and groups to join in the parade and prepare floats to be used in the parade. It has not been possible to contact all of the various organizations and this means is taken to urge all who wish to join in the parade.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mougey, well known residents of Union, were in the city Tuesday afternoon for a short time looking after some matters of business and while here were callers at the Journal office and renewing their subscription to the semi-weekly edition of the Journal.
